

EPWORTH LEAGUE IN CONVENTION

Large Number of Delegates are in Attendance.

BISHOP CHANDLER SPEAKS. He Delivers an Eloquent Address on Cuba—A Fine Programme is Executed and the Meeting is Highly Enjoyable.

The Virginia Epworth League Conference was opened at Centenary Methodist Church last night under the most flattering auspices. The several local committees of arrangements had wrought diligently and well, and there was no hitch in the various matters of receiving delegates, assigning them to homes, &c. The headquarters of the committee is the basement of Centenary Church, whither delegates are escorted, registered, assigned homes, given handsome badges and copies of the elegantly executed programme.

A PRETTY SCENE. It was a pretty scene when the initial exercises were held last night. The main floor of the auditorium was occupied by the delegates—a grand galaxy of Virginia's youth and beauty, with faces beaming with pleasure and loyalty to the beautiful banner, bearing the motto, "All for Christ." The galleries were filled to overflowing with an eager throng; the choir recess filled with the trained chorists, under the leadership of Prof. J. L. Mitchell, the pulpit and chancel being occupied by distinguished divines and prominent laymen in the League work. The badges, banners, handsome decorations and pretty faces combined to effect a most happy and added to the stirring music, eloquent addresses, and the devotional spirit of the assemblage, made the occasion one of great interest and earnest impressiveness.

At 8 o'clock, Dr. Tudor in charge. Prayer and Scripture reading by Dr. Tudor. After the devotional meeting Rev. J. T. Bosman, of Park-Place Church, made the welcome address to the visiting and the local address was given by all who heard him. The responsive address on behalf of the visitors was delivered by A. Coke Smith, D. D. of Norfolk, Va.

Bishop Warren A. Chandler was the chief speaker of the evening. He took for his subject "Cuba, Our New Mission Field." Bishop Chandler has been to Cuba, and he is the president of the Epworth League of the South.

His address was a very interesting and eloquent one, and he showed great familiarity with his subject. He spoke for over an hour, to the delight of his hearers, at the conclusion of which a collection, amounting to about $90, was taken for Cuba.

ing the sea of waving, cheering humanity, his face grimly set without a smile, he made no acknowledgment, no salutations to the plaudits, but like a hero taking his due, calmly awaited the subsidence of the tumult. At last he raised his hand, and at his bidding the demonstration came to an end.

At the Governor's feet the platform, a man with a camera planted the instrument directly in front of him. As Mr. Roosevelt saw it, he said sharply: "Take that away; take it away," and a moment later rushed the man and his apparatus out of the aisle.

Then Governor Roosevelt began his speech in a full, clear voice. Governor Roosevelt said: President McKinley was triumphantly elected on certain conditions, and the conditions have been made more than good. We were then in a condition of industrial paralysis. The capitalist was plunged in ruin and disaster, the wage-worker was on the edge of actual starvation, and our country would have meant not only immense aggravation of the actual physical distress, but also a stain on the nation's honor so deep that more than one generation would have to pass before it would be effectually wiped out.

"Four years ago the nation was uneasy because right at our doors an American island lay writhing in awful agony under the curse of worse than medieval tyranny. We had our eyes turned to Cuba, for the situation in Cuba had grown into a terrible shape. President McKinley turned to this duty as he had turned to others. We waged the most righteous and brilliantly successful war in the history of our country, and we waged during the lifetime of the present generation. It was not a great war, simply because it was won too quickly, but it was momentous indeed in its results.

"This is what the nation has done during the three years that have elapsed since we made McKinley President, and all this is what he to-day stands for. We have not named him again, and in November he shall elect him again; because it has been given to him to personify the cause of honor and prosperity at home; of wise legislation and straightforward administration.

His sentences were delivered in a manner that denoted careful study of each word. His argumentative style kept the audience in rapport with him, for he was always the closest attention by the vast audience.

"It was not a great war. It did not have to be," he said, speaking of the war with Spain, and then waiting for the ripple of applause which followed the declaration. His allusion to the war was called forth the heartiest applause, with a cry from the multitude of "Hit 'em again," and "That's right, Teddy."

"Why the Democratic orator in New York who has just declared that the Republican party with uplifted hands, and then the howled with laughter and shook the floor with applause.

"The inscription in the Philadelphia gazette on the insurrectionary allies of the President in the Philippines, 'have given the insurrection their moral if not active support.' When he declared with brilliant emphasis that the success of the Republican party in November meant peace in the Philippines, while the success of the opposition meant prolongation of the struggle, the delegates and spectators rose almost as one man and cheered.

brought out a round of applause. When Pennsylvania's vote was announced by Senator Quay, many delegations arose and cheered. Some of the States were not content with casting their votes for McKinley, but the chairman announced the vote which the candidate would receive in November.

At call of Hawaii, the delegations stood and cheered the announcement of the new possession of its two votes for McKinley. The tally clerks quickly made the official summary of the vote, and the chairman, Mr. Lodge, took the paper and advancing to the front of the stage said: "The total vote cast is 90, William McKinley has received 60 votes, it is an unanimous vote, and McKinley is your nominee for the Presidency for the term beginning March 4, 1901."

Now again pandemonium broke loose in one swirling chorus of enthusiasm for the new candidate. Up went the plumes and standards. Up stood the great audience, men and women mingling their shouts and their frantic demonstrations. The band played "Rally Round the Flag," and the Hamilton Club, of Chicago, marched down the aisle, preceded by New York and followed by Pennsylvania.

Mr. Lodge warned the noisy and demonstrative throngs that there was still business to be done, and announced that the call of States would proceed for nominations for the Vice-Presidency. As the name of Alabama was called on the roll of States for the nomination of candidates for Vice-President, the announcement was made by the chairman of the delegation that Alabama would yield to Iowa to present a candidate.

Chairman Lodge then recognized Colonel La Follette, editor of the Chicago Record, at-large and editor of the Des Moines (Iowa) Capital. Robust and vigorous in his physique and in his mentality, Colonel Young swung down the main aisle to the platform to do his part in the national convention, withdraw one strong and magnetic man as a candidate and present the name of another for the second office in the gift of the American people. He withdrew the name of Dooliver and offered that of Roosevelt.

Colonel Young said: Gentlemen of the Convention, I have listened with profound interest to the numerous indications of approval of the Democratic party, and as an impartial review of history I am compelled to confess that the indictments are all only too true. If I am to judge, however, of the entire country, I believe that the Republican relief expedition sent out four years ago to carry aid and succor to the prostrate industries of the republic has returned to make formal report that the duty has been discharged.

When this convention and this great party called for a candidate for Vice-President two voices responded, one from the Mississippi Valley by birth, another from the Atlantic States by adoption. It is a name which has been known to the ears of the young men of this country, and their hearts and consciences are with this young leader, whom I shall name for the Vice-Presidency of the United States—Theodore Roosevelt, of New York, Loud cheer.

The demonstration which followed the announcement by Colonel Young as Governor Roosevelt as the candidate for the second office of the country, who represented their desires and their ambitions and embodied their patriotism and Americanism, was not second to that accorded the President's name. The band in the main gallery began to play "There'll be a hot time in the night," and the delegates, who had been forced upon the march around the hall, tiling "not Governor Roosevelt as he sat in the New York delegation, and extending to him the congratulations of the party.

The delegates still choked the aisles, grasping the Governor's hand, and with difficulty the chairman restored quiet and recognized Butler Murray, of Massachusetts, in speech seconding the nomination of Roosevelt.

"He spoke in behalf of old New England, and his vigorous sentences elicited another demonstration for the Rough Rider candidate.

After the speech of Mr. Murray, of Massachusetts, General James Ashmun, of Washington, was recognized, and he also seconded the nomination of Roosevelt.

MISSISSIPPI DELEGATES. Primaries Held for Their Election Yesterday.

JACKSON, MISS., June 21.—A plurality primary to select fourteen district delegates and four delegates from the State at large in the Kansas City Convention was held in the counties of Mississippi today. This is the first time in history that a primary election instead of a State Convention has been held for this purpose.

There were five candidates in the field for the four positions of delegates at large. Indications are that Senator Money and Senator Sullivan, Governor Longino and W. V. Henry are elected.

CLARK MADE A DELEGATE By One Wing of the Democrats of Montana. BUTTE, MONT., June 21.—The Clark wing of the Democratic State Convention reconvened today, seating all contesting delegations in favor of Clark, with uncounted delegations in his favor, gave a total of 275 out of 481 of the State representation.

Resolutions were passed strongly condemning the Daley faction and demanding the resignation of Democratic State officers and Congressmen as unfit for office. Senator Clark addressed the convention. He was then elected one of the delegates to Kansas City.

CONVENTION TICKETS. KANSAS CITY, June 21.—C. H. Walsh, secretary of the National Democratic Committee, who has established headquarters here, today announced preliminary arrangements for the printing of the convention tickets. This is the first matter of detail for the National Committee.

Big chiefs and a large company of less famous Indians will be here during the convention. They are coming with the two contesting delegations from the Indian Territory.

Mr. Porter, chief of the Creeks, is coming, and so is John E. Brown, chief of the Seminoles.

LAKE WITHDRAWALS. HUNTSVILLE, ALA., June 21.—The action of the Republican National Credentials Committee, in making William Vaughan chairman of the Alabama Executive Committee over the contest of Janus Bingham, nullifies the State ticket headed by Charles Lane, recently nominated by the Bingham faction.

Mr. Lane, who was the candidate for Governor, consequently withdrew this evening.

CHARLESTON EXPOSITION. ENTHUSIASTIC MEETING HELD AND DIRECTORS CHOSEN. CHARLESTON, S. C., June 21.—A meeting of the subscribers to the capital stock of the Charleston Interstate and West India Exposition, that is to be held here in 1901-1902, was held at the German Artillery hall to-night. Over $90,000 worth of stock was represented, more than enough to cover the expenses of the company to be organized at once.

The meeting was called to order by Captain F. W. Wagner, chairman of the Executive Committee of the Board of Land and Consolidated Railway, Gas and Electric Companies; W. Jones, of Columbia, S. C.

REFUSED TO TALK. Governor Roosevelt Does Not Wish to Be Quoted. PHILADELPHIA, June 21.—Governor Roosevelt left the Convention Hall with General Green and was driven to the private house at which Mrs. Roosevelt is a guest. He declined to be interviewed, said.

"I do not care to be quoted. I shall reserve what I may have to say for the committee appointed to inform me of my nomination."

The Governor took luncheon with General Green, and while there, within twenty minutes after the close of the convention, received a letter of congratulation from the private secretary and his assistants, who had been forced upon the Chamber at Albany for the past two years.

Governor Roosevelt left this evening for New York in company with several friends.

ROOSEVELT MAY RESIGN. NEW YORK, June 21.—Governor Roosevelt is expected to resign to-night, and taking a cab was driven to the Union League Club, in this city, where he will spend the night. To-morrow he will go to Oyster Bay for a rest.

He positively declined to talk about his nomination.

It was said to-night that Governor Roosevelt might, in view of his candidacy, consider it necessary to resign the governorship and allow Mr. Woodruff to succeed him.

Governor Roosevelt said he had not given such a thing a single thought as yet. He should resign to-night, but he would not accept a position that he would be the logical candidate for Governor.

TO ARREST RATHBONE. This Action Probable Within Next Few Days. HAVANA, June 21.—It is probable that E. G. Rathbone, the suspended director of posts, will be arrested within the next few days. The postal inspectors assert that they have evidence implicating him beyond any question.

Mr. Rathbone's replies in the course of the examination yesterday before Fourth Assistant Postmaster-General Bristow and the inspectors, were regarded as very unsatisfactory, more than establishing the suspicions that have been forced upon the investigators during the last few weeks until proof has accumulated to such an extent as to compel them to look upon Mr. Rathbone as guilty.
