JUDGE GILMORE: Sir:-Mr. Morrow was up here, and stated that when he found out that he had been overcharging in his office, that he went to you, and "you told him not to do so any more, and to move to have the costs returned." Morrow's friends are trying to put the blame on you. So you will please give the facts in the case. Morrow told this to F. W. Haseltine for one, and wanted him to agree to vote for him.

Please answer soon for I want to correct this sure.

Yours Truly, L. T. PORTERFIELD. I was willing that Mr. Morrow should answer the letter for me, and I took it to him, and he wrote the answer, of which the following is a copy, on the back of your letter to me.

yours truly, W. J. GILMORE.

Delorama is making all kind plunderers driven from power? of excuses over the County to mitted a few "routine" errors and has corrected them all. In another he denies the whole charge. From a correspondence in another part of our paper, it will be seen that at New Paris he undergiven for Cottingham, is one for took to shift his frauds upon Judge Gilmore, but like all his other excuses, he has only got himself deeper in troubled water. Mr. Morrow is guilty, and he feels it, and if he is endorsed by true, and no breath ot slander nation, they will have the disgrace added to their shame, of his being debarred by the statnte of Ohio from holding the poparty to be thus damned, let them elect him.

D. B. Morrow, and his qualmy friend, David Peters, called at our Office and demanded that as we had selected Mr. Larsh's card from the Eaton Register and published it, that we should take his two columns of defense from the Clerk, he is paying out money he same source, and give it a place stole from the tax-payers. He also. We have published the substance of the certificates several times, and tendered Mr. Church in high standing, and Morrow our columns for a short reply to Mr. Lassh's card, and that was sufficient. He has not seen proper to accept. We suppose the ass of the Register wil bray considerable on our refusal to lumber our columns with one of the "nine hour" orator's effusions. Let him bray.

Laboring men, mechanics and merchants, if you want the mon ey bags, the brokers, the shavers, the ten per cent. a month skin want the office of Clerk filled by flints, represented in this District, support Lewis B. Grant's intemperate habits The following correspondence have for several years past rendered him an object of great solicitude to the leading temperance men of the country. Senator Wilson-though Wilson is not a teetotaller-thought of attempting to prevail upon him to sign der that it and the answer to it the pledge; and now we have it, may be fully understood, I insert on the authority of Mr. J. M. Usher, a prominent temperance advocate of Boston, that William E. Dodge, of New York, president of the National Temperance Society, visited President Grant, with a view to persuade him to take the temperance pledge .-Now, if Grant is not a regular imbiber of the ardent, and is not at times overtaken in his fault, why all this solicitude? There is no use in attempting to conceal the fact that "Grant drinks too much." This Senator Wilson has already admitted, and there the matter must rest until it is ascertained that he has taken the pledge, which we shall not be surprised to find him doing one of these days, and especially if he thinks it will help him to votes.
