Many a hearty, healthy laugh rings through the house when "Human Hearts" is playing; many a soul refining tear is shed. The drama is replete with interest, incident after incident following each other so closely that it seems the author's invention must find its limit. But not the action sustains its novelty and force to the very close of the last act, which alone is worth seeing—a silent story effectively told to a hushed audience who struggle with tears. At Rempel's Opera House, March, 30th.

Mrs. Thornburg has broken a kind of record, a film on the placed waters of the millinery lakes of our city, and has spread wide sails, and certainly attracts trade and attention. She has established a business. She advertises this fact. The people know she is not in hiding, the public know she wants patronage. Her advertisement is announcement and invitation. The public understand this. Her store will be crowded with customers because the SENTINEL advertises to five thousand people that she invites people of town and country to come and see.

LECTURE COURSE

April 5th, 1901.

The closing number in the Lecture Course will be Dr. James Hedley's famous lecture "The Sunny Side of Life." This speaker needs no greater recommendation than the fact that this is the twentieth year that the doctor has been before the American people as a platform speaker.

This lecture has been given over seven hundred times and the people of Logan who remain away from this entertainment will miss the rarest treat of the season.

The Orchestra will give several sections before the lecture.

Read what the Ohio State Journal says regarding the speaker and his ability:

"As an orator Dr. Hedley is of a type of his own making, and probably no one ever saw or heard any one else like him. He is a humorist and comedian, as well as poet and orator, and the audience laughed and laughed until it seemed as if they could laugh no more, but at some new sally, or well turned point or droll story, they would break down and interrupt the speaker with their uncontrollable applause. The doctor had gestures that are grace itself, and a voice musical in the extreme, while some of his eloquent flights are almost matchless."

—Ohio State Journal, Columbus, Ohio.

Admission 25 cts. Lecture commences at 8:15.

"Human Hearts"

Successful in its fourth season can be said of few plays, but it is said of "Human Hearts" and deservedly too. A drama which provides healthful recreation for the public and which seems to instruct while appearing in the form of amusement, it is a boon to any community. So many questionable forms of entertainment are thrust upon the public, the young and old alike find much in this beautiful living story to think over and enjoy long afterward. Rich in incident, in its variety of characters, and its stage settings, it is one of the few attractions of great merit on the road. The spectator is carried into the delightful atmosphere of life in the hills of Arkansas. The trouble which falls upon the simple folk of Logan Falls reminds one of the line, "The trail of the serpent." The beautiful and touching denouement, however bears its lesson. Wait! The author has struck many true notes in this play, and the well chosen cast blend their harmonies with fine effect. It is with pleasure that the management announces that "Human Hearts" comes to the Opera House, Saturday March 30th, the advance sale opens at Rempel's Bazaar the usual time in advance. Regular prices will prevail.

PROSPERITY prevails in Fairfield. We do not see a single sberid's sale advertisement in the Eagle, the official organ of the party, the exponent of the county for almost a century.

ROBBERS LOOT SOMERSET BANK

Safe Blown While Robbers Terrorize Citizens by Shooting.

FIFTEEN THOUSAND DOLLARS IN CASH AND A LARGE AMOUNT OF BONDS SECURED BY ROBBERS, WHO MAKE THEIR ESCAPE.

SOMERSET, March 26.—Six safe-blowers held the town of Somerset in terror for an hour beginning at about 1:30 o'clock this morning. Two worked at the safe of the Somerset Bank in the old court house and the others stood out in the street and kept up a fusillade with repeating shot-guns. Whenever a venturesome Somerset man showed his head he was ordered back with an oath and the order was enforced with a volley. In spite of all the shots that were fired not one person was hurt.

There was in the neighborhood of $25,000 in cash and bonds in the Bank and all the burglars got was about $5,000. They exploded six charges of nitro-glycerine in the safe before they got at the money and when they had got inside the papers and other contents of the safe were scattered in every direction. Much of the money was in envelopes and was not found by the thieves. They overlooked in this way about $6,000. There were about $9,000 in United States bonds, which they left in and all the bonds and valuable securities left behind amounted to about $20,000.

While the cannonading was going on Robert Levitt managed to get a few shots at the bandits, but he admits that he did not hit any of them. Dr. Hays, who lives near by, came out of his house, but was ordered back with an oath and a volley, which convinced him that he would be better off inside.

The safe was a ten-ton Hall safe and was looked upon as a good one. Evidently the burglars thought the same thing, for the men outside were heard to upbraid the men inside for their slowness and those inside replied that they were getting along as fast as they could. The windows of the old court house are all blown out and the safe, in the language of a Somerset man "needs a few claps."

The tools which were used were stolen from a local blacksmith shop and after the job was done the men stole two horses and carriages from Liverman Grubb and drove north-west. They seemed to be making for Hadley Junction. At 8 o'clock this morning one of the carriages was found in the road in that direction. The sheriff has arrived from New Lexington and is doing all in his power to catch the thieves.

The bank is insured in the Bankers Mutual Casualty company for $10,000 and will not be affected by the loss. The company offers a standing reward for bank thieves.

Somerset is a town of 1,200 inhabitants, located on the Baltimore and Ohio railroad, about 25 miles south-east of Columbus. The bank was instituted about six years ago and did a large and prosperous business.

LATEST.

LANCASTER, O., March 26.—Five hobos out of a gang of seven were arrested here today suspected of having had a hand in the Somerset Bank Robbery this morning. Two escaped. One of the suspects is said to have buried a package near the city. It is believed that the bank job was done by a gang who stole T. E. Kenner's horse and buggy yesterday and later took the train at Thurston for Somerset, to which point they were tracked by officers.

A reward of $1,000 is offered for the capture of the robbers.

The sheriff of Perry county is in pursuit of the robbers with bloodhounds, but the dogs could only follow the trail to the blacksmith shop where tools were taken, and again to the lively stable where the vehicle was secured.

The robbery of the bank has local interest to Logan readers in that Mr. Sniders brother and Mr. Greens brother, are directors, and Mr. Myron Poole, formerly of the First Bank of Logan, is cashier.

A Tribute to the Memory of Nancy A. Lee.

Once more the grim hand of death has visited our community and has seen proper to take from amongst us another of our old pioneers and the great God, who cares for and watches over each of us and who cares even for the weak little sparrow, has taken home to rest a good and true christian, and her pure spirit is now mingling with the angels in the Celestial city.

Nancy A. Lee, the subject of this poor tribute to her memory, was born seventy-eight years ago, the eleventh day of this month. She was born in a little log cabin near where now is situated the Orland station on the C. & H. V. R. Shortly after her birth her father sickened and died and her young mother was left with a large family, consisting of four boys and two girls. The widowed mother, after the death of her husband, moved with her family onto a small parcel of land, and in the shadows of the old hemlocks, which is situated near the Starr P. O. With the help of her little boys and the kindly assistance of neighbors, she built a small cabin, which was surrounded by gigantic beech and stately maple trees. But Aunt Mattie, as she was familiarly called like the Spartan mothers, with the help of her small children, felled the great trees and cleared the forest away and provided sustenance for her family. Nancy, the subject of this sketch, being the older of the two girls, upon her fell most of the household duties and whilst her mother would be at work in the clearing with the boys, Nancy would be left at the cabin to prepare dinner and to take care of her younger sister. In those days clocks and watches were considered as luxuries and as Aunt Mattie could afford no luxuries, consequently she had no clock. But she had provided a way to count the time as it passed. She cut notches on the side of her rude door and instructed Nancy that when the sun shone upon a certain mark to put in the potatoes and so on. By this means the child would prepare the meal. By economy, diligence and industry the family flourished. But there came a time when the faithful mother was called from her labors on earth. Nancy being the oldest girl she seemed in a measure to take the place of the mother. And in this she was certainly successful, always ready with a helping hand to assist her brothers and to soothe their pain. If disputes arose Nancy was there with her gentle tone and mild disposition to settle them. And, in fact, there have always existed such harmony amongst the brothers and sisters that it might well be said to shame those born under more favorable circumstances. Two of the brothers married. The other two boys and the girls still remained on the old place. These four never married and lived happily together for forty years. Finally death marked the elder brother for his prey, and thus this little family circle was broken. The three still occupied the old homestead and were living there at the time of Nancy's death, which occurred March 15th, 1901. She was a faithful member of the Methodist church for fifty years and was a devout christian. Her place of attendance was the little church at Starr P. O. where she was very punctual. Through storm and sunshine her place in church was never vacant. Her christianity was of the most pure and simple. Her prayers may not have been the most eloquent and she may not have raised her voice to as high a key as is sometimes done, but her every day life bespoke volumes of goodness and a purity of soul which is unquestionable. The school children, who have passed her door for over a half a century, many of whom at this time being well advanced in years, as they pass her grave, in the hurry and bustle of the world, will stop to brush away a tear and to say a prayer for her sweet repose.

Those who knew her best loved her most. Being kind and generous to all, even to the poor beggar, who never went unfed from her door. As we see these old pioneers falling the thought comes over us that the chain that binds the present generation to the past, is rapidly growing shorter, and instead of having recited to us by themselves the hardships these good old pioneers endured, it will remain for the historian to record it in a general way. The world advanced but Nancy Lee lived in her plain way. All hail to these good old people, that established our schools, organized and built churches and laid the foundations for the blessings we now enjoy. Few persons, of the present generation, realize the hardships and privations these people endured that has brought the comforts with which we are now blessed.

The funeral took place from the old residence on Sunday, March 17, at 10 o'clock A. M. The services were conducted by her pastor, Rev. Jewett, assisted by Rev. W. B. Cherry. A goodly number of her friends and neighbors were in attendance. Her remains were laid to rest in the old church yard near by. And as the winter of her life in this world, so gently passed away with the last bitter blasts of winter, so her life, in another world, has broken out afresh and new as the warm spring breezes are drawing back again the flowers to a new life.

OBITUARY.

George A. Poling was born April 19th 1851, died, March 16th, 1901, aged 49 years, 10 months, and 27 days.

He joined the U. B. Church in February, 1868, at the early age of 17 years and continued to live in the faith until the Master called him to come up higher. He was united in marriage with Dorothea M. Snider, Dec. 12th, 1872. To this union was born a daughter who is still living, but the mother died in May, 1876. On April 5th, 1888, he again united in marriage with Lucy Blosser and to this union was born a son and daughter, both of whom died in infancy, the mother also following them to the spirit world the 6th of June, 1890.

He leaves a daughter, three grand children a mother, three brothers, three sisters and a host of relatives who will sadly miss him.

He was of a social and sympathetic nature and if sickness or other causes of distress prevailed in the neighborhood he was ever ready to lend a helping hand. He had numerous friends but few, if any, enemies.

During his protracted illness which extended over a period of nearly five years, he was patient and resigned, while fully realizing the incurable nature of his disease and when he realized that the end was near, which he predicted would not extend beyond the middle of the present month, he proceeded calmly to arrange his earthly affairs in a way which might be most satisfactory to those concerned in them.

On Sunday preceding his death, his three brothers and three sisters held a reunion around his couch, it
