

Those Ohio Solons

Prance and Rare and Tear Things Generally In the Law of This-Great State!!

Columbus, O., March 27.—The house passed Representative Wertz's bill recommending the state good roads convention. It provides for the codification of all road laws, abolishes the office of road supervisor and the labor tax, and substitutes superintendents and a money tax.

Bills passed by the house: H. B. No. 10, Mr. Freiler, authorizing an increase to four mills by county commissioners for general purposes; H. B. No. 11, Mr. Kolinsky, authorizing the appointment by village councils of a resident justice of the peace or other person to act as police judge; H. B. No. 12, Mr. Metzger, authorizing village freeholders to pay sidewalk assessments into the treasury without the formality of an ordinance for assessments; H. B. No. 13, Mr. Payne, to provide the manner in which a corporation may dispose of the stock and assets to another by requiring a two-thirds vote and providing for the protection of minority stockholders.

Representative Hillenkamp offered a resolution proposing to amend the constitution so as to permit licensing of saloons.

Attempts were made in the house to relieve the committees of the Espy ballot reform bill and the tax inquiry repealer, but the efforts failed. It is admitted these measures are dead.

Mr. Stewart of Clark seeks to establish uniform service on insurance companies in Ohio. His bill provides that service shall be had through the state insurance commissioner.

Mr. Little of Greene launched a bill to abolish the state canal commission and turn its effects, including pending litigation, over to the board of public works, which board shall have the authority the canal commission now has to make leases and contracts, subject to the approval of the board.

The resolution authorizing the purchase of land for a state hospital at Lima was adopted by the senate.

Senator Denman's resolution to admit to soldiers' and sailors' homes members of Ohio National Guard disabled while in service was passed by the senate under suspension of the rules.

Senator Espy offered a resolution to extend the time and jurisdiction of the Cincinnati investigating committee or a majority thereof until Jan. 15, 1908, when a report must be submitted.

Neither Senator Sites nor Senator Meek will sit with the Cincinnati investigating committee unless that committee is made bipartisan in membership. Both made this positive statement today. Each says he has not changed his position in the slightest since the committee was appointed. At that time they said they would not serve because the committee membership was not equally divided between the two political parties.

Representative Yost of Monroe, Democratic floor leader of the house, is ill of pneumonia at his home in Woodsfield.

Dow Tax Increased.

The senate, 23 to 12, passed the Alkin bill increasing the Dow tax from $350 to $1,000 a year. The bill had previously been passed by the house, and it will become a law if signed by the governor, or by constitutional limitation of 10 days without the governor's signature. Those who voted for the bill were: Atwell, Beatty, Berry, Boehmer, Brandt, Crist, Dennan, Drake, Duval, Hypes, Kinsman, Lamb, Patterson, Mahaffey, Mather, Meek, Patterson, Rathbun, Rose, Russell, Sites, West, Williams. Against: Arbenz, Carter, Gayman, Hafner, Harper, Howe, Huffman, Hunt, Pollock, Schmidt, Vanover, Ward. Senator Lawyer was absent. Mr. Meek offered an amendment providing that the Alkin bill should not become effective until Jan. 1, 1907, but it was defeated.

Under the provisions of the Alkin bill the tax is placed at $1,000 a year for a saloon, $1,000 a year for buffet cars of any railroad not having in excess of 200 miles of track within the state; $1,500 for buffet cars of a railroad having more than 200 miles of track in the state, and a penalty of 50 per cent where such railroad fails to pay an assessment when due. Where any person keeping a saloon fails to pay an assessment when due, the penalty shall be 20 per cent addition; and where any saloon keeper refuses to furnish information required by the auditor relative to his place of business, the tax shall be fixed at $1,500. Where one has paid the tax of $1,000 and desires to quit the business within the year following he shall be refunded an amount proportionate to the unexpired portion of the year for which he has paid the tax, but in no case shall the amount of tax retained by the county be less than $200. Settlements shall be made on the fourth Monday in May of each year.

Debate in the Senate.

Washington, March 28.—Mr. Tillman and Mr. McCumber divided the time of the senate's session, the North Dakota senator devoting himself to the railroad rate question exclusively and the South Carolina senator discussing various questions. Mr. Tillman made special mention concerning the status of his resolution relative to the use of national bank funds in politics, and incidentally spoke of District Attorney Jerome's recent utterances and of Judge Humphrey's decision in the beef trust cases, declaring in the latter matter that the decision against the attorney general had merely repeated what he had said in the case of former Secretary Paul Morton. OUR FASHION LETTER.

New Skirts Are but a Repetition of Former Styles.

MODISH THREE-PIECE SUITS.

Attractive Accordion Pleated Material—White Parasols Will Be Extremely Chic—Pumps Are Lower and Trimmed With Leather Bands.

Circular, corded and plaited skirts it seems almost absurd to enumerate these three models that for so long a time have been popular. There are changes to be observed in the width of plaits, in the number of the gobs in the shape of the skirt and in the style of trimming, but the fundamental parts are the same.

Lands of silk and velvet, two or three inches wide, are to be found at

The fringe paraisols are livelier than last year. All sorts of bird work is lavished upon them, but there is a beautiful example with embroidered dots. Parasols of plain linen with fringed borders, the linen itself fringed to make narrow borders and laid on the frame in overlapping layers, are shown in the best linen shops.

Very attractive are the accordion plaited matines of liberty silk, with deep lace collars. They fall to the waist and are worn with a smart petticoat or a silk dress skirt.

There are scintillating dressing jackets drawn in at the waist and back with a sash that lies in front and has long ends edged with fringe.

The corset cover seen in the cut is trimmed in an original fashion with tiny lace. Groups of tiny tucks give the required fullness.

SUNSHADES AND FABRICS.

A decided preference will be manifested this season for white parasols. Metal and ivory handles are in evidence on the more expensive kinds.

There is a sunshade in Mrs. Nicholas Longworth's possession that will be much copied. It is a "star" parasol designed by the bride and carried out in filmy rows of gathered white chiffon.

Many women will rejoice at the tidings that three piece suits are to be in vogue this season. The waists go with these suits are lingerie affairs that daintily top the corset skirts. There is a jacket to match, but in most in-
