In the July McClure's appears a sketch of Bryan, by the well known Kansas journalist, William Allen White, author of "Boyville Stories."

This is the first of a series of pen portraits of political celebrities by a writer particularly well qualified to write of both their public and private life. The article contains a shrewd estimate of Bryan's political career and throws much light on the causes of his popularity.

The Twice Five Club held a pleasant and interesting meeting at the residence of Mr. John F. White on last Monday evening. Mr. Harrington briefly related the origin, the progress, and decline of the Roman people. Dr. Steward discussed the literary and religious character of the people.

Up to this time the readers of the Montiel, mostly taxpayers have not been advised that a proposition is pending to vote ten thousand additional debt on this town. The Council, Republican by lot, not by election, dispenses its purposes in a semi-confidential way, in one paper.

When the Democrats had a majority of the Council, all its official publications were printed in all the papers at a pro rata rate, so that all the patrons and readers of all the papers had official notice, at not a greater cost than is now, in one paper. We don't kick on the plan. The Republicans are running the town. Let them have full swing. They want build a swamp on Kanodes Hill.

They want infect the water pipes of the city with drainage from dead horses and the garbage of the street. The proposition to bond the town is confidential, and only a few are advised.

Small Pox.

The Small-pox scare in Ward Township, happily now is over, although for a time alarming, and to business interest embarrassing, has been productive of two official, professional medical papers, from two Doctors, both health officers. Dr. Dillinger of Murry and Dr. Dennison of Blachford, that will survive and be a pleasant subject for discussion, when literary cathartics is the prescription. Aesculapius will not halt in the procession of the constellations to acquaint with these disciples. The Medical Review can not find space for the diagnosis they recite.

The very original, medico-professional official papers presented by these Health Officers appear, the one Dillinger's in the Murry News; the other, Dennison's, in the Logan Journal Gazette, both papers under political quarantine from the intelligence, the Democracy of Hocking County.

The literary emetic which the health officers give is only administered to the varioloid sick, who are all the subscribers, after reading the patent policies and patent medicines advertisements of the papers aforesaid.

The public is to be congratulated that the obscurity of the papers publishing these professional proclamations, like the isolation of the Ward Township past house, keeps the "Break Out" from spreading.

We will be kind to the Health Officers of Ward township by not publishing their proclamation, not at this time.

Acknowledgement.

I desire thus publicly to return my thanks to all the people of the 2nd and 3rd wards of Logan, whose Census, I was appointed to take. In every instance, with not a single exception, I was politely welcomed and kindly treated. My work is well and accurately done, it is mainly due to the prompt and cheerful manners of the residents of my district.

The kindness shown me by every body while performing public service in which annoying and embarrassing inquiries had to be made, is to me, a token from my fellow citizens, which I cherish and will be a remembrance while I live, fragrant with sweet memories.

And again thanking the Second and Third wards, for personal kindness, I retire from the exalted service of Uncle Sam, and become a common fellow citizen of Logan and "Ye Local" of the SENTINEL.

A Frost for the Platform.

(Pittsburg Post)

We hope no one interested in current politics failed to read the denunciation of the Philadelphia platform by Congressman Grosvenor, of Ohio, the spokesman of the President in Congress for the last three years.

After stating the platform has been widely criticised, General Grosvenor recites the important fact that the plank declaring that Congress alone had power to govern acquired territory—involving the whole Porto Rico question—and that the constitution doesn't apply to territories, was surreptitiously left out of the platform.

He blames ex-Congressman Quigg, of New York, Platt's manager, for his duplicity, he having charge of the verbal trimming of that part of the resolutions. We repeat what Grosvenor says:

I want to state as a matter of fact, connected with the history of this convention, that the following resolution was agreed to be put into this platform, was handed over to the gentlemen who undertook its final revision and whose handwork in destroying all the elements of good statement is manifest; and I assert, upon the statement of Senator Foraker, that the plank, which I will now reproduce, was understood by the committee to be a part of the platform, and was unfairly and surreptitiously, and without the knowledge of the committee, kept out of the platform.

Then follows the resolution indorsing the principle of the Porto Rico bill, and Grosvenor goes on:

This plank straightforward, intelligent and written in good English, agreed upon first by the President himself, and afterward by the subcommittee, was driven out by a driveller from New York, who had charge of that branch of the work.

Upon the greatest question of the hour, upon the question about which the Republicans in Congress fought and won, this driveller performed this act.

The Ohio congressman makes the same allegation as to the ship subsidy plank; that it was altered in the same surreptitious way, thus, he says, "drivelling away the best ideas of the Republican party." These people have become so accustomed to cheating the people they cannot refrain from cheating themselves, just to keep their hands in. But dodging the Porto Rico question is a confession by the whole convention that they did not care to go before the people on the declaration the constitution was suspended when Congress came to deal with the new territories. In this matter Platt, through his man Quigg, overruled the President.

Everybodys Magazine for July.

Even to the chronic theatre-goers of long experience, it may be a surprise to learn that one of the very oldest actors in point of service, still before the public, is Mr. Stuart Robson. Long association with youthful roles, and the freshness and vigor of his portrayals make it difficult for us to realize that his public career extends over nearly half a century.

The Simple Explanation for the month is on "Liquid Air." The story of Petroleum is told, and a brief account of the workings of the oil industry. There are fourteen other good articles and short stories.
