

JAIL QUESTION WAS DISCUSSED

No Action Will Be Taken Until Next Thursday.

FINANCE COMMITTEE MEETS.

Water Basin Matter Was Considered by the Committee, But Action Was Postponed Until the Next Regular Meeting.

The Council Committee on Finance met at the City Hall last night. It considered two important questions—that of the building of a new jail and that of providing a settling basin by which the people of the city would be afforded clear water.

Mr. Gunst was the first outsider called upon and he was asked for his views on the jail question. It was decided that the matter should be laid over until Thursday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock, when the committee will meet at the city jail to inspect its premises.

Another most important question taken up by the Finance Committee last evening was whether or not it should recommend to the Council the resolution appropriating $300,000 to provide a basin in James River to clear the water which flows through the water mains of Richmond.

The question has been thoroughly discussed and it was apparent that the subject was postponed until the next regular meeting of the committee, when it will be further considered.

NELSON MANSION BURNED.

Farmers Are Seeding a Big Crop of Wheat—Partidges Proliferous.

GREENFIELD, VA., October 16.—The farmers of Rockfish Valley, in Nelson county, in anticipation of good crops of wheat and corn, are seeding a big crop of wheat and corn.

The unusual drought of the corn crop has caused the farmers of this section to make enough for home consumption and some to spare.

A pretty good crop of tobacco has been housed and is now in process of curing. The crop is small, as this is an "off year."

The "Crawford farm" has been recently sold by Mr. Peabody to H. C. Page, Esq., who is one of the largest cattle dealers in Nelson county.

Partidges are abundant and sportsmen are anxiously awaiting the 1st of November, the time to shoot them.

The mansion house at "Valley Farm," the home of Mr. Emmett Coleman, was burned yesterday afternoon at 9 o'clock.

Miss Mattie Drake, who has been visiting at "Oak View," has returned to Louisville.

AFTERTEN YEARS.

Martinsville Turns Out to Greet Mr. Hankins and His Bride.

MARTINSVILLE, VA., October 16.—Mr. L. J. Hankins of this county, met his bride about ten years ago in Tennessee. He was married at that time and has since lost his wife. He has not seen the lady since until yesterday.

They came in to-day on a freight train and were married at 4 o'clock this evening at a boarding house, by Rev. W. H. Book.

MEET HERE NEXT YEAR.

Roosevelt in Ohio.

Columbus Had Greatest Demonstration Since Blaine's Visit in 1886.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, October 16.—Not once since the great Blaine demonstration in 1886 has this city been so crowded with visitors as it is to-night, the occasion of the appearance here of Governor Roosevelt.

His morning had not impaired the Governor's vocal organs, nor did he show signs of fatigue.

The Roosevelt special arrived here at 7:40 and for two hours the Governor rode at Columbus, Ohio, in a special car.

MUCH SPEAKING IN THE STATE

to enhance the reputation which he already possessed.

Dr. Wise was represented at a distant stand by Jordan Thompson and other able orators and the labor candidate, C. Williams, addressed a scant score from the court green.

It is indisputable that but little enthusiasm was created in the ranks of either party. There has been a surprising indifference among the voters as to the outcome of the present campaign.

The indifference at the club meetings is disheartening, and even the circulation of printed cards, the parties signing in many instances evincing no interest in the matter.

Some say they are tired of machinery politics, others are embittered by the unwise and unfair means employed in the recent labor fight in one of the districts of the county, and again many are excited by the insurance and the dispensary system in the town of Franklin.

Altogether, it is but too evident that there are breakers ahead and that it will require the management and conservative action to harmonize the Democratic ranks if success is to be assured.

There is no doubt, however, of a good majority for Bryan and Maynard at the ensuing election, because the Republicans are largely opposed to Wise and will support him, and hurray if he is defeated.

The labor candidate will not poll twenty-five votes in the county. Peanuts are being dug and the crop will prove a disappointment to the farmers; not one half the usual product will be garnered.

GLASGOW AND SAUNDERS

Speak in Wytheville—Mr. Saunders Criticizes Roosevelt and McKinley.

WYTHEVILLE, VA., October 16.—Hon. W. M. A. Glasgow, Jr., and E. W. Saunders, Speaker of the Virginia House, addressed an audience here last night at the Wytheville Hotel.

Mr. Saunders was frequently interrupted by people leaving the house on account of the late hour. Mr. Saunders characterized Roosevelt as a New York duke, whose sole claim on the people is that he had been a member of Congress.

Speaking at Boydton. (Special Dispatch to The Times.) BOYDTON, VA., October 16.—Five prominent men met here yesterday. The Democrats were State Senator W. P. Barkeley, of Halifax; Robert Turnbull, of Brunswick, and J. Haskins Hobson, of the Republican speakers were C. E. Wilson, of Crew, who is the Republican candidate for Congress, and ex-representative R. T. Thorpe.

He began quietly, his voice being scarcely audible, but he gradually spoke louder and in a moment his voice could be heard by the galleries. The crowd listened in silence for a time, but when the speaker declared that the Democratic party recognized the rights of mind and muscle to the fruits of its toil, the crowd broke forth into cheers.

Col. Bryan concluded his speech at 9 o'clock precisely, having spoken one hour and fifty-one minutes. The crowd rose and cheered as he left the platform in company with Mr. Croker, shaking hands as he left. The applause for Col. Bryan as he went away was tremendous.

THE BRYAN BANQUET. Fifty Covers Were Laid and Cost $12 Per Plate Exclusive of Wines.

NEW YORK, October 16.—The dinner tendered Colonel Bryan at the Hoffman House, at 5:30 o'clock this afternoon, was not held in the Moorish room as at first intended, but in the Salon Louis Quinze.

The service was the best the house could provide, menus of the most costly sort, the heaviest plate, cut glass and the best of china. Although Colonel Bryan did not drink, his wine glasses were provided for him by the waiter.

At each place was placed a souvenir programme bound in heavy dark paper with the name of each guest in gold lettering on the cover. The menu was on cards, plain except for a portrait of Colonel Bryan above and the American flag in colors to the right.

The much disputed cost of the dinner was settled by the Hoffman House management, who said that the cost was $12 per plate exclusive of the wines.

BRYAN RECEIVED WITH OPEN ARMS

States than those in which they were organized. Dwellings upon his remedy for trusts he said he would squeeze the water out of the stock.

Colonel Bryan called attention to the increase of the standing army, and when he asked if we would have a large army in the United States there were several responses of "Yes, Sir" from the audience.

He declared that Republicans desired the standing army for both foreign and domestic reasons. "I believe," he said, repeating previous utterances, "that one of the reasons why they want a large army and is to build a navy every large city and is to build a navy to suppress by force that discontent that ought to be cured by legislation."

In substantiation of his assertion that the Democrats were not taking a scare-bait, Colonel Bryan referred to the Porto Rican legislation of the last session of Congress as proof of what he said. He declared that this legislation was upon European ideas and not upon American ones.

Quoting the Republican platform as to the disposition of the Philippines, he said: "Who is to decide their welfare? What is to decide our duty with them? Nothing has the Philippines and with it the Philip plank, and I am afraid before this campaign is over that they will try to put the man and the party who are in the Republican there by some one who had no authority."

He said his reason for expressing this opinion was the fact that the ratification of the peace treaty had been placed at his feet.

Colonel Bryan then declared that he was willing to assume the responsibility for the ratification of the treaty if the Republican platform would take the responsibility for the treaty themselves and if what had happened here to the ground and what had happened for that," he said, "and if he had given the Philippines the same assurances of independence that he gave to the Cubans, not a gun would have been fired in Manila, and those assurances would have been our friends to-day."

WOULD ASSEMBLE CONGRESS. He declared that the treaty had not perfected the United States' title to the Philippines and said: "I have said that the first act of my administration would be to call Congress together and ask it to do what we have done here to-day. I have said that I would have done a year and a half ago."

This sentiment was applauded. Colonel Bryan accused the Republican party of a desire to evade the Philippine question, and said that that party would do what it desired to do, but the dollar would be the man and the money more precious than human life. If we had any title to the Philippines it was a title based on force, and such a title was not good according to American ideas. The Filipinos were not desired by any one as citizens, and the Democrats did not want that they should be made subjects. Therefore, he continued, we say let them stand under their own flag and have their own government and be masters of themselves and work out their own destiny.

Colonel Bryan declared that if a Republican President could haul down the flag in Cuba, 20 miles from our shores, a Democratic President could haul it down 7,000 miles away from our shores.

IN GOOD VOICE. He began quietly, his voice being scarcely audible, but he gradually spoke louder and in a moment his voice could be heard by the galleries. The crowd listened in silence for a time, but when the speaker declared that the Democratic party recognized the rights of mind and muscle to the fruits of its toil, the crowd broke forth into cheers.

RICHMOND MAN ROBBED.

E. C. Perkins Deceived by Things in Chicago. (By Associated Press.) CHICAGO, ILL., October 16.—A guest of the Great Northern Hotel, said to be E. C. Perkins, of Richmond, Va., was assaulted and seriously wounded under mysterious circumstances about 1 o'clock this morning.

According to the statement made by Perkins, he was about to enter the rear entrance of the Union League Club, when he was attacked by two strangers, who held him to the ground and robbed him of $20 and his gold watch.

While making a desperate resistance, the victim was suddenly struck on the right temple with some blunt instrument and instantly rendered unconscious.

Upon regaining his senses, he thinks he went at once to the front of the Great Northern Hotel, where one of the cabs found him in a dazed condition. When questioned by the night clerk, George Cummings, the wounded man, who was again becoming exhausted from loss of blood, declared he was unable to recognize his assailants.

Mr. Perkins was removed to a drug store where an ugly wound was discovered on the right side of the head, which was bleeding profusely and after receiving medical attention, the wounded man was removed to his room at the hotel.

YOUTSEY'S CONDITION WORSE.

The Defense Will Probably Rest Their Case To-Day. (By Associated Press.) GEORGETOWN, N. Y., Oct. 16.—Henry E. Youstsey, charged with being a participant in the shooting of Governor Goebel, was still unable to enter the courtroom to-day. Lying on his bed, he was drawn to the door of the jury room in plain view of those in the courtroom, and the trial proceeded.

At the afternoon session the defense moved to discharge the jury and continue the case because the defendant was still unconscious and in a worse condition than before.

Judge Cantrill overruled the motion. The defense asked that Youstsey be called as a witness, but the judge refused, but Youstsey did not answer. The defense asked that he be brought into court.

"He is already in court," said the Judge. "We want him on the witness stand," said Colonel Nelson.

"Very well, bring him in," Mr. Shortt, and put him on the stand," said the judge. Deputies and guards brought Youstsey in on his bed, which they placed in front of the jury. Colonel Nelson asked Youstsey several questions, but received no sort of response, the defendant lying as one dead.

"We can get no response from the witness," said Colonel Nelson.

"Very well; let him stand aside," said the judge, and the bed was carried back to the jury room.

Colonel Nelson made another motion to discharge the jury because the defendant was not really in court facing his accusers, but simply an unconscious man. The judge, however, said the law provided that before he could discharge the jury the defendant must be adjudged a lunatic.

"Jim Howard will go on the stand tomorrow and swear that Youstsey did not let him into the jury office, and that he was not even in the building.

The defense expects to rest its case tomorrow.

THE LAW CONSTITUTIONAL.

Important Decision Rendered By Judge Waddill Yesterday. (Special Dispatch to The Times.) NORFOLK, VA., Oct. 16.—In the Reese Manufacturing bankruptcy case, tried yesterday by Judge Waddill, of the United States Court, held that "the mechanics lien law of Virginia and the State statutes governing liens to those furnishing supplies and materials to mining and manufacturing companies were constitutional, and that the bankruptcy act of 1898 did not invalidate liens acquired under the State law. He further held that the filing of a lien under the State statutes was not such a proceeding at law or in equity as was avoided by the bankruptcy act.

This is a most important decision, and sustains liens of the character mentioned secured under the State statutes, and has not been such a proceeding at law or in equity as was avoided by the bankruptcy act.
