TEAMSTERS JOIN FREIGHT MEN

Refused to Haul Freight and Blocked Things Up. CONFERENCES OF NO USE

Big Chicago Strike Far as Ever from Settlement.

RAILROADS REMAIN FIRM

Refuse to Recede from Their Position and Contest Goes On—There May Be No Official Declaration of Strike by the Teamsters, but the Effect is the Same.

(By Associated Press.)
CHICAGO, July 12—Conferences between the striking freight handlers and the managers of the railroads did not produce any definite result to-day. All the railroads, with the exception of the Chicago and Northwestern, Erie, and Illinois Central, refused to recede from their position, and declared that the men must accept the terms offered them on July 1st. This means 17 cents an hour, and a period of probation for new men. The demands of the men were 18 cents, time and one-half for overtime, and no period of probation, all men to receive full pay from the start. The Northwestern road offered 17-1/2 cents an hour, single time for overtime for men employed by the day, but not for men whose wages are paid by the month. The Erie offered 17 cents single time for overtime, and no period of probation. The Illinois Central declared that it had made an agreement with its employees since the inauguration of the strike and that it would do no more. The men must accept that or remain on strike.

HAD NOT FULL POWER.
Although it had been the understanding of the members of the Board of Arbitration and that of the general managers of the railroads, the committee which were to call on the railroad managers would have full power to accept or reject all proposals from the roads, the committees announced at the conclusion of the conferences, that they did not possess this power, but were compelled to report back to the officers of the union. They declared they had been sent to the conferences with instructions to demand 18 cents, but if that was found to be impossible, to take 17-1/2, but even this must not be accepted until the officers of the union had been consulted.

A general meeting of the freight handlers will be held to-morrow night, at which the advisability of accepting the offers of the Northwestern and Erie roads will be discussed.
TEAMSTERS TAKE PART.
Numerous meetings of teamsters will be held to-morrow to call a strike in sympathy with the freight handlers, but the officials of the organization declare that they are prepared to have no organization as long as they can prevent it. While there may be no official strike of the teamsters, the condition is the same as though one existed. The truck teamsters refused to-day to accept freight for the freight houses, and in many instances they were informed by their employers that if it was impossible to deliver the freight, they need not attempt to do so.

The railroads deprecate this attitude on the part of the shippers, and say that they are prepared to have no organization if it is brought to them. They claim that the strike of the teamsters is a matter between their employers and the teamsters, and that it is no affair of the railroads, and they do not see why they should make further concessions to the freight handlers for the sake of producing peace between the shippers and their men.

MAY CALL OUT SWITCHMEN.
The freight handlers who are now fully assured of the aid of the teamsters, whether a strike shall be sanctioned by that organization or not, announced to-night that they will make an effort to call out the railroad switchmen by appealing to them not to handle cars of freight that are loaded by non-union men. It was announced at the headquarters of the Freight Handlers' Union that this had been done, but Grand Master Hawley, of the Switchmen's Union, who is in the city on business having no connection with the strike of the freight handlers, said that he had received no such request, and that under the rules of his organization it would be out of the question for him to call a strike, and he did not believe that there was any prospect of the men going out to aid the freight handlers.

The National Convention of the Longshoremen is now in session here, and Grand Master Keefe, of that body, said to-night that he had not been approached in the matter of a sympathetic strike, but that the freight handlers could present their request to the convention to do so. What action would be probable in such an event, Mr. Keefe declared he could not guess.

MORRIS ASKS FOR JURY

Refuses to Plead and Was Sustained by the Court.
(Special Dispatch to The Times.)
NORFOLK, VIRGINIA, July 12.—The case of the Norfolk and Portsmouth Bar Association against Attorney P. J. Morris for alleged unprofessional practices was called in the Court of Law and Chancery to-day and continued to Monday. Morris moved to quash the writ on the ground that it did not show intent. The motion was overruled. Morris refused to plead guilty or not guilty, saying there was no law to compel him. He was sustained. Morris then demanded a special jury for Monday and it was allowed. He is charged with having given a woman a fake decree of divorce. Attorney Hughes, for the Association, said they were not trying to persecute Morris, only the Association wanted purity.

"It's a wonder you didn't start long ago," retorted Morris, intimating there were crooked lawyers here.

GREAT GROWTH OF SCHOOL OF METHODS

Wonderful Work Being Accomplished for Education.

TRAINING OF THE TEACHERS

Rural High Schools to Be Greatly Improved—Link Between the Public Schools and the University Strengthened.

A novice visiting the University of Virginia at this season would suppose that it was a school for women, and such for the time being it is. Out of 1,336 teachers who are now attending the School of Methods, only about fifty are men. This means that the children of Virginia are being educated by women. This is a serious proposition, and it must be seriously considered by the people of the State. If the children are to be taught by women we should be sure that the women who teach them are qualified. What is being done in this direction? It may be confidently asserted that much is being done by this School of Methods under the intelligent leadership of that wonderful instructor and executive officer, Edward C. Glass, of Lynchburg. When he began this work fourteen years ago only a handful of teachers attended, and the total number of instructors was six. During that period, however, more than eight thousand teachers have attended the summer schools, and this year the number is much larger than ever before, and the teachers have had coaching from the finest instructors in the land.

DIVISION OF THE WORK.
There are three departments of work—the university course, the academic course and the model school. In the University course there are daily lectures in English literature and rhetoric by Professor Kent; in Latin, by Professor Wright; in German and French, by Professor Faulmer; in mathematics, by Professor Thornton; in chemistry, by Professor Mallett; in physics, by Professors Smith and Humphreys; and in English history, by Professor Chandler, of Richmond College.

The lectures are well attended, and the students derive the full benefit of the regular university course as far as it goes. In the academic course there is class instruction in arithmetic, grammar, history, geography, civil government, physiology, reading and music. The attendance in all these classes is excellent. The Model School is conducted in the public school building of the city by Miss Holbrook, of the Forestville School, of Chicago, which is conceded to be one of the best schools of the kind in the world, and by Miss Clements, of Berkeley City, who has a national reputation.

Children from the city of Charlottesville are in attendance, and these experts give practical demonstrations day by day in the art of teaching. Special stress is laid upon reading. Miss Holbrook teaches the "word and sentence" method, and Miss Clements the "Ward-Rational" Method. Instruction is not confined to reading, but is given in all studies in the primary grades.

In addition to all these lectures are given by Professor Bird, of William and Mary College, in pedagogy, and by Professor Kline in psychology. From time to time Mr. Glass has brought in experts from various parts of the country, and has given lectures on the best methods of teaching, and this is made a central feature.

MANUAL TRAINING.
Special attention should be made of the manual training school under the intelligent direction of Professor Weber. All the teachers, and especially the Richmond teachers, manifested great interest in this department of the work, and were deeply impressed with the value of this method of training. The fact is emphasized, that manual training is mental and moral training, and is employed in the schools as such, and not for the purpose of making, as so many people imagine, "jack-leg carpenters" of the boys. It is designed to teach the hand and the head to work together, and designed also to enforce the greatest importance of accuracy and precision, which means truth.

MISS JOHNSTON TO COME IN THE FALL

Her Father Trying to Lease a House Until West Franklin Residence is Ready.

If the plans of Major John W. Johnston are carried out, his family, including his accomplished daughter, Miss Mary Johnston, author of "To Have and to Hold" and "Audrey," will come to Richmond to live the latter part of next September. Major Johnston was seen at the Jefferson Hotel Friday night by a Times writer. He stated then that he expected to sign a lease yesterday morning for a house, of which he would get possession in September. Mr. N. W. Bove was the agent from whom he expected to get the house. He was to leave yesterday at noon. The lease, however, was not signed, through some little hitch that is not regarded as serious. The matter will, in all likelihood, be fixed up early this week.

Regarding the new house which will be erected on the lot bought by Miss Mary Johnston from the Ginter estate, Major Johnston stated that while it was true that his daughter had bought the lot in her own name, the residence to be erected on it would be his work. It was to be his home, and his family would live there. But he did not know positively what would be done. He said he had engaged Captain M. J. Dimmock, of this city, to draw plans for the proposed residence, and that gentleman was now engaged on the preliminary drawings, organized on the preliminary drawings, with Major Johnston until nearly midnight. Captain Dimmock has lately come out of the delicate and artistic work of remodeling or rather restoring West-end residential work. Major Johnston went on to state that it was his purpose to lease a house and come here with his family about the 25 of September next, and use this house until his own residence was completed. If he could not get a house by September, he would have to remain in Birmingham until the West Franklin Street residence was ready.

Mr. Johnston left yesterday for Gloucester, Mass. He was at the Jefferson for a week.

NEW BUILDING FOR THE HORSE SHOW

Reservoir Park Spoken of as a Possible Site.

MR. SITTERDING TO BUILD IT

Horse Show People Will Not Allow the Burning of the Auditorium to Interfere With Their Plans.

Richmond's Horse Show will be held this fall under a new building erected for the purpose. A contract for this building will be awarded Mr. Fritz Sitterding, while the plans will be drawn by Noland and Baskerville. The location is yet to be decided upon. The directors of the Association decided upon this course on yesterday, the second day after the burning of the Auditorium, and instructed builders and architects to proceed at once to make arrangements for the carrying out of these plans. Two propositions involving the site have been made to the Association, one of which will be decided upon to-morrow at a called meeting of the directors.

THE SITE.
One site, said to have been offered by the Passenger and Power Company, is the vacant lot just east of the Aquarama, at Reservoir Park. This, however, could not be verified last night by any official of the Horse Show Association. When asked if the new building would be erected at the Reservoir they would say we are not discussing sites to-night.

Noland and Baskerville, the architects, set to work on the plans yesterday afternoon. These they claim will surpass in every way those of the old building. Mr. Fritz Sitterding, who will be awarded the contract, is confident there is time to erect the new building and give it all the finishing touches.

On the special train here were R. T. Wilson, general passenger agent; G. M. Wilson, treasurer of the said road; Captain Joseph Hobson, former president of the road and president of the Powhatan Troop Association; Judge A. D. SENATORIAL CANDIDATES MAY FIGHT DUEL TO DEATH

War of Words Promises to Be Followed by One in Which More Deadly Weapons Will Be Brought Into Play.
(By Associated Press.)
CHARLESTON, S. C., July 12.—At the campaign meeting of the six candidates for the United States Senate at St. George, Colleton county, to-day, there was a war of words which may lead to a duel between Congressman A. C. Latimer and ex-Governor John Gary Evans, two rival candidates. Mr. Latimer in his speech said that Mr. Evans once had been his friend. He was interrupted by Mr. Evans, who said that Latimer "betrayed me like a dog."

Mr. Evans, said in reply: "I denounce the man who repeats that rumor as a liar."

The two men started toward each other and there would have been an ugly scrap then and there had not Sheriff Owens rushed in between them, insisting that the court-room was no place for duels. To this Mr. Latimer agreed and Mr. Evans remarked that there was plenty of room outside and plenty time in the future.

To-Day is to Be Given to Burying the Ill-Fated Miners.

RIGID INVESTIGATION BE HAD

Nine Officials Say That Those Who Were in Mine at Time of Explosion Must Be Given Chance to Testify and Mine People Chances to Make Best Presentation Possible.

(By Associated Press.)
JOHNSTOWN, PA., July 12.—The extent of the horrible catastrophe of the Rolling Mill Mine of the Cambria Steel Company is not capable of being grasped. Early to-night, in spite of conflicting reports as to the number of dead, a careful and complete compilation by the Associated Press shows that 112 is the extent of the list of the bodies outside the mine. To this future explorations of the mine corridors may add a few, but it cannot be many. Almost all the employees who could have been in the mine at the time of the life wrecking explosion of Thursday are accounted for. Very few inquiries for missing have been presented the authorities or mine officials, and this better than anything else demonstrates the impossibility of many bodies still remaining in the death tomb.

The mine officials say there is no use attempting to estimate the number of dead. They say they study do not know and urge the futility of placing the matter on the basis of guesswork. They express the belief, however, that all, or almost all, are out of the mine. General Superintendent Robinson came out about 4 o'clock this afternoon after an arduous day's exploration. He expressed his conviction that not more than five dead bodies would be added to the 112 dead already known.

DAY OF FUNERALS.

Sunday will dawn on the populous city of Johnstown prepared to devote its attention to mourning and funeral obsequies. The inaugural of this grim program was given to-day, when more than a score interments took place. As late as 7 o'clock this evening funeral processions with bands playing dirges and uniformed escorts at their heads, passed through the streets of the city. While time is pressing on the undertakers to take care of the funerals, to-morrow's mournful program will not start especially early. Many are trying to defer the last sad rites until afternoon.

Early to-day a general belief settled over the community and those officially associated with the disaster that the end of the grim search for bodies was about reached. This did not deter the owners of street rickshaws, who actively plied their avocation and caused numerous wild goose chases. After the bringing of the fifteen bodies to the morgue at half past four it was commonly rumored that the last body was found. It is to hide the truth as to the extent of the disaster. The developments of the day
