AND THE BUSINESS MAN.

...are beginning to understand that if escape from political oppression they politics themselves. They have known that there was room and necessity for action, but they have made the waiting for a turn in the tide instead of themselves politically for their own pro-

...business man should be a practical policy sense of the term. He need not seek an accept it if tendered to him, but he must take sufficient interest in things to see that the proper men are advanced as candidates; he should maintain always his status as an informed voter, and on election day he should vote without fail, for if he does not the balance of his interest will count as double.

...It is particularly necessary at this time that the thinking business man should interest himself in politics, for immediately upon the close of the European war foreign industries will take on new life and unless we are prepared to meet the situation with a tariff which will properly protect our industries we shall be faced with a real business crisis which will be felt from one end of the country to the other. We therefore urge upon every man the necessity of making a careful study of the situation confident that, while he will see the danger, he will see that it is but a threatening one, which need not cause any alarm if he will but remain steady and exercise his power to avert it in November, 1916.

The wisdom of man would be astounding if he ever came to know as much as he thought he knew when he graduated from college.

Experience teaches that it is a whole lot easier for a man to make up his mind than it is for him to keep it made up.

Some people are so busy laying foundations that they never get time to erect the superstructures.

When we contemplate what we do for others we are too apt to forget what others do for us.

A man never gets too sedate to run to a window when he hears a band playing.

There never is an office with a jinx so obvious that nobody will run for it.

Those who think twice before they speak don't have so much to take back.

Hard Work.

A. J. Drexel, who is a volunteer in the automobile service of the British army, wrote in a recent letter to Philadelphia:

"As Kitchener said, or didn't say, to Cobb, our trenches stretch like a gray snake from Switzerland to the sea. And what hard work our soldiers have, let me tell you, digging these trenches!

"I saw a young soldier in a half-finished trench lay down his shovel the other day and light his pipe.

"Here, what did you lay that shovel down for?" the sergeant said.

"To cool it, sir," said the young soldier."

What Moved 'Em.

A school teacher recently gave his pupils a lecture on patriotism. He pointed out the high motives which moved the territorialists to leave their homes and fight for their country.

The school teacher noticed that one boy did not pay attention to the instruction, and as a test question he asked him:

"What motives took the territorialists to the war?"

The boy was puzzled for a moment; then, remembering the public send off of the local regiment at the railroad station, he replied:

"Locomotive, sir."—London Tit-Bits.

GOOD HOUSEKEEPING IS THE ROAD TO ECONOMY.

Potato Flour.

Because the nutritious part of potatoes is composed largely of starch too large a quantity is not used well in a well planned diet, for too much starch makes all kinds of digestive troubles. However, combined with wheat flour and other ingredients, potatoes add energy producing elements to any diet. Just now when flour and bread are costly this is important, for the price of potatoes is in the reach of every purse.

The Swedish method of making potato flour was recently contributed by Mrs. C. O. Barnard to the Rural New Yorker. She says: "The potatoes are pared, cooked and squeezed through a sieve, or a hard press onto a platter where they lie loosely, allowing air to circulate through and around them. They are then dried in an evaporator or an oven.

"Country Woman" sends another recipe for the same product, but more complicated: "The raw peeled potatoes are grated and then pressed through a sieve and placed in clean wooden tubs and covered with water. When, after several hours, the pulp settles the water is dark colored, and is poured off and renewed until it remains clear. Then the pulp must be drained and broken into bits and dried, when it is to be broken, rolled and sifted. Some of the lumps will be like grains of corn, some look like rice and some as fine as pin heads. Each size is to be put into a bag by itself.

"It is cooked in all sorts of ways; used for thickening stews or as corn starch in gravies and the like, made into porridge and for baking with other flours."

The Department of Agriculture was experimenting with potato flour and says it may be added to wheat flour in proportions of twenty-five to fifty per cent, but that when more than thirty per cent of potato flour is added the loaves become dark in color and coarse in texture.

American housewives have always added boiled potatoes to bread sponge and found the bread correspondingly wholesome, but it is not usual to add any considerable quantity of the vegetable.

Potato flour has been imported for many years and this seems absurd when we remember that each year we have thousands of bushels remaining in storage. Perhaps the efforts of the Rural New Yorker to interest the public in a more general use of potatoes will open up a new industry that will lower our cost of living. Certainly put up in packages, "ready to use" in potato dumplings, or as a cereal with hot cream and seasoning such "flakes" would find a ready sale if the price was kept as low as it might be.

In the meantime you will find that wheat flour is made more nutritious by following the suggestions of the correspondents above.

WILSON CONGRATULATES CUBA ON INDEPENDENCE.

DO IT NOW

Maysville People Should Not Wait Until It Is Too Late.

The appalling death-rate from kidney disease is due largely to the fact that the little kidney troubles are usually neglected until they become serious. The slight symptoms often give place to chronic disorders and the sufferer may slip gradually into some serious form of kidney complaint.

If you suffer from backache, headaches, dizzy spells; if the kidney secretions are irregular of passage and unnatural in appearance, do not delay. Help the kidneys at once.

Doan's Kidney Pills are especially for kidney disorders—they act where others fail. Over one hundred thousand people have recommended them. Here's a case at home:

"Mrs. S. Neal, 497 W. Second St., Maysville, Ky., says: 'One of my family had a great deal of trouble from his back and kidneys. Doan's Kidney Pills made him better and he always praises them.'"

"Mrs. Neal is only one of many Maysville people who have gratefully endorsed Doan's Kidney Pills. If your back aches—if your kidneys bother you, don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—ask distinctly for Doan's Kidney Pills, the same that Mrs. Neal recommends—the remedy backed by home testimony. 50c all stores. SHERLEY MAY ADVANCE IF FITZGERALD RESIGNS.

Washington, May 24.—Representative Swager Sherley may be the chairman of the important Appropriations Committee of the new Congress. He is sure to be selected for that important assignment if rumors regarding the prospective appointment of Representative J. J. Fitzgerald, of New York, to a Federal judgeship prove true. Mr. Sherley has been the ranking majority member of the Appropriations Committee for some time, and it is an open secret that if Mr. Fitzgerald, the chairman, retires as a member of Congress, the Kentuckian will be chosen as his successor.

THE BED ROOM. To often the bed room is considered as just a place to sleep; a part of the house that does not require any special attention as to lighting because it is seen only by members of the family. Yet correct lighting arrangement—the installation of harmonious chandeliers, in a manner to give effective illumination—will make this one of the most used rooms of the whole house—a cozy home in itself. By the use of a simple, but graceful chandelier in the center of the room, and two or more wall brackets of harmonious design, the bedroom is fitted to serve as a study or sewing room. Then, too, a wall bracket placed at each side of the dresser adds much to the ease and pleasure of dressing.
