KALIDA, OHIO.

FRIDAY, AUGUST 12, 1853.

DEMOCRATIC NOMINATIONS.

State Ticket.
For Governor—WILLIAM MEDILL.
Lieutenant Governor—LESTER BLISS.
Supreme Judge—THOMAS W. BARTLEY.
Treasurer of State—JOHN G. PRESLIN.
Secretary of State—WILLIAM TREVITT.
Member of P. Works, WAYNEGRISWOLD.
Attorney General—GEORGE W. MCCOOK.

County Ticket.
For Sheriff—JOHN B. FRUCHEY.
For Commissioner—CLARK H. RICE.

77 We issue a half sheet to-day to catch up. We find it difficult to get the requisite help with which to print our paper, being off the regular thoroughfares.

ELECTIONS IN KENTUCKY.—Stanton, (Dem.) is elected in the 10th District by a majority of 502. Linn Boyd (Dem.) in the 1st by 1500 majority, and Breckenridge (Dem.) in the Ashland District by near 600 majority. This is cheering news.

WHIG MISREPRESENTATION.—Where they are weak, Whigs are liberal, very much so indeed. It is scarcely certain that they have any political opinions at all. In fact then they are for the best men. When in strength they go old line Whiggery, and nothing else. Had not Democrats take notice and be men of principle always.

COL. LANDIS.—We have received a note from Mr. L. in relation to the Barbee matter. As we understand Mr. G. has consented to compromise this affair, and as we, at no time, supposed Mr. Landis' course intentionally wrong, or sought to make any charge of wrong against him, we do not know that it is necessary further, at present, to refer to this affair.

THE TORONTO DAILY LEADER.—This is the first daily paper of a liberal tendency ever published in Canada West, and it is a large and well printed journal, just begun at Toronto, Canada West. Its editorial conduct will clear it for ability among the first Journals on this Continent, and we are gratified that the progress of improvement and of liberal sentiment in that Province is such that a Daily Press of such a character can be sustained in it. It is a large evidence of popular advancement.

Missouri Election.
St. Louis, August 9.
Jackson (Benton), author of the famous Jackson resolutions, is elected to Congress from the Third District; Carothers (Whig) is elected to Congress from the Seventh District, and Edward Bates is Judge of the Land Court.

MURDERER TO BE HUNG.
Pittsburg, July 21, 1853.
The death-warrant of Jewell, connected with the murder of Mitchell, on July 4, 1852, was unexpectedly received this morning. He is to be hung on the 2d September next.

TROUBLE AHEAD.—The Austrians recently seized M. Costa (who was with Kosuth in the United States) at Smyrna. The Americans demanded him, as entitled to their protection. Hard words ensued. In a subsequent riot, the only son of an Austrian Field Marshal was beaten, stabbed, and thrown into the stream, and an effort was made to stab the officers of the American frigate.

EMILE DE GIRARDIN SAYS OF THE RUSSIAN WAR, that contemporaneous history will write of this episode:—War extinguished before it was kindled; the match applied to cannons that were only loaded with powder. Much ado about nothing.

STEAMSHIPS.—We said it the other day, and somebody said it long before that, that Governments always get the worst and the dearest of everything for their money. If any man wants an exemplification of the fact, let him look at the condition of our steam marine. At their very first attempt to construct real sea-going steamships our builders and machinists turned out some that beat the world. The steamships belonging to our navy could not at this present writing beat the worst sailing ship that was ever seen, in a passage of moderate length. Indeed nobody that was wise would trust himself aboard of them for a long passage. There is nothing right about them; for now the boilers give out, then the engine is wrong, then its furnaces; and when all these have been altered and repaired, the ship turns out to be worse than she was before. We have not got a steamship fit to carry Mr. WALKER to China. The consequence is, that MARSHAL, who wouldn't go for Scott and who was sent to China by FILLMORE out of gratitude for that same; will be doing no end of mischief. He is said to be in favor of the broken down Emperor. With the usual sagacity and republican instinct of the Whigs, he has chosen the losing side and wants to prop up a falling throne.—Statesman.

The steam propeller "Challenge" running on Lake Michigan, exploded her boiler on the 22d inst., killing five of the crew, and severely wounding a number of others. It was her first trip.

NORTH WESTERN LUMBER.—The editor of the St. Pauls Minnesotan, who has been visiting the St. Croix Valley, says that 60 million feet of lumber and logs will be sent to market this season from that stream alone.

The Massachusetts Convention have adopted an amendment to the constitution limiting the terms of Justices of the Supreme Court to ten years.

The wife of THOS. F. MEAGHER, Esq., and his father, were among the passengers who recently arrived by the Arctic. Mr. MEAGHER has not seen his son since he was expatriated from Ireland. Mrs. MEAGHER is a native of Australia of Irish descent.—Statesman.

Frightful Accident at Niagara.
NIAGARA, Tuesday, July 13, 1853.

One of our party, looking from his window in the International Hotel, a little after 4 o'clock this morning, saw two men standing on the bridge connecting Goat Island with the main land, and hurrying down to see what was the matter, saw a man clinging to a log a little above the end of Chapin's Island, in the most dangerous part of the rapids. His strength appeared to be nearly exhausted, and he was helplessly throwing up his hands for succor. The alarm was given by the waiters at the hotel, and a crowd has been assembled on the shore and bridge since 6 o'clock, gazing in doubt and terror on the appalling spectacle. It is ascertained that three men, employed by Brown, the boat builder, went out in a boat, about nine o'clock last night, a mile and a half above the rapids. The boat, thirty feet long, was swept down by the current, capsized by the rapids, and two of the hapless victims to their own imprudence were carried over the Falls. The third struck the crag and was saved—for how long, God alone knows; for the most experienced boatman, Robinson, who has rescued so many, says he cannot reach him in a boat. It is now 74, and they are preparing to launch a boat from Goat Island. The hope of saving the poor man is very doubtful; yet his courage seems to be strong, as he reclines on his perch, in the midst of the wild waste of foaming waters, unable to lift his voice or hear the call of the hundreds gazing on him in sympathy and fear. Now he turns a fearful look towards the dread cataract—now feebly waves his hand, to hasten the wished for aid. Heaven keep him till it can reach him!

A boat, attached to a rope with buoys, has been launched, and floated down some distance, but it filled, and they have telegraphed to Buffalo for a larger one. I will write again as soon as anything is done.

Later.
So terrible a scene as we witnessed not an hour since, may we never be doomed to see again! All day, in the eager gaze of thousands lining the shore, every human means was used to rescue the poor young man, still clinging to his perch in the roaring waters. First, the small boat was let down—it went to pieces immediately; then the life boat from Buffalo gallantly rode the waves, but became entangled and sank in the effort to extricate it. Another reached the log; a shout was raised—a young man sprang in and commenced bailing and loading her with ballast; this too stuck fast and finally a raft was let down for which he abandoned the log, and was slowly drawn upwards. The suspense became almost breathless, as all eyes were fixed on the poor youth, on his knees, bravely securing himself by lashing his legs to the raft and waiting with upturned face, the final efforts of his friends. Provisions were sent again and again, but failed to reach him. The raft was drawn some distance westward, and lodged against the rocks, soon defied further effort to bring it up; a ferry-boat was then launched and cautiously lowered. The interest was wrought to its greatest intensity—for all perceived this was the crisis; and with some apprehension we saw that the youth had unlashed himself and stood on his feet ready to grapple with the approaching boat. Hope revived was in his eager look—and the large characters written in German for his encouragement on one of the houses—"We will save you!"—seemed to have new significance. Alas! for him—what seemed safety was destined to be his destruction! The boat struck the raft and loosened it, the shock knocked the poor fellow overboard; he snatched in vain at the ropes; the mighty torrent swept him like lightning past the island, which some hoped he might yet gain; he struggled, and sprang partly out of the water even at the verge of the Falls. A cry of horror rose from the multitude, and there was a general rush to the spot where he was seen going over. It was said that his mother was on shore, and his brother had just arrived in the evening train from Buffalo. It is believed that but one man was with him last night on the fatal expedition. Another life boat, from Buffalo was ready to be launched, and the probabilities stood far better than ever for rescue, when he was lost.

The steam propeller "Challenge" running on Lake Michigan, exploded her boiler on the 22d inst., killing five of the crew, and severely wounding a number of others. It was her first trip.

An Artesian well has been bored 470 feet down, at Montgomery, Alabama.—The water flows, cool and healthful—two gallons per minute.

Mr. Fillmore's administration in this matter, which is an established fact, is unaccountable, and the case merits to be looked into by the present administration, if it wishes to see its Consulates respected.

In common life don't you often judge and misjudge a man's whole conduct, setting out from a wrong impression? The tone of a voice, a word said in joke, or a trifle in behaviour—the cut of his hair, or the tie of his neckcloth, may disfigure him in your eyes, or poison your good opinion; or at the end of years of intimacy it may be your closest friend says something, reveals a something which had previously been a secret, which alters all your views about him, and shows that he has been acting on quite a different motive to that which you fancied you knew.

DEMOCRACY CON-ISTENT.—The Convention now in session in Boston have passed to a second reading a resolve purporting that it is not advisable to add the phrase "His excellency" to the title of Governor.

The statistics of the Turkish Empire, for the year 1848, show a total population of thirty-four millions, of whom near fourteen millions are Christians.

DEMOCRATIC CONVENTION.
The Democracy of Putnam County are requested to meet at the usual places of holding elections in each Township, on Saturday, the 27th day of August, 1853, between the hours of ten o'clock, A. M., and four o'clock, P. M., and proceed to put in nomination a candidate for County Recorder, to be supported by the Democracy at the October Election.

From the Ohio Statesman.
CONSTANTINOPLE, June 25, 1853.

Since I wrote you last, the term of eight days assigned to Mr. Balabine, the bearer of Count Nesselrode's note to the Sultan's Minister for Foreign Affairs, having expired without the negative reply given by the Porte to the said note having been reconsidered, Mr. Balabine left for Odessa; and henceforth the rupture seems complete.

Our last news from Yasse is dated the 22d inst. The invasion of the Danubian Principalities was contemplated to take place on the 1st of July—64,000 men of good troops were camped in the neighborhood of Ismail, (Bessarabia,)—and 50,000 in Gritcheni, making together 114,000 men. Troops and war munitions were daily arriving by land as well as by steamers and boats from Odessa. It is asserted that the actual number of forces expected there within a week's time from the above date would be 150,000 men. Persons well informed write that the plan of Russia is to invade Moldavia by the passage of Husch, with a small part of these troops, while the great body would invade Dobridgea by the way of Ismael, on the Danube. Cartal and Rony all within shot distance from the Turkish shores. The Russians have already prepared on these last three points 36,000 cars loaded with the necessary requisites, and 40 cutters armed with one gun of strong calibre each. They have also prepared two floating bridges on the Pruth for the passage of the troops from Husch to Barlat at five miles from Yasse, the capital of Moldavia, and six floating bridges on the Danube, for the passage of those from Ismael, Kartal and Rong, to Toulcia and Isakthee on the Turkish shore. These passages may be effected in less than three hours time. To prevent any assistance from being given to Turkey from the allied powers by way of the Danube, the Russian Commander has been ordering some old crafts loaded with stones to be sunk on the bar at Soulina, and from 11 feet, the passage of that bar is now only seven. Turkey will on this occasion perceive its stupidity in having neglected opening the mouth of St. George's Channel, through which she could have an entire control over her Danubian navigation. A portion of the Russian fleet numbering seven men-of-war and one frigate, was met yesterday within a short distance of the Bosphorus.

On the other part the Turkish government is making all sorts of preparations for a vigorous resistance, and what is strange, besides, the sympathies of all the Turks, those of the Greeks, are entirely for the Sultan. If war takes place the population will rise en masse. OMER PASHA, the champion of the Turkish generals, has already reached the Danubian shores with a corps of good disciplined troops numbering 70,000. AHMET PASHA, who has been appointed commander-in-chief of the Imperial troops on the Danubian-shores, will soon reach the spot with several other corps numbering 60,000 men, and these with the corps d'armee anatolie and the forces offered by the Prince of Servia, will make a total of nearly 200,000 men charged with the defence of the Turkish European frontiers, against Russian aggression.

An American vessel of war, the St. Louis, is shortly expected here from Smyrna. During the sojourn in the above place, her Captain had a strong altercation with the commander of the Austrian sloop-of-war Hussar, on board whose vessel the Austrian Consul at Smyrna, had imprisoned a Mr. Costa, who is said to be an aid de camp of Kosuth, and who had lately returned from the United States with an American passport, having duly sworn allegiance to your government. The Captain of the St. Louis, accompanied by the Consul, strongly protested against the arrest of Mr. Costa, and demanded his immediate release; and, firstly, upon the denial from the Austrian Commander that he had any such man on board, and subsequently his refusal to surrender him to the American Commander, the latter insulted the Austrian, calling him a liar and a coward. The efforts of the American Captain were useless, and Mr. Costa remained in the hands of the Austrians.

In a neutral country like Turkey any person who is not an Ottoman subject, has it optional with him to place himself under the protection of any flag he chooses, and to change that protection for another whenever he chooses, without the former protecting power can claim him; this is the principle recognized by the Turkish government and in full accordance with the law of nations. The Austrian Consul therefore, had no right to arrest that man, and the American Commander had full right to claim him, even if the man was not an American citizen and had simply invoked the protection of America and offered allegiance to her. This principle has, at all times, been acknowledged and adopted in Turkey, and the Austrians had respected that right during the whole period when the Italian and Hungarian refugees had fled to Constantinople where, under the American flag, they were screened by the then Consul Danese, from all sort of Austrian persecution, and it is a general opinion that the degradation under which the American flag has remained in Turkey since Mr. J. P. Brown resorted to the aid of the Austrian Legation in Constantinople and used Russia's forces to violate the American Consulate in that city in the latter part of 1851, and the neglect of the American government to have its flag redressed, that now emboldens the Austrians to act in so arbitrary and brutal a manner. The Committee would suggest the necessity and importance of receiving votes only from persons known to be Democrats, who will support the whole ticket when nominated; a departure from this rule tends to render the Primary Meetings impure, and create suspicions as to the fidelity of those conducting the meeting, which is frequently used by the opposite party at the election. Judges of the meetings can in no way better facilitate the interests of the party and maintain their reputation, than by enforcing the rules, asking nothing more than they are willing to give: doing out own work.

BUSINESS NOTICE.
Those who are indebted to this office for personal accounts will please to make arrangements to make settlement after harvest, as delayed claims so frequently get lost that we feel disposed heretofore to make short accounts. As we have placed the price of our paper at $1.50 per year, in advance, or within six months, or $2.00 at the end of the year, or thereafter, we shall be compelled to adhere to the principle of charging the advance. Our business expenses for the Venture are over $300 per year, and with scanty receipts, is far from being remunerative or profitable, and it is only by very strict economy that we are able to sustain our press, to which we devote as much time and care as our means will admit.

Should we be able to do so, we propose at the end of this volume to procure new type for the Venture, and endeavor in all things to sustain it on a par with the best, if not the largest, county papers in the State. Putnam county is now rapidly advancing in settlements and material wealth, and while we have every reason to thank our friends for their liberal sustenance and general promise, we trust that our prosperity in business will continue, as it has done latterly, to grow with the increase of our country.

The public are assured that this is no Humbug!
THE advertiser will send on the receipt of $1, printed instructions in upwards of 100 different kinds of business or methods of making money, each of which have been sold at from $1 to $25 each. The whole have been compiled at a great expense, by the advertiser, and are now offered for only $1. These instructions embrace so many different ways for making money, that no one can fail to be suited. A part of the instructions alone will be worth ten times the price asked to every family; and no person out of or in any common employment, will regret sending for them. Unlike those who shroud in mystery the means by which they have arrived at independence, we have in these instructions, (which originally cost thousands of dollars) thrown open the accumulated stores of our information, for the sole benefit of the enterprising portion of the community. And of the different methods may be started with a capital of from $5 to $10. Persons with a capital of from $10 to $500 can make from $50 to $100 per day. We could give reference to a great many who have availed themselves of our information, and are now engaged in business; but suffice to say, if any are dissatisfied, their money will be refunded.

Owing to the rapid and constantly increasing sale of the instructions, no letters will be attended to unless accompanied with the cash. Address post paid.

MARRIAGE, HAPPINESS AND COMPETENCE.

WHY IS IT?
That we behold many females, scarce in the strivings of life broken in health and spirits with a complication of diseases and ailments, depriving them of the power for the enjoyment of life as an active and virtuous being, and happy in the possession of mind, arising from a condition of health, which is predominant.

IS AFTER YEARS,
When too late to be benefited by our knowledge, we look back and mourn, and regret the full consequences of our ignorance.
What would we not give to possess, in early life, the knowledge we obtain in after years? And what days and nights of anguish we might not have spared, if the knowledge was timely possessed. It is

And to her husband the constant toil and anxiety of mind, necessarily devolving upon her, and the necessity of supporting a family, and the necessity of securing that competence which his exertions are entitled, and the possession of which would secure the happiness of himself, wife, and children.

SECURE THE MEANS OF HAPPINESS
By becoming in time possessed of the knowledge, the want of which has caused the sickness and poverty of domestic life, in view of such consequences, no wife or mother is reasonable if she neglects to avail herself of that knowledge in respect to herself, which would spare her much suffering, by the means of happiness, and the necessity of securing that competence which his exertions are entitled, and the possession of which would secure the happiness of himself, wife, and children.

MARRIAGE, HAPPINESS AND COMPETENCE.
WHY IS IT?
That we behold many females, scarce in the strivings of life broken in health and spirits with a complication of diseases and ailments, depriving them of the power for the enjoyment of life as an active and virtuous being, and happy in the possession of mind, arising from a condition of health, which is predominant.

IS AFTER YEARS,
When too late to be benefited by our knowledge, we look back and mourn, and regret the full consequences of our ignorance.
What would we not give to possess, in early life, the knowledge we obtain in after years? And what days and nights of anguish we might not have spared, if the knowledge was timely possessed. It is
