

The Hocking Sentinel.

Donovan—Artistic Tailor.

Local and Personal. Mr. Harry S. Green of Zanesville visited the Sentinel Sunday.

Mrs. A. H. Willige Sundayed at Enterprise, the guest of Mrs. Ed. Mathias.

Mr. Harry Shields, of Columbus, was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Knestrick, Sunday.

Miss Mary McFadden of Columbus is visiting her sister, Mrs. Lewis Green in Logan this week.

Rev. Mr. and Mrs. P. A. Baker, of Gallipolis, were the guests of relatives in Logan last Monday.

Truant Officer Gage is in Columbus this week on business. Now is the time for the boys to go fishing.

The Misses Teana and Anna Keller attended the funeral of their aunt, Mrs. Rider, near Rock Bridge, Saturday.

Seventy-three tickets were sold in Logan for the Sunday excursion to Columbus. About 3000 people went up from the Valley.

Mrs. Jacob Keller, of East Main street, was called to Rock Bridge, Friday, by the sudden death of her sister-in-law, Mrs. Rider.

Judge Huffman held court here on Monday. The case of the Ohio & Western Coal and Iron Co., will be for hearing to-morrow.

Mr. John Mathiot of Haydensville, and family have moved to Logan occupying their new home on the Avenue. They are welcome to the Queen city.

A Stereopticon exhibition will be given in the opera house, April 29 and 30th, by Worthington & Joseph, under the auspices of the Logan High School.

The Misses Katie and Lizzie Keller, two of Lancaster's most handsome and accomplished young ladies are visiting in Logan, the guests of Mrs. Andy Holl, Jr.

Assessor Perry Morehead should counsel with Bro. McKay, and get the enumeration of his district from the editor and not be forced to make inquisitive and embarrassing investigation.

Stiers & Co. sold carpets to three customers in Columbus last week. The SENTINEL has nearly one hundred subscribers in Columbus, and Stiers & Co., advertise in the SENTINEL, see?

Dr. Lyons has removed to Logan with his family, occupying rooms in the Bishop building. Dr. comes highly recommended and we bespeak for him and his family a hearty welcome from the people of Logan.

The Road Supervisor began a good work on Tuesday, cleaning up the streets. As usual, a rain followed before the mud was hauled off, washing it back in the gutters. The more rain, the more work; the more work, the more days, &c.

Ab Brooke, the Chinese Mandarin tells us there are no vacant lots on East Walnut street, but that there are vacant lots in the grave yard. This joke may prove fatal to Brooke, and cause a search for a vacant lot on the plot of lots in the grave yard on the Chinese reservation.

Mr. Frank Schwarz, accompanied by his handsome and accomplished daughter, Lillie, left Monday for Pittsburgh, Pa., to visit his mother, after a very pleasant visit to his brother, Jacob Schwarz of this city. Mr. Schwarz, who lives in Quincy, Ill., has not seen his mother for 38 years.

We are informed that "Old Fritz" is the Forester who pruned the trees on the school house grounds. "Old Fritz" would be a handy man at Needmore, where the Logan Journal tells us they grub to get a place to build a church. He could prune the sapling for the grubbers. He would be servicable also for Tom Allen when Tom constructs a brush heap at Maxville.

Mr. W. N. England returned home from Columbus last Saturday, his term of service as clerk of the canal commission ending with the expiration of the commission. It is pleasant to note that in the work Mr. England has just closed, he has the hearty endorsement of the Board and has added to his well established reputation for honest, capable and efficient discharge of duty, in the public service.

A company of twenty-three of our citizens went over to Zanesville on Tuesday, to join in celebrating the formal dedication of the great Encastatic T. C. Works in that city. Our Logan visitors were highly delighted with the hearty welcome and generous treatment they received, and we feel assured in saying that when the commercial agents of that city visit us, they will meet with liberal patronage, and kind attention.

Gen. G. G. Gage, so we are informed by our knowledgeable reporter, at the instance of "Old Fritz" who pruned trees in the Park at the King's home in the old country when Frank Magle was hanging wall paper for the Queen, is in Columbus this week calling on the Governor to ascertain whether or not the planting of trees last Friday, will interfere with Arbor Day exercises, and whether or not the trees should be pruned to death or not pruned until dead. "Old Fritz" in the meantime is filing his saw and sharpening his ax and hatchet.

Mrs. John Rider, died near Millville, last Wednesday at eleven o'clock. She was near 80 years of age, and had been an invalid for many years. She claimed that she had a water snake in her stomach, which she had drunk while drinking from a spring at the Rock Bridge of this county, many years ago, and insisted upon a post mortem. The post mortem was made last Thursday by Dr. G. W. Dollison, and no trace of a snake or water snake was discovered. He found a portion of the stomach to have cancerous degeneration, which, no doubt, was the cause of much suffering to her for the last several years of her life; all the other viscera of her abdomen and chest were in a normal condition.

DISRUPTION!

Disunion, Revolt, Revolution.

FORAKER FOREVER—DOWN WITH THE KING.

The Majority Must Rule.

The sworn affidavit of McKay, yesterday, showing he had a following of more than one half the Republican voters of the county, all of whom had been debarred the privilege of taking a part in the proceedings of the most important political meeting of Republicans ever held in the county, a meeting that selects the presidential county committee, the state, congressional and judicial delegates, a meeting which, in effect, takes full, absolute charge of the party affairs, with the ultimate view of crushing out of existence every Foraker admirer in the county.

The exhibition of the Foraker strength has created a sensation that shivers the hierarchy of the King. Last night, in all the public places in the town, crowds collected and excitedly discussed the situation. Groups of excited men gathered on the pavements and conspired with each other "Outrage," "Schemes," "Oppression," "Ring Rule," "Bossism," "Foul Play," and passionate expressions of similar import showed too plainly that Logan was in a ferment, and the pot was about to boil over.

The Court House bell rang. This was a call for action. The crowds thinned out, but from each group delegates were sent to meet with a committee, to devise means for united county action.

We are not advised as to the plan of future proceedings, but it is whispered around that the county will be canvassed, a monster mass convention will be called, and that the majority of the Republican voters of the county will take in hand the selecting of the delegates and name the committee to have charge of the party affairs.

The Forakerites are fighters. A Foraker man will preside over the Republican State Convention; the majority of Ohio delegates to the Minneapolis National Convention will be Foraker's friends; three-fourths of the Republican voters of Hocking county are for Foraker.

It is not much to be wondered at, that a revolt will take place. The Sixty-seventh will advise its readers of what promises to be the most sensational event in the political history of the Republicans of this county.

Janon and Pythias at Rempel's Opera House, Friday Evening.

A New Post Route.

A new post route is proposed through Marion township. When the present route was established the government was assured that mail would be carried to people along the line, and the purpose of accommodating the public in the country would be accomplished, even if the receipts were not sufficient to pay for the carrier's hire.

The complaint, we learn, about the present route is that there is not more than a dozen letters or papers carried in a week. The people along the line and at the offices get so few letters and so few papers that it is a useless expense with no one but the mail carrier benefited and only the postmaster accommodated.

Parties on the new route proposed, we are told, will guarantee to send of some letters, and take some newspapers. Our mail service is in the control of Republicans and the question of the old route or the new route or no route at all, will be settled by our Republican cotemporaries, at their pleasure, we suppose, and to their benefit, we hope.

The present route was established by the Democratic Administration, and mainly by the request of Postmaster Rose and the Sentinel. The Sentinel did not get a single new subscriber. We are malicious enough to wish our Republican cotemporaries will spend time and money on a route intended "especially for the accommodation of the grateful public."

But the solemn fact is that the government will not pay a carrier to ride around through Marion township, unless he has some mail matter to carry.

Logan a Democratic Town.

The vote in Logan electing a Republican mayor has been heralded over our county, and particularly throughout our county, as a great Republican victory, and that Logan is a Republican town.

On the strength of this false assumption the Republican management are sending out circulars and calling on their party to unite at once, and a clean sweep of the county this fall is certain.

Logan is a Democratic town, and the figures prove it. On the vote for township trustee, which was not affected by local entanglements, and which is a safe basis to calculate from, the figures are:

Table with 2 columns: Name, Votes. Nixon, D., 181; 24 w. 34 w. 4th w. Engle, R., 59; 191; 66; 51.

Nixon's Democratic majority, 126. Take the vote on constable, William Green, D., the lowest vote of any township candidate, is 324. The vote for John Westenhaver, the highest cast for any Republican, is 277. Green's majority, 104.

That it is to be seen that Logan is over one hundred majority Democratic, and the chances are that this majority will be doubled at the next election.

We doubled at the spring election the majority of fifty last fall. Can we not double it at the next election when great principles are at issue and no local troubles to distract or distract the party?

If you see a stylish hat perched upon the head of a stylish lady on our streets, you may enter it in your little memorandum that that hat was purchased at Mary & Kate Kessler's.

LOST. The person who found a dress-coat in bureau bought of the Logan M'g. Co., will please return same and receive pay for trouble. The person who bought the bureau is of course known.

ELECTRIC LIGHT.

The Situation.

On last Wednesday, by request of the city council, the Mayor and a committee of citizens, Lowry, Weldy, Rose, Green, went to Columbus to represent the wish of the people of Logan, as expressed by the election, and ask the passage of an act enabling the town to issue bonds for building and operating an electric light plant.

On arriving in the city the committee called on Mr. Price, who at the moment was occupied. An interview was arranged for at the noon recess. Senator Abbott was called upon. The Mayor presented the petition, the resolution and a draft of the law asked for. Mr. Abbott was told that Mr. Price was not favorable to the bill, at least he had so declared himself at a meeting of the council in Logan.

Mr. Abbott said it was a courtesy due to Mr. Price to ask him to present the bill, but if Price would not present it he would. The papers were left with Mr. Abbott, who among other inquiries, seemed to be anxious as to how Mr. Pursell stood.

At the noon recess an interview was had with Mr. Price. He declared himself opposed to the bill, to legislation of the kind in general. The bill as framed by the council should be for $18,000. Mr. Price insisted that $7,000 was sufficient. It was finally agreed that $12,000 should be the amount. On this understanding Mr. Price agreed to introduce the bill. The papers were obtained from Mr. Abbott and given to Mr. Price, and the conference closed. Mr. Price introduced the bill on the first opportunity presented. It is only by courtesy of the legislators that a bill can be introduced in the closing days of the session, the accumulation of unfinished business, generally being more than can be disposed of.

Afterwards Mr. Price and the Mayor had an interview, and Mr. Price made the condition that before introducing the bill he would amend it by requiring the appointment by the Mayor of four trustees, two of each party. Price to be one of the trustees. The Mayor agreed to the condition, and the committee returned home. Mr. Lowry remaining.

During the day the committee met most of the senators and representatives, and all spoken to cheerfully agreed to support the bill.

On Thursday Mr. Price informed Mr. Lowry that he would introduce the bill by fixing a compensation of $100 per year to each of the four trustees, and that the vote should be a two-thirds of all the votes cast. Mr. Lowry saw Mr. Abbott, who said that he had received a letter from Mr. Pursell and he (Abbott) would not support the bill. Mr. Lowry came home on Thursday night. On Saturday the Columbus papers reported that Mr. Price had introduced the bill and that it had been defeated.

D. Mansfield and Mr. Whitecraft, representing Rempel, went to Columbus on Wednesday, returning Wednesday night, and went back Thursday. On Friday Dr. Mansfield circulated a remonstrance against the passage of the bill, with what success in securing signatures we do not know.

What further steps the people of Logan may take, can only be conjectured.

The Subscription and the Situation.

Bro. McKay makes a sworn statement of the number of his subscribers in yesterday's issue of the Journal. The number is only 60 less than one half of the Republican voters of the county. It is conceded that there are at least 200 Republican voters in the county who can not read, and of course are not subscribers. To be subscribers would show them also to be fools. Hence Bro. McKay has a following of 120 more than one half of the Republican voters of Hocking county who can read. This is a good showing and our cotemporary is to be congratulated upon his success in securing subscribers. But now, in order to give zest to the situation, will Bro. McKay make a sworn statement with one half of the Republican voters of the county enlisted under his banner, he was not authorized to publish a call for a meeting of the Republican central committee, that he was misled in publishing the 6th, instead of the 16th, as the date of the meeting, and that he was dejected admission to the meeting and in this, had his more than one half of the Republicans of this county ignored and insulted by the Rempel-Pursell-Vickers ring.

An affidavit is not demanded for the above. It is true as McKay knows, and his publication in his widely circulating Journal would be more interesting than the tale of Tom Allen's brush heap.

The publication of the state of affairs above mentioned would tend to strengthen the statement that the central committee meeting was "harmonious and unanimous" Rompelian, Pursellian, and Vickersian.

Cuts No Figure.

The Hocking Sentinel states that Ed Davenport, of the Republican Gazette, is a candidate for public printer. Ed is making a mistake, he should not try to down Barlow, of the Vinton Record, in that style. His candidacy, however, will cut no figure as "Tony" claims that he has the inside track and will get there with both feet.

If Gov. McKinley desires to give his administration a reputation he could not do it better than by giving "Tony" the position which he seeks.—[Athens Journal.]

About Arbor Day.

The Governor and the Forestry Commission are taking proper steps to encourage the celebration of Arbor Day, and thus impress upon the young generation the need of replanting in a measure, the grounds that once it was a necessity to clear. The children are the proper subjects to interest in the restoration of waste places. The old pioneer is insensible to any sentiment favoring the cultivation or preservation of trees. He is too fresh from the clearing. To him, in his early life, the tree was an enemy. It stood in his path. It didn't grow bread. It was a lumberer, and until it was destroyed from the face of the earth, to establish a home, he had no farm. The enforced destruction of the trees became to the pioneer a second nature, and even now in tired old age the men who cleared up our country, will take more pride in killing a tree than in cultivating it. The children are "virgin soil," so to speak, upon whom to plant the ideas of Arbor Day. All the schools of the state will have celebration appropriate to the occasion.

The Governor suggests that on Arbor Day that a vote of the children be taken, each one voting the name of the favorite tree and the tree getting the most votes will be the titular tree of Ohio.

The idea is a pleasant one but we doubt if the "Buckeye" state, so named by the stalwarts, old heroes who encountered their forest enemies and will yield to the school children, who at best know most of the Birch, the privilege of exchanging our Buckeye, and substituting a childish fancy.

The Buckeye has been interlarded in our name and fame. Buckeye it is. Ducky let it be. The vote is unanimous.

As well try to take from our state the Buckeye as from the Democracy the Ash, transmitted by their Whig ancestry.

In the forest are many trees, as in the garden are many flowers and tastes will have preference in trees of utility and flowers of beauty. It will be interesting though to have a vote, and get a record of the young foresters fancies.

Trees embody, some one has said, the elements of the human strength, durability, straight, crooked, smooth and gnarly, soft and tender and beautiful, thriving, tough, poisonous, curative, gracious and provoking, pliant and contrary, and so on.

Without dispute the Oak is monarch, so held in all ages and by all people. Why so, our school children may think out and write their notions for publication in the Sentinel. And as pertinent for Arbor Day compositions we will suggest this.

The trees of which we have first mention are the Cedars of Lebanon, Trees of frequent Biblical mention are the Date and Palm.

Noted in our English history, among many, are King Charles' Oak, and Charter Oak. "Logan Elm" is the tree most noted near to us. We had the "Spring Walnut" near Haydensville, the "Honey Tree" on Honey Fork; "The Beech Tree" on the road to Hell; the "Big Sycamore on Hocking." These three latter are historic, Hocking county trees, mentioned in "Hildreth's notes."

Our town has trees that should be written about by our pupils. The tree that formerly stood in Judge Bright's yard, was seldom noticed by our people, but was talked of and disputed over among tree men all over the country. Once we took three of the State Forestry commission to see the tree and tell what kind of a tree, what species and what variety it was and the three had three opinions.

Several trees in our town dispute supremacy in beauty as town trees. The Walnut in John Hansen's yard; the Elm on the Catholic church hill; the Elm on the road near Dr. Little's, the Oak on grounds in rear of McCray's residence, and the Maple in front of the Court House.

Let our young Foresters look around and look to see and become acquainted with the trees and write about them, and the Secretary will print and make them historical and the types will make them immortal.

Leg Crushed by the Cars.

On last Sunday afternoon a boy about fourteen years of age named Delong whose parents reside on the Rempel farm, jumped on a down freight train at the Falls Mill. While the train was slowing up at the Logan depot, he jumped off, but his leg was drawn under the car, the wheels crushing it so that amputation was necessary. Dr. Campbell, the railroad physician, assisted by Drs. Dye and Pullen performed the operation.

The accident is a sad calamity to the poor thoughtless boy. It will be a warning to him, too late, but will not deter other boys from venturing on like dangerous exploits. Babies and boys, and men too for that matter, should have guards when bent on adventure.

The thing proper to do is not to read homilies, nor administer lashes and lectures but put a police officer on duty at the depot, to restrain reckless boys and protect heedless and thoughtless men.

The leg of the boy is a loss that the salary of a policeman can not recompense. A policeman on duty at this dangerous place may avoid a like recurrence, and in this the salary will be well deserved.

For the State Prohibition Convention of Ohio, May 24th to 25th, the Buckeye Route will sell excursion tickets from all its stations at one fare for the round trip. Tickets good returning until May 27th. Counts will be pleased to give more definite information on application by letter or in person. W. H. Fisher, G. P. & T. A., Columbus, O.

INDUSTRIOUS INQUISITORS.

Hunting Hoarders Hidden Hunks.

Messrs. Guy Jones and B. W. Gilfillan, the tax inquisitors who have been laboring in this county for several months, have temporarily turned their attention to the tax payers of Ross county. They will return to this city in June and complete the task of ferreting out citizens who have not made a full return of their property for taxation.

Thirty thousand dollars of taxation on property which had been improperly omitted from the duplicate was paid in the county treasury during the brief residence in this city of the hustling young team. In addition to this $20,000 hangs in the balance awaiting the result of litigation.—[Lancaster Gazette.]

The inquisitors have completed the work in this county, but the findings have not yet been made public.

Dog Stealing to be Punished.

Dog stealing has heretofore been an unpunished offense under the laws of Ohio. A person killing a dog can be sued for the amount which the animal was listed for taxation. That right is given to dog owners by a law enacted by the last legislature. It is strange, indeed, however, that no provision for protection against thefts of the canine species is on the statutes. To meet this howling need, the Senate passed a bill by Mr. Stewart, of Huron, which provides that the penalty for stealing a dog shall be in proportion to the value of the animal, and that prosecution shall be made in the same manner as prescribed for the theft of any kind of personal property.

The law should be amended so as to include wolves, an animal, so decreed, of the dog kind.

Misses Mary and Kate Kessler, the leading milliners of Logan, have just received an elegant stock of the latest spring fash. Call at once and get your choice.

Card of Thanks.

W. W. McCray, Agent of the American Insurance Co., Philadelphia, Pa. DEAR SIR:—I wish to express through you my thanks to the American Fire Insurance Company, for its prompt and liberal adjustment of my loss which occurred on March 30th last. Within ten days after the fire, the loss was satisfactorily adjusted and paid. Such promptness places a company in the front rank, and I take pleasure in recommending it to those desiring insurance, as a company worthy of patronage.

Fine Colts.

Two colts by Prince Carl took premiums at our last county fair and he got first premium in the roadster class the year before. We have decided to give every body a chance now and you can breed to him for only $500 in advance or $1000 to insure a live colt. The fee is ridiculously low but we mean it.

Chas. Rose the Clothier. SPRING SEASON, 1892!

Our Spring Line will Surpass in Extent, Variety and Attractiveness Anything we have heretofore offered.

The above announcement substantially has been made at the commencement of previous seasons, but if somewhat trite and familiar it states a fact no less important: than before. Indeed it could hardly be otherwise, for a business whose rapid development during more than 25 years is entirely without precedent, must of necessity show marked progress from season to season.

Our Hat Department is Best Grade. Our White and Negligee Shirts are immense. Our Neckwear will offer the latest ideas in silk. The selection will be found of correct taste and the highest grade of finish will be rigorously maintained. Of Underwear and Hosiery what can be said? Nothing that would add to the reputation, whose fame is already as wide as the country. Everything in praise of stock, in their completeness, and which no competition pretends to rival.

For well-made and perfect fitting Clothing at popular prices we are justly celebrated. Our goods are equalled by few and surpassed by none.

Beginning March 1st we will display the greatest line of Children's Garments ever shown in the Hocking Valley.

CHAS. ROSE, The Leading, One Price Clothier!
