SPANKED THE BOY.

The Signal Squares Which Attended Interference in Family Matters.

All the adult passengers in the waiting-rooms had their attention attracted by his antics. He wanted candy, and he wanted to see the river, and he wanted to go aboard the train, and he wanted to see some of the city of Detroit...

"Land o' massy! but I've eger to go out here or speak that boy!" "He just wishes for it!" growled the other.

"He does. He puts me in mind of my William. I've seen William when nothing on air but a spanking would go on his nature into his."

"Please, Johnny, be good," entreated the mother. "I won't!" "O, do! See how they are all looking at us."

"I don't care if they are!" With that he walked up to the old man and made a kick, and then the curtain went up on the play. With one twirl and two motions he was seized, whirled over a rail of iron, and before he could speak the spanking machine began his work.

"There!" said the spanker as he upended the child and placed him on a seat, "you'll feel better—a heap better. Hated to do it, you know, but saw that you was enfeeling for it. Beg your mother's pardon for interfering in family matters, but we set right that'll the train is red!"

"O, no," said the mother; "wait a little, but tell me I desire to see him at six o'clock to-morrow evening."

"When the poor man was told this, he felt as if his heart were written on a beautiful poem, and I have sent for you that you read it aloud to yourself, and I have invited all the Grand Dukes and Duchesses to come, that they may have the pleasure of hearing you."

"Oh, sir, you are cruel to refuse me the pleasure, but you will not be so ungracious as to refuse the Empress the pleasure of hearing your verses, and she will ask you herself."

"When he had finished she said: 'I do not think he will write any more verses about us again. He need not go to Siberia just yet.'" "Siberia in Russia."

Trains run through without change of cars to Chicago, where direct connection is made with all leading lines to the west, northwest and southwest, making but a single change of cars to Iowa, Kansas, Nebraska, Texas, Minnesota, etc. No other line can offer such advantages as the Baltimore and Ohio. Its rates are very little time and trouble to learn this, and in the end may lead to the saving of much of both as well as money. It is not often that so much real improvement in our relations with the world comes evident in a single twelve-month as that which has been made since it is last Fourth of July. Whatever side we may have taken during the political campaign, all patriotic citizens must rejoice at the eminently creditable course which the present Administration has pursued in general, and especially at its firmness in taking and maintaining advanced ground in respect to the reform of the civil service. It was not strange a year ago that many good people shook their heads at the Fourth of July called for celebration and expressions of gratitude for the nation's future. The danger probably was not so great as they imagined, nor has it been wholly removed as yet, but we seldom have had such good reason as this year for thanking God and taking courage in regard to our native land.

Receipts.

Pickles or vinegar will not keep in a jar that has ever had any kind of grease in it.

All the profit derived is from the labor. Bare land, unworked and unworked is unproductive. Farmers should remember this fact, and they will be likely to destroy their chances of profit by unwise economy in farm labor.

When putting away the silver tea or coffee-pot, which is not used every day, lay a little stick across the top under the cover. This will allow fresh air to get in and prevent the rustiness of the contents, familiar to hotel and boarding-house sufferers.

Carrot soup is a light summer soup, easily made. A quart of grated carrot gives it the flavor and color, and the other ingredients are two quarts of stock, two tablespoons of butter, two of oil, half a cup of rice, one egg, one teaspoonful of onion, and a teaspoonful of cream.

Pumpkin loaf: For two loaves take two cups of butter, three cups of wheat flour and corn meal, one cup of sweet milk, one cup of molasses, half cup of butter, one egg, one teaspoonful of soda, one half hour. Bake in two loaves.

Boston tea cake: One well-beaten egg, two teaspoonfuls of sugar, one cup of sweet milk, one teaspoonful of soda dissolved in the milk, two teaspoonfuls of cream taster sifted into the dry flour, two cups of sifted flour, one teaspoonful of butter, melted. Bake in small tins.

Expansive plum cake: One-half pound of butter beaten to a cream, one half pound of moist sugar, one pound of currants, a quarter of a pound of mixed peel (cut in bits), one cup of very small, one-half pound of flour and four eggs well beaten. Bake in a moderate oven for two hours. The cake should not be eaten new, and is better kept some days.

A NOVEL PUNISHMENT. How the 'Car Alexander' II. Fulfilled His Traditions. A young poet had written a most curious poem, in which he had described and labeled not only the Empress, but also all the Grand Dukes and Duchesses. Some one, the censor of the press, went to see the poet, and said: "The man, but he sent off to Siberia at once," he said; "it is not a case for delay."

"O, no," said the Empress; "wait a little, but tell me I desire to see him at six o'clock to-morrow evening."

When the poor man was told this, he felt as if his heart were written on a beautiful poem, and I have sent for you that you read it aloud to yourself, and I have invited all the Grand Dukes and Duchesses to come, that they may have the pleasure of hearing you."

Corrected.

Mrs. Anna Johnson, of 24 Front street, Columbus, Ohio, says: "I suffered from an aggravated form of constipation and indigestion for several months. My family physician tried all kinds of medicines and pills, but to no effect. I began to think my case was a hopeless one. A friend of mine (Mrs. Elvira Redmond, of East Long street, this city), called and seeing the condition of my health, I must say I had little faith in the medicine, but after I had taken a few doses I was convinced that MANA-LIN was the medicine for me. After I had taken one bottle I was entirely well of my complaint. I consider it one of the best remedies for constipation I have ever used. I have several friends who are using it. They think it an excellent remedy, and I recommend it to all who are afflicted with constipation or indigestion. Any one doubting this statement is invited to call on me at 24 Front street."

Mr. Milton Knott, Urbana, O., writes: "Last November one of your pamphlets, which I called on my family physician. He examined me and said I had symptoms of typhoid fever. He gave me medicine for two weeks or more, but without any relief. I began to think that my days on earth were fast closing in. I saw at once that your medicine would not reach my disease. Just as I was about to conclude that I would have to die, my daughter brought me one of your pamphlets. I noticed a case whose symptoms were like mine, and PERUSA and MANA-LIN had cured him. I concluded at once to try it. I procured one bottle of PERUSA and one of MANA-LIN, and took them as directed, and before I had used the two bottles I began to receive strength and gain in flesh. I finished the rest of the two bottles and consumed the use until the third bottle was used. When they were used I could eat anything I wanted to and go about my work. I consider that if it had not been for your PERUSA I would have been in a very bad way. Parties wishing information can write me at the above place. I recommend your medicine to all who are afflicted with typhoid fever."

Mr. John R. Davis, Mountville, W. Va., writes: "I have been handling your PERUSA ever since its introduction. All who have used it speak highly of its curative properties. I consider it a reliable remedy."

Mr. George Fisher, Portsmouth, O., writes: "I am handling your PERUSA, and having a good trade on it. It gives splendid satisfaction." Sent, 7/4/85.
