The Stafford Lecture.

Dr. Stafford, of Washington City, lectured here last Friday evening, under the auspices of the St. Mary's Auxiliary. The lecture was given to a large house.

The expectations of the Logan public had been raised to a high pitch by the promise of this speaker. We feel safe in saying, however, that no disappointment was felt, unless possibly in the change of the subject from Hamlet to Richard III. Rev. Stafford explained to his audience, after the graceful introduction of Judge O. W. H. Wright, that he had, owing to a misunderstanding with the local ladies, come prepared with his address on Richard III instead of the subject advertised. His interpretations of the soliloquies and plots of that matchless villain, the deformed Richard, were worthy of a Keene or a Mansfield. With the handicap of plain clothes, no scenery, no "properties," and no music, nothing but the histrionic talent of the speaker, he rendered the terrible dream of Clarence, and the equally terrible one of Richard himself, with a tragic effect seldom or never seen here before.

The lecture was a success so far as the speaker and audience were concerned, and we trust also to the Ladies' Auxiliary, who brought Dr. Stafford here.

An offering will be received Sunday morning for the Presbyterian Churches in California recently destroyed or injured by earthquake or fire. Our General Assembly recommends that all our churches unite in a sympathetic effort to raise a relief fund of not less than $300.00.

Please come prepared to do your part to make our offering as large as possible. All our services at usual hours. Evening preaching service at 7:00. If you have no church home come and share ours with us. You are welcome.

Excursionists on the River Division, both north and south, got something Sunday night that was not specified on their tickets. A car-wheel flung on a coal-train in charge of Conductor Sam Mundy had broken in the afternoon, between Hawk's and Radcliff, derailing five cars. The excursion returning from the river to Columbus was unable to pass that night, and the same was the case with the return train from Columbus. Passengers were traded, each train retracing its course and carrying the other's freight. The transfer was made at the scene of the wreck, everybody walking around a matter of half a mile. In the darkness, confusion was rife. The north-bound travellers did not reach Logan until about two o'clock a. m.

CAPTURED THEM ALL.

The imperious and Conquering Reign of Isabel II.

"What's the news from Isabel, Mrs. Birch?" asked an interested neighbor.

"There is no news from my daughter Isabel. The only way I know she is still in existence since that baby was born is that I can recognize the handwriting as hers. It's a great mistake for a young mother to lose her identity the way Isabel's doing. I've lectured her about it in my letters, but I can't get a word of reply. Now, when I wrote last week I asked Isabel six direct questions about herself, her own health, her summer wardrobe and so forth. Her answer was eight pages—all about names for the baby! She discussed the pros and cons of every name under the sun and then put on a 'P. S.' to say:

"Leslie says this letter is all wasted. He has settled it that the baby is to have my name."

"There's one thing I insist on, though—they'll have to call that child 'Belle' or 'Izzie' when they stop saying 'baby.' Isabel certainly has the first right to her own name."

This was only one of a long series of like questions, with like answers, as the months went by.

"Tell us something about Isabel," was the frequent refrain of friends and relatives.

"Well, let me see," Isabel's mother would answer quizzically. "She thinks there's no prepared food on earth like a certain brand of condensed milk. And she's going to put baby into short clothes two whole weeks earlier than her neighbors advise because baby is so advanced for her age. Oh, yes, and she is going to leave the ruffles off the baby's pillowcases after this because baby will chew them. That's all I know about Isabel."

"Won't you read me a scrap of that letter from Isabel, Mrs. Birch?" begged a girl friend one day. "I'm hungry to know something about her."

"Certainly," agreed Mrs. Birch. Then she read:

"Precious Mother—I write in haste to ask whether two clusters of tucks and two rows of insertion will be too elaborate for baby's best short dress this summer. Mrs. Lamb thinks it will, but her baby is a boy, and that makes a difference, doesn't it? Of course I'm going to feather-stitch above the tucks. Please answer at once. YOUR OWN ISABEL.

"Now, my dear," added Mrs. Birch as she folded the letter, "I'm going out to visit Isabel myself this fall, and probably I can bring you some news when I come back."

She went. She was away six weeks, and every minute of that visit was so precious that her letters home were few and hurried. The news would have to wait until she came back, she wrote.

When at last she returned Isabel's favorite brother met his mother at the train.

"Well, mother," he cried eagerly, "how did you leave Isabel?"

"Isabel!" exclaimed Grandmother Birch, with rapturous enthusiasm. "John, she is certainly a wonder! She's begun to put two words together!"—Youth's Companion.

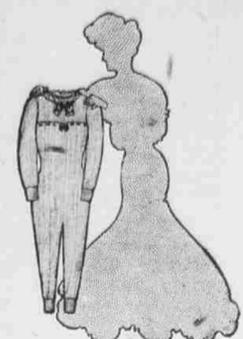

HE IS USUALLY A FAILURE.

The Ways of the Average Great American Office Boy.

A most difficult person to "organize" is the office boy. We hear so much about the bright American boy and the achievements of the public schools that the wonder is where the office boys come from. They bring certificates of some sort from their teachers, but— Every big concern has a procession of boys trooping through its offices and works day after day, but the boys, for the most part, are obstinate and incompetent. When a bright boy appears he finds his opportunity quickly enough, and if he has staying-powers he will get on. But the majority of youngsters that apply for jobs have no manners, they can't spell, and they are always watching the clock. They don't know whether San Francisco is in Cuba or the Philippines or whether Los Angeles is in Spain or the Sandwich Islands, and discrimination in the matter of foreign postage is beyond them. Discipline they object to, and they abhor taking orders. When it comes to that, the average young American of today does not take orders easily. He seems to suspect some hideous design upon his freedom and equality. After all, rudimentary information in geography, orthography, the wearing of hats and the omission of coats in offices and certain glimmerings of politeness are not without importance in business. The average applicant for office boydom has no notion of responsibility. He will take a job today and abandon it tomorrow on any pretext or on none at all.

But in capacity for vexation the average stenographer can give him points. Most stenographers are good laundresses or baseball pitchers spoiled. Polysyllables try their souls. The uncommon word fuddles their keys. Language is, in their minds, a device by which intelligent communication can be prevented, and initiative is a term without meaning. They believe that punctuation is given only to the gods, for they themselves know nothing of it. On the other hand, really capable stenographers are among the most helpful equipments of a business office, but their rarity is beyond belief.—Arthur Warren in Success Magazine.

Cool Underwear

Coolly Priced.

Yes, it is warm. But not half so warm if you're wearing the rightest kind of summer knit underwear. Is there a difference? Mercy, yes! As we can quickly show you when you're "showable," when you're at the underwear department.

Ours is knit to fit, not too closely in any one spot, only the expert makers are careful about all parts of the garments. And those selfsame expert makers are at the other end of the shopping lines that bring our underwear to us. Just the right weights, too, and sizes and costs. For good underwear should fit your pocketbook as well as you.
