

LOCAL ITEMS.

Mr. Henry James and wife, of Columbus, are visiting their Logan friends.

Mr. Joseph West, the enterprising livery man of New Straitsville, visited Logan on Monday.

Mr. Jack Hodder, of Nelsonville, spent a few days in Logan last week.

Marion Nutter, of Greenoak, made us a pleasant call on last Monday.

Miss Emma Cise, of Columbus is visiting her home this week in Logan.

Attorney V. C. Lowry who was visiting friends in Athens last week, is back home.

Mrs. Dan Acker and children who have been visiting in the country the last two weeks, have returned home.

Mr. John Murphy has returned home from the Delaware University where he has been attending school.

Hartman Miller, brother-in-law to our townsman Wm. Waner, died at Chillicothe on Friday.

The Shawnee Banner says that Bub Voris of Logan will take charge of West's New Corning Hack Line.

The wife of Mr. Solomon Conder died on the 29th of June, in the 45th year of her age.

Mr. Baughman has removed the office and headquarters of his Dying establishment into the rooms in the James Block, formerly occupied by the Gazette.

Wm. Crouch and wife of New Lexington, stopped a few hours in Logan on Sunday morning, on their way to South Perry to visit his mother.

D. B. Black, the first graduate from Hooking county of the N. W. O. N. S., at Ada, after a trip through north-western Ohio and Indiana, returned home a few days ago.

Adonis Ed. Davenport, the poet-aster of the Gazette, wears a big pin on the lapel of his coat and says it is a Province rose.

Col. Alex. Sands was in the city on last Sunday. It is not known whether or not he was hunting Gov. Hoadly who escaped him a couple of weeks ago, or was interesting himself in our post-office war.

An additional crank named Herzog, for Ed. Davenport's wind mill, arrived in Logan on Monday, and the treble combination of Davenport, Herzog and a crank to a wheel was formed at once.

Mr. John Lutz has been appointed an attendant at the Athens Asylum. He is a prudent, sensible man, and will make an excellent help to the Institution.

Mr. M. B. Lovet, son-in-law of Col. Cress of our town, is conducting the St. Clair Springs Hotel at Cornelia, Alabama.

Ah Brooke, the Chinese Juggler, who has been practicing his device on the post-office, returned from Washington City on last Friday, leaving the Capitol building still safe on its foundations, and the post-office trouble still unsettled.

Uncle John T. Shryock, the veteran Greenback Editor of Zanesville, was in the city last Saturday looking if he could find a patron or a penny.

On Tuesday morning Henry Applegate, clerk for Yank McCarty, found a gold watch and chain in the dirt in the gutter in front of the store.

The watch was not running, but had evidently not been in the gutter long, as it would have been crushed by the wheels of wagons every day passing.

Superintendent McCray came within a vote of being elected Superintendent of the Lancaster Schools. The salary in Lancaster is nearly twice what is paid in Logan.

The reputation of our Superintendent is established widely among school men, and the vote of one half of the Lancaster School Board without his solicitation, is a compliment and a testimonial to be proud of.

Mr. Frank Blasius leaves on next Saturday for Europe. He will first visit Philadelphia and New York on business.

He will take the fast Steamer Werra of the North German Lloyd Line for Bremen; thence by rail to his old home at Nonnweiler, Rhenish Province, of Prussia.

From a bed in his garden forty by sixty feet, he selected an average stool of rye, consisting of 17 stalks, six feet ten inches high. The heads are well fitted and seven inches long.

Mr. Blasius has the best wish of our citizens for a speedy trip, a pleasant visit and a safe return.

A MODEL BANK SAFE.

The First Bank of Logan has placed a new safe in its vault, the old one not being large enough to properly hold the accumulating business.

The safe is the latest improved Hall's Patent, costing $3,000. It is made of the finest steel and weighs 10,000 pounds.

The door fits in dove-tailed grooves, the flanges being lined with felt, making it air tight and rendering the introduction of any explosive impossible.

A Time Lock regulated by a new device is attached. The combination is the latest invention and is proof against all the skill of burglars.

Inside the safe is the Strong Box where the money and valuable papers are kept, which is also provided with a burglar-proof lock.

The floor of the vault has lately been made additionally safe by a heavy shooting of Portland cement.

The patrons of this old reliable Bank can congratulate themselves upon the precaution taken by the officials to protect against all possibility any loss of funds.

The Bank thus protected by an invulnerable safe, and guarded by honest and accommodating officials, inspires public confidence, and justifies the popularity it always possessed and encourages the accumulating business the citizens of this county are bestowing.

Inspector of Shops.

State Inspector of Shops, Henry Dorn, of Cleveland, spent last Sunday in Logan, the guest of his cousin, Mr. Charles Becker.

On Monday he inspected, as the law requires, the various shops of our city, and reports to us that he found them all in excellent condition, and all the essential precautions taken to protect the health and lives of the workmen.

He made a few suggestions as to providing guards for buzz saws, which will at once be complied with.

Mr. Dorn spent an hour, to us very pleasantly, in the Sentinel office. He is a gentleman of culture, and a mechanic of skill and genius.

He is one of the best men that could have been selected in the State for the position, and we congratulate Gov. Hoadly as well as the workmen, who are so well represented by him.

During his visit to the Sentinel, the boys were working press, with the thermometer up in the nineties. They called upon him in a body and asked for some relief, if possible, under the law, to cool them off.

Inspector Dorn was equal to the emergency, and at Uncle Jake Keller's he administered to our sweating force a relief that may not be in the law, but which is not contrary to the ordinances of Logan.

Mr. Dorn will visit all the cities of the State as rapidly as he can. To our brethren of the press upon a relief that may not be in the law, but which is not contrary to the ordinances of Logan.

A Rare Flower.

We are under obligations to Mr. Maynard Pond for the present of a real Magnolia flower, the most highly prized of all the flowers in Flora's garden.

The flower was obtained by Mr. Pond when in Portsmouth last week from a tree planted many years ago on the grounds of the Seminary, now the property of his sister, Mrs. Baird.

The Magnolia seldom flourishes north of the Ohio. It is peculiarly a Southern tree, and in localities adapted to its growth attains to the height of one hundred feet, and when in bloom is said to be the most gorgeous tree on earth.

The flower is pure white, of a waxy complexion and as large when fully open as a saucer. Its fragrance is delicious and enduring. It preserved its form and retained its fragrance for about forty eight hours, filling the room with the most delightful perfume.

The Magnolia is a flower to provoke poetry, and the author of "Provioco Rose" can establish himself in the good graces of the Sentinel by a verse of mistral rapture on this poetry.

If permitted to indulge a poetic thought, we might intimate as our belief that the Magnolia is the veritable descendant of that Tree late which Daphne changed herself by the aid of a "Mistral breeze," in order to escape from the too ardent advances of Apollo, and that the flower we have so much admired is all of the pretty that's left of her.

High Bye.

Mr. Joseph Haffler is not only a good engineer, a good oculician, a worthy citizen and unfeigned Democrat, but he is the boss grower of rye in our town.

From a bed in his garden forty by sixty feet, he selected an average stool of rye, consisting of 17 stalks, six feet ten inches high. The heads are well fitted and seven inches long.

If any other engineer, oculician or Democrat can beat that, we will be glad to hear from him. The rye is on exhibition at the SENTINEL office.

Mistral Misery.

Our esteemed contributor, W. L. H., blows "a cold Mediterranean wind" of criticism from his Green township cow pastures upon the Editor of the Sentinel for a timid criticism upon a Mistral poet, but accompanies this chilling blast on us with a very ardent rondo of sentiment for the poetess who indulged in bu-colic scenes and cramp-colic fruits long years ago on the salting ground of Homer's Hocking kine.

We freeze and fry under the censure and sentiment, but disclaim any intention to "smother in the cradle" a "genius" who, fourteen years ago, was old enough to teach, and teach very successfully, the Logan High School.

If this genius is 'smothered,' she will be found in long clothes, and too tough for the tender tussle of the timid editor of the Sentinel. "W. L. H." may be equal to the occasion. We are not.

Miss Goodrich's Poetry. ED. SENTINEL.—I noticed your comments in last week's issue on the "Mistral Poetry" of Miss Goodrich, and being an old time friend and admirer of the fair poetess, I cannot refrain from a reply.

Your strictures on the poetry would place it about on a par with that of Judge Wright, or some other uninspired poet, and I cannot permit such an impression to pass unnoticed.

Whether there is such a word as "mistral" is not for you or me to inquire, nor are we to consult Webster or Worcester, as we all know poetic license is unlimited. And then what shall we do for new words when unable to find old ones with which to "hair our vocabulary?"

And who are more competent than the poets to give us new ideas as well as words? We must get out of the old ruts and learn something new, if it is nothing more nor less than "mistral."

We are promised a forthcoming volume of poems by the same lady, and yet shall it be condemned in advance by reason of the use of one unknown word, or some fancied fault of rhythm in the "mistral poetry?"

I venture to say the young lady will be amply qualified to produce the sweetest verses on bucolic scenes, as she has had many an opportunity to study the beautiful in nature in company with the writer, and she never failed to take advantage of the opportunity offered, and I shall claim the credit of all inspiration in that direction.

But I may be anticipating and predicting too much. It is best to wait the coming of the book, and in the meantime, Mr. Editor, be more gallant to the fair sex, and don't again attempt to smother genius in the cradle.

Death of Jem. Case.

Jem. A. Case, eldest brother of Wm. F. and Flava Case, died on Friday, 27th ult., at his home in Waco, Texas, in the 35th year of his age.

When about 15 years of age he went into the army, the drummer boy of the 31st. After the war closed he went West, visiting a number of the principal points of interest, finally locating at Waco, Texas, where he married, and which place he made his permanent home.

He was well known and esteemed by the boys in Logan of his age, and his death will create profound sorrow among a wide circle of friends.

His relatives have the sympathy of this public in their bereavement.

Off for Europe.

Prosecuting Attorney Buerhaus and his father, start next Monday for a visit to the ancestral home of the Buerhaus in Elberfeld, Rhine Province, Prussia.

They will go on the same steamer from New York with Mr. Blasius, their destination in Germany being but a few miles apart.

Mr. Carl Buerhaus, after visiting his old country relatives will make the tour of the continent, visit Vienna, Florence, Rome, Paris and other cities of attraction in the old world, remaining about three months.

We hope he and his father may have a delightful visit, and come safely back to Logan.

Carl has promised to send us an occasional letter for publication, which our readers will highly enjoy.

Messrs. Comely & Higgins sold last Wednesday to Mr. W. H. Woodruff, our county Commissioner, and one of the most prominent farmers of the Valley, the first Self Binder ever put to work in the county.

The machine works like a charm, and will cut and bind from 12 to 15 acres of wheat a day.

Mr. Woodruff has about 100 acres of wheat to cut.

Col. Rempel has within the last few days also bought a Self Binder, and is using it upon his harvest of about 100 acres. The Self Binders are quite a curiosity to our farmers, and everybody who witnesses their work is highly pleased except the boys who carry the sheaves and do the shocking.

The outlook for the laboring men in the Hocking Valley is very gloomy. A merciless monopoly has its grip upon the throat of the laborer, and the purpose is to compel submission.

High Bye.

Mr. Joseph Haffler is not only a good engineer, a good oculician, a worthy citizen and unfeigned Democrat, but he is the boss grower of rye in our town.

MARRIED.

SEYFERT—REBER.—Mr. Max C. Seyfert of Circleville, and Miss Ella Reber of Logan, were married at the Depot Hotel, at 12 o'clock, M., on last Thursday, June 26th, Rev. Geo. W. Mechling of Lancaster, performing the ceremony.

The wedding was a private affair, only relatives being in attendance.

The presents were numerous, costly and appropriate, including a handsome Piano, Silverware, Parlor and Bed-room Sets, and indeed a sufficient in kind and quantity to enable the young couple to at once set up house keeping in comfortable and elegant style.

After the marriage ceremony was performed the young couple started on the afternoon train for an extensive tour, including Detroit, Niagara, the Lake resorts, and the various watering places of the East.

They will make Circleville their future home.

The young couple have our hearty congratulations, and the fair Bride especially, who was a favorite in the best circles of Logan society. She takes with her the deepest regret of friends at her departure, but the earnest hope that her life will be long and peaceful and her new home made happy by as tender a devotion as surrounded her here, and that she may find as many warm friends to greet her, as she leaves behind regretting her departure.

Items from Marion.

We can now sing "behold the fields are already white, gather the harvest in, etc." And we are doing so fast as we can.

Interesting War Reminiscences.

We anticipate that the Reunion of the gallant 58th at Gallagher's Grove on the 4th, will be a notable event in the reminiscences of the boys of Hocking.

The speeches of Col. W. S. Fries, Lieut. John Hanson and Capt. S. H. Bright, at least a synopses of their remarks will be published in next week's Sentinel, and will be a valuable contribution to the military history of the great Civil War in which the 58th, a peculiarly Hocking regiment, took such distinguished part.

Bills calling attention to the Reunion and a Frolic gives the particulars of the celebration.

Rev. Wallace of Pomeroy, on a flying visit to Logan yesterday, made a pleasant call at the SENTINEL and renewed old time and valued acquaintance. Mr. Wallace is one of the ablest ministers of the M. E. Church.

He is a zealous christian, a genial gentleman, a man of good sense and of public spirit. He is one of the most eloquent pulpiter orators of the country, and it would be an enjoyable treat to all our citizens to have him come some time to Logan and lecture or preach. We regret to learn that his estimable wife is in ill health.
