She had him arrested for stealing a kiss. The judge fined him three hundred bones. He said it was worth it, this brief taste of bliss, and said so in emphatic tones. Of course, the dear girl was flattered at that. Enough to turn any girl's head. A week or so later he furnished a flat and then they were happily wed.

GAS SHORTAGE NARROWLY AVERTED

Columbia Gas Company Wanted to Reduce Pressure Here By One-Third—Temporary Injunction Restrains Them.

In a long distance telephone message to the Maysville Gas Company Saturday night about 6 o'clock an official of the Columbia Gas Company stated that on account of the great suffering in Cincinnati on account of a shortage of gas it would be necessary to curtail the gas supply here 33 1/3 per cent.

The officials of the Maysville Gas Company realized that if this was done the people of Maysville would suffer exceedingly and that as the supply here was so little there would be no benefit to the people of Cincinnati.

After thinking over the matter for some time, the officials of the Maysville Gas Company had their attorneys draw up a temporary injunction which was served on the employes of the Columbia Gas Company at their station in the county where the gas is measured as it flows from the main pipe into the Maysville Gas Company's storage tank.

In order to secure the injunction it was necessary to arouse the officers of the Circuit Court Saturday night about 10 o'clock. It was served at once and as a consequence the people of Maysville are now receiving a normal supply of gas.

A special hearing of the case will be held before Circuit Judge C. D. Newell next Saturday. In the meantime the people of this city need not fear of any gas shortage and it is hoped that by the time the case is decided the weather will be warm enough that there need be no worry about the gas at all.

Dr. P. E. Blackerby, of Bowling Green, State Registrar of Vital Statistics, in an address to the Mason County Commissioners Saturday on the health situation in Mason county, praised the work done here during the past year through the co-operation of the state and federal health departments and stated that the state of Kentucky was willing to repeat its donation of last year if the county would also donate and render as much assistance as possible.

Dr. Lumsden, chief of the United States Public Health Service, was expected to be here but sent a telegram from St. Louis stating that he was snowbound and would be unable to arrive. He stated however that the Public Health Service would gladly subscribe to the work here if the county would subscribe.

Both the state and federal health departments are anxious that the health work in this county be continued and are asking the County Commissioners to set aside enough money out of undesignated funds to carry on the work.

SOUTH SWEEP BY STORM

Twelve Persons Reported Dead and Thousands of Dollars Property Damaged—Army Camp Suffered.

Richmond, Va., January 12.—With at least 12 reported dead and thousands of dollars damage, Dixie is recovering today from one of the fiercest gales and torrential rainstorms in its history.

Sweeping northward thru Georgia, Alabama and other southeastern states, the terrific wind, snow and rain left wreckage, disabled telephone and telegraph wires and disrupted transportation in its wake.

With practically all wires down south of here, reports filtering through stated that seven were dead at Cowarts, Ala., and the town wrecked by the storm.

Camp Wheeler, Macon, Ga., suffered severely. Many tents were blown down and hospital quarters flooded.

At least one death resulted—Private Harris being killed when the corporal of the 121st Infantry collapsed. Later reports may increase the number of deaths.

The grand stand and the race track at Central City Park Macon were demolished.

A building in which wild animals were quartered also was destroyed. Several of the beasts were killed, but others escaped. The kangaroo is still at large east of the city of Macon.

Fires broke out in some sections but were quickly extinguished. The ruins of the Monticello Hotel and several other buildings at Norfolk, Va., were destroyed by fire several days ago, were blown down by the gale.

AN APPRECIATION

The Sanitary Survey Force desires to express its appreciation for the whole hearted support given the work of the summer by the press of Maysville. Realizing the power of the press, the force feels that much of material has been accomplished by the cooperation of the newspapers in their cooperation for a healthier county and in bringing these fundamental facts before the public.

As the work goes it is to be hoped that the press will continue, in the future, as it has in the past, to put their shoulder to the wheel and lend aid in putting Mason county among the first in the United States for sanitation.
