TUESDAY, JANUARY 7, 1902. EDUCATION.

The meeting of prominent Southern educators in Richmond on Saturday last was in pursuance of the programme mapped out some time ago by the Southern Educational Association.

The term education is a very broad term, broader than ever before in the history of the world. It means training, training of the head and of the heart as well as of the mind.

One of the best articles on this subject that we have seen is a paper by John Graham Brooks, which was read before the recent meeting of the Southern Conference for Education.

Brooks spoke particularly of the reformatories of Massachusetts and New York, saying that the youth who were committed long enough at Concord and Elmira to bring to bear on them the steady discipline of moral and industrial training.

Mr. Brooks thinks that this is the sort of education that the youth of the land should have, not merely those who are confined in reformatories, but those who are not.

They have been having a shaking up in newspaper circles down about Newport News. Recently the Morning Herald and the Evening Times were consolidated.

At last a jury has been found that knocked all the starch out of the "speakeasy" fellows. They feared to trust their cases in the hands of the respectable men which composed the misdemeanor jury.

THE NEWS FROM FLORIDA. According to the Times-Union and Citizen, the State of Florida is making great strides in industrial progress and is in better condition from every point of view than ever before in its history.

Owing to an unexpected break down in the Free Press' Mergenthaler machine further editorial comment is impossible in to-day's issue.

A special from Austin, Texas, says that New York says that a Japanese concern has concluded arrangements through a New York concern whereby American firms will furnish the equipment.

A special from Austin, Texas, says that an syndicate with which ex-Governor Hogg is associated has disposed of a part of its holdings situated in the Beaumont field to the Standard Oil Company.

TALK IN THE CONVENTION. Talking the cue from some of the Virginia newspapers, we observe that some of the outside papers are now ridiculing the oratory of the Constitutional Convention.

Mr. Thomas G. Snyder, of the Snyder Pump and Well Company, is at the head of a movement to organize a company for the purpose of supplying the city with water through the Artesian well system.

MONUMENT TO M'KINLEY. Virginia is invited to Aid in Raising the Money. Governor Montague received a telegram from Mr. Geo. K. Nash, chairman of the Ohio Division of the McKinley National Memorial Association.

Branch Office here. Hon. D. C. O'Flaherty, member of the convention from Warren county and senior member of the law firm of Jaherly & Fulton, of Front Royal, yesterday rented room No. 37, second floor, Chamber of Commerce, in which his firm will conduct a branch law office.

At last a jury has been found that knocked all the starch out of the "speakeasy" fellows. They feared to trust their cases in the hands of the respectable men which composed the misdemeanor jury.

Good for the brave judge. The Times does not believe in prohibition, but it believes in enforcing the law. When the officers of the law find a statute on the books it is not their business to pass upon its merits; it is their sworn duty to enforce it.

Miss Margie Knowles left yesterday for a three-months' stay in New York, where she will study under the direction of Madame Hall, one of the greatest celebrities of the metropolis as a vocal teacher.

Miss Mary Deane Scott left yesterday to visit friends in Greensboro, N. C. She will later visit other Southern cities, and it will be long before she returns to Richmond. She is one of our most popular girls in the city, and will be greatly missed by a large circle.

Miss Mabel Claire Williams and Mr. Horace Stillwell, of Savannah, Ga., were married at the Second Baptist Church yesterday afternoon by Rev. Dr. W. K. L. Smith.

The bride is the charming daughter of Mrs. George W. Williams, of this city, while the groom is a native of Savannah. Among the out-of-town guests was Miss Stillwell, of Savannah, sister of the groom.

Miss Louise W. Mosmiller will be married to Mr. Sebastian J. Hook, of Baltimore, at the home of her parents this evening at 5 o'clock. Miss Mosmiller is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Mosmiller, while the groom is the senior member of the firm of Hook and Company, of Baltimore.

At the meeting of the Entertainment Committee of the Colonial Dames yesterday at the residence of Mrs. Arthur Lefroy, the following committees were elected for their annual ball, which will be held at the Mansion Friday January 17th by invitation of Mrs. A. J. Montague, who has tendered the use of her home for the occasion: Mrs. E. J. Boyd, chairman of the live music; Mrs. John Lefroy, of the organization; Mrs. Virginia Hall, arrangements; Mrs. William G. Starnard, speeches; Mrs. C. W. P. Brock, music; and Mrs. Arthur Lefroy, entertainment.

CARTERS' LITTLE LIVER PILLS. BICK HEADACHE. Positively cured by these Little Pills. They also relieve Distress from Dyspepsia, Indigestion and Too Heartily Eating.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL

The Masonic Temple was the scene of brilliancy last night, when the twelfth night german of the Richmond Assembly was danced. The german was gracefully led by Mr. Adolphus Blair, who introduced a mass of other before supper, which was greatly enjoyed and caused more amusement than is generally seen on such an occasion.

Among the dancers were: Mrs. Frank Powers, in scarlet crepe de chine, with eru lace; Mrs. Adolphus Blair, mace lace over white satin, appliqued, rosette of pink liberty satin; Mrs. G. L. Davis, blue imported tulle, lace and tulle; Mrs. Murray McGuire, white organdy over pink tulle, real lace; Mrs. John Farland, black net over tulle, trimmed with pink roses; Mrs. George Elliott, pink and cream Persian dress; Mrs. Charles P. The ball will be a marked social event in the society world, and will be followed by an elegant banquet, the chairman of which has not yet been appointed.

A well attended meeting of the Charity Ball was held yesterday at the residence of Mrs. Carter Scott, when the following named patronesses were present: Messdames A. J. Davis, John D. Robinson, G. L. L. Davis, John D. Potts, James Branch, Barton H. Grundy, Charles P. Stokes, W. H. Hazard, John J. Farland, J. A. Johnston, Thos. C. Gordon. It was decided that the address Wallace should furnish the supper, which will be on an elaborate scale.

As matters are progressing so favorably, no further business meetings will be held. It only remains now for the young belles and beaux of the occasion to anticipate and realize one more merry evening to be spent with the patronesses of the ball.

Mrs. Charles E. Borden will give a tea Thursday afternoon from 5 to 7 o'clock in honor of her guests, Miss Leila Bellamy and Miss Fannie Taylor, of Wilmington, N. C. Later on in the evening Mrs. Borden has issued invitations to the gentlemen to meet her guests and receiving party.

Dr. Oppenheimer and Mr. J. M. Boll, of this city, were among the guests of Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Saunders, of "Upper Shirley" last week, where they so charmingly entertained the Magazine Club.

In and Around The Hotels.

New York is at last firmly convinced that it has killed Richard Croker," said Mr. Gerald McLaughlin, a Brooklyn man, who was identified with the campaign of Mayor Seth Low in New York last fall. "Of course, I know every time Tammany Hall gets a set-back that is said, but at the same time New York is convinced at last that Croker is dead politically, as it is believed the combination of Reformers and Republicans will stick together.

"In the Reform party of New York are all manner of politics. It is the expression of Republicans and Democrats alike against the ring government of New York, and, struggle as it may, there is no belief that Tammany Hall will regain its former prestige. Croker's gains, and that alone, kept the Hall together so long, and now there are rumors of splits even in that organization, and if this be true the end of the greatest political machine the world has ever seen is in sight."

"Farmers along the James River have suffered more from the late flood than they have from any other cause for many years," remarked Dr. Julian Harlow, of Newport News, at New Ford's recent "House of Commons" party. "The stock, nearly everywhere was swept away, and it will be some time before things along the river reach a normal condition. Along the Chesapeake and Ohio Road nearly all the farmers were called into service, raising the water, and the flood, but whatever they may have made from this by the use of their farm hands was more than lost to them through the high water."

Professor W. B. Alwood, who fills the chair of horticulture and vegetable pathology at Blacksburg, State entomologist and a government expert in fermentation, now at Murphys' in connection with the meeting to-day of the Virginia Horticultural Society, was given yesterday at Virginia, accidentally he said, "The reason Virginia is not a prosperous State is because since the war there has been little farming. People these days are inclined to look upon farming as degrading, and it is steadily increasing in the State. Strangely enough, some people believe that farming will ruin the health. I am a farmer." That would apparently dispel any doubts as to farming being healthy. Professor Alwood is one of the healthiest men in the State, and a professional farmer, and devotes his entire attention to farming.

"Chicago will furnish the next President of this country—or, at least, believes she will," declared Mr. Carter Y. Zerk, a traveling man from Chicago, yesterday. "Who is it?" Mayor Carter Harrison, of course. "The Harrison boom is on and Chicago believes that Harrison will be the next President, whatever the rest of the country may think about it. This is a comfort at least to Chicago. "Harrison is a man who is tremendously popular with all classes and has done a great deal for Chicago. Now it is hoped his reward is nearly at hand. Dalton, that the Cook County Club is coming down this way soon. Look 'em over when they get here. They show what kind of politicians Chicago has, and in this they are immensely interesting throughout the South, particularly at the time when eyes are turned to Harrison as a Presidential possibility."

"There seems to be a general misunderstanding throughout the country as to the Charleston Exposition," said Mr. Hamilton Firth, of that city, at Murphys' yesterday. "I noticed in this city and wherever else I have gone over body seem to think that the Exposition is a failure. This, I believe, is a mistake. As a matter of fact Charleston was hardly ready, but the crowds are growing daily and statements to the contrary are erroneous. I think personally that Charleston deserves a vast deal of credit for what she has done, and the Government absolutely refused to aid her in any way, and the press of the country is doing our Exposition an injustice. We have the crowds and we have the Exposition, one of the most notable of its kind in the history of the country as showing the development of our Colonial possessions."

Many prominent Virginians were in Richmond yesterday. Among these were Mr. S. Bryant of Crewe, a brother of Senator John Bryant. He will remain in the city for a couple of days on private business.

Rev. Dr. Edward A. Temple, of Front Royal, was at the Lexington yesterday. Dr. Temple is now on his way home from a hunting expedition in the Southern part of the State. He will return to his home to-morrow.

Mr. Henry Esley, a banker of South Boston, was in the city yesterday, accompanied by his wife. He was at the Lexington.

Several members of the Constitutional Convention, who went home over Sunday, returned to the city yesterday. Among these were Mr. John W. Lawson, of Isle of Wight county, and Mr. A. Fletcher, Mr. J. J. Bond, formerly of Mr. W. H. Bond, a member of the convention, was also in the city, at Ford's, accompanied by his son.

From Danville yesterday there came a party consisting of Messrs. C. E. Cabaniss, H. C. Farish, S. H. Watkins, and Mr. B. G. Kerr.

Other prominent Virginians in Richmond yesterday were: Messrs. C. E. Ely and F. J. Fuller, of Lynchburg; Mr. E. L. McClelland, Fairfax; Prof. J. L. Phillips, of Blacksburg, here to attend the Horticultural Society Convention; Mr. H. L. Price, of Blacksburg, here for the same purpose; Mr. E. T. Page, Jr., Mr. R. A. Ayer, of Big Stone Gap, Mr. H. B. Boyd, Wytheville; Mr. S. P. Cunningham, Farmville; Mr. Withers Massie, of Massie's Mills, all at Murphys'; Mr. H. S. Tuggle, at the New Ford, and Mr. Roy W. Sexton, of Wytheville, at the Lexington.
