

COLDS

I regard my COLD CURE as more valuable than a life insurance policy. It not only cures colds in the head, colds in the lungs, colds in the bones, but it wards off dangerous diseases such as grippe, diphtheria, pneumonia, and consumption.

Munyon's Rheumatism Cure seldom fails to relieve within three days. Munyon's Dyspepsia Cure positively cures all forms of indigestion and stomach trouble. Munyon's Cough Cure stops coughs, night sweats, sleeplessness and speedsily heals the lungs. Munyon's Kidney Cure quickly cures pain in the bladder, back, groin, and all forms of kidney disease. Munyon's Vitalizer restores lost power to weak men. All the cures are at once, at any drug store.

Social and Personal

The marriage of Miss Irene Stearns to Mr. Charles Jones Rixey, Jr., which took place last evening at Monumental Church, was one of the most brilliant and beautiful matrimonial events of the Easter season.

The church was artistically decorated by Hammond in a profusion of palms, Easter lilies and white carnations. Rose leaves were strewn in the bride's path and the aisles and pews were canvassed in white.

At 6 o'clock, to the strains of Johannstr., the bride party entered. The bridesmaids entered from the opposite side, and proceeded to greet the bride at the entrance. They were preceded to the altar by the ushers—Messrs. Charles Palmer Stearns, brother of the bride; E. Wiley Stearns, William C. Waite, of Culpeper; J. George Hiden, of Washington; A. B. Carney, of Norfolk; Henry Wiley, Hunsdon Cary and Tyler Brock.

The bridesmaids were gowned in dainty white organdies over white taffeta and carried large bunches of white roses. They were preceded by the bridesmaids, Miss Emily Palmer Stearns, whose gown was white chiffon over white liberty satin. Her bouquet was of La France roses. The bride entered with her brother, Mr. Charles Jones Rixey, Jr., and was gowned in an exquisite creation of ivory duchesse satin, with point lace trimmings; her veil was caught with a handsome diamond sunburst and she carried a diamond of blue and white. She was met at the altar by the groom, Mr. Charles Jones Rixey, Jr., of Culpeper, and here the ceremony was performed by Dr. W. E. Evans, assisted by Rev. Carter Page, of Culpeper.

After the marriage reception was held at the home of the bride's mother, on East Franklin Street, for the relatives and nearest friends. Here the same color-scheme of white prevailed in the decorations. The mantel was banked in ferns and white carnations, the corners grouped in palms and on the table in the dining-room ropes of smilax were extended from the four corners, caught in the center by a cluster of white roses.

After the reception, Mrs. Rixey left on an extended Southern tour. The bride is the very attractive daughter of the late Franklin Stearns and Mrs. Emily Somers Palmer Stearns, both deceased. Several were of the prominent Massachusett families. The groom is the prominent lawyer of the firm of Barbour, Rixey, of Culpeper, is a son of Mr. C. J. Rixey, of that city. His mother, Miss Elizabeth Herndon, was, before her marriage, Richmond belle.

The wedding gifts were exceptionally handsome and consist of many valuable pieces of silver and cut-glass. Among the out-of-town guests were: Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Rixey, Misses EXAMINE THEM.

The "Coffee-never-hurt-me" People. Some famous brain workers have made a welcome discovery along the line of recovery of health by the proper selection of food. Several were of the "coffee-never-hurt-me" kind, but, as an experiment, tried leaving it off ten days, and the use of Postum Cereal Coffee in its place. A definite and decided improvement in health is practically certain to attend such a change.

Look carefully into the state of health of the individual who knows that "coffee don't hurt me," and you are almost sure to find some form of physical or functional disturbance—perhaps muddy complexion, or weak eyes, incipient heart trouble, nervous trouble, liver or bowel disorders, or some form of weakness, that shows plainly enough by the cry for relief sent up from some organ of the body. Why does the dismissal of coffee and the use of Postum bring help? Experiments in artificial digestion show clearly to the scientific investigator that coffee arrests digestion, and according to one authority, allows only 61 per cent. of the food to be digested. That strikes at the very key-stone to the arch of health. Failure in digestion means lack of good blood, and therefore a lack of food for the nerve centers. As the nerves control the organs of the entire body, one can readily understand that a disorganized nervous system may show effect in any part of the body. Therefore, a removal of the cause will allow nature to right herself. A powerful assistant to nature is Postum Cereal Coffee, composed of the albumen, phosphates, gluten, etc., from which nature builds in the delicate tissues of the nerves. Postum aids digestion without druging, and furnishes a concentrated liquid food as well as a most delicious morning coffee.

If the reader has ever failed to make Postum satisfactorily, it will be found that to allow it to boil 15 minutes after boiling commences, will solve the problem, and it must be so boiled to extract taste, color and food value. The original Food Coffee with a pleasant coffee flavor. Many imitations of Postum are now upon the market. The only palatable ones thus far tested prove to be made of a low grade of coffee, and some other articles, notwithstanding the bold claims that they are "pure."

The bride wore a handsome traveling gown of gray prunella cloth, with hat and gloves to match, and carried bride's roses. Rev. J. T. Bosman performed the ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. Nottingham left at once for Norfolk, where they will reside.

Among the out of town guests here to attend the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. N. Daby, of Norfolk; Miss Annie Lee Daby, of Norfolk; Miss B. B. Nottingham, Mr. William A. Ames, and Miss Rita Ames, all of Cape Charles.

The Spring Art Exhibition being held at the Masonic Temple has met with but one criticism from the large number of art lovers who have availed themselves of the opportunity to view the excellent display—that it is by far the best exhibition ever seen here, and that it is a great thing for Richmond to have brought within the reach of all paintings and reproductions that represent every school of art. Among the excellent exhibits is that of the Mechanics' Institute. There are some excellent specimens of modern painting, including the Westminster School, St. Andrew's, and Miss Ellett's. Noland & Baskerville have displayed some excellent architectural drawings.

Among the paintings, a portrait of Anne Roy Johnston, the little daughter of Dr. Roy Johnston, painted by Miss Adele Williams, is one of the most beautiful and life-like in the hall. Miss Madge Edell, of Washington, has a head of a laborer that is especially well modeled and executed. A head in red crayon by J. Dexter Cooke, is a fine study and most attractive.

Melbourne H. Hardwick, the young landscape painter, who is rapidly making a name for himself, has several splendid specimens of his work.

One of the finest bits of water-color is a group scene by a Boston artist. An interesting painting by C. L. Adams has a little girl seated on the edge of a boat, wearing an air of the greatest content. She is also wearing a most becoming red sunbonnet, on which the lights of the setting sun play.

The artistic part of the exhibition, the social element is no small feature. The hall is beautifully decorated through the courtesy of Hammond, with groups of handsome palms, and the menu is equally as effective. Beneath a veritable shower of live palms is presented a display of the most fetching spring headgear—ideas queenly original and tasteful—each representing the ideas of some of our most milliners of New York or Paris, making altogether one of the most picturesque and beautiful window displays ever seen in this city, and reflecting great credit upon the house and their decorator, who doubtless arranged the trim exhibition.

The regular monthly meeting of the Confederate Memorial Literary Society was held at noon yesterday at the Museum. Mrs. Joseph Bryan presided. The museum has received a request from the Government to lend the Chapman paintings to the "Hundley" and "David," the first submarine and torpedo-boats, to be copied for the Naval Academy. The ladies did not feel that they could grant the request. The association donated $100 to the Deane monument.

The vice-regents have been busy changing and arranging the cases in the different rooms. Many valuable relics have recently been received. The ladies were very much gratified over the results of their recent entertainment—the Carnival of Musical Komances. A vote of thanks was extended the chaperones and ladies who assisted the Board of Trustees: Walter D. Moses, William Gunn, L. R. Pizant, The Cohen Company, John E. Rose, Tower-Binford Electric Company, Cordes & Mosby, Traction Company, Passenger and Power Company, Joseph Laube, Major N. Y. Randolph, John Cullen, W. A. Crenshaw, R. L. WHY MRS. PINKHAM WAS PUBLICLY HORSEWHIPPED

Stylishly Dressed Woman Plied Weapon Vigorously. SAID TO BE RESULT OF OLD ROW.

Frank Ruff, Cigar Manufacturer, Was the Victim of the Affair, Which Took Place in Newport News Postoffice.

(Special Dispatch to The Times.) NEWPORT NEWS, VA., April 24.—Frank Ruff, cigar manufacturer, was horsewhipped in the postoffice here to-day by a stylishly dressed woman, who is said to be named Mrs. Mealy. The woman approached him with the horsewhip hid in the folds of her dress and began to lay on vigorously before Ruff had any intimation of what was coming. He made no attempt to injure the woman, but wrestled the whip from her hand. The cowhiding is said to have been the result of an old row mixed up with a saloon deal, but neither side to the controversy will talk.

Mrs. G. H. CHAPPELL.

She cannot bring herself to tell everything, and the physician is at a constant disadvantage. This is why, for the past twenty-five years, thousands of women have been confiding their troubles to Mrs. Pinkham, and whose advice has brought happiness and health to countless women in the United States.

Mrs. Chappell, of Grant Park, Ill., whose portrait we publish, advises all suffering women to seek Mrs. Pinkham's advice and use Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, as they cured her of inflammation of the ovaries and womb; she, therefore, speaks from knowledge, and her experience ought to give others confidence. Mrs. Pinkham's address is Lynn, Mass., and her advice is absolutely free.

Miss Elizabeth Curie Christian will leave shortly for a visit to her uncle in Norfolk.

Mrs. G. W. McGowan and children left the city yesterday morning for Augusta, Ga., to visit her mother's family, and at the same time take in the carnival. She will be absent about a month.

Miss Beknap and her daughter, Miss Balkin, are spending some time in the city, and are staying at No. 25 East Franklin Street.

Mrs. Russell Robinson, of "Norwood," is the guest of Miss Ethie Branch.

The Lady Board of Managers of the Retreat for the Sick will meet this morning at 11 o'clock at the Retreat.

ENCHANTING WINDOW DISPLAY. Hundreds upon hundreds of eyes were thrown yesterday into the direction of the massive show windows of Thalheimer's, at Broad and Fifth Streets, where one of the most beautiful and tempting Millinery displays form the subject for this week. The work is extremely artistic and is equally as effective. Beneath a veritable shower of live palms is presented a display of the most fetching spring headgear—ideas queenly original and tasteful—each representing the ideas of some of our most milliners of New York or Paris, making altogether one of the most picturesque and beautiful window displays ever seen in this city, and reflecting great credit upon the house and their decorator, who doubtless arranged the trim exhibition.

Kubie, a prominent farmer of Orange county, in an altercation at Orange courthouse with J. W. Cox, of Charlottesville, was severely cut across the back with a knife by the latter. The wound is quite a severe one, but not regarded as dangerous. After medical treatment Kubie was sent to his home near Roadside, Cox was arrested, and at a preliminary trial was sent on to the grand jury.

READY TO MEET STRIKE. Cotton Mill Men in the South Say One Would Be Beneficial. (Special Dispatch to The Times.) RALEIGH, N. C., April 24.—Since the strike has been in progress at Danville there has been much talk of a general strike throughout the South. Operatives throughout North and South Carolina. Quite a prominent cotton-mill director and stockholder said to-day in referring to the situation: "There will be concert of action among the mills in the event of an emergency. The minute the strike goes into effect just that minute will every striker be notified to vacate the company's houses, and the shut-out on our side will be as complete as theirs. The men that do not strike will be continued in employment, and if the mills can't be operated they will be continued on the payroll just the same. In fact, all the mills are pledged to stand by their friends."

Cotton-mill men generally declare that from a business standpoint a strike would just now prove a benefit to southern mills. The Secretary of State has issued charters to the Home Ice and Refrigerating Company, of Birmingham, with $20,000 capital, and the Huntington Company, of Concord, with $25,000 capital, and the Eastern Insurance and Commission Company, of Kingston, with $200 capital. The last named company has the smallest capital stock of any ever chartered in this State.

UNKNOWN NEGRO FOUND. The Body Was Floating in Roanoke River. (Special Dispatch to The Times.) HAMILTON, N. C., April 23.—An unknown colored man was discovered in the Roanoke River yesterday, by some fishermen, about half mile above Hamilton. He was hung up in some brush on the Bertie side.

Dr. Nelson, the county coroner, held an inquest over the body last night, and from two wounds found on the body, one in the breast and the other under the arm, the jury rendered their verdict that he came to his death by some sharp instrument unknown to the jury. His appearance indicated that he had been dead several weeks.

CHILD-LIKE TRUST OF THE INDIAN. "When the Wild West made its first trip to Europe," said Colonel Cody, "I had Major Burke at the Sioux agency to select and engage the Indian contingent of the expedition. I struggled with difficulties, with which he was best, until, seeing that his plans to get the Indians were likely to fail, he sent for me. "When I reached the reservation I found that some mischief-maker had told the Indians that the west-going train like the Big Train, where there would be many 'sleeps' from land the Indian reckons days by nights, which he calls 'sleeps'; that the train would be a rock and roll; that the waters would be deeper than the mountains were high; that the Indians were dying and leaving their flesh would leave their bones and they would die. I did not waste words trying to convince them otherwise. I only said: 'If Pa-hus-ka (long hair) is going, do you think I would go where my flesh would fall from my bones?' "The Indians assured me that they said: 'If Pa-hus-ka goes we will follow.' I had to leave the agency with them and lead a band of the pier and aboard the ship in New York. "I thought to have a little sport with them so I, as quietly as possible, slipped from the ship, and was scarcely on the pier until every Indian in the band was at my heels. "The second day out it came on rough. Now no man who was ever tossed by a wave gets sick at sea than I do. I took to my bed, and when I was lying inside my berth and outside my food, when the interpreter, pale and trembling, came to me. 'Pa-hus-ka,' he said, 'the Indians are dying and leaving their bones. They cry for Pa-hus-ka. "Says to them, I gasped, as I wrestled with awful terms of imprecation, 'I say to them that Pa-hus-ka is dead, that the flesh all left his bones and he died.' "A few days the weather cleared, the sea calmed down and the Wild West people began to appear on deck. Get out the band, I said, let's have some music. When I appeared on deck and when the Sioux saw me they evinced great surprise, approached with evidences of awe and fear, and felt of my arms and legs. 'Tgh! Indian was told Pa-hus-ka's flesh all gone, that Pa-hus-ka had dead. 'Leap a dam. "The world's events of interest to the public have again been drawn upon by Colonel Cody and Mr. Nate Salisbury, who leaves for the West with his band heretofore made Buffalo Bill's Wild West and Congress of Rough Riders of the West, the most popular of all amusement enterprises. There will be just as many Indians, cowboys, Cossacks, Mexicans, rough riders and more soldiers than ever. THE NEW FEATURES are many and will, the management hope, prove as pleasing to the public as have their former efforts to please and instruct. "A band of Boers direct from the 'Veldts' and 'Kopjes' of war-worried South Africa, the same big-bearded, brave rough riders that have made the names of such fighters as Cronje and De Wet famous in the world over, will be one of the new offerings. "The celebrated North-west Mounted Police, these brave rough-riding, red-coated constabulary, who have for years been the guardians of the peace of Canada's vast frontier, will be represented by a band of the finest specimens of the most interesting soldier constabulary. A detachment of Canada's crack regiment, the 10th Hussars, who have distinguished themselves in the South African battles of the same who last February, when they visited England en route from South Africa to Canada, were each and every one decorated with medals of honor by England's new King, will appear in the Wild West arena this season. "A spectacular battle scene, 'The Taking of Tien-Tsin' by the allied forces in China, will replace the popular 'San Juan Hill' and the whole will be under the direction of and led by Buffalo Bill, as usual. "A crew of men from the Life-Saving Service of the United States Government will, by the performance of the life-saving drill, illustrate the methods by which death by drowning is averted when ships are driven onto our stormy coast. This will, no doubt, prove a most instructive, interesting and thrilling feature. The date in this city is fixed for Friday, the 26th instant.
