FORMER MASON COUNTY MAN DIES IN NEVADA

Mr. James G. Gault a Victim of Pneumonia—Was For Many Years a Resident of This County.

A telegram was received here Wednesday bringing the sad tidings of the death of a former well-known Mason county boy, James G. Gault, at his home in Fallon, Nevada, from pneumonia, brought on from influenza.

He was born in Pulaski county, Ky., January 17, 1880, but spent his life in Mason county until fourteen years ago, when he went west and settled at Fallon, Nevada.

He held a responsible position with the United States Reclamation Service and helped develop the great Carson sink from a desert waste to hundreds of acres of fertile farm lands. He saw the little hamlet of Fallon develop into a prosperous city.

He was high up in the Masonic order, holding the position of secretary of the state, Grand Lodge. He married Miss Esther Petree of Fallon ten years ago, who with two small daughters, survive him; the brothers and sisters of the deceased are Jack L. Gault and Mrs. W. C. Slye of this city, Elmer D. Gault of New York City, Gordon Gault of Fallon, and Miss Louise Gault of San Francisco, besides hosts of relatives and friends in this county.

He had filled well the various relations of life as son, brother, husband, father and friend. Who can do more?

COUNTY CHAIRMEN URGED TO ATTEND CONFERENCE

All County Food Conservation Chairmen have been called to Louisville to attend a two-days conference November 22 and 23. Upon their return to their respective counties each chairman is expected to hold a meeting of the county food workers.

BIG GERMAN BATTLE FLEET QUITS TODAY

Americans to Witness the Collapse of Navy—Escaped Disaster Only By Refusing to Fight.

Harwich, November 20—Somewhere out in the misty expanse of the North Sea five American battle ships tonight took up their positions in a fifty-mile line of grayhounds which early tomorrow will witness the surrender of a powerful German surface fleet.

King George, Admirals Beatty, Sims and Rodman and a corps of more than 100 journalists and motion picture men, who will immortalize with pen, brush and camera the greatest naval display in all history, are on allied warships waiting to witness the last act in the collapse of the German navy.

Admiral Rodman, U. S. N., aboard the American battle ship New York, and Captain Beach, commander, will lead the American men of war—the Florida, Wyoming, Texas and Arkansas.

Germany's sea surrender began at dawn today when 27 U-boats gave themselves up to Admiral Reginald W. Tyrwhitt's fleet of cruisers and destroyers 30 miles off this port and steamed into Harwich, led by British cruisers. Tonight the undersea serpents, deprived of their sting, lie anchored here, under the Union Jack.

Only meager crews, just sufficient to navigate them, took them out on their last journey under the German ensign, which was hauled down at the rendezvous.

The following account of the surrender of the submarines is given by an eye-witness of the incident. More than 80 other submarines are to be handed over to the allied naval command before the end of the week.

After steaming some 20 miles across the North Sea the Harwich forces, which consisted of five light cruisers, and 20 destroyers, were sighted. The flagship of Admiral Tyrwhitt, the commander, was the Curacao. High above the squadron hung a big observation balloon.

The squadron, headed by the flagship, then steamed toward the Dutch coast, followed by the Coventry, Dragon, Dana and Centaur. Other ships followed in line with their navigation lights showing. The picture was a noble one as the great vessels, with the moon still shining, plowed their way to take part in the surrender of the German U-boats. Soon after the British squadron started the "paravanes" were dropped overboard. These devices are shaped like tops and divert any mines which may be encountered, for the vessels now were entering a mine field.

Almost everyone on board donned a life-boat and just as the red sun appeared above the horizon the first German submarine appeared in sight.

Soon after 7 o'clock 20 submarines were seen in line, accompanied by two German destroyers, the Tibania and the Sierra Ventana, which were to take the submarine crews back to Germany after the transfer.

All the submarines were on the surface with their hatches open and their crews standing on deck. The vessels were flying no flags whatever and their guns were trained fore and aft in accordance with the terms of surrender.

A bugle sounded on the Curacao and all the gun crews took up their stations, ready for any possible treachery.

The leading destroyer, in response to a signal from the Admiral, turned and led the way toward England, and the submarines were ordered to follow. They immediately did so. The surrender had been accomplished.

Each cruiser turned, and, keeping a careful lookout, steamed toward Harwich. On one of the largest of the submarines, which carried two 5.9 guns, 23 officers and men were counted on her deck. The craft was estimated to be nearly 300 feet in length. Its number had been painted out.

Near the Ship Wash Lightship three large British seaplanes, followed by an albatross, were observed. The Harwich forces and the seaplanes and albatross made a most impressive sight.

One of the submarines was seen to send out a couple of carrier pigeons and at once a signal was flashed from the Admiral that it had no right to do this.

When the ships had cleared the mine field and entered the war channel the "paravanes" were hauled aboard. On reaching a point some 20 miles off Harwich the ships dropped anchor and Captain Addison came out on the warship Maidstone.

British crews then were put on board the submarines to take them into harbor. With the exception of the engine staffs all the German sailors remained on deck. The submarines then were taken through the gates of the harbor and the German

ALLIES SEND PROTEST TO NETHERLANDS

Permitted Germans to Cross Limburg, Which Was a Neutrality Violation.

Amsterdam, November 21—A continuous procession of German troops is passing through Limburg, homeward bound, according to the Handelsblad. At least 150,000 will cross the border near Roosteren, where they will be disarmed by the Dutch. Good order is prevailing by direction of the officers.

Paris, November 21—The Allies have decided to send an official protest to the Dutch government against the violation of Holland's neutrality, as a result of her permitting German troops to cross the province of Limburg in their retreat from Belgium, according to the Echo de Paris.

Limburg is an irregular province of Holland, nearly 105 miles in length. For 28 miles from its lower extremity it lies between Belgium and Rhine province, Germany. At the widest point in this region it is 19 miles between Belgium and German soil. Just north of Sittard, Limburg province narrows down to less than five miles.

It was reported from Paris on November 19 that German troops returning to Germany from Belgium had to cross the Dutch province of Limburg and the charge was made that the passage was made with the sanction of the Dutch authorities.

Mr. William R. Brittingham, who lives at Ellsberry, Ohio, and a graduate of Maysville High School, made a fine record at Ann Arbor, Michigan. Thirty-three out of 4500 stood the test of examination Field Artillery Officers Camp and he was one of the thirty-three. Hurrah for Billy, he is a good boy and will always shine at the top of the Engineering and Electrical Department.

Mr. Edward F. Breeze left today for Washington, D. C., to resume his duties at the hospital there. He will be located there until December 1st, when he will be transferred to the moving picture developing department, where the movies are made for distribution throughout the country. His wife will join him in about ten days.

WELL-KNOWN FLEMING COUNTY MAN DEAD

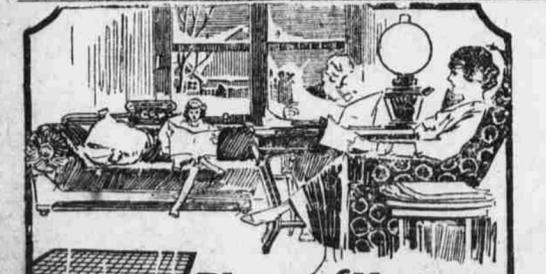

(Times-Democrat)
William Dudley, born in this city July 26, 1833, died at 3:30 Wednesday morning at the home of his brother, C. L. Dudley, in this city, from the infirmities of age. He left here for the west in 1851, going to Illinois and thence to Iowa, making his home for many years at Red Oak, Iowa. He married there, but his wife preceded him to the grave and they left no children. For the most of the past 11 years he has made his home at Park Lake, where he lived in a cottage by himself until age rendered him unable to take care of himself. He was a kindly man and many of the visitors to Parke Lake will have a kindly memory of him. He is survived by one sister, Mrs. Harriett D. Ashton, and one brother, C. L. Dudley. The remains will be taken to Red Oak, Iowa, to be deposited beside those of his wife, as he had always desired. C. L. and F. F. Dudley accompanied them Thursday morning.
