ABRAM S. HEWITT DIES IN NEW YORK

Passes Away in Eighty-Second Year of His Age.

A LONG TIME IN CONGRESS

Served One Term as the Mayor of His City, Having Defeated Theodore Roosevelt and Henry George.

(By Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, Jan. 19.—Abram S. Hewitt died at 6 o'clock yesterday morning in his eighty-first year, having been critically ill 10 days. With him at the moment of his death were his wife, his three sons and three daughters.

Mr. Hewitt, who had been in feeble health for some months, was attacked with obstructive jaundice January 8th, and from the first it was realized by his attending physicians, Dr. E. L. Keyes and Dr. E. L. Keyes, Jr., that there was practically no hope for his recovery. On the following Sunday he thought that he could not survive the night and the members of his family were summoned to his bedside, but his wonderful vitality, which surprised his doctors, kept him alive a week longer.

On Thursday Mr. Hewitt rallied so strongly that some hope was entertained that he might recover, but the following night a relapse occurred, and it was then evident that the end was not far off. A slight improvement was noted Saturday morning, but late that night the old illness was closed in honor of the late Abram S. Hewitt, son of Peter Cooper Hewitt, that death was imminent. The other children, Edward R. Hewitt, Erskine Hewitt, Mrs. J. O. Green, Miss Sarah Hewitt and Miss Eleanor G. Hewitt, were summoned. With their mother they remained by the bedside until the end came.

The funeral services, which will be conducted by Bishop Potter, will be held at St. Patrick's church.

stage to the tune of clanking sword, and he was always ready to draw his sword in defense of woman or himself, which latter habit was a most commendable one, readily approved by the gallery.

Miss Ellsler is beginning to show her age, and it is hard for her to make up her mind to do anything, although she lends much charm to the production, and her whims add lustre and color to the already rich scenery.

The piece as presented last night was one that any theatergoer could sit through and not grow restless, although at times the loud voice of "Brandon" struck a discord that grated on the nerves that otherwise controlled themselves.

Mr. Fred J. Grant, as the "Duke of Buckingham" and Miss Irene Timmens, as "Lady Jane," were very fair; Miss Geraldine Malone, as the page, was pretty to look upon, and knew it well.

The story is that of Mary Tudor, sister to King Henry VIII., who loved a man named Brandon, a captain of the guard, and who is betrothed by her brother to the King of France, against her will. She becomes his queen and wife in name only and after three months as queen of France the king dies. She then goes to England and with the consent of the pope she becomes the wife of Brandon. The details of the story consist of a lot of love-making, three or four duels, a little intrigue and other things that go toward the making of a historical romantic drama.

The book had a big sale, and in the present instance the star's support is not strong enough to carry the play.

John Drew's role in Isaac Henderson's play, "The Mummy and the Humming Bird," is probably the most important, from a strictly dramatic standpoint, in which John Drew has appeared since he first essayed a serious part in "The Rattle Shop," six or seven years ago.

The role is primarily one of characterization, and after the first act develops along lines of dramatic strength, and calls not only for expert skill in delineation, but also for powerful emotional expression.

A scientist nobleman is portrayed, who in his enthusiastic pursuit of study, neglects his young and pretty wife for the sake of a few members of the young aristocracy from his apathy by jealousy. He finally realizes that he deeply loves his bride and reveals the intensity of his affection in several strong scenes.

The ease and skill with which Mr. Drew moves from one phase of the character to another and the charm he puts into the entire impersonation, as well as the skill with which he brings the same moments of the play have shown his New York audiences more convincingly than anything else he has done in recent years that his art is in the young and flourishing "The Mummy and the Humming Bird" will be presented by Mr. Drew and his company for one night at the Academy of Music, January 20th, and the following night and production as seen during Mr. Drew's three months' run at the Empire Theatre, New York.

Miss Mary Johnston's "Audrey," with the great New York production and incomparable cast, headed by Eleanor Robson in the title role, an actress, by the way, whom not a few members of the New York press believe to be the coming great American actress, will be coming here Wednesday night.

In all his long career as a star Stuart Robson never engaged himself more public than in his part of "Bertie, the Lamb," in the "The Humming Bird," which he will bring to the Academy Saturday afternoon. The support company includes Edwin Hot, Adolph Jackson, Eleanor Barry, Frances Mayo, Charles Lane, Clifford Leigh, Joseph P. Keeffe, Walter Pennington, Cecil Kingston, Victoria Addison and Laura Thompson.

Gov. Spott's funeral. The funeral of Mr. Charles E. Spott, who died Saturday evening, took place yesterday afternoon at the Baptist Church, and the services were conducted by Rev. Dr. S. D. Hill, the pastor, assisted by Rev. Dr. T. S. Dunaway, a former pastor. The church was filled to overflowing, and a large course followed the remains to the city cemetery, where the interment was made. The pall-bearers were: Active—Messrs. S. J. Quinn, D. C. Cole, B. P. Willis, S. E. Eastburn, J. R. Rawlings, A. P. Rowe, J. F. Brown, E. J. Smith. Honorary—Mayor M. G. Willis, Messrs. H. H. Wallace, St. George B. Fitzhugh, Dr. George H. Chevering, Judge A. W. Wallace, C. E. Cole, Dr. S. W. Carmichael, E. T. Baker, J. M. Griffin, S. I. Baggett, J. P. Corbin, C. W. Jones, B. S. Pates, V. M. Fleming, J. N. Turner, George S. Davis, Dr. J. Walker and Governor A. J. Montague. A number of telegrams of condolence from prominent people through the State have been received by the family.

GOVERNOR IN WINCHESTER

Is Expected Back This Afternoon—State Offices Closed.

The State offices were closed yesterday, and early in the day the Library building was locked.

Governor Montague went to Washington in the morning and in the evening ran down to Winchester, where last night he participated in the exercises celebrating the birthday of Lee.

He is expected back this afternoon. Mrs. Montague did not accompany him, much exercised about not having received his report for the past year from the printer. The copy was turned in in October.

BOUND AND GAGGED

Burglars Secure $2,000 of Booty from a Paralytic.

(By Associated Press.)

TORONTO, OHIO, Jan. 19.—W. Scott, a jeweler of Cumberland, West Virginia, opposite Toronto, was robbed of money and jewelry valued at $2,000 yesterday.

Scott, who is a paralytic and lives in a stone store, was awakened by a noise and found himself bound and gagged and then blew his safe open with dynamite and secured the booty.

Would You Like to Feel Young Again?

Old people certainly have had feelings that those below fifty hardly understand.

It is discouraging to find that little tasks that once were easy are now very hard.

Many old people are lame, nearly all are weak.

Worst of all is that feeling of languor, of inability to act, of weariness at trifling exertion.

Nothing will make the old young again, but Vinol will prevent ninety-nine out of one hundred old people from feeling so old.

There is no humbug about it. We found out about Vinol and tried it every way before we decided to put it on the market and guarantee it. Now we believe that almost any tired, discouraged old person who will take a bottle of Vinol will feel better right away.

It will increase their strength, appetite, and brighten their spirits.

It does this by nourishing. In old people, the digestion becomes feeble. Vinol supplies quick nourishment and helps the food to nourish. Don't blame the old folks for being blue and cross. Take home a bottle of Vinol. Money back if it isn't helpful.

AT MILLIONAIRE'S HOME

Unique Banquet Given by James Clark at Cumberland, Md.

(Special Dispatch to The Times.)

CUMBERLAND, MD., Jan. 19.—James Clark, formerly of Winchester, Va., millionaire brewer and distiller, to-night gave a banquet to the members of James Breathed Camp, United Confederate Veterans, in celebration of the anniversary of General Lee's birthday.

The affair at Mr. Clark's palatial home was an elaborate affair and was the first celebration of the kind ever held here. Over one hundred ex-Confederates were present. Dr. John F. Zachary, commander of Breathed Camp and Brigadier-General, second brigade, Maryland United Confederate Veterans, was toastmaster.

Rev. T. H. Moore, pastor of the Presbyterian Church, Keyser, W. Va., paid a beautiful tribute to the memory of General Lee, whose life he has made a special study. Being a son of a Confederate veteran he could see the inspiring influence and Christian example which his life and deeds had upon sons and daughters of Confederate veterans.

Toasts were also responded to by Mr. P. L. Burwell, of Mt. Savage, "The Infantry," Rev. James B. Alvrett, "The Women of the South in War Time," Dr. George H. Carpenter, Rigby, W. Va., "The Cavalry," and Editor J. B. Oeder, of the Frostburg Mining Journal, formerly of Front Royal, "The Artillery."

Mr. Clark was wounded at Culpeper, where he was taken prisoner, and was confined at Washington and Elmira before he was exchanged.

Maryland, Virginia and West Virginia were represented at the banquet.

At the Theatres.

"When Knighthood Was in Flower" as a play is a series of beautiful stage pictures. And that is about all.

Without Edna Ellsler the company last night would have been sadly lacking in the spirit that is necessary to carry a play of the kind to success. With one or two exceptions the support was weak, and "Brandon" in fact, and entirely too weak. He liked to pose, and pose the

DR. PRICE'S TRYBITA FOOD

THE ONLY CELERY CREAM WHEAT FLAKE

Forty years ago rival food manufacturers delighted in calling me a "crank" on pure food manufacture and culinary science. Pure food history clearly proves, however, that I was working along correct and practical lines. No better illustration of this can be given than the fact that seven out of every ten American housewives unhesitatingly admit that the Baking Powder and Flavoring Extracts that bear my name are unmistakably the best.

During all these many years I have devoted myself to the single purpose of creating a scientifically prepared ready-to-eat wheat flake cereal food.

Finally, after nearly half a century of effort I confidently launched "Dr. Price's Trybita Food," the only celery cream wheat flake. This food I consider a triumphant success. Its inherent merit and quality will win its way to the top as have my Cream Baking Powder and Flavoring Extracts. I invite criticism from scientific culinary chemists and from the educated palate of the epicure.

My Signature is on Every Package.

day in memory of the Confederate chieftain.

At Charlottesville.

(Special Dispatch to The Times.)

CHARLOTTESVILLE, VA., Jan. 19.—The services at the Presbyterian Church this evening in commemoration of the birthday of General Robert E. Lee, attracted an audience which filled that venerable edifice. The members of the John Bowie Strange Camp, Confederate Veterans, under whose auspices the exercises were held, occupied seats in the main body of the church, and were accompanied by Captain H. Clay Michie, The Sons of Veterans, which recognized this afternoon with John S. White, son of Judge John M. White, a member of the famous Mosby Cavalry, and Commander, were also well represented.

On the platform were Judge R. T. W. Duke, Rev. H. B. Lee, a cousin of General Robert E. Lee, Rev. William H. Edwards, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal Church, and Rev. Dr. George L. Petrie, chaplain of the camp. Music was furnished by the combined choirs of the city of Charlottesville.

The speaker of the evening, was introduced by Judge Duke, as the brother of the adjutant of the late Colonel R. T. W. Duke, and as the nephew of General Lee. He spoke of the life and character of the great soldier and statesman, and of the lessons that his life and death should teach us.

Banquet in Petersburg.

(Special Dispatch to The Times.)

PETERSBURG, VA., Jan. 19.—General Lee's birthday was widely observed in Petersburg today. This afternoon at 4 o'clock the veterans of A. P. Hill Camp met at their hall and paraded the principal streets. Returning, they stopped at Market Street, where they were met by the silver tea given at the home of Mrs. Bartlett Roper by the Daughters of the Confederacy. On their return to the hall several members delivered addresses. At 9 o'clock the veterans with their invited guests attended the banquet at Liberty Hall. The principal address of the evening was delivered by Captain William G. White, of Norfolk, who held the Confederate cruiser "Shenandoah," during the Civil War, General Cullinan A. Battle and Dr. John Herbert Claiborne also delivered addresses.

In Staunton.

(Special Dispatch to The Times.)

STAUNTON, VA., Jan. 19.—Special exercises were held in honor of General Lee's birthday here to-day, as arrangements could not be made to have a speaker here to-day and also on Wednesday. Rev. J. M. W. White, of Norfolk, secured to deliver an address here on Wednesday, Jackson's birthday, and at that time Lee's birthday will also be celebrated. All public places, schools, and some business places were closed to-day.

In celebration of Lee's birthday yesterday Stonewall Jackson Camp, Confederate Veterans, met at their hall and with the West Augusta Guards, Stanton Rifles and the Stonewall Band, marched in a body to the Second Presbyterian Church, where with the Daughters of the Confederacy they held a large audience that filled the church. Rev. Dr. W. W. Scott, pastor, delivered his annual address.

The Governor at Winchester.

(Special Dispatch to The Times.)

WINCHESTER, VA., January 19.—General Robert E. Lee's birthday was appropriately observed here to-day by an elaborate programme at the auditorium, under the auspices of General Turner Ashby Camp of Confederate Veterans. The principal speaker of the evening was Governor A. J. Montague, of Virginia, who arrived in this city to-day. His Excellency spoke to eight hundred people, and his remarks were received with applause. He paid a high tribute to the life, character and achievements of the famous general, whom he compared to the greatest figures in history. To-day's observance of the anniversary of Lee's birth was one of the most notable ever held here since the great soldier's death. While in Winchester, the Governor was the guest of Colonel H. B. Baker, one of the members of his official staff.

In Fredericksburg.

(Special Dispatch to The Times.)

FREDERICKSBURG, VA., January 19.—The observance of General Lee's birthday by the Confederates here was a very pleasant affair. After a general meeting of Maury Camp, the members and other comrades and invited guests repaired to the Fawcett House, where a sumptuous supper had been prepared and was heartily enjoyed by the old vets. After the meal had been done full justice to by all present, brief but eloquent addresses were made by a number of the veterans, listened to with great interest, and many of the sentiments expressed were warmly applauded. Commander G. W. Sheppard presided and introduced the speakers, principal among whom were Judge John T. Goelrick, Rev. Dr. J. W. Roseboro and Captain S. J. Turner. The latter, of the Confederacy, whose meeting had been fixed for the afternoon, postponed their celebration on account of the funeral of Hon. H. F. Crismond.

(Special Dispatch to The Times.)

ALEXANDRIA, VA., January 19.—The members of the R. E. Lee Camp, Confederate Veterans, to-night celebrated the birthday of General Robert E. Lee by giving a grand banquet in Odd-Fellow's Hall, North Columbus Street. The hall was prettily decorated for the occasion, and there was a large throng of veterans and their friends present. Among those who delivered addresses were Senator Berry, of Arkansas. During the day the banks, public and private schools were closed.

Banquet at Norfolk.

(Special Dispatch to The Times.)

NORFOLK, VA., January 19.—The banks, many of the stores and nearly all of the churches were closed in honor of Lee. The clerk's office was open, as required, by law, and the Police Court tried cases that were not difficult, but the other courts were not in operation except for some imperative business, like accepting bonds for the persons to be arrested. The Daughters of the Confederacy received this afternoon till 6 o'clock and served refreshments to their guests. This evening there was a grand banquet in honor of Lee at the Masonic Temple given by the Pickett-Buchanan Camp and the Sons of Veterans. The banquet was accompanied by speaking.

A Parade at Da-ville.

(Special Dispatch to The Times.)

DANVILLE, VA., January 19.—Lee's birthday was celebrated here to-day by the Daughters of the Confederacy, who entered the homes of the veterans and members of the local military organization. The room in the Masonic Temple which was used by the ladies was decorated and a large portrait of Robert E. Lee draped with the colors of the Confederate flag. The company and the Danville Military Institute band were out in full dress parade on Main Street, and their drill was witnessed by a large crowd. Luncheon was served to the veterans and the members of the local militia, and a specially arranged musical programme was rendered. The celebration was very enjoyable and was a fitting tribute to the South's greatest hero, General Robert E. Lee.

Banquet at Newport News.

(Special Dispatch to The Times.)

NEWPORT NEWS, VA., January 19.—Bethel Chapter, Daughters of the Confederacy, entertained Magruder Camp, Confederate Veterans, and J. E. B. Stuart Camp, Sons of Veterans, at a delightful banquet in the hall of the Sons of Veterans, West on West Avenue.

After the formal part of the programme was over there was an interesting informal discussion on the ways and means of the betterment of the South, and whether it holds its annual reunion here in September.

Speaking at Alexandria.

(Special Dispatch to The Times.)

ALEXANDRIA, VA., January 19.—The members of the R. E. Lee Camp, Confederate Veterans, to-night celebrated the birthday of General Robert E. Lee by giving a grand banquet in Odd-Fellow's Hall, North Columbus Street. The hall was prettily decorated for the occasion, and there was a large throng of veterans and their friends present. Among those who delivered addresses were Senator Berry, of Arkansas. During the day the banks, public and private schools were closed.

Banquet at Norfolk.

(Special Dispatch to The Times.)

NORFOLK, VA., January 19.—The banks, many of the stores and nearly all of the churches were closed in honor of Lee. The clerk's office was open, as required, by law, and the Police Court tried cases that were not difficult, but the other courts were not in operation except for some imperative business, like accepting bonds for the persons to be arrested. The Daughters of the Confederacy received this afternoon till 6 o'clock and served refreshments to their guests. This evening there was a grand banquet in honor of Lee at the Masonic Temple given by the Pickett-Buchanan Camp and the Sons of Veterans. The banquet was accompanied by speaking.

A Parade at Da-ville.

(Special Dispatch to The Times.)

DANVILLE, VA., January 19.—Lee's birthday was celebrated here to-day by the Daughters of the Confederacy, who entered the homes of the veterans and members of the local military organization. The room in the Masonic Temple which was used by the ladies was decorated and a large portrait of Robert E. Lee draped with the colors of the Confederate flag. The company and the Danville Military Institute band were out in full dress parade on Main Street, and their drill was witnessed by a large crowd. Luncheon was served to the veterans and the members of the local militia, and a specially arranged musical programme was rendered. The celebration was very enjoyable and was a fitting tribute to the South's greatest hero, General Robert E. Lee.

Banquet at Newport News.

(Special Dispatch to The Times.)

NEWPORT NEWS, VA., January 19.—Bethel Chapter, Daughters of the Confederacy, entertained Magruder Camp, Confederate Veterans, and J. E. B. Stuart Camp, Sons of Veterans, at a delightful banquet in the hall of the Sons of Veterans, West on West Avenue.

After the formal part of the programme was over there was an interesting informal discussion on the ways and means of the betterment of the South, and whether it holds its annual reunion here in September.

General Lee's birthday was observed here to-day by the closing of the post-office, banks, number of stores and business houses.
