TWO MORE DAYS

UNTIL FINISH OF GREAT $2,400.00 PRIZE RACE IN GREAT COMBINED CONTEST.

The ballot box is now locked and sealed, and the keys have been deposited in the Standard Bank, where they will remain until the final count by the official judges after the campaign closes.

There is no information of any sort whatsoever regarding any candidate's standing to be given to any one. No one knows how many votes will be required to win the automobile, and the two candidates doing the most effective work this week and thereby polling the highest number of votes will be awarded the automobile.

Every candidate will receive the same fair treatment, with equal chances for all and special favors to none. This contest, like all contests ever conducted by the Daily Bulletin or Public Ledger, is absolutely on the square, and no one will be given any inside information.

Candidates turning in subscriptions during the last three days of the race may turn them in in the regular manner and receive the voting ballots for them, or if they prefer, they may place their subscription stubs with the cash to cover the same in a sealed envelope and deposit this envelope in the locked ballot box.

Overland. Made famous through northeastern Kentucky because of the number of valuable prizes and the number of enthusiastic young women entered, the greatest newspaper campaign ever held in this part of the state of Kentucky will come to a close Saturday night at 9 o'clock.

Work without rest is the portion candidates have picked out for themselves, for the extreme uncertainty of just how many votes each candidate has makes it urgent that everything possible be done to make sure of victory. Claims and counter-claims have been made—yet the ultimate result is one nobody can forecast.

Excitement has become feverish. Candidates are working like beavers to make their final efforts count. From the outside district word has been received that entire communities are strong behind their candidates, grimly determined that their favorite daughters will emerge from the campaign flushed with victory and the automobile.

There were rumors of dark horses yesterday that are quite worthy of credence. The conditions are such in some sections that a candidate with enough votes for a start would indeed be wanting in spirit if she did not go after the top prizes.

"There's many a slip 'twixt the cup and lip," and likewise many a slip possible before the close. A contestant who lays down now, after making a good showing so far, is going to be passed by some other contestant who has been busy during the closing days. Many things can happen between now and 9 o'clock Saturday night, and the only safe way is to be prepared by having enough votes.

Thousands of votes can easily be secured by obtaining a few big subscriptions now, as the final vote scale offers every worker a grand opportunity.
