

The Taking Cold Habit

The old cold goes; a new one quickly comes. It's the story of a weak throat, weak lungs, a tendency to consumption. Ayer's Cherry Pectoral breaks up the taking-cold habit. It strengthens, soothes, heals. Ask your doctor about it.

"I had a terrible cold, and nothing relieved me. I tried Ayer's Cherry Pectoral and it promptly broke up my cold, stopped my cough, and caused every part of my body to feel wonderful work for me."—MRS. J. F. LARSON, Duluth, Minn.

Another fox hunt was held Friday at Crestline and was attended by a large number of people. Sir Reynard was given twenty minutes start, and after doubling twice, headed for "somewhere"—distancing the hounds. Ab Shupp and John Croheis went over to see the chase, and ridiculing the speed of the fox, indulged in a foot race themselves. John was the victor but Ab insists that the sun shining on his competitor's bald pate blinded him and he couldn't see to run fast, while Croheis declares that from the amount of water splashed on him by Ab's "cinderellas" he thought it was raining and he hurried to get in out of the storm. But at any rate Ab lost the race.

The arrest of Alpha Harden of New Pittsburg on Friday implicated a second person as an accessory to the death of Rob Batts and George Bridgewater. Harden had his preliminary before Squire Devore at that place on Friday morning. He pleaded guilty to assault with intent to kill and was bound over to the common pleas court by Justice Devore in the sum of $1000. Failing to secure the bond Harden was brought to Logan and committed to the county jail.

It is now disclosed that neither Butts nor Bridgewater had revolvers on their persons during the fight with the negroes which ended in the death of the white principals.

London, March 10.—Woman has certainly attained a height from which it will never be possible for her ever to descend, for Mrs. Griffith Brower has beaten the record, being the first woman to cross the Channel in a balloon. This lady is a member of the Aero club and for some time has been desirous of accomplishing this feat.

The start was made at 2:15 in the afternoon, and the balloon, rising to a height of 2000 feet, soon attained a speed of thirty miles an hour. Before long the coast of Dunegness was visible, and photographs were taken from the balloon. So perfectly steady was the airship that the aeronauts were able to enjoy a good luncheon, but as darkness came on the balloon rose to an altitude of 7000 feet and snow began to fall.

At 6:30 they sailed over Boulogne, and twenty miles further on they decided to land, and the valves were opened. After bounding through a grove of poplar trees, they were safely deposited in a field near Samer.

A big corn crop is almost always followed by a big rat crop and sick hogs.

A first cross between the Duroc-Jersey and the Poland-China hog gives very satisfactory results, but when this cross product is used for breeding purposes nothing but trouble results.

As a meat proposition for the average farm there is nothing which beats the 1,500 pound draft colt, which sells for 10 cents a pound. It brings twice as much as the three-year-old steer and costs but little more to produce.

One successful hog raiser plants a field of sweet corn in rows five feet apart and a row of pumpkins in between. When the pumpkins begin to ripen he turns his hogs in the field and lets them harvest the crop, which they do in fine shape to their profit and his.

It is little short of cruelty to keep a work team of horses standing unemployed on a hard barn floor for long periods during the winter. While the horses may not look quite so slick if turned out into the yard every day, it will be vastly more conducive to their general health so to do.

States contemplating the passage of pure food laws should include as open to suspicion those ancient specimens of hen fruit which, born in April, masquerade in December as strictly fresh laid country eggs, and with them might be well included that spring made butter which is served up after a six months' probation in cold storage as fresh extra creamery stock.

We made a test a few years ago to see if small potatoes used for seed would produce as good a crop as where large ones were used. We found out that the old saying is true—that as a man sows so shall he reap. We planted small potatoes and got small potatoes. No lesson needs learning more thoroughly than this—that the crop is very largely dependent upon the seed, whether it be potatoes or any other crop.

The city of Boston disposes of about $6,000,000 worth of baked beans each year, and most of them are eaten for breakfast on Sunday morning. When we realize this fact we do not wonder at some of the theological vagaries of the people of that city. It may explain why they are willing to send rum and Bibles in the same ship and consignment to civilize and Christianize the heathen in the far corners of the earth.

It seems strange, but it is none the less true, that many growers of corn have the idea that the largest ears are the best ears, and so when they attempt to make an exhibit of their corn at a corn show they select the largest ears they can find regardless of symmetry, relation of corn to cob, uniformity of type—in fact, disregard everything that goes to make up a perfect ear of corn. The many corn shows held all through the corn belt have done much to educate corn growers along this line.

There is a general determination among the farmers of the west who have to hire men for the season to do away with keeping the hired man's horse. This is a graft which has become a nuisance, as it is claimed that, having a horse, the man is too much given to night buggy riding, and in many cases the man's horse is fed and cared for at the expense of the farmer's own teams. We know of a number of men who the coming season will hire no man with a horse unless he will put the animal in and work it every day on the farm.

One of the worst tales of land greed we ever came across is that of a man who had seven daughters and a consuming desire to own all the land which joined him. In order to add acre to acre he turned the girls into hired men and required of them a menial, laborious and slavish service which despoiled their womanhood. There would seem to be an element of retributive justice in the fact that there came a time when he was unable to meet the mortgages given to acquire this land and lost it all, but one can't help pitying those poor girls.

Not a bad way to dispose of a field of shocked corn is to watch for a dry time in early winter and run the shocks through an ordinary thrashing machine. This process will pulverize the stalks and make them equal in value to shredded fodder. It will also both husk and shell the corn, and, while it will split up some of the kernels, this will not injure the corn for feeding purposes. We have a friend who thus handles his corn crop, with the addition that he thrashes his oats at the same time, running the oats and corn through the machine half and half, which plan he has found very successful, both the fodder and the thrashed grain keeping well when thus mixed.

The District of Columbia.

Mr. Philip Gager, of Laurel, wishes to know what is the form of Government of the District of Columbia?

The District of Columbia was established by Congress, July 16, 1790. The District is ten miles square and was ceded to Congress by Maryland, for a permanent seat of government of the United States.

The Government is administered by a board of three commissioners, two of whom are appointed from civil life by the president, for a term of three years and confirmed by the Senate. The other commissioner is detailed from time to time by the President, and is selected from the engineer corps of U. S. Army. The salary of each of the commissioners is $5000 per year. These commissioners are in a general way vested with jurisdiction covering all the ordinary features of a municipal corporation.

They have power under the statute to make and enforce all reasonable police regulations for the protection of life and property. They appoint all necessary minor officers and fix their salary.

Whatever the miners and operators do they should strive to avoid a strike this spring. A strike at this time would not only paralyze the mining industry but several other industries as well, and convert the prosperity of the country into hard times.

We feel that the good judgment of the miners will prevail in this matter.

Wendell Phillips, the famous American orator and abolitionist, had an effective way of dealing with disturbances. Once when he was interrupted by an unfriendly audience, he stepped down and began talking in a low voice to the men at the reporters' table.

Some of the auditors, becoming curious, called, "Louder!" whereupon Phillips straightened himself up and explained:

"Go right on, gentlemen, with your noise. Through these pencils," pointing to the reporters, "I speak to 40,000,000 people."

The SENTINEL is $1 a year.
