New York Letter

by Lucy Jeanne Price

New York—It was a sad day for the pawn brokers when the wedding band became less seriously treated, or less sentimentally, or something equally destructive of the old-time attitude toward the wedding ring. It was still a sadder day for the people who might want to pawn those wedding rings. You can't get more than half the full value, or maybe a little more, according to the brokers. Because women don't redeem them as they used to. The pawn broker used to be safe in lending the extra amount because he knew that come what might, no woman would give up that symbol of matrimony. Now they let it go as easily as they do last year's earrings—so the accusation goes. And the pawn-brokers who didn't realize the change in customs find themselves with a lot of unredempted gold bands on their hands which cannot be sold for the amount they lent on them. Maybe it's a sign of changed feelings about matrimony itself, and maybe it isn't anything half as serious as that. Probably not.

They are interesting—the little acts of co-operation and brotherhood one comes across, in a crowded city where people are strangers to each other. Each noon a group books in the sunshine on the south side of the City Hall. Those who come with newspapers pass them on to the others when they have finished their sunning. Cans for waster matter are placed around the plaza, but the regulars never dispossess of their papers there. Instead, they poke them into the square latticed passageway of the old-fashioned lamp posts which guard the main entrance of the Mayor's office. Here they are safe from the energetic park sweepers and are kept clean for the next readers.

I do not know why it should be important to chronicle the fact of anyone deciding to work for a living, but great fuss is made hereabouts when anyone of the social set—especially a woman—goes "into trade." Mrs. William A. Hamilton is the latest. She is a cousin of the late Mrs. George Gould, and is setting up as an interior decorator. When Mrs. Gould died she left a trust fund for Mrs. Hamilton.

and while in life sponsored the social destinies of Mrs. Hamilton's daughter in a splendid ball at the Gould mansion. One of her chief distinctions is her beauty. She is called one of the handsomest women in society. She should know what pretty things are desirable to set off people less pretty.

Universal love is a splendid thing, undoubtedly, when it is properly distributed; but if one is careless in its application, it may lead to difficulties. S. C. Nayak found himself in the

FROM GIRLHOOD TO WOMANHOOD
Woman Relied Upon Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound
Emporia, Kansas.—"I began using Lydia E. Pinkham's medicines years ago when I was a girl. For several years I had severe pains at menstrual periods, making me very weak and interfering with my regular duties. I tried several remedies without obtaining relief. I was induced to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound by friends and it restored me to normal health. I often have occasion and do recommend your Vegetable Compound to my friends who have troubles similar to my own. You may use these facts as a testimonial."—EVA ALDRICH, 218 Union St., Emporia, Kansas.
There are many women who first used your Vegetable Compound during their girlhood days. They found it a valuable help during trying periods. In later years they use it whenever they feel those annoying symptoms which women often have.
Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a woman's medicine. It is prepared carefully from the best quality of medicinal plants, whose properties are especially adapted to correct the troubles women have.

Tombs the other night because of that. He says he is nephew of Maharajah Murudahan and supreme representative of Lord Ganaradh the universal power of love. He attempted to extend some of the love in the direction of Miss Emilie J. Dieterich, who evidently is too practical to appreciate it. As New York representative of a firm of Chicago architects, Miss Dieterich is a capable and successful business woman, and she insists she has no time to spend discussing the theory of universal love, so she had its representative arrested because he would not stop telephoning her about it.

There is always joy in the playgoers heart when a young actress proves herself to be a star of unusual merit. And so audiences are rejoicing in the talent of Helen Menken as she proves it in "Seventh Heaven," a new play by Austin Strong, which has recently opened at the Booth Theater. She plays the part of a gamine of the Paris streets who is regenerated through love. It is not at all a new idea in the drama, but as Mr. Strong has written it, it is not hackneyed. There is strong emotional value in the drama and Miss Menken makes the most of every bit of it. George Gaul plays opposite her.

I have heard of women giving up fortunes conditioned upon their not marrying, but I never before knew of a girl who forewent the money rather than marry. That's what Miss Ruth Spanler, of Long Island, is doing. She has received a bequest from her uncle in Los Angeles, of $25,000, upon the condition that she marry. But Miss Spanler is running a bakery with her mother and she says she much prefers that to marriage and doesn't care about money, anyhow.

In order to work out some of the practical details of beef cattle feeding, eight Oldham county farmers will cooperate with County Agent Gordon B. Vance and the College of Agriculture at Lexington in conducting feeding tests on their farms this winter. Plans are being made to have a tour to the farms this winter so that other farmers in the county can get pointers on their cattle feeding work.

A total of 323 dairy cattle in Allen county recently were tested in one week for tuberculosis in connection with the drive that is in progress to eradicate this disease from herds in that section of the state. County Agent A. M. Allen says.

Campbell county farmers are so interested in finding out how much milk and butterfat their cows are giving that plans are under way to start a second cow testing association in the county. County Agent H. F. Link says.

THE PROPER COURSE
Information of Priceless Value to Every Maysville Citizen.
How to act in an emergency is knowledge of inestimable worth, and this is particularly true of the diseases and ills of the human body. If you suffer with kidney headache, urinary troubles, or any form of kidney disorder, the advice contained in the following statement should add a valuable asset to your store of knowledge. What could be more convincing proof of the efficiency of Doan's Kidney Pills than the statement of a Maysville citizen who used the man who publicly tells of the benefit derived?
Ben P. Fleming, county constable, 228 Limestone street, Maysville, says: "I have used Doan's Kidney Pills off and on for several years when I have needed them. At times my kidneys got out of order and I suffered with a dull constant ache through the small of my back. The kidney secretions were irregular in passage. A box or so of Doan's never fails to relieve the trouble in a short time."
The above statement was given November 14, 1916, and on November 22, 1920 Mr. Fleming added: "I am glad to renew the statement I gave for Doan's some years ago as the cure they made for me has been permanent."
Price 60c., at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Fleming had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfrs. Buffalo, N. Y.
