Memorial to Noble Dead to federacy of Philadelphia.

THE PARADE AND CEREMONY

Veterans, Military and Ladies to Be in the Procession—Address to Be Delivered by Mr. Cadwallader.

General Lee and Thomas
tion To-Night.

The unveiling this afternoon in the soldiers' section of Hollywood Cemetery of the monument erected by the Daubney H. Maury Chapter, United Daughters of the Confederacy, to the memory of the known and unknown soldiers of the South buried in Philadelphia, will be an event of peculiar interest and of historical importance.

The circumstances responsible for the building of the monument here are unusual and of interest. In Philadelphia where the dead whose deeds this shaft will commemorate, sleep in Federal burying grounds, the erection of a Confederate monument was forbidden, so back to the South whence their heroes came, the women of the chapter have brought their memorial shaft to place it among the graves and monuments in Hollywood, where sleep the dead of the Lost Cause.

It is with the knowledge of these circumstances attending to-day's ceremonies that there are now in the city awaiting the unveiling hundreds of Daughters of the Confederacy, and distinguished speakers to grace the occasion and pay their tributes to the soldiers of the South. There are here representatives of chapters in North and South Carolina, Georgia and Alabama, from which States many of the soldiers being in Northern prisons and buried in Philadelphia, came.

PARADE AND EXERCISES.

To-day's ceremonies will include a parade in which the veterans of the several camps and homes, the military of the city, mounted details and hundreds of ladies in carriages will take part. This column will form in the residential section of the city, starting at 10 o'clock and march to the cemetery, where the ceremonies will take place at 4 o'clock. The programme, as announced last night by Mrs. J. Taylor Ellison, will include an opening prayer by Dr. W. R. L. Smith. The hymn "Nearer, My God, to Thee" will be sung, after which Hon. J. Taylor Ellison will make a brief address before proceeding to the first speaker of the evening, Hon. John Cadwallader of Philadelphia, who will speak on behalf of the ladies of his city.

General Fitzhugh Lee and Dr. Thomas Nelson Page will speak for the ladies of the Richmond Chapter. General Lee and Mr. Cadwallader are in the city at 4 o'clock and at night, and Mr. Cadwallader will be speaking several days at the old home place, in Hanover county, which reach the city this morning at 8 o'clock.

Accompanying Mr. Cadwallader will be a number of ladies from Virginia, North and South Carolina, Kentucky, Miss Mattie Harris, Arkansas; Mrs. Decatur Axtell, Missouri; Mrs. George P. Stacy, Solid South, Miss Minnie Baughman; House, Miss Isabel Maury.

DROPS INTO A DITCH

Although the monument is here, it looked for a time last night as though the shaft was an accident which occurred veiling this afternoon. The cause of this possible delay in the erection of the shaft stems from an accident which occurred upon it after it had been placed on the trucks to be hauled to the cemetery. The great weight of the granite caused the truck wagon to give away, and for a time the monument was in the ditch. It required several hours' work to replace it upon a stronger wagon, and delayed its arrival at the cemetery until after midnight.

Fortunately the block was uninjured by the accident, and will no doubt be in place to-day. Through the greater part of the night men worked industriously, getting it to the site and in proper place for its final adjustment this morning.

BROUGHT ON SPECIAL TRAIN.

Those who attend the unveiling ceremonies to-day will be interested to know of another unique experience of the monument which is the occasion of the gathering here.

ANOTHER POINT FOR MOLINEUX

Testimony That He Did Not Purchase Bottle Holder.

HANDWRITING EXPERTS AGAIN

Tyrrrell, of Milwaukee, is Positive That Molineux Wrote the Poison Package
Address and the Barnett Letters.
Supplied with Photographs.

(By Associated Press.)
NEW YORK, Oct. 24.—The defense in the Molineux trial again claimed an advantage when Miss Emma Miller, the woman who sold the silver bottle holder which accompanied the poison package sent to Harry Cornish, testified positively that Molineux was not the purchaser.

Much of to-day's session was devoted to the examination of a handwriting expert who was positive that the address on the poison package, three Cornish letters on interlaced crescent paper, the Barnett letters, admitted for purposes of comparison only, and letters admitted to have been written by defendant, were all written by the same hand.

Miss Miller said she sold the bottle holder submitted to her, but doubted if she could recognize the person to whom she sold it. She admitted that she had demanded $150 before she would give the holder. Molineux said, replying to Governor Black, that she remembered selling the bottle holder in question on December 21, 1898. She sold it to a man with gray eyes and a sandy beard. She was quite sure Molineux was not the man.

Edward Ehrhardt, a boy in the employ of Hartgen and Company, testified that he wrapped up the bottle holder sold by Miss Miller and handed it to the purchaser. He is a new witness in the case. The boy related an incident in the case. The Governor Black, that she remembered selling the bottle holder in question on December 21, 1898. She sold it to a man with gray eyes and a sandy beard. She was quite sure Molineux was not the man.

John F. Tyrrrell, of Milwaukee, the handwriting expert, was the next witness. Each of the jurors was furnished with a book containing photographic reproductions of all the written exhibits in the case. There are sixty-eight of them in all, of which fifty-three are the conceded writings of Molineux and the other are the poison package wrapper address, three Cornish letters on interlaced crescent-crested paper, one of them the Harpster letter, six "Barnett" letters, admitted as standards of comparison only, and five envelopes.

BY THE SAME HAND.

"I find that all those writings were made by the same hand," the expert testified. "Tyrrrell pointed out the similarity of certain characteristics in the writings of the poison package and the Harpster letter. He found like peculiarities in the writing of the other Cornish letters and of the Barnett letters that convinced him that all were the work of the same hand.

POLICE BOARD HAS COMPLETED WORK

Investigation of Department Has Been Finished for Present.
Will Be No Changes.

It develops that the investigation of the Police Department is practically at an end, and that the force will continue as at present, without any material changes. This seems to be the opinion of the Commissioners, all of whom are satisfied with the showing made by the department at the Hawthorne hearing Thursday afternoon and night.

Several Commissioners were seen yesterday afternoon in regard to the probable steps they would take in view of the hearing Thursday, and all seemed of the opinion that further investigation would be superfluous, though they say that the department will be operated upon a higher plane.

The Colonial Dames left promptly at 7:20 A. M. yesterday for Westover, where they went at the invitation of Mrs. William McC. Ramsay to hold their first autumn meeting and enjoy the handsome hospitality of the mistress of the finest colonial estate in Virginia.

Westover was reached about 11:30 in the forenoon. Mrs. Ramsay received her guests in the spacious and beautiful Westover hall, gowned in mode cloth, appliqued in bands and outlined discs of cloth, with a round yoke of shirred pink chiffon. Her welcome was exceedingly cordial, and her manner so gracious as to add greatly to the pleasure afforded by the visit. She was most ably seconded in her efforts to add to the enjoyment of the Dames by her two sons, Masters Jack and Bishop Ramsay, and her daughter, little Miss Ramsay.

BUSINESS SESSION HELD.

After wraps and bonnets were laid aside, a business meeting was called, at which Mrs. Robert A. Gibson presided. The chief feature of the meeting was the reading of a paper by Mrs. John Addison, given her by Mrs. Jane Cary Fairfax, of Baltimore. It was a few charming pages from the diary of Sally Cary Fairfax, who died at the early age of seventeen, and who makes many allusions in her innocent little diary to "my dear General."

SWIFT CREEK PROPOSITION IS REJECTED BY COMMITTEES

Joint Meeting of Finance and Water Committees of Council Results in Rejection of Mr. Robertson's Scheme.
Mr. Crenshaw Will Submit a Minority Report.

As a result of a joint session of the Finance and Water Committees held yesterday afternoon, majority and minority reports will be submitted to the City Council at its next meeting on the proposition of Mr. John C. Robertson to supply Richmond with clear water from Swift Creek, the former recommending the rejection of the plan, and the latter asking that a commission be appointed to investigate more thoroughly ways and means for providing clear, pure water.

The proposition of Mr. Robertson was rejected by almost a unanimous vote, Mr. Crenshaw alone voting in the negative. And it was this Councilman who gave notice that he would submit a minority report, suggesting the appointment of a commission to further investigate a clear water plan.

During the course of the meeting it developed that the deal whereby the city of Richmond becomes sole owner of Williams Island in James River, was closed last Thursday afternoon. A check for $25,000 was drawn by the City Treasurer and turned over to the executors of the T. C. Williams estate, the property is to be used for the construction of a settling basin.

Shortly after the meeting was called to order, Superintendent Bolling, of the Water Works, made a few remarks regarding the inadvisability of accepting the proposition of Mr. Robertson for supplying the city with water from Swift Creek. He cited numbers of reasons why such a course should not be taken, after which Mr. C. V. Meredith, representing Mr. Robertson, was allowed a few minutes in which to address the committee. He argued in favor of the proposition.

How Germany Fights Dreaded Tuberculosis

(By Associated Press.)
BERLIN, October 24.—The delegates to the International Tuberculosis Convention spent the day studying the sanitarium which is being built at Soltz near Potsdam. This institution is unique in Europe. A group of model buildings is being erected in pine woods, costing $2,500,000. The institution, which is now partially occupied, accommodates 900 persons. The period of stay is fourteen months, during which the inmates have plenty of fresh air, good food, medical attention, amusements and all the advantages of a holiday. The theory on which the State maintains the institution is that it is an economic duty to restore health to the head of a family or any skilled worker.

UNRULY YOUTH IN PRISON CELL

Joe Tolker, Aged Fifteen and of His Father.

Poorly clad, bare-footed, dirty, greasy and shivering from cold, Joe Tolker, aged fifteen, was arrested last night shortly after 9 o'clock by Patrolman Farley on a warrant charging him with being incorrigible and beyond the control of his parents. He was carried to the Second Station, where he occupied a cell for the night.

This morning before Justice John the youth will be up on a warrant, which was sworn out by his father several days ago, and his parent will ask that he be sent to the reformatory in the hope of improving the manners and morals of the little fellow.

Two weeks ago Joe, who is the son of Joseph Tolker, of No. 133 West Leigh Street, disappeared rather suddenly and somewhat mysteriously from his home. He had been gone a day or two before his parents became really alarmed, whereupon the police were notified to be on the lookout for the chap.

MIDNIGHT HOLD-UP AND TRAIN ROBBERY

One Man Single-Handed Rifles an Express in Montana.

ENGINEER SHOT AT HIS POST

Robber Boasted That He Was One of the Party Which Held Up Southern Pacific Train Near Portland
a Year Ago.

(By Associated Press.)
MISSOULA, MON., October 21.—An east bound passenger train on the Northern Pacific was held up last night near Drummond, Mon., forty-five miles from this city, and Engineer Dan O'Neill was killed.

The train, which included mail, baggage and express cars, and nine coaches, arrived at Missoula at 10:20 P. M., and proceeded eastward after a short delay at this station. It arrived after midnight at a place two miles west of Drummond. Here the train was signalled to stop, and the engineer slowed up. While doing so, he saw a man creeping toward him over the tender. The man, who was armed, called to O'Neill to stop the train instantly. The engineer took in the situation at once and pulled over the throttle, tried to start the train at full speed. The robber divined his purpose and fired at him. The shot took instant effect, and the engineer fell dead at his post.

The robber then proceeded to rifle the express and mail cars. He plundered the regular mail and blew open the safe in the express car, which was wrecked by the explosion. The amount of plunder which he secured is not known at present, but it is supposed to be large.

INTENSE EXCITEMENT.

The excitement over the train was intense. The sudden stoppage of the train spread alarm among the train hands and the passengers. The darkness of the night and the loneliness of the place added to the general scene of terror.

THE ROBBER'S BOAST.

The robber boasted that he was the man who took part in the hold-up of the Southern Pacific train near Portland, Ore., about one year ago. He made his boast to the train hands to terrorize them while he employed them to run the train four miles to a point two miles east of Drummond. He declared that he would be hard to catch as he had a horse in the timber.

The Northern Pacific has offered a reward of $5,000 for delivery, dead or alive, of the train robber who killed O'Neill. The mask worn by the bandit was found on a mountain trail two miles from the scene of the hold-up, and a "cat" victim, the bounds the secret of the mask, the animals then took up the trail, which was the about eight hours old.

On motion of Mr. Otway Allen the committee adjourned to meet again next Friday night at 8 o'clock, at which time some decision will be reached as to the best manner in which to raise the $50,000 necessary for the construction of the settling basin.

Splendid Performance of Bal- timore Horse at Lynchburg.

HORSE SHOW A SUCCESS

Last Night Closes With Gro-Enthusiasm.

MRS. BLAIR JOHNSON'S RIDING

She is Repeatedly Applauded for Her Handling of Difficult Mount—Overland Hunt Team Wins—Miss Alice Langhorne Wins the Blue in the Ladies'

Hunters' Class.

(Special Dispatch to The Times.)
LYNCHBURG, VA., October 24.—With Guy Rock, the splendid jumper of R. M. Taylor, of Baltimore, going over the bars at more than six feet, the Lynchburg Horse Show closed to-night with the audience in a high state of excitement and enthusiasm.

It was the last class of the last night and the only two horses entered were the two splendid hunters of Mr. Taylor, Guy Rock and Easter. He rode them himself, and he did it with consummate skill. Both the gray and the chestnut were in fine fettle, and with the bars at five feet six thought nothing of them. As they were raised the difficulty increased. When the last bar was put on Guy Rock twice unsuccessfully essayed to clear it.

The other feature of the day was the class for ladies' green hunters, and in this riding of Mrs. Blair Johnson took the eye of the crowd, and she was applauded loudly.

THE HUNT TEAMS.

The hunt teams, next to the high jump, was the most attractive class of the last day's performance. There were three entries, and the jumping of all was up to a high standard. The blue ribbon went very properly to the Overland Hunt team of Baltimore, consisting of Guy Rock, Easter and The Minstrel. The Piedmont Hunt team, shown by J. P. Dulany, won the second, while the Warrenton Hunt team was third. This was entered by C. W. Smith, and it rode Mrs. Blair Johnson. Her every appearance was greeted with great applause.

In the class for ladies' hunters Mrs. Johnson rode more than one horse, and one of her mounts behaved abominably and caused much annoyance to everyone except the rider herself, who appeared to be as calm as the summer day.

The show closed to-night, and it is considered a brilliant success, and the prospects are bright for the next one. Mr. Sackett, to whose energies much of the success of the venture is due, has been the recipient of the most successful contributions of all those associated with him, and by all who are interested in the advancement of the horse in Virginia.

One of the incidents of the show to-night was the rendering of a hunting song by the Roanoke Machine Works band, which came just as the hunt teams were coming into the ring, and was rendered with fine style, and caught the audience in the right place and was roundly applauded.
