"RIGHT LIVING" URGED TO PREVENT BLINDNESS.
Washington.—Workers for the blind from all over the country gathered in conference here, reviewed with high praise the endeavors of humanitarian organizations of the United States and Canada for the prevention of blindness and to assist in the uplift of those so afflicted. "Right living" was characterized as the most important form of prevention and "gentle blindness" was declared to be the most cruellest that could befall upon a blind person.
The secretary of the New York Commission for the Blind, told of the establishment of information bureaus where the blind could be taught to use their hands and earn money. He commended the sale of cheap eyeglasses and said a commission would soon be appointed to investigate this phase of sight destruction.

MUST WRITE A NOVEL.
Austrian Officer Commissioned to Praise Military Policy.
(London Globe.)
Vienna.—Considerable sensation has been aroused by the action of the Austrian war ministry in commissioning a retired army officer to write a novel in support of a particular thesis. The novel is to be a rejoinder to another novel entitled "Quo Vadis, Austria?" which appeared under a pseudonym last year, and which aroused the displeasure of the government in general and of the war office in particular. The author was discovered to be Lieut. Gustav Seiber, of the Infantry Regiment Alt-Strarhemberg. He was subjected to a disciplinary inquiry, and his book was confiscated.
Seiber's book contained a scathing and unfavorable criticism of Austria's military policy and preparedness and hence the war office has commissioned ex-Capt. Rudolf Kriz to write another novel which shall allude public disquiet. Kriz is a man of versatile literary ability, as he writes both military articles for the Austrian weeklies and humorous verse for the comic papers. Until lately he was on the literary staff of the war office.
Captain Kriz is to finish his book within twelve months. Until then he will receive the full pay of an active officer and extra allowances, but he will not be required to do any military duty. The Austrian papers are asking from which fund are the salaries taken for officers whose sole duty is to write novels.

ARBOUR DAY EXERCISES.
The State of Indiana has just celebrated its annual Arbor and Bird day. Most of the States of the Union now have a yearly celebration of the kind. The Governors issue proclamations, the schools have special exercises and on such occasions there is more or less tree planting.
So far as the general public is concerned there is less tree planting than there should be on Arbor day—and tree planting is the object of the day. Literary exercises are very good, but unless they are supplemented by something practical in the way of putting trees in vacant spaces the purposes of Arbor day have not been fulfilled.
There are many rural schoolhouses—and some city schoolhouses—where trees could be planted to advantage. If the pupils merely read and recite about trees and leave the school grounds barren they are not doing much for forestry conservation or for community beautification. Trees are of slow growth. Some persons hesitate about planting them because of that fact. There are others who are more than willing to leave the work to the municipalities, the schools and the Government.
Arbor day should be an important event everywhere. No one should shirk the duty of planting a tree when the opportunity is offered. No city, no town, no village is so well supplied with trees that it does not need others. The tree mortality in the centers of population is heavy, and unless care is exercised in replacing dead and dying trees with live and vigorous ones there will some day be a dearth of shade in spots where shade is greatly needed. Arbor day comes but once a year, but in the intervals there are seasons for tree planting which should not be overlooked by those who have trees to plant and eligible places to plant them.—Country Journal.

AMILY AVOIDS SERIOUS SICKNESS.
By Being Constantly Supplied With Theford's Black-Draught.

McDuff, Va.—"I suffered for several years," says Mrs. J. B. Whittaker, of his place, "with sick headache, and stomach trouble."
Ten years ago a friend told me to try Theford's Black-Draught, which I did, and I found it to be the best family medicine for young and old.

I keep Black-Draught on hand all the time now, and when my children feel a little bad, they ask me for a dose, and it does them more good than any medicine they ever tried.

We never have a long spell of sickness in our family, since we commenced using Black-Draught. Theford's Black-Draught is purely vegetable, and has been found to regulate weak stomachs, aid digestion, relieve indigestion, colic, wind, nausea, headache, sick stomach, and similar symptoms.

It has been in constant use for more than 70 years, and has benefited more than a million people.
Your druggist sells and recommends Black-Draught. Price only 25c. Get a package to-day.

The farmer.
Who bought gold bricks and said "I'm rich!"
And wished that he had stayed "tew huna?"
The farmer.
Who got least for his work, by gum?
The farmer.
Who buys the autos nowadays?
The farmer!
Who pays the tax for good highways?
The farmer!
Who feeds us all from day to day.
And gives us good, strong meat? I say
Who owns this blessed U. S. A.
THE FARMER!
500 rolls of wall paper for ceilings
5 cents per roll of 8 yards at J. T. Kackley & Co.
"A typewriter small enough to be put in an overcoat pocket!" The cute little thing! Blonde?—Ex.
A shantyboat quarantined for small-pox was raided at Frankfort and four persons arrested on a charge of "hothead-legging." Five other persons were arrested on the streets on a similar charge.
HER ULTIMATIM.
"Don't take any notice of the cook, my dear."
"But, John, I have to take it when she gives it to me."
THE DIFFERENCE.
"How well the lawyer acquitted himself with that speech!"
"But it's more than he did for his client with the jury."

THE FARMER.
