RUGGLES CAMPGROUNDS

Ruggles Campgrounds, July 29.—The result of the taking of the census is always a matter of interest to those who camp here from year to year. Interesting as it shows the increasing popularity of the Campmeeting, the great distance some come to attend, the large number of different places they come from, and the church affiliation of those who camp. It will be seen from the result below that the attendance is not confined to the Methodists; all denominations find it a place of spiritual uplift, as well as an enjoyable place to spend a vacation. We are just one big family—the Ruggles Campmeeting family; if you please. We come here from all directions to visit one another for ten days. It beats visiting in town or country either, for that matter. You don't have to spend car fare, burn up gasoline or drive the horse to visit; we are all here in a bunch. The total given below will be increased somewhat before the end of the week as many have engaged quarters at the hotel whose names we could not get, so that we are sure the attendance of campers will exceed 450. The census today shows 430 campers present. These come from seven different states, namely: Kentucky, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Missouri, Arkansas, and Pennsylvania. Sixty-four different cities, towns and villages are represented. There are 245 Methodists, 56 Disciples, 17 Presbyterians, 11 Baptists, 1 Newlight, and 100 not members of any church, 25 of the latter being children. To date there have been eighteen preachers here; there will be several more in the next few days. In addition to the above there are a few aristocratic dogs, and a parrot; also the lizards the boys turned loose are still circulating about the Kentucky Inn, causing cold chills to chase up the spinal column of the timid ones located thereabouts.

The memorial service was held this morning. Several former campers—sixteen—have passed over during the past year. The following names were read: Revs. Thos. N. Handford, and Bird Hughes, Mrs. Kate Fountain, Rev. W. W. Hall, R. G. Arnold, Dr. Wm. Bowman, Mrs. Martha Cropper, Mrs. Fannie Ruggles, Miss Mary E. Robertson, Miss Elizabeth Hardyman, Lawrence Secrest, Agnes Gilliland, Mrs. Sarah Fields, Mrs. Cyrus Ellis, Thos. A. Davis, and Mrs. John Alexander. The memorial sermon was preached by the Rev. E. B. Hill of Vanceburg. Bro. Hill paid a touching tribute to Revs. Handford and Hughes, his brethren in the ministry. His sermon was one calculated to comfort all the bereaved, and to inspire all believers with hope for the future. At the close of the sermon, the sacrament of Our Lord's Supper was administered to about one hundred communicants, closing in a very appropriate manner one of the best services of the campmeeting.

An interesting feature of the memorial service was the reading of a letter of greeting from Father Northcott, lovingly referred to as the founder and father of Ruggles Campmeeting. We are going to presume on the space of your paper and give the letter, believing that many will be glad to read these words written by a man ninety-three years of age. The letter shows that his faculties are still clear and that he maintains a deep interest in the campmeeting. His letter follows: To The Worshipers at Ruggles Camp, Dear Fathers and Brethren:

I am truly sorry that I cannot enjoy with you the old time sacred pleasures of mingling with you in worship and social delights as I so often have done in the past. I am strongly attached to Ruggles Campmeeting, though many cords that bound me there have been broken by the will of God in taking our old time associates to higher and better enjoyments. Yet enough still linger with you to make me wish that I could meet them again, at the "Throne of Grace" and indulge with the glorious hope of the blessed future life promised to God's dear children.

There is no abatement of my interest in the spiritual outcome of your services, both as it regards the refreshment of God's people with abundant showers of grace, and the genuine conversion of sinners. These two objects were paramount in the hearts of its early promoters, and has been also through its forty-one years. I am glad to believe that our superintendents and pastors will keep these objects in view in all their social contacts and public services. Nothing should be allowed on these consecrated grounds whose tendency is to weaken, or to dissipate the practical effect of the divine messages spoken from the pulpit. Eternal verities depend on making those messages effectual. Let the word of God "Have free course and be glorified." Conversions should be many. Believers sanctified and all so FILLED WITH THE SPIRIT that returning to your various pastorates and homes, each individual, whether preacher or layman may be a center of evangelizing power and efficiency. May "The Great Head of His Church" be in assembly; in each cottage; in all the sermons; exhortations and prayers, and crown all your labors with a glorious victory." Please accept my brotherly greeting in the "Great Name."

H. C. NORTHCOTT.

"'Tis sweet to be remembered." Our friends back at the "office" have been very generous in sending us supplies to advertise our "dry" candidate. The "guys" will please accept thank. If they will just come out Sunday we will show them what a campmeeting is like, and incidentally they can help dispose of the large supply of chicken and country ham that seems almost inexhaustible. And then "the dear girls." There isn't enough beans to go around. We would just like to turn our old friends "Felix" and "Steve" loose here for awhile. Come on "fellows," the eating is fine.

Editor Duley, of the Flomingsburg Times-Democrat, headed an auto party who spent the day in camp. The general editor was an interested listener to the discussion of the Sunday observance question at the afternoon service, and edited us with some very appropriate remarks on the question.

Mrs. Frank Hunsicker, and Miss Amy Baugh, of Maysville, and Misses Gerlie and Marie Dolman, of Lockland, Ohio, spent a delightful day visiting the camp. They were guests at the Simons' cottage.

Mrs. George Bevard and Miss Maggie Linn Bevard of Springdale, are attending the meetings this week, and are guests of Mrs. C. C. Dogman.

Rev. F. W. Harrop returned home today. It is a source of satisfaction to the writer to know that these notes are not only read with interest by the campers, but by people far away. The following message on a post card was received a few days ago: Introduction omitted. Being confined to my bed does not prevent me from thinking of Dear Old Ruggles. I read your first article in today's paper from Ruggles, and I wanted you to know that a wee one away down here in Louisville will be looking forward with great eagerness from day to day for those interesting epistles that you send forth daily. With best regards, etc.

Miss Flossie Jones, of Maysville, arrived today and is the pleasant guest of the Richardson cottage.

Miss Edith Bryant, of Maysville, is another addition to the host of campers. Tomorrow at the "break of day" two wagons laden with human freight and baskets full of dinner, will sail forth on a day's jaunt to the springs.

It is their intention to see Esculapia, Glen and Kirk's springs on their journey. It will be a fine trip.

Miss Nellie Tolle, of Normal, Ky., arrived this afternoon to camp a few days. She is a guest of Miss Mabel Tolle.

A great day for the children is planned for Saturday by their teacher, Mrs. Kreitz. There will be a big demonstration, a parade and treat for the little folks. Unusual success has attended the work of Mrs. Kreitz. The Board is to be commended again for securing her for this important work. The morning prayer meetings continue to increase. It was led this morning by Rev. L. O. Carder.

It was the pleasure and profit of an immense audience tonight to hear a great evangelistic sermon from Rev. E. R. Overley, formerly the popular pastor of the Third Street M. E. Church, Maysville. Without doubt it was the most effective service of the campmeeting. Two men came to the altar and many ask for prayers. As the meetings draw to a close, they grow better. They will be just that good at the close that we will all be anxious to come again next year.
