

IS EPILEPSY CONQUERED?

New Jersey Physician Said to Have Many Cures to His Credit. Red Bank, N. J. (Special).—Advices from every direction fully confirm previous reports that the remarkable treatment for epilepsy being administered by Dr. Perkins of this city, is achieving wonderful results. Old and stubborn cases have been greatly benefited and many patients claim to have been entirely cured.

Pathos in Youngster's Longing That Made Strong Appeal to Rich and Charitable Man.

The late Edward Morris, the Chicago meat packer, was worth over $50,000,000, and contributed every year to charity as much money as he spent upon his home.

Mr. Morris, like most charitable souls, had a host of anecdotes that threw a quaintly pathetic light on poverty. Thus at a Christmas dinner in Chicago Mr. Morris once said:

"Every eater of a Christmas dinner should think of the little urchin who stood in front of a rich man's basement kitchen, inhaling rapturously the rich odor of roast turkey that gushed forth from the open window, and muttering over and over to himself: 'Gee, I wish I had a slice of bread to go with that there smell.'"

Zanzibar. Zanzibar, now figuring as a possible pawn in an Anglo-German deal, has not come into the British empire without paying a heavy price in blood and treasure. The island of cloves was visited for the first time by the British fleet during the Napoleonic scare era, but since then we have kept the upper hand. Very uncomplimentary things have been said about the people of Zanzibar. Professor Drummond found the island in 1888, "Oriental in appearance, Mohammedan in religion, Arabian in morals—a cesspool of wickedness, fit capital for a dark continent." But the British residents appear to have a good time—big dinners, golf, tennis and cricket. The local cricket team indeed can be beaten only by the combined strength of the British fleet, "once a year, and sometimes not even then."

Any man under a cloud naturally appears in a bad light.

1913 RECORD Magnificent Crops in all Western Canada. All parts of the Provinces of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, have produced wonderful yields of wheat, oats, barley and flax. Wheat graded from Contract to No. 1 Hard, weighed heavy and yielded from 20 to 45 bushels per acre; 22 bushels was about the total average. Mixed farming may be considered fully as profitable an industry as grain raising. The excellent grasses full of nutrition, are the only food required either for beef or dairy purposes. In 1912, and again in 1913, at Chicago, Manitoba carried off the Championship for beef steers. Good schools, markets convenient, climate excellent. For the homeseeker, the man who wishes to farm extensively, or the investor, Canada offers the biggest opportunity of any place on the continent. COULD GIVE EDITOR POINTS

Interview With Mother-in-Law Probably Would Have Made Things Warm for Mr. Jones.

At a recent banquet reference was made to the helping hand, which recalled to Gov. Frank M. Byrne, of South Dakota, an incident that happened in a western town.

One morning a rather commanding looking woman entered a newspaper office, and asked to see the editor. The editor was promptly produced. "In your paper this morning," said the woman, in a cold, hard voice, "you say that Mr. Jones is a bribe taker, a swindler, a mud slinger and a crook. 'It is a matter of politics, madam,' said the editor, apologetically. 'I am very sorry that we were compelled to make statements of that kind on your account, for I take it that you are a relative.'"

"I am his wife's mother," answered the visitor, "and I want to say that you haven't told more than half of the truth. The next time you want to publish his biography I wish you would send a reporter to see me."—Philadelphia Telegraph.

ECZEMA BURNED AND ITCHED

203 Walnut St., Hillsboro, Ill.—"My child had a breaking out on the lower limbs which developed into eczema. The eczema began with pimples which contained yellow corruption and from the child's clothing they were greatly irritated. They seemed to burn, which made the child scratch them, resulting in a mass of open places. They made her so cross and fretful that it was impossible to keep her quiet. They caused her to lose much sleep and she was constantly tormented by severe itching and burning.

"I tried several well-known remedies, but got no relief until I got a sample of Cuticura Soap and Ointment, which did so much good that I got a large quantity that cured her in ten days after she had been affected for two months." (Signed) Mrs. Edith Schwartz, Feb. 28, 1913.

Cuticura Soap and Ointment sold throughout the world. Sample of each free, with 32-p. Skin Book. Address postcard "Cuticura, Dept. L, Boston."—Adv.

Radium and its Manufacture.

Although, until recently, the manufacture of radium has been carried on almost wholly in France and Germany, there appears to be no good reason why our American carnotite should not be treated at home, says a writer. Carnotite is much more easily treated than pitchblende and the essential features of methods for its chemical treatment are well known, although much of the mechanical detail of operation has been kept secret. As the mechanical requirements, however, are those which any well grounded chemical engineer should be able to solve, there seems to be no good reason why any of our carnotite ores should be shipped abroad, even at two or three times the present market price of the material.

Seasonable Dialogue.

The shades of the goose and turkey were discussing the circumstances which had attended their respective deaths.

"Did you offer any objection when first the cruel farmer laid hands on you?" sympathetically inquired the gobbler.

"Yes," replied his goosehip; "I cried out, 'Halloo! what's this?'"

"What did you say next?" inquired the now thoroughly incensed turkey, as the other paused for a moment.

"Oh," the goose replied, "I did not say anything more just then; I was wrung off."

One of the most comfortable little cottage houses ever built is shown in this design. When you come to corral all the necessary modern improvements and fit them into a little house only twenty feet in width and thirty feet in length you have quite a job on your hands; but that is exactly what has been done in designing this little five room cottage. "Bungalow" some people would call it, because the word bungalow is very fashionable just now, but a bungalow properly speaking is a one story house with a flat, or at least a low roof.

It often happens that a family is very anxious to own a home and they find houses and lots so expensive that after looking around for several months they are obliged to give it up, at any rate for the time being. It is to meet just such cases that I recommend such small low cost houses as this.

American as a rule have rather large ideas in regard to dwellings. As a usual thing we want large rooms and plenty of them, but I find that public opinion is passing through a change and it has been brought about largely through the influence of city flats, many of which contain little conveniences that are not common in houses.

Taxes in larger cities are double what they were ten or twenty years ago. Skilled mechanics get four or five dollars a day where formerly they got two or three dollars; and the same scale of expense follows through all the different departments of building. The result is that architects have learned how to work the necessities from comfort into very small compass, together with a great many luxuries; and to combine the many good feature into dwellings of very small proportions. But there is one objection to a flat that no amount of skill on the part of the architect can overcome, and that is the scarcity of air and light. For this reason more than any other I have advocated the building of small houses in the suburbs; for although it many furnaces are placed in the most objectionable positions just because the owners neglected to think up on the subject before the heating plant was installed.

It makes no difference to a furnace man where the heater is placed except that some pipes carry hot air better than others; and they should be longer and others should be shorter in proportion for this reason. But such calculations apply more particularly to larger houses. In a little house like this where the pipes are all short the furnace may be placed on one side of the chimney just as well as to put it on the other side. The only question to decide is where the owner wants it and the owner should not only know but he should know why.

may take a worker from the city a few minutes longer to reach home at night it is a healthy outing; the difference in the air alone is worth the extra time and cost of making the trip.

This is a little house but it is planned to give every possible return in comfort for every inch of space it contains. There is nothing necessary to the thorough enjoyment of a home left out or neglected.

It has the popular large living room and good dining room on the first floor. There is an attractive front stair going up to the two bedrooms on the second floor and under this stair is the way down to the cellar. A splendid fireplace adds a great deal to the attractions of the living room and the windows are so large and there are so many of them that this room is almost as light as outdoors. In fact every room in the house is as bright and cheerful as it is possible to make it even in the open country. The dining room is large enough for a small family and it is another very attractive room, while the kitchen is just right for a workshop for the mistress while superintending the needs of a small family such as this house is intended to shelter.

There is a good veranda in front, large enough and wide enough for several large, easy, comfortable chairs, which will be occupied by the friends of the family many nights in summer. It is easy to entertain company in this way.

A very small furnace placed near the chimney under the partition between the kitchen and the dining room will heat this house with very little fuel. By placing the furnace well back the front part of the cellar may be partitioned off and kept cool for a fruit cellar. The front end is proper for this purpose because the front part of the house usually is cooler than the back. Then you have more or less dust from the furnace and it makes more noise sometimes than you want under the living room. Planning these little details is very interesting as well as very important. The little housekeeping questions that mean so much to a woman have very little effect on a furnace man. A great

Why Willie Was Left. Mayor Hunt of Cincinnati said of a disgruntled politician: "His hands are tied. He can do nothing. He is like Willie in the Christmas game of snapdragon." "Willie, at a Christmas party given by his sister, was allowed to participate in the snapdragon game, and sat amid a band of beautiful girls of nineteen or so. "The lights went out, the usual grabbing for favors began, and then, when the lights went up again, Willie was to be seen crying bitterly. "What's the matter Willie? Didn't you get anything?" a lady asked. "No," sobbed Willie, spitefully. "As soon as it got dark that conserved man with the brown whiskers—boo, hoo!—he grabbed my hands and didn't stop kissing them till the lights went up again!"
