Colored Shoes Are Only For the Woman With Small Feet.

IRISH LACE AND SATIN SHOES

The Princess Bathing Suit Has become Popular at the Smart Resorts. Hand Painting on Elaborate Gowns Has Been Revived.

Girls whose feet are not of the smallest proportions will do well to leave colored shoes severely alone. Brown and black shoes are by far the safest mode for a girl who takes any size bigger than a small four. There is something very fascinating about a tiny red shoe peeping out beneath a white muslin frilly frock, while blue footwear allied to a blue gown is almost equally as dainty, but the whole effect becomes absurd if the foot is not built on the smallest lines.

The craze at present for evening shoes of Irish lace mounted over pale them have even reached a yard in length, being introduced in the front of the hat and caught with an elaborate buckle or knot of ribbon. Shaded examples are not so popular as self-colored tints, and vivid colors, such as cerise, coral or grass green, are often employed on black or white hats.

The round and melon crowns, the huge high crowned and broad brimmed hats, drooping low at the left and turned up boldly at the right; the large and small mushroom models, the Napoleonic and Watteau ones—all these are among the fashionable hats.

As a hat trimming nothing could be lighter than tulle, which, with large, plain, flat brimmed hats of delicately tinted chip, is plaited up to form a ruche that goes around the brim and fastens at either the right or left side with one large single rose nestling in a small group of green leaves. On the smart woman's head even this hat is well tilted forward, and the deep bandeau at the back is a mass of chiffon to match.

The hat in the cut is a smart blue sailor. The trimming consists of rosettes of checked ribbon and a carefully arranged bunch of daisies and grasses.

colored stain is one of the chief features of the season, the heels being carried out in colors to correspond with the linings, white softie parie buttons take the place of bows. Brocade slippers for boudoir wear carried out in the richest brocade in old French patterns represent another fancy.

Lace is everywhere in the costume world. Princess styles and the rest of the one piece gowns which have their origin in princess modes furnish an other place to insert lace—about the waist in imitation of girde ideas. Dots and eyelet holes are on everything, and the flowered stuffs are fascinating—great, misty roses, with the age and hemmed with soft ivory duchesse satin. Above the hem are inch wide killings both of muslin and satin. New lines for suits and dresses and a dozen purposes now come bleached instead of the half bleached kinds formerly used.

THE PINAFORE FROCK.

Real hand painting on silk is an important feature in the dress world. Flower patterns are almost invariably chosen and the most fairylike effects are obtained. The silk treated in this manner is generally applied in the form of panels or insertions for evening dresses. Medallion insertions of hand painted mousseline de sole or chiffon are likewise introduced on lace dresses.

So popular is the princess model that even the bathing suits are being made up after that style, and so faithfully has it been copied that with the exception of the abbreviated skirt there is comparatively little difference noted.

The new watches are gayly enamelled to match the gowns. Colors that do not harmonize with sartorial outfit are not smart. The works are less important, the time keeping qualities not generally considered if tones blend.

"Colibre," or hummingbird, is the newest shade of pink. It has a soft, dull tone with a suggestion of brick red in its makeup. In soft silk it is very effective trimmed with vegetable lace or point d'alencon. It is much used for summer evening cloaks.

The pinafore frock illustrated is developed in the fashionable blue and white piking silk. Little quiltings of plain blue silk are effective as trimmings.

THE PERENNIAL SAILOR. Big roses, little roses—indeed, roses of every size and kind—are being used in millinery of the moment in bright shades of damask and cerise, pale pink and tea. In some cases shaded pink roses are admitted, and the old fashdeep purplish pinks of American Beauties side by side with wee tinted arabus blossoms, so pale that they seem hidden away in the background.

Among a collection of pretty linen gowns recently seen there was one trimmed with heavy hand embroidery on both waist and skirt. Although in one piece, the model gave the appearance of being in three parts. The bolero was embroidered all over in an effective design, while in front was a little vest worked in Persian colorings in soft blue, pink, yellow and green.

The gumpie was of batiste trimmed with narrow ruches of valenciennes edging. At the end of the sleeves there was a puff of the transparent batiste finished off like the vast with valenciennes ruchings.

The small girl's dress illustrated is of white pique. The skirt is laid in box platts and trimmed with two rows of wash braid. The bodice has a Dutch neck, sailor collar and "dicky," all adorned with braid. Pearl buttons hold the wide girde in place.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

Keep Him Broke. It's not the clothes that make the man; for what he's worth you take him. But when it comes to women's clothes They are the things that break him.

Whatever That Is. "Is he well educated?" "Well, he seems to know how to eliminate hard work from the problem of making a living."

Positive. "How do you know that he is a good lawyer?" "He confesses it himself."

Defined. "Pa, what's an heiress?" "Any American girl who marries a foreigner."

PERT PARAGRAPHS. A really clever woman is never suspected of it.

A beautiful lie is one that looks like the plain truth.

MODERN AFRICA.

The Partitioning of the Continent Among the Powers.

By 1895 the partition of Africa had become an established fact. Almost every square mile of its surface having been scrambled for (there is no better word) by the great powers of Europe, the most remarkable circumstance of this gigantic acquisition of territory was the absence of international strife.

Africa emerged from the struggle of the chancelleries of Europe to find itself provided with new masters in many directions. France had become the possessor of 3,300,000 square miles of territory, 1,600,000 of which lay in the great Sahara desert; Great Britain of 2,200,000; Germany, a newcomer, of nearly 1,000,000; Italy, also a new arrival, of 550,000, including a doubtfully assigned claim upon Abyssinia; Spain of 150,000; the three free states or republics—Liberian, Belgian and Afrikander Dutch—of 1,150,000.

The oldest colonies, Turkey and Portugal, claimed 2,200,000 and 825,000. A total in all of 11,370,000, leaving the poor little fraction of 230,000 unallotted, of which 70,000 lay in the great lakes and most of the remainder in the balance of boundary commissions.

By 1905 Britain, in annexing the South African republics and establishing with Egypt a joint control of the Sudan, added 800,000 to her total, and with her practical control of the destinies of Egypt itself is today the virtual ruler over some 3,300,000 square miles.

No partition of such a vast portion of the world's surface had ever taken place in so short a space of time, nor any one of even approaching magnitude, without severe and bloody human struggles. Britain had undoubtedly secured the lion's share, or perhaps the only share in which men of European descent could live and prosper materially and physically.

Africa possessed unique, though perhaps untoward features for successful development. Lying mainly, as it does, 30 degrees north and south of the equator, it was essentially the tropical continent. Its physical features resembled no other continent—Lieutenant Colonel Sir Percy Giroudin in Scribner's.

The Flight of Time. "I know of a case once where two daekies swapped mules," said a judge. "One of them was an old hand at the business, and in making the trade he represented his mule to be seven years old and told of many good traits the animal had not. This was in February. About two months later the other darky began to realize he had been victimized in the bargain and that the beast was fully twelve years old. So he decided to go back and tell the swindler he had lied to him about the animal. However, owing to it being the busy season of farming, he was not able to go until about the middle of June. He finally did go and told his man what he thought of his rascally misrepresentation about the mule.

"You say," said the other fellow, "dat when you got de mule in February he was seven years old and now it's June and he's twelve years old?"

"Yes, I do!" was the angry response.

you get the choicest, sweetest, richest and most wholesome grade of leaf the tobacco plant produces. Only the finest grade of selected leaf is used in

KIDNEY DISEASES CAUSE ONE-THIRD OF THE TOTAL DEATHS.

When the Kidneys fail to perform their functions properly by not straining out the poisonous waste matter from the blood as it passes through them, the poisons are carried by the circulation to every part of the body, deranging the different organs. This causes heart trouble, stomach trouble, sluggish liver and a host of other ills, all due to deranged Kidneys.

CURED OF BRIGHT'S DISEASE. Mr. Robert O. Burke, Elmore, Saratoga Co., N. Y., writes:—I am glad to have an opportunity of telling what magnificent results I have had from using FOLEY'S KIDNEY CURE after having tried other advertised medicines and several physicians. Before I began it had to get up from 12 to 20 times each night to relieve my bladder. I was all bloated up with dropsy and my eyesight was so impaired that I could scarcely see one of my family across the room. In fact, I was so badly used up that I had given up hope of living when I was urged by a friend to try FOLEY'S KIDNEY CURE. One recent bottle worked wonders, and before I had taken the third bottle the superfluous flesh had gone, as well as all other symptoms of Kidney trouble. My friends were surprised that I was cured, as they all thought I was going to die. Every few days some one comes from miles away to learn the name of the wonderful medicine that cured me of Bright's Disease, and not one that has tried it has failed to be benefited.
