ANNOUNCEMENTS.

SHERIFF.

We are authorized to announce the name of CHARLES F. BRADLEY, of Washington township, as a candidate for Sheriff subject to the decision of the Democratic Primary election.

We are authorized to announce the name of Mel Robb of Ward Township as a candidate for Sheriff, subject to the decision of the Democratic Primary election.

We are authorized to announce the name of JACOB CUPP, of Washington township, as a candidate for Sheriff subject to the decision of the Democratic Primary election.

COMMISSIONER.

We are authorized to announce the name of JOHN W. SMITH, as a candidate for Commissioner, subject to the decision of the Democratic Primary election.

ON the application of bondholders Judge Taft of the United States Court has appointed a receiver for the Columbus, Shawnee & Hocking Railroad. This is the road for which Judge Wright appointed a receiver some time ago, and which proceeding caused considerable discussion among attorneys and rival interests in the railroad property.

IT MAY be remarked in passing that Urbana is in one of the strongest Republican counties in Ohio, and is a Republican city of over ten thousand people, whose politics and whose goodness are held up and exalted by "Jake" Snyder, editor of the Urbana Republican Citizen, and formerly editor of the Logan Republican of our city. When editor here, he used to point out and parade before our Democratic eyes, the horrid "Col. Southern Outrage," who would occasionally lynch a brutal negro in the South, where white protectors of women were few and far between, and make these southern lynchings texts for denunciation of the Democracy. Will Brother Snyder have us to send him copies of the files of his paper, on "Democratic Mob Rule."

Senatorial Convention.

The members of the senatorial committee of this joint ninth and fourteenth senatorial district composed of the counties of Athens, Fairfield, Hocking, Morgan, Washington and a portion of Monroe and Noble have called the Democratic Senatorial Convention to meet in McCONNELLSVILLE, OHIO, TUESDAY, JULY 6th, at 10:30 a.m. to nominate two candidates for the office of State Senator. The basis of representation agreed upon is one delegate for each 100 votes cast for William J. Bryan for President at the November election 1896, and one delegate for each fraction of fifty or over of such votes.

Upon this basis the counties are entitled to the following number of delegates:

|                  |     |
|------------------|-----|
| Athens           | 33  |
| Fairfield        | 52  |
| Hocking          | 32  |
| Morgan           | 24  |
| Monroe (part of) | 1   |
| Noble (part of)  | 12  |
| Washington       | 51  |
| total            | 205 |

A New Coal Field in Hocking.

About forty years ago a trace of coal was found in the hills near Gibsonville, but no attention was given the matter. About fourteen years ago an attempt was made to open a mine, but the parties engaging in it, were unfamiliar with this kind of work and quit. Lately Mr. John Gibson has undertaken to open a mine, and his attempts thus far are very favorable. He has discovered a vein of about two feet of good coal on the head waters of Laurel, in the ridge dividing the waters of the Scioto and Hocking. From what we can learn it is the extreme north western limit of the Nelsonville coal field, traces of the several veins being found in the hill. Should coal be found here of good quality, it will be a great good thing for the people of that neighborhood, and we hope the explorations will not disappoint the energetic people who are engaged in the venture.

An Important Decision by the Supreme Court.

On last Tuesday the Supreme Court rendered a decision in the case of the Cambria Iron Company against the Motherwell Iron and Steel Company reversing the decision of the courts below. The case was a suit brought by the Cambria Iron Co. on a bill for about $5,000 on which $2,000 had been paid. The question at issue was the liability of certain guarantors on bonds. The lower courts decided the guarantee not binding. Col. Weldy, attorney for the Cambria Iron Co. carried the case to the supreme court, and the decision handed down Tuesday, sustains him in his interpretation of the law and equity of the case, and obligates the payment of the claim, costs, interests, etc. amounting to about four thousand dollars upon the guarantors.

Resolution of Respect.

The following resolutions on the death of George W. Smith were adopted by Mingo Lodge 171, F. A. M. of Logan, O. That in commemoration of the death of our brother George W. Smith we recommend the following:

RESOLVED, That in the death of our brother we are again reminded of the uncertainties of life and the inevitable of all living beings. That this lodge has lost a true and consistent member, the family a devoted husband and father. That we will ever cherish the memory of our brother, his virtues and christian character. That we extend our sympathies to the bereaved family and commend them to the protection of Him who does all things well. That a copy of these resolutions be spread upon the minutes of the Lodge and copies be furnished the family of the deceased and the newspapers of this place for publication.

Logan, O. June 1st, 1897.

MR. JACOB CUPP, has been removed as postmaster at Gibsonville. This is because Jake is a democrat. Last fall he led the fight and Laurel township came in the banner township in gains and majority. This democratic zeal on the part of the postmaster was high treason to the McKinley gang, and Jake was removed. He can stand it. It does him good to be opposed because of his democracy.

AN AWFUL CRIME

And The Penalty—An Urbana Demon Lynched.

A worthless negro of Urbana named Chick Miller, committed a criminal assault on Mrs. Gumer, the editor of the Urbana Democrat, a widow with three small children. The assault was committed while she was doing her morning household work, after having sent her children to school. The excitement was so great that the judge of the county called the grand jury together on Thursday, an indictment was found, the negro plead guilty and was sentenced to 20 years in the state prison. This should have ended the matter, but about 2 o'clock Friday morning a mob attacked the county jail, evidently with the intent of lynching the prisoner, was fired on by a military company on guard duty, and three men killed and ten wounded. This maddened the entire population of Urbana, and a few hours later, in broad daylight, 5,000 people, including many women, gathered about the jail, took possession of it, the military this time making no resistance, and swung the negro from a tree in front of the court house. It is difficult to exercise a more utterly indefensible exercise or mob law, and yet the people engaged in it were of the average type of American citizenship. The law and the courts were prompt to act on the case, justice was vindicated and the penalty exacted was the extreme limit. The lynching was probably more inspired by the killing by the soldiers than the crime of the negro. There is no reason—no sense of justice—no humanity in the bitter passions of an angry mob. They stand for anarchy. This Ohio case is vastly different from lynch law in isolated communities, where the restraints of law are feeble and it is necessary for the safety of women to hold in check a vicious population. Yet after all is said the impulse to wreak vengeance on the negro guilty of such crime, north or south, is a race extinct and is above the law. The sheriff and captain of the military company fled the city to save their lives. The governor blames the sheriff for the work of the mob, and the sheriff blames the governor.

Death of T. J. Shannon.

Mr. T. J. Shannon, Roadmaster on the Southern Division of the C. H. V. & T. R. R., died from typhoid fever at his home in Logan, on last Friday morning. His early home was at Minertown, in Vinton county. From early life he was employed in the railroad service, advancing with certain upward promotions, as time and opportunity afforded him greater responsibilities. He came to Logan about ten years ago, and in the years spent among us endeared himself to a wide circle of friends.

His funeral was one of the most numerous attended, ever witnessed in Logan, a token of respect for the public, as well as personal friends paid to the dead man's memory. Floral offerings, abundant and beautiful and touching in design, were placed upon his grave by the hands of men with whom he had worked. A harp without strings, by employes of road; a wheel with broken spokes, by track foremen; a switch disconnected and track with missing rail by Nelsonville friends; a pillow, eggs and wreath combined, by Columbus officers of the road; a cluster of Carnations by the Aquinas Reading Circle of which his daughter Anna is an esteemed member; and other wreaths and emblems silent, though not unspoken, in the religious thought and sentiment the dead and this occasion inspired.

The funeral was under the immediate direction of the Knights of St. John of Logan with whom were joined in the sad ceremonies fifteen Knights of Lancaster. His associates in life labor, railroad men, were the pall bearers. The Logan band tendered service, and led in solemn digre the march to the resting place of this soldier of the legion of labor. The death of a man like T. J. Shannon removes from the world a valuable citizen. To every useful enterprise he gave a willing hand. He was for a long time employed in the service of the Hocking Valley R. R. and he never received a penny of wages for which he did not return an equivalent in labor. He was a man who earned his money and with it paid his way, and he always had something to give to the cause of charity and what he gave was his own. He was not in the ordinary sense of the term a public man and consequently newspaperdom will not go into hysterics over his death. But the SENTINEL has always been able to discover in the common citizen an occasional trait that is worthy of connecting to immortal type and its readers among whom are a host of Mr. Shannon's friends will not be surprised to read a mention of his merits. Fr. Powers in his sermon over his remains spoke of him as an ideal citizen whose example, if attention were directed to it, would rest a healthier influence on the community than even historical characters. Great men can be imitated only by the great. Men like Washington and Lincoln can not be imitated at all, for such men are the children of genius and genius transcends all rules. But while he numerated the shade of departed greatness he thought that the world owed more to the honest industrious workman than to those whose monuments are works of art. Nature herself is the poor man's monument embellished improved and adapted as she is by intelligent labor to minister to the wants of man.

A Great Ecclesiastical Assembly

The 100th General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in the United States of America, met at Eagle Lake, Ind., May 20, 1897.

There were present 610 delegates representing 228 Presbyteries, covering a territory from Maine to Florida and from the Carolinas to Alaska, inclusive, also delegates from India, China, Persia, Africa and some of the South American Republics.

Rev. Sheldon Jackson, D.D., a pioneer Home Missionary and U. S. Commissioner of Education for Alaska was elected Moderator, the highest gift of honor within the province of the church to bestow.

The Assembly is a Court of Review, before which the records of all the synods are brought, and the work of the different Boards, having the care and distribution of the benevolences of the church for Foreign Missions, Home Missions, Ministerial Relief, Church Extension, Education, Publication, Aid for Colleges, and Freedmen.

Each of these Boards is represented by a secretary and by beneficiaries under their care.

Ex-President Harrison represented the Presbytery of Indianapolis; his Postmaster General, John Wannamaker, the Presbytery of Philadelphia; and James A. Mount, the Governor of Indiana, the Presbytery of Crawfordville.

Mr. Harrison's speech on the occasion of the presentation of a gavel to the Moderator was a gem.

The body of Presbyterians, represented by the Assembly, comprises about one-fifth of all the Presbyterians in the world, and is doing a vast work towards bringing the gospel to the knowledge of mankind, and in educating the exceptional classes.

As an indication of what has been accomplished in foreign fields, in the whole of China, in 1863 there were but 2000 christians, while today there are 70000. During the past years the Presbyterian Church appropriated $878,440 and for Home Missions $800,000, while $115,464 were received for the erection of new church buildings. The total annual contributions of the church approximates $15,000,000.

There are owned and controlled by the Assembly but two publications, The Church at Home and Abroad, and The Assembly Herald, but there are many great newspapers like "The Interior," "The Herald and Presbyter," "The New York Evangelist," and "Observer," "The Banner," and "Presbyterian Journal" which are published in the interests of the church. An interesting body of men were the colored pastors and elders from the South representing the possibilities, and great advancement of their people; while Peter Bear, a Sioux Indian, came as an elder from an Indian Presbytery, an exhibition of the work done by christianity among the Aboriginal Americans. The Assembly will meet next year at Eagle Lake, the site of the Winona Assembly which is to become as notable in the Middle West as the original Chataqua has become in the East.

CEDAR GROVE.

CEDAR GROVE, Ohio, June 9, 1897.

Several of our citizens attended Synodical Wilson meeting at Pleasant Valley last Sunday.

There were nine persons baptized at Pine Grove last Sunday by Rev. Clendenning.

A. W. Oldfield of Logan is visiting friends in this place. A. W. is as lively as ever.

Rome Stanford of South Bloomingville was seen on our streets last Monday.

Dan Beery was in our village last Saturday.

Low Conkle and John Vickers visited H. A. Gordon last Monday.

Nora Clendenning called on Anna Taylor last Monday evening.

Tussing Rose of Tarlton is visiting his father this week.

Morton Kitchen made a business trip to Logan last Saturday.

Gen. Steele, leader of several Gold Hat prosperity promoters at Laurelville, has been cast overboard and the brain distracting puzzle propounder, Ed Ricketts made post master in his stead. It is sad, but it is so.

The candidacy of Col. Weldy for Supreme Judge meets with favor from all sections of the state. He has personal friends in every county in Ohio, and his friends, like himself, are thoroughbreds and leaders of delegations. The Hocking Valley, we hope through Col. Weldy will have recognition by the state convention.

The report that comrade Mike Willard the heroic republican leader of South Perry is stark and stiff and cold on the political cooling board needs correction in this, that Mike is not dead but the loss of the promised prosperity and post office makes him a very sick politician. He has burned his Gold Hat and goes bareheaded and barefooted.

The more the average citizen looks at it, the more he will be inclined to protest against the law as laid down by Judge Bradley, of Washington, in discharging Searles, the sugar magnate. It was a perversion of the law and a suppression of justice and right. Havemeyer had testified the sugar schedule was worth $25,000,000 to the trust. The fact was admitted it had liberally contributed to the Republican party. Searles was asked the amount and to whom. For a refusal to answer he was indicted. The accommodating judge orders his acquittal and on grounds indicated in his own words—Said Judge Bradley: "Any corporation has the right to make campaign contributions, and unless it was shown that money had been used for corrupt purposes I do not think that the senate investigating committee had any right to inquire into the private affairs of individuals To do so was beyond the power of the senate." The political contributions of a corporation, the return for legislative action in its favor, would strike common sense, however it may strike lawyers, as a very pertinent subject of inquiry. The law as laid down by this learned judge encourages bribery, makes it safer, and is a blow at the integrity of legislation. All the hair-splitting Judge can invent will not change this.

Receipt For Republican Good Times.

Take a quart of confidence and stir in two gallons of gold standard; let it come to a boil. To one teaspoonful of prosperity, two pints of Hanna oil, stir slowly in a McKinley tin pan, then add four ounces of tariff reform and a thimble full of truth to a thousand barrels of lie.

Shake well and then spread the whole thing over an acre of Republican promises, slice with a gold knife and eat till you burst.

so that he was a living proof of the truth of the words that an honest man is the noblest work of God. Nor is it saying too much to apply to him the words of Hamlet: "He was a man take him all in all, We shall not look upon his like again."

He was buried from St. John's Catholic Church, Sunday at 3 p. m. Catholics societies from Lancaster, the Knights of St. John of Logan of which society he was an exemplary member and three hundred railroad employees formed a procession and marched from his residence to the church and thence to the grave and in the presence of his myriad friends, he was laid to rest with many a heartfelt expression of sympathy for his stricken family and prayer for his soul. May he rest in peace.
