

ROSSER KICKS AGAINST AGNEW

Declares He Had No Right to Change Place of Convention.

WALKER'S LETTER ENDORSED

The State Chairman Roudly Abused For High-Handed Methods—Albermarle Delegation Instructed For Rosser For Governor.

(Special Dispatch to The Times.)

CHARLOTTESVILLE, VA., July 29.—The Republican county Convention assembled in the courthouse at noon today, John R. Wood, chairman, presiding.

General Rosser, in taking the chair, thanked the convention for the honor conferred. He said that he had but one object in view in this campaign, and that object was to elevate the party. The Republican party is the salvation of our country, and the salvation of Virginia.

"Wherever we meet we want the delegates from Albemarle county to represent the great principles which underlie the great party, and which are the basis of our government."

THE DELEGATES. The Committee on Credentials—T. G. S. Taylor, P. H. Hill, Willis Whitlow, John Dickerson, and M. D. Shepherd—reported, seating twenty-seven delegates.

The temporary officers were made the permanent officers by a vote of 100 to 0. The following delegates and alternates were elected to the State Convention: Delegates—General Thomas L. Rosser, H. L. Lyman, W. G. Salsman, James Hummer, W. C. Cox, J. S. Taylor, John Dickerson, and W. Whitlow.

On his request, a duplicate of General James A. Walker's letter to State Chairman Park Agnew, protesting against the action of the State chairman in changing the place of the State Convention, was read before the body.

"In the name of the party, I protest against this unwarranted action of the chairman as a dangerous innovation which threatens the very existence of the party."

"I do not believe a convention held in Roanoke under the notice of the chairman will be valid and binding on the party."

"Let the State Committee meet and consider. Shall the place of holding the State Convention be changed?"

"If changed, where shall it be held? There is time enough to hold such a meeting. Call a meeting of the Executive Committee of the party, and let the committee call a meeting of the State Committee, and let the State Committee decide where the State Convention shall be held."

This letter was referred to the Committee on Resolutions, which, after a brief session, adopted a resolution protesting against this high-handed and arbitrary act of the chairman of the State Executive Committee, and denouncing it as unwarranted as to his authority, unwarranted as to the facts and as subversive of the will of the party as expressed through its regular State Committee."

Montague, accompanied by their little boy, have returned from a three-weeks' trip to the mountains of New Jersey and Pennsylvania, where the Attorney-General went to rest and recuperate his strength, which was so severely taxed in the recent spirited contest for Governor.

While North Mr. and Mrs. Montague attended the Pan-American Exposition, at Buffalo, and visited other points of interest. They were delighted with the exhibits of the different States. The former expressed his himself as highly pleased with his trip. When seen in his office yesterday, he said he never felt better in his life, and he certainly looks like a boy.

THE SWIFT SPECIFIC CO., ATLANTA, GA.

A PRETTY POSTMISTRESS NARROWLY ESCAPES DEATH.

Was Given Up to Die—Eight Doctors Failed—Pe-ru-na Saved Her Life.

THOUSANDS of women suffer from catarrh of the stomach. This is a disease which produces such symptoms as cold feet and hands, sick headache, palpitation of the heart and heavy feelings in the stomach.

Then begins a series of experiments with food. They take medicine for sick headache. They take medicine for nervous prostration, for palpitation of the heart, for dyspepsia. None of these medicines do any good, because they do not reach the cause of the complaint.

Pe-ru-na at once mitigates all these symptoms by removing the cause. Systemic catarrh is the trouble. Systemic catarrh of the stomach, which weakens every function. No permanent cure can be expected until the systemic catarrh is removed.

This is exactly what Pe-ru-na will do. Miss Alma Cox, Assistant Postmistress of Orem, S. C., writes:

"I have been a great sufferer from chronic disease and dyspepsia for five years. How I suffered no tongue can tell. I tried eight or ten of the best physicians without receiving much benefit. I also tried lots of patent medicines. But still I suffered with sick headache, cold feet and hands, palpitation of the heart, and such a heavy feeling in my stomach and chest. At times I would be so nervous I could not bear anyone around me. I had been given up to die."

"One day a friend sent me one of Dr. Dr. S. B. Hartman, President of Columbus, O., gives advice to women free during the summer months."

NEGRO LINEMAN'S FATAL FALL.

Henry Taylor Tumbles From the Tower Wagon and is Fatally Injured.

Henry Taylor, a colored fireman of the Passenger and Power Company, fell from the tower wagon at the corner of Ninth and Main yesterday morning about 10 o'clock and fractured his skull, dying an hour later.

Taylor was at work on the new curved trolley leading from Main up Ninth Street, and at the time was on top of the tower wagon, nearly twenty feet above the ground. Traction car No. 4 passed the corner going west, and immediately after its passage Taylor fell with a scream, catching at the wire as he did so, and striking his head on the sharp edge of the rail, when he came to the ground. A great hole was made in his skull, and though he lived to be carried off in the ambulance, he died about 11 o'clock.

Three slightly different versions of the accident are given by eye witnesses, but the passing of the car at the moment Taylor fell is prominent in all of them.

Taylor says that the conductor pulled down the trolley, as he had been ordered to do, but let it go up too soon, and that the trolley pole struck the platform of the tower wagon, which is constructed to move two or three feet to the right or left, and threw Taylor off his balance.

Others declare they saw the trolley pole strike Taylor a fearful blow behind the ear and knock him head long off the tower. Others still, among them Mr. Emmet Taylor and Mr. G. T. Perkins, say that the trolley did not touch the ladder or tower at all, and was nearly across Ninth Street before the "liman" fell. Many think he received a shock from the wire.

Taylor was lifted from the track and laid on the sidewalk on Ninth Street, where Dr. McGuire, the Passenger and Power Company's surgeon, did what was possible for him, until Dr. Murrell came with the ambulance and took him to the Virginia Hospital, where he died in an hour.

The accident was witnessed by many people who were passing this busy corner. Mr. E. B. Addison, of the Second Street, with a couple of blue-coats managed by hard work to keep the surging crowd away from the injured man. The pavement where the man was lying was covered with blood.

Taylor was about 40 years of age and resided on West Leigh Street, near Graham, with his family. He had been employed by the Passenger and Power Company some time, and was regarded by Captain M. D. Pollard, the foreman of the work, as a good workman.
