Poetry.

The "melancholy" night which so frequently follows the Christmas festival is so graphically described in the familiar proverb, that we should feel we had given the "cold shoulder" to an old friend if we denied it its accustomed place and who would do that on

"THE NIGHT AFTER CHRISTMAS?"
'Twas the night after Christmas, when all through the house,
Every soul was abed, and as still as a mouse;
The stockings, so lately St. Nicholas' care;
Were emptied of all that was stable there.

"The stockings had lately been tucked in their beds,
With very full stockings and pairs in their heads;
I was doing away in my new cotton cap,
And Nancy was rather far gone in a nap.

"When out in the nursery arose such a clatter;
I sprang from my sleep, crying, 'What is the matter?'
I saw each bedstead, still half in a doze,
Tossing on the ceiling, and 'twas of the clothes

"While the light of the taper, served clearly to show
The plight of those objects below;
For what to the father's fond eye should appear,
But the little pale face of a sick little dear,
For such had that dear one almost itself fall as a tick,

"I knew in a moment how felt like Old Nick,
Their pulses were rapid, their breathings fit
What their stomachs rejected I'll mention by name—
Now turkey, now stuffing, plum pudding, of course
And oysters, and crabs, and cranberry sauce,

"Before outraged nature all went to the wall;
Yes, lollypop, peppermint, dainties and all,
Like pellets which urinate from pop-gun-like mouths;
Went flying out and rained down jolly and plump,
Till each drop of diet was brought to my view,
To the shame of mamma and Santa Claus too.

"I turned from the sight, to my bed-room stepped back,
And brought out a vial marked 'Fair Ipecac';
When my Nancy exclaimed, 'For their sufferings shocked her—
'Don't you think you had better, love, run for the Doctor?'
I ran, and was scarcely back under my roof,
When I heard the sharp clatter of old Jolly's hoof.

"I might say that I hardly had turned myself round,
When the Doctor came into the room with a bound.
He was covered with mud from his head to his foot,
And the suit he had on was his very best suit;
He had hardly had time to put that on his back,
And he looked like a Palfrey, half fuddled with sack.

"His eyes how they twinkled! Had the doctor got merry?
His cheeks looked like Port and his breath smelt of Sherry;
He hadn't been shaved for a fortnight or so,
And the beard on his chin wasn't white as the snow.

"But inspecting their tongues in despite of their teeth,
And drawing his watch from his waistcoat beneath—
He felt of each pulse saying, 'Each little body must get rid'—
Here he laughed—'of the rest of that jolly'.

"I gazed on each chubby, plump, sick little elf,
And gazed on when he said, in spite of myself,
But a wink of his eye when he 'physicked' me,
Soon gave me to know I had nothing to dread,
He didn't prescribe—but went straightway to work,
And added all the rest—gave his tobacco a jerk
And doing all directions while blowing his nose,
He buttoned his coat from his chair he arose.

"Then jumped in his gig—gave old Jolly a smack,
And Jolly dashed off as if prodded by a thistle,
And Doctor exclaimed as he drove out of sight,
They'll be well by to-morrow—good night!
Jones—good night!

Sense and Nonsense.

The net to catch a man matrimonially—
There are 240,000 more women than men in Great Britain.

Three things to avoid—illness, loquacity and frequent jangling.

A man's temper, unlike the kindling in a stove, is often first by a bad match.

But spelling never looks so bad as it does when on fashionable note paper.

Ca'tarrh is a constitutional disease. Hood's Sarsaparilla is a constitutional remedy. It cures catarrh. Give it a

A witness, who was being examined in a divorce case at Lawrence, Ga., last week, was asked the maiden name of his wife, but was unable to give it.

"A genuine patriot," said an election orator recently, "must at all times be ready to die for his country, even though it should cost him his life!" (Thundering applause.)

Julia (aged six)—"We've got a new baby at our house." Clara (aged six)—"What is it, a boy or a girl?" Julia—"O, we don't know yet. We've only had it two days."

"What is wanted," says a clergyman, "is a recreation that is inexpensive, that furnishes physical exercise and is harmless to the morals." Sawing wood would seem to fill the bill.

Miss Smith, a wealthy old lady, who died at Chapel Hill, N. C., recently, remembered her old slaves to distribution of her property, willing to give each 100 acres of land and $125 in cash.

Customer: "Way, hang it man! I've wiped my plate with your handkerchief."
New Waiter: "That's all right. I am going to put it in the wash next week anyhow."

Ninety cigars in two hours was the best of a record by which an Orlando (Cal) man endeavored to smoke himself into fame and some cash. It was said to be lost only on the nineteenth cigar, which sickened him.

A J. Holland of Mason Valley, Nev., has raised three kittens that he obtained from the nest of a wild cat that he had killed. They have become thoroughly domesticated, and though now but four months old, are good ratlers.

Second Husband (to wife)—"Are you as fond of me as you were of your first husband?" Wife—"Yes, indeed, and if you were to die, John, I would be just as fond of my third. I'm not a woman to marry for anything but love."

Telephonic connection has been established between Paris and Bismarck, a distance of about 115 miles, and the transmission of sound is said to be perfect. Five minutes' conversation costs 1 franc, and in five minutes each party can say some 300 words.

Locked the Courage—

There must be roller skating stunts in heaven for we read that Hebe, the goddess of youth, daughter of Jupiter and Juno, and the cup bearer of the gods, was banished from heaven on account of an unlucky fall.—Haver's Weekly.

Magistrate—"Ever been arrested before?" Prisoner—"No, sah." Magistrate—"Didn't I send you to the island last winter for ten days?" Prisoner—"I declare to goodness, no I look at you, Judge, I believe you did. But I see a poor 'un, 'member faces."

"My dear, remembered a wife, peering out from under the bed clothes, I do wish you would use the word 'school.' It sounds better." "It may sound better at times," replied her husband, who was noisily pursuing his heel "but when a man steps on a tack he wants the old remark."

"Land asked: 'If I ain't the most peculiar accident ever I see!' and the old lady's spectacles dropped down over her breast and almost choked her."

"Train of cars thrown from the track by a defect in the frog. And yet it ain't nothing about how bad the animal was hurt. Squashed, maybe."

Strive to be happy.
This life is not all sunshine,
Nor is it yet all showers;
But when you calm alternate
Between the sun and showers,
And while we seek the noon,
The thorn full of us we can,
Still let us, though they would us,
Be happy as we can.

"What struck you most during your travels last summer?" asked the pastor. "Well, the deacon replied, in a muttering way, he 'couldn't just exactly say; he rather thought the sleeping-car porter struck him the oftenest, but the waiter for nine days, looked up in the jury-room, when they gave in, and we brought in a verdict of 'Not guilty.' And then I was the maddest man in the State."

"Why, what were you mad about, Colonel?" "Cause the mob had hung the prisoner the first day we were locked up."

It was at a railroad junction in Illinois. Several passengers were waiting for the train, and one of them was so nervous and impatient that a fellow-traveler finally said: "You seem to be very anxious to reach home." "So I am. Every hour is worth $10 to me. I got a dispatch at Pekin that 51 of my boys have shown the first symptoms of cholera."

"And you are in a hurry to administer a remedy of course?" "A remedy? No, sir. I don't fool away my time and money on remedies. I want to get them home to Chicago and send before sundown to-morrow; and its going to be a mighty close shave."

Household Conventions.

Holly Hart writes as follows to the Indiana Farmer:
"I keep a little broom to clean the kettles, spindles, sauce pans, etc. It saves time, does better work and saves the hands. The little broom helps in this way. You can scrub around the stove with a broom with a clean, clean edge. Try it. You can scrub the broom clean. It washes the turpentine and potatoes quite clean and much quicker than the hands; and how one does hate to handle dirty vegetables—just try it. After the clothes are brought in from the line and ready for sprinkling, a clean little broom kept solely for the purpose of dipping in the water and sprinkling the clothes quite as well as a Chinese laundry man can spray the water through his teeth, and it seems ever so much cleaner. Then the scrub brush, wringer and wash board are kept in order, with a clean broom to scrub them off with—Pansy handles, kitchen sink and table are cleaned with a broom. Even the kitchen windows, in fly time, are washed down first with the inevitable little broom, which draws the corners of the wash board are kept in order, with a clean broom kept solely for the purpose of dipping in the water and sprinkling the clothes quite as well as a Chinese laundry man can spray the water through his teeth, and it seems ever so much cleaner.
