

LOCAL NEWS.

One fare for round trip to Y. P. S. C. E. Convention, Washington, via Ohio Central Lines, July 4, 5, 6 and 7.

Married by Rev. J. F. Williams at his residence in Logan, June 29, Mr. George W. Mowry and Miss Esie Bebout.

Fourth of July excursion rates via Ohio Central lines, July 3rd and 4th, limits for return until July 6th, to points within 200 miles. Consult agents.

The Grand Army Post Relief Corps and their immediate families will have a social gathering in the yard of Mrs. Sarah Staflsmith, July Fourth, beginning at five p. m. and lasting till ten o'clock. Come with well filled baskets and have a good time.

Miss Mary Snider, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Snider, died at her home in Logan on Tuesday evening, in the 22nd year of her age. The funeral is this morning from the St. John Catholic Church. Her remains will be interred in Oak Grove cemetery, Fr. Powers assisted by priests from St. Joseph's, will conduct the religious exercises. Obituary next week.

Master Travis McIntosh, of East Hunter street, attained to his 16th birthday on last Tuesday, and had a birthday celebration. A company of twenty young friends were handsomely entertained by his accomplished little sisters, and with the company and the many friends of Master Travis, the SENTINEL joins in congratulation and the wish for many more birthdays as happy as the one just celebrated.

On last Wednesday afternoon, the southwestern part of the county was ravaged by the most destructive rain storms, known to the oldest inhabitant. The storm gathered at near Laurelville, and passed east as far as Union Furnace, embracing a county about five miles wide, in which the rain was a veritable "cloud burst." The valleys were swept of fences and crops, the hills torn in ditches, the roads rendered impassable, bridges and culverts, all swept away.

Uncle John Robert West, resigned his position as night policeman, and appointed himself "Field" marshal on his farm at Fairview. Mr. West has one of the best farms in the county, and is one of our most successful farmers. In this service, marshaling the harvesters, "gathering in" the crops, and capturing and holding till after dinner, the friends who pass his hospitable home, he is the right man in the right place. We stand by Uncle John Robert, Field Marshal of the Fairview Farm.

Mr. Arthur Wilson, who has been given managerial charge of the Laurelville Record, by the stock holders, was a visitor in Logan on last Saturday, and had a hearty welcome from the press gang of our city. Arthur is one of the nearest printers in the state, makes a model paper, and as editor is developing excellent writing ability, and practical good sense. He has our congratulations for his good work on the Record, and we bespeak for the paper, under his management, encouraging success.

Mr. W. E. Houston, who has been in our county for the past month, taking orders for fruit trees, is in the Bremen neighborhood this week. Mr. Houston represents the Lancaster Nursery Co., of Tadmor, Ohio, one of the most reliable nursery farms in the country. Mr. Houston has been selling trees for the last six years in our county and has established a reputation for reliability among our farmers. He replaces all trees that may not grow, and guarantees the trees to be of the variety represented. Our farmers who have dealt with him are his references, and all speak well of him. We hope he may have success in whatever neighborhood he may canvass.

An Important Point. This point was reached by Elmer E. Stevenson and Lizzie M. Hes, on the 23rd inst., when they were pronounced husband and wife.

The event took place at the elegant home of Rev. Jerry Hes, uncle to the bride, in the presence of about thirty guests, near relatives and friends of the contracting parties.

At 8:30 p. m., the bridal party entered the parlor, while Miss Ida Hes, at the piano, rendered Mendelssohn's beautiful march, where Rev. G. W. Deaver, in his usual impressive manner, performed the marriage ceremony.

After a round of hearty congratulation and well wishing, the company repaired to the dining room where a season of "high feasting" was enjoyed by all. Mrs. Hes knows what "takes" on such occasions, and certainly had provided an abundance of it. Without going into detail, the bill of fare was superb.

ular caterer, accompanied by his sister, were present to assist with the supper and serve at the table. After supper a general good time was experienced by all.

The bride appeared beautifully clad in white, and on her head was an exquisite wreath of bride's roses. The groom was attired in black.

And thus it is, although the rains descend and the flood comes, people will marry and be given in marriage, and call to mind the words of Lord Byron, in which he says: Well, well, the world must turn upon its axis, and all mankind turn with it, heads or tails; live, die, make love and pay taxes, and as the veering wind shifts, shift our sails; the king commands us, the doctor quacks us, the priests instructs, and so our life extales. A little breath, love, wine, ambition, fame; fighting, devotion, dust, perhaps a name.

Among the numerous presents the following were noticed by the reporter: Toilet set, Otis Hes; silver toothpick holder, J. R. Hes of Illinois; half dozen sauce dishes, L. A. and Lizzie Mathias; broad plate and large rolling pin, Emma Stevenson; set silver teaspoons, Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Hes of Illinois; set silver teaspoons, Jessie Hes; silver jewel case and jelly glass, Ida Hes; bedspread and towels, L. and C. Stevenson; glass fruit dish, Nellie Hes; bedspread and feather bolster, Mrs. Wm. Hes; clock, Rev. and Mrs. J. Hes; broad case, Edward and Clifford Hes; pair silver cups, Stevenson brothers and sisters; linen table cloth, Miss Kate Hazleton, Mr. Baird and Mr. Stalgers; one dozen knapkins, F. Wertheimer.

The happy couple left on Wednesday last for New Straitsville, where they will make their future home.

ROCK BRIDGE.

Rock Bridge, June 30, '06. Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Huls spent Sunday at Hooker, the guest of W. S. Diles and family.

L. S. Mathias has purchased a horse of Sam McConnell.

Albert Barron, of Nelsonville, was the guest of Postmaster Barron at this place Sunday.

The Halls boys of this place played with the Sugar Grove ball club at the State Farm last Saturday. The Farm Club "scalped" the Sugar Grove club in a score of 16 to 13. Another game is set for the Fourth of July when the boys will try and turn the tide.

Sam Pugh of Haynes, was seen on our streets last week.

Sherman Scepter is at home this week on account of injuries received in the Ohio Pipe Foundry at Columbus.

T. G. Borden and family of Pittsburgh, Pa., are visiting friends in this vicinity.

Gene Halls is at home this week.

ILESBORO.

ILESBORO, O., June 29, 1896. The heavy rains that fell Wednesday evening raised the creeks higher than they were ever known. Much damage was done on the bottoms by the washing away of wheat, fences, bridges, &c.

The dwelling house of Wm. Vanhorn, of this place, was destroyed by fire Wednesday night. The actual loss not known. Insurance $400.

The farmers in this neighborhood are busy cutting wheat and working corn.

H. C. Ferguson, of this place, who has been attending school at Westerville, is spending his vacation with his parents.

Mrs. B. E. Parker is visiting her daughter, Mrs. Gus Griffin, in Athens county.

Coronation of the Czar

IMITATED IN THE NOMINATION OF THE REPUBLICAN JUDGES.

The Judicial Ermine Gift in Gold, With Brass Band Presentation.

The Delegates Placarded With Candidate's Profiles, and Drilled Like Red Coats

On the March to Banker Hill. The Gold Standard Uplifted, the Gold Calf Worshiped.

The Gold Bugs Nominated. Monarchy and Money Power Hold Carnival in Logan.

The Reform Farm Held a Picnic, and the Logan Glee Club do the Gander Business.

The Republican Judicial Convention in Logan, on Tuesday last, was the most audacious display of monarchial mimicry and monetary display, this county has ever witnessed.

In these grinding times when taxes are unpaid, when trade is paralyzed, when industry is starved, and the blood of the country's prosperity is locked up in a hundred million Sherman gold reserve, and the banks are closed to commercial loans, waiting a foreclosure of a gold bond, the Republicans of this judicial district invade Logan with a pomp and pageantry, born of the kings of the old country, and the shoddy imitations of royalty in this, and proceeded to crown candidates for judges in our temple of justice with the pomp and parade and worship of gold godship that would abash a potentate of the old world.

Five brass bands paraded the streets, carried with coats of arms and liveried hackneys, escorted the representatives of the foreign powers of Fairfield and Perry along our modest streets accustomed to the farmer's street and the poor man's day, and with badges of gold and cardinal red, a troop of retainers marched like drilled serfs as though a Czar called allegiance or the Prince of Wales had come for a royal hunt or a game of bacarat. All was regal, aristocratic, European, with the shimmer of Lombard and Wall street, and the immense profile of Westchick smiling on the horizon.

The magnificence of the coronation of the Czar, at which the European candidate was present, was imitated to the extent shoddy could attain, and the convention room was emblazoned in heraldry and stuccoed with men at arms, obsequious servants, as though the Queen held reception at Buckingham Palace or changed her stockings at Balmoral. The convention was high toned, aristocratic, and the managers deserve credit, with the bank deposit at hand, for the magnificent display which gold standard and European tastes demand. In the sense that a display of money power, Republican politics, was the issue, the convention was a gold-rimmed, blaring brass band success.

The convention was simply a ratification. There was no contest. No issue. It was only an occasion for making a speech, a showing off, a carnival to delight the darkey delegates and the idle loungers on the streets.

Rev. Rudisill opened with prayer, which was loudly amended by the Reform Farm constituency who have this part to perform so often, that they say it promptly on all occasions and say it unctiously well. Johnny Hughes of Straitsville, chairman of the Perry county delegation, and president of the State Liquor Dealers Association said Amen twice.

Henry Woodworth was chairman of the meeting. He done well because he had nothing to do but show himself, and being so very handsome, he moved about the stage in graceful stride and elongated vertebrae to the delight of the forgotten ladies of the gallery.

The glee club then came out and quacked like capon drakes, going over a lot of gibberish in which the vile filth of gutter campaign stuff was flung at President Cleveland, calling him a fraud, a villain, a robber and almost all that was bad, except a Reform Farm officer on salary.

Then the saintly McKay, who composed the song, and who led the quacking, read some resolutions in which it is urged that politics must be kept out of the judicial canvass, that only sanctified should have office, that the candidates to-day are wingless angels, and some more of such hyperbolic cant. At the close of the resolutions, Reformer John White indulged in five minutes of silent prayer.

Davidson, of Lancaster, manager of the Logan Natural Gas Company, presented the name of Martin. He appeared on the platform with a quire of paper in his hand and a hard look on his face. The audience felt a fear lest he was about to present a schedule of advance prices in natural gas. But he had a prepared speech. It would have been to his credit had he burned the manuscript, and been temporarily struck dumb. He proceeded with cowardly innuendo to malignant vilification of Judge Slough. He wasn't man enough to come out and talk like an American man to an American audience, but by sneaking, hissing insinuation, blinks and snarls and nods and grimace, he pictured his candidate as not being the evil wretch it was Martin's mission to defeat. He got no applause from the heroic men of the convention. A few niggers giggled, and a dog in the hall barked.

Mr. A. I. Voris, one of the foremost lawyers of the Lancaster bar, and a gentleman always, redeemed his delegation and the convention from the infancy of Davidson's viperous slime, by saying that Judge Slough and George Martin are neighbors and close personal friends, that Judge Slough is an upright judge, a good man, a worthy citizen, esteemed and respected in every position and honored wherever known. Vickers, of course, had something to say and chawed over a lot of common place stuff that no body paid any attention to.

Reese Eversole, the next Postmaster of Lancaster by right of discovery of McKay, made the nomination "unanimous."

The nomination of Judge Johnston followed. This was done in the good old fashioned Columbian orator style, by Prof. Pyle of the Oakfield Academy. His speech recalls an old time incident. When in his pin feather period, Johnny Pyle wanted to be a Daniel Webster, and hoped to reach the top rung of Ciceroian ladder in making a speech at the South Fork McGonagle school exhibition. He called on the talented party who contribute this, to write a speech for him, which was done. We stole the speech, of course, from the old English Reader, and palmed it off on the ambitious youth, as original. It wasn't right, but we all do it, and it is only when we get old and good that we confess it. Well, the speech was the making of the boy. He soon grew a moustache and has been elected to office in Perry county. Imagine our surprise and delight, when the Hon. John Pyle of New Lexington, in all the radiant beauty of Apollo, and the confidence of a teacher in elocution, took the platform and recited that good old speech. It almost brought tears of joy to our reminiscent eyes. The orator modified it some to suit the occasion. In the original we stole for him, the character eulogized was called "the peppermint essence of perfect patriotism."

In this case, the orator alluding in his peroration to Jimmy Johnston, said he is "the quint essence of perfected jurisprudence." If Jimmy can stand this, Bro. Pyle and the SENTINEL rest satisfied.

Sam Bright seconded the nomination. His remarks may be found in the oft repeated and republished files of the SENTINEL for the last twenty years.

The Reform Farm was in evidence. In fact it was present in a body. This gratuitous service of the half hundred guests, the brass band and the invited guests was made possible, and very pertinent from the fact that Gov. Bushnell and Auditor of State, had the day before, sold in New York $250,000 of state bonds to cover a part of the treasury deficiency. Pad-dock left his kennel in charge of some trusty who preferred a day hunting ground moles and bats, among the ruins of the ancient city of Lancaster. We don't intend it as a reflection upon the Lancaster delegation to say that the convicts were the best behaved company in the procession.

A keen sense of the political proprieties was shown by Chairman Woodworth in selecting the committee to wait on Mr. Johnston and notify him of his nomination. Reformer White made the motion. It is the rule that the mover of the motion and the praying minister be appointed. Chairman Woodworth, with a new departure, appointed Judge Bright, leader of the Anti Saloon League of our town, and John Hughes of New Straitsville, President of the State Liquor Dealer's Association, as the escorting committee. It was edifying to see the candidate walk down the aisle between these two, showing that "politics did not enter into the canvass of a judge."

Editor Wynekooop of the Lancaster Republican was the observed of all observers. He is a very Mercury in the fitness and finish of his Narcissus face and Herculean form, so be winking in front and in rear, that even in a fall like a Ganymede, he would excite the smile of the Gods, and in Logan be offered a position in the Tennis Club. He was bedecked and bedizened fore and aft, placarded from heel to crown and the gaping and admiring crowd didn't know whether he was Tony Barleon, our Ambassador from Ashantee or a Congo God.

Col. Pursell the Nomad, the Bill-cills of the newspaper service between the Falls Mill and the old Lancaster grave yard, was not in the procession, nor in the convention.

Highest of all in Leavening Power.—Latest U.S. Gov't Report. Royal Baking Powder. ABSOLUTELY PURE.

PERSONAL. Billy Kooker of the Lancaster Gazette wore a silver badge. We promised him not to say anything about it, and we went.

Jim McMahan, the Furrin Brother of the New Lexington Tribune, represented his paper, and Ed. Willet of the Lancaster Eagle, took notes of the pretty girls in the gallery.

The Lancaster delegation carried tin canes, which in November will be converted into cans, and tied to their coat tails.

The Rendville Band on disem-barking, proceeded to the laundry shop of Ging Sing and gave the Chinaman a serenade which was so highly appreciated that the yellow brother never stopped spraying from his mouth, the clothes he had in process of "Washing."

The Logan Band contributed the best music of the occasion, and closed the performance with airs acceptable to everybody. More could be written and much should be said, but the printer announces "paper up" and we performe must quit.

Your Boy Won't Live a Month. So said Mr. Gilmam Brown, of 34 Mill St., South Gardner, Mass., was told by the doctors. His son had lung trouble, following typhoid malaria, and he spent three hundred and seventy-five dollars with doctors, who finally gave him up, saying: "Your boy won't live a month." He tried Dr. King's New Discovery and a few bottles restored him to health and enabled him to go to work as a perfectly well man. He says he owes his present good health to use of Dr. King's New Discovery, and knows it to be the best in the world for lung trouble. Trial bottles free at F. Harrington's drug store.

A tired stomach is very much like a sprained ankle. If you suffer from any of the symptoms of dyspepsia, your stomach is tired. It needs a rest. We must relieve it of all work for a time, or until it is restored to its natural strength. To do this successfully, we must use a food which is already digested outside of the body and which will aid the digestion of other foods that may be taken with it. Such a product is the Shaker Digestive Cordial.

The Shakers have utilized the digestive principles present in plants for the manufacture of this article, and its success has been truly phenomenal. You can try it for the nominal sum of ten cents, as sample bottles are sold by all druggists at this price.

Laxator is the best medicine for children. Doctors recommend it in place of Castor Oil.
