JAMES CUMMINS

Passed Away at Atlanta, Ga., Tuesday Afternoon—Remains Will Be Brought Here For Interment.

Word was received here yesterday by Mr. W. F. Hall announcing the death of Mr. James Cummins, at his home in Atlanta, Ga., Tuesday afternoon, but did not give any particulars regarding his death.

Mrs. Cummins formerly resided in this city and was engaged in the undertaking business with Mr. John W. Porter, for a number of years. For the past three years, however, he has held the position of Superintendent of Holywood Cemetery Company, in Atlanta, Georgia.

The remains are expected to arrive on most any train and they will be taken immediately to the Maysville Cemetery, where a short service will be held by Rev. R. L. Benn, pastor of the Central Presbyterian church. (There seems to be some doubt about the death of Mr. Cummins, as his remains have not arrived here for burial.—Ed.)

DEADLY PITS TELL

AWFUL STORY OF WARS HORRORS

London, Nov. 5.—The correspondent of the Chronicle in Northern France states that the Bannockburn ruse has been repeated successfully by the British in the battle of the Yser. He says:

"About 25 yards in front of our trenches deep pits were dug. These were covered with branches and loose turf, as at Bannockburn, and into these the Germans fell in heaps, calling out pitifully when, too late, they discovered the stratagem. "Our troops watched their destruction with a grim sang froid and continued to bring down as many as possible before they reached the pits so that they would not be too quickly choked.

"Although the Germans more than filled the pits others came on in greater numbers and the pits soon became a scene of appalling horror. The Germans struggled, cried and fought one another in their vain attempts to extricate themselves. Many were accidentally transfixed by the bayonets of those who had first fallen, while others were shot by comrades. A shell fell into one pit and the huddled mass within was blown out of existence."

HEAVY NAVAL LOSSES MARK FIRST MONTHS OF THE WAR.

One hundred and sixteen warships of all kinds have been destroyed, damaged or otherwise been put out of action since the war began, according to official admission of the various countries, supplemented by reports from unofficial sources.

Some of the unofficial statements have not been confirmed by the interested governments, particularly in the cases of Germany and Austria. The total official and unofficial losses are: Germany, 46; England, 24; Austria; 25; Russia, 16; Japan, 3; France, 2; Turkey, 2. Total 116.

HISTORICAL AMERICAN PAINTINGS GIVE PLEASURE, NOTWITHSTANDING DIFFICULTIES

Those who saw the Historical American Paintings at The Gem Theater, Thursday afternoon and evening, no doubt saw the possibilities in the collection under favorable conditions. That all these possibilities were not realized was due first to the fact that the operator found that the slides were made for a calcium light and that the electric current was too strong to permit of keeping each picture on the screen long enough.

It is the purpose of those making the collection that each picture should remain on the screen one minute, giving time for explanation and comment.

The second disadvantage was in the fact that the lecturers had had no opportunity to look over the manuscript, which was not received until the day the pictures were used.

Neither of these conditions can affect the pottery exhibit to be shown at Miss Luman's millinery store in December. The time given to each piece of pottery will be determined by each inspector for himself.

If the Art Department of The General Federation of Women's Clubs next year offers Maysville the sixty slides of Contemporary American Paintings, they should be shown at the High School Auditorium, free to all the schools, and ten cents charged adults, to meet the necessary expenses. Then each picture can be given its full time and the entire evening devoted to the pictures.

But even with the disadvantages named the dignity, high character and beauty of the portrait could not be obscured, the exquisite atmosphere and coloring of the landscapes destroyed or the impressiveness of the symbolic paintings and the morals lost.

MISS MARGARET STAHL

Delights Large and Appreciative Audience at High School Auditorium Last Night in the First Number of the Lyceum Course.

Last night at the High School Auditorium, Miss Margaret Stahl held the undivided attention of some five hundred people when she gave a dramatic reading of the play "Strongheart."

Miss Stahl is signally gifted as a reader. Accurate in concept, effective in rendition and fascinating in personality, she captivated her audience. Her depiction and interpretation of the various characters swept the audience from one emotion to another and at the same time drove home a wholesome and uplifting lesson.

Miss Stahl is an artist in every sense of the word and she has attained a pre-eminent place among women readers, being regarded as a model for other readers. Simple, unaffected and natural, her art is completely sincere, close to life and character, utterly free from the chromo qualities that make the declaimer odious to the intelligent listener.

This was Miss Stahl's second appearance in Maysville and it was thought by many that her rendition of "Strongheart" was even better than "The Dawn of a Tomorrow," given two years ago.
