COX THREATENED HER LIFE, FIRST WIFE SAYS IN A LETTER

Wife of Rev. F. G. Coxs From Who He Seeks Divorce, Makes Serious Charges in Letter to the Court.

The Cincinnati Enquirer says: Charges made by Rev. Fred George Coxs, when seeking a divorce from Mrs. Murtice Cox, whom he married under the name of Cox, were denied by Mrs. Cox, who is living at 1225 Twenty-first street, Denver, Colo., in a letter received yesterday by Judge Charles W. Hoffman, of the Court of Domestic Relations.

The letter will be made a part of the records in the case. Coxs has since been arrested, though his suit for divorce from his first wife is still under consideration by Court. Mrs. Cox said she feared for her life when living with her husband.

"I am so sorry to have this horrible life over again," Mrs. Cox wrote in response to a telegram from the Court. "I thought I was through with it all. I cannot begin to tell you the least of the 20 years we lived together. I have tried to shut out the dark room and to think of better things. He tried to force me to get a divorce, but I told him I never would."

Mrs. Cox said she left her husband in Hoxie, Kan., in September, 1917, which, if established as a fact, Court officials say, will prevent the divorce being granted on ground of willful absence, which must be proved to have existed for three years under Ohio statute.

The case was originally granted the divorce. "He got to where it was not safe for me to be around him," Mrs. Cox wrote. "He told Ruth, my daughter, that he would have killed me if I had stayed, so I still fear him. I never kept company with any other man."

Mrs. Cox said she at first obtained employment as a saleswoman, and that later she obtained work in an advertising agency at Denver. She continued: "My very heart has been torn out by a man I gave my all to. I was forced to sign a paper providing that he could have the boy and I should have the girl. He had stolen both children. He was a minister from a business point, and not as a Christian."

Mrs. Cox stated that daughter, who, Coxs testified, was with him in Van Lue, Ohio, where he is in charge of a Methodist church, was with her, although she said the girl passed most of her time with Mrs. Lillian Swartout, Phillipsburg, Kan., a sister of Mrs. Coxs formerly was pastor of a Methodist church at Harrison, Ohio.

Cox questioned the sanity of her husband. She urged that steps be taken to insure their son good treatment in the future, but made no comment as to whether she thought a divorce should be granted. Judge Hoffman will investigate the case further before reaching a decision.

STATE HEALTH BOARD TO HELP FIVE COUNTIES

To Provide Half of $10,000 Fund For Full Time Health Department.

The Kentucky State Board of Health in co-operation with the International Health Board of the Rockefeller Foundation is in position to financially cooperate with five Kentucky counties in creating and maintaining a full time health department.

To this end it will give each of five counties $5,000 annually, provided the county provide a like amount, the $10,000 provided in this way to be used in employing trained physicians and an adequate number of assistants, such as carpenters and sanitary inspectors, who will devote their entire time in preventing sickness within the county.

In addition to this the State Board of Health has recently created a bureau of county health workers whose activities will be solely devoted to assisting in and directing the work of the five county health departments.

It is expected that within a year or two, the contrast in the death rate in the first five counties to establish full time health departments, as compared with the other counties in the State that are making no effort to prevent sickness, will create a strong desire among a large number of counties for such departments.

For several years under this arrangement Mason county has maintained a full time health department.

FORMER BLUE GRASS MAN HAS ROLE IN BIG MOVIE George McNamara, Paris, Seen in Big Washington Feature, The Miracle Man.

Blue Grass residents will be interested to know that J. M. Dumont, who plays the part of the dope fiend in "The Miracle Man," now playing at the Washington Theater, is a native of Bourbon county, and is well known in Central Kentucky.

He is the brother of Mrs. W. F. Carpenter, of Lexington. His real name is George McNamara, advertising agency at Denver. He took the stage name of Dumont when he began his professional career as a dancer several years ago.

At this time he toured the country with Gayle Hoxworth. Since that time he has become one of the foremost motion picture actors in America. He played in Maysville once before as leading man for Audrey Munson in "Purity."

There are several Maysville people, former residents of Bourbon county, who recognized McNamara in the first appearance of the Miracle Man here Monday.

ELECTION COMMISSIONERS TO CERTIFY DODSON'S VOTE The Mason County Election Commissioners will meet the latter part of this week at the County Clerk's office to tabulate the vote received by Dr. J. A. SUIT BROUGHT FOR CONSTRUCTION OF DODSON WILL Executor of Will Asks Court to Give Construction on Same to Guide Them in Making Distribution of Large Estate.

A friendly suit was brought in the Mason Circuit Court this afternoon by the Bank of Maysville as Executor of the estate of Omar Dodson, deceased, against Almer Dodson and Isabel Dodson Adair, the two beneficiaries under the will of the deceased.

The will provided that the whole estate of the deceased was to be divided, and the accounts go to his brother and that the residue of the estate be equally divided. The Executor sets out in the petition that when Mr. Dodson died there was approximately $8,540.88 worth of goods shipped to the store which had not arrived at that time.

The Executor asks the court to state whether the goods in transit and the life insurance policies held are a part of the business or whether they should be considered a part of the residue of the estate.

KENTUCKY SOLDIER CARRIES LETTER FROM RUSSIA Frankfort Soldier Meets Sister of Mrs. Wolf Rosenstein at Russian Port and Carries Letter Home to Her—Is Sister-in-Law of Local Man.

The following telegram from Frankfort is in regard to the wife of Mr. Wolf Rosenstein, prominent member of the capital city and a brother-in-law of Mr. Charles Rosenstein, manager of the Maysville Suit and Dry Goods Company.

Frankfort, Ky., November 25.—While Daniel Schittinger, of this city, discharged today from the navy after two years' service, was standing on the wharf at Riga, Russia, a woman rushed through the crowd and as he returned to America.

He never had seen the woman before and she had not seen him, as the cruiser on which he had entered Riga had arrived at the port only an hour before the incident.

When Schittinger looked at the letter he mailed a letter for her when he found that it was addressed to "I. Rosenstein, Frankfort, Ky., U. S. A." and he told the woman through an interpreter that he was a resident of Frankfort.

The woman proved to be the sister of Mrs. Wolf Rosenstein, of this city, and Schittinger delivered the letter to her today.

MOTHER AND BABE BURNED TO DEATH; OIL POURED ON COALS

Mrs. Vincent Kabler and Small Child Died From Burns in Fire at Mt. Olivet—Methodist Church and K. of P. Hall Threatened.

Mrs. Vincent Kabler, aged 35 years and her two and a half year old baby, are both dead and their residence in Mt. Olivet is a mass of ashes today as the result of a fire which was started by Mrs. Kabler's pouring coal oil on live coals in her cooking stove about 9 o'clock Monday morning.

Mrs. Kabler was preparing to do her week's washing and thinking that the coals in her kitchen stove had died completely out, prepared to make another fire to heat her wash water. As she held her little baby in her arms, she poured coal oil into the stove from a large can.

Live coals in the stove caused the oil to burst forth in flames. The can of oil caught fire and before she could throw it down, the can had exploded spreading flames all over her and the baby. She ran into the next room and threw her baby upon a bed endeavoring to extinguish the flames on the child's clothing with bed clothes and at the same time, she made a desperate effort to extinguish the flames which by this time had nearly stopped her of clothing.

Neighbors burst into the home and extinguished the flames which by this time had horribly burned Mrs. Kabler and both she and the baby were carried from the house which was being rapidly consumed by the flames from the kitchen.

The Mt. Olivet volunteer fire department was immediately called out but the house was so much in flames that they could not extinguish it. The residence adjoined, however, the Methodist church and the Knights of Pythias building and only heroic work by the volunteer firemen saved these two large buildings.

Both caught fire several times but were extinguished before much damage was done. The baby died about two o'clock Monday afternoon but the mother lingered in severe pain until about five o'clock in the afternoon when she too was relieved of her intense suffering by death.

Mrs. Kabler is survived by her husband, who is a hard working tenant farmer and two children. The eldest, a boy, was at work with his father on the farm during the fire while the oldest girl was at school. The sorely bereaved family have the sympathy of the entire community and once again this section of the state has a very vivid object lesson which each should profit by—fires should never be started with coal oil.

THE HOME OF QUALITY CLOTHES Let's All Be Good Fellows This Thanksgiving

Not an awful long way from your home there's a family that's had hard luck this year. The old purse is pretty low and the kiddies are wondering whether there will be a Thanksgiving for them or not.

You're going to have your fat turkey and all the other goodies—but what about that poor family? You can make YOUR day all the more enjoyable—all the more a REAL Thanksgiving—if you share with THOSE that have not.

Find out where that needy family lives and let them know that this is a pretty good old world after all.

OFFICERS CHOSEN FOR BIG SURVEY OF ALL THE CHURCHES

Plans Are Going Rapidly Forward For Church Survey Under Inter-Church Movement.

Louisville, November 25.—Dr. A. C. Zumbunnen, associated with Dr. O. E. Goddard, of the home mission survey of the Methodist Episcopal South, has been appointed survey director for the city survey which the Inter-church World Movement will undertake immediately in all the cities of the south.

According to an announcement made at a Methodist Board, has been appointed survey director for the city survey which the Inter-church World Movement will undertake immediately in all the cities of the south.

Dr. Zumbunnen, a graduate of the University of Chicago, where he specialized in the study of social methods, has been arranging a special survey of this character for the Methodist Centenary movement, but when it was found that the Interchurch agencies were planning to cover the same field for all the Protestant denominations, the Centenary decided to loan Dr. Zumbunnen to the Interchurch for the purpose of directing the work in the south.

The survey, which will embrace all will secure a detailed statement of facts relative to these cities as to church and social conditions existing and the needs for further religious activities among the population. It will extend to all conditions of city life, industrial, educational, social, and religious, and when finished will be the greatest compilation of facts regarding human welfare in urban centers that has ever been made in the south.

All Protestant churches will be invited to give every aid towards making this survey as comprehensive as possible. In most of the larger cities, there are already church cooperation committees which will be appealed to in furthering the work of the survey. When the material is gathered, it will be placed in the hands of all the denominational church leaders entirely without expense to them, as well as given to church boards and other agencies.

WIN-MY-CHUM WEEK GETS GOOD START The Win-My-Chum Week services at the Third Street M. E. Church opened Monday evening with an address by Hon. H. C. Curran, one of the city's best speakers and leading laymen.
