

SOME OF THE ARTISTS WHO WILL BE HEARD IN THE MUSIC FESTIVAL.

WEDNESDAY CLUB MUSIC FESTIVAL. Three Brilliant Concerts to be Given Next Week. MME. BLAUVELT IS COMING. Nine of the Most Famous Artists in the Casts—The Boston Festival Orchestra's Programmes of Exceptional Interest.

be heartily welcomed. The Pittsburgh Dispatch said of her last appearance here, just before she sailed for Europe: 'Lillian Blauvelt is probably the most beautiful woman of the concert stage, but that is immaterial. When such a woman can make one forget her beauty in admiration of her art, then is an idea of the greatness of her accomplishment given. Her programme was a trying one, ranging from the dramatics of the mad scene aria in "Thomas Hamlet" to an exquisite Irish folk song by Arthur Poole, which she gave as an encore. Her phraseology was superb and the quality of her voice is as pure and lovely as one could ever wish. Because of her versatile expression, her finish and her intelligence, a quartet of songs in the second part of the programme was a flawless delight. MME. HEINK ALSO COMING. Mme. Schumann-Heink is another of the bright particular stars of the festival. She was born in Prague, Austria. Her father was a major in the Austrian army, her mother an Italian, daughter of an Italian army officer. Her mother was possessed of a superb contralto voice. As a child, Mme. Heink went to the Ursuline convent at Prague, where one of the sisters discovered she could sing, and coaxed her, with little cakes, to sing at church service. When she was about thirteen her voice had developed so that the best teacher in Graz, M. de Lacia, was secured for her, and for four years there was nothing but serious study.

Four years later, when she heard that a contralto was wanted at the Court Theatre in Dresden, Frau Heink prepared herself, with many other experienced singers, as a candidate for the position. After singing Verdi's Aria from "La Traviata," and the Brindisi from "Lucia di Lammermoor," she was immediately engaged and made her debut in October, 1878, as Antonia in "Il Trovatore." From Dresden, Frau Heink went to Hamburg, where she remained for eight years at the Stadt Theatre.

Although Mme. Schumann-Heink is a young woman, just in the fullness of her artistic powers, she has been on the stage for nearly twenty years. She made several successful appearances in Berlin, but it was when Frau Casima Wagner engaged her for the Bayreuth season in 1894 that Frau Heink's reputation first extended beyond the boundaries of her own country. In the Ring performances she sang Erda, the first Norn and Waltraute. Frau Heink made her first appearance in London this summer and her success in the Wagner performances was highly praised. She is now on her way to the Royal Theatre in Berlin, with the privilege of a long vacation every year. It is this condition in her contract that enables her to appear in this country.

THE NEW TENOR. Glenn Hall, the tenor, is a young artist who has lately risen to a position of importance among concert and oratorio tenors of the West. His voice is said to be bright, but well adapted to oratorio performance, and his singing is marked with refinement and expressiveness. Miss Fielding Roselle will be the mezzo contralto. She is exceedingly prominent in this country on the concert stage. This estimate of her powers appeared in a recent issue of the New York Mail and Express: "Her voice, a full rich contralto of great range, is remarkably sympathetic and beautiful even throughout its entire compass. Miss Roselle phrases exquisitely and sings most artistically. Her numbers were happily chosen, affording abundant opportunity to display the full powers of her magnificent voice. Verdi's aria, 'Don Fatie,' from 'Don Carlos,' replete with dramatic possibilities, was sung with a breadth and force that won the enthusiastic applause of the audience."

OTHER FAMOUS ARTISTS. The other vocalist is Mrs. Marie Kunkel Zimmerman, the oratorio soprano. She has the reputation of being the finest oratorio singer in this country, and there is a good deal of curiosity to hear her. Miss Marie Nichols, the violinist, she has been prominently before the concert public in the north for the last three years, and is said to possess a skill in handling her instrument, and excelled only by the best male performers. THE THREE PROGRAMMES.
