RUNNING A NEWSPAPER.

Running a newspaper is just like running a hotel, only different. When a man goes into a hotel and finds something on the table that does not suit him he does not raise hoes with the landlord and all in his old hotel well hardly. He sets that dish aside and wades in to the many dishes that suit him. It is different with some newspaper readers. They find an article occasionally that does not suit them exactly and without stopping to think it may please hundreds of other readers, make a grand stand play and tell the editor how a paper should be run and what should be put into it.

Saloon Reduction in Ohio.

In 2905 Ohio had 12,931 saloons. The latest January report shows that there are 9,628 in operation, or a falling off of 3,303 in the last eighteen months. By far the largest part of this is owing to the tax and dollar tax. However, we have not heard of more than one or two towns from which the tax has removed saloons entirely. Local option elections in the townships, towns and residence districts during the year have not removed so many as the Aikin law, but where their work is done the territory is dry. The Jones law, especially, thoroughly removes the most dangerous saloons in the cities, namely, those in the residence districts.—American Issue

No Case on Record

NOISES.

Did you ever eat an egg without salt? If so, you know the effect of a series of Moving Pictures without the proper noise effect. The spectator may not know what is wrong, but when he sees trains rushing along, horses passing, guns being fired and many other things without any sound, he begins to wonder if he has lost his hearing entirely. The Motion Picture Co., of Washington, D. C., carries besides its immense stock of films, several hundred pounds of material for noise effects. During the exhibits, all noises which it is possible to imitate are produced true to life. The patter of hoofs, the roar and shriek of the trains, the clang of the gong, the songs of the birds, etc., accompany and form part of the life like exhibitions. Exhibits at Logan Opera House, April 5 and 6, prices 10, 20 and 30 cents.

A Missouri orator is said to have gotten off the following: "We live in a land of high mountains and high taxes; low valleys and low wages; big crooked rivers and big crooked statesmen; big lakes; big strikes; big drinks; big pumpkin heads; silver streams that gambol in the mountains and pious politicians that gambol in the night; fast young men and faster girls; sharp financiers and sharp-toed shoes; fertile plains that lie like a sheet of water and thousands of newspapers that lie like thunder."

An exchange undertook to do a poetical stunt and gave an exhibition like this:
A fly as it flies in a blue
Wave it sails and, so what could they do
Said the fly, "Let us see."
Said the sea, "Let us see."
So they flew through a dew in the dew.

Given Up To Die

B. Spiegel, 1204 N. Virginia St., Evansville, Ind., writes: "For over five years I was troubled with kidney and bladder affections which caused me much pain and worry. I lost flesh and was all run down, and a year ago had to abandon work entirely. I had three of the best physicians who did me no good and I was practically given up to die. Foley's Kidney Cure was recommended and the first bottle gave me great relief, and after taking the second bottle I was entirely cured." Why not let it help you. Bort & Co.

VENICE.

To the lovers of the beautiful, a trip to Venice would be a treat. Few can go there, so the Motion Picture Co., of Washington, D. C., has brought Venice to those who can not. The scenes portray a beautiful sunset in all its golden glow as seen from a gondola gliding along the Grand canal, by the famous prison, under the Bridge of Sighs and pausing in front of the Doge's Palace and St. Mark's Cathedral. The coloring is true to nature and the effect a most charming one. It is the only colored picture ever made of this scene. At the Logan Opera House, April 5 and 6, prices 10, 20 and 30 cents.

SOMETHING NEW—Latest fad, a picture of your child, sweet-heart or kodak scene enlarged on a pillow top which is washable and absolutely permanent. Special price for a short time. Photos returned uninjured. Circular free. W. B. RULAND, Zanesville, Ohio.

Obituary.

JAMES CONOWAY.

Mr. James Conoway was born in Steubenville, Ohio, Sept. 25, 1826, and died in Logan, March 14, 1907, at the age of 80 years 5 months and 19 days. When but a child he moved with his parents to a farm in Muskingum County, Ohio. When he was about six years old his mother died, and when he was thirteen his father passed away. He then made his home with Mr. Moore until he was twenty-one.

On Feb. 28, 1852 he was united in marriage and moved at once to Hocking County and settled on a farm, which he bought, near Union Furnace. In about one year his young companion was taken to the good world. It is sufficient to say that for forty-five years he knew what it was to pass through the varied experiences of sunshine and shadow, of joy and sorrow, of victories and losses. He did not marry again until Aug. 22, 1860 and on March 21, 1867 his home was broken up by the death of his companion, leaving him with two little boys.

On May 23, 1869, he was united in marriage with the one who survives him and mourns with a true heart and an inexpressible sense of loss. For almost thirty-eight years they have shared the comforts and prosperity of a good home and have mingled their tears amid some of the great sorrows of life. The mutual affection has been very true, the interests have been one and the growing sense of companionship has made the home life very dear.

Mr. Conoway loved his home as a true husband and father. The trials of his later life were perhaps not more severe but he seemed less able to bear them.

On Feb. 28, 1887 his son U. L., who was then five years old, was taken to his eternal home. The shadows resting upon the home were dark and the hearts were heavy. But the flood of sorrow came on May 7, 1893, when the only daughter, Stella, a lovely girl of almost nineteen summers, was taken. She was the light of the home, the joy of the parents, and there came no explanation of why she should be taken. From this great shock Mr. Conoway never fully recovered. Within three years he moved to Logan and never cared to return to the farm. Though reconciled to the divine will, yet his yearning heart could not help longing for a sound of that voice or a touch of that hand.

Of the two remaining children, Rev. Carlton Conoway, member of the West Virginia Conference of the M. E. Church, began preaching at the age of nineteen and for these twenty years has been a faithful parlor and very successful preacher. The other son, Mason remained on the farm until six years ago, since which time he has been engaged in railroad work and lives in Columbus.

Brother Conoway was a very industrious and successful farmer, at times owning large tracts of land; he was for a short time a good soldier in the civil war, but his one great desire was to be a christian and his one business was to try to do some good in the world. For forty years he was superintendent of the same Sunday school in his home church, and for forty-five years he was class leader at the home place. Not only in name did he hold these important official positions but he used his time and best endeavors to instruct and help those committed to his care. In his last sickness when consciousness of the present had grown dim, he was living back in the activities of thirty years ago, conducting services of prayer and instruction. His work was well done, his reward is sure.

Forever here my rest shall be,
Close to Thy bleeding side
This all my hope and all my plea,
For me the Savior died.

The funeral was at the residence, on East Main street, Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock, under the auspices of the Masonic Lodge. Rev. A. W. Buckland conducted the services. Interment was made Monday, in Oak Grove Cemetery.

Paste this in Your Hat.

It seems to be an easy and natural thing for some people to find fault. It takes less brains to do this than to do anything else. Such people criticise nature for putting thorns on roses, when they ought to be praising her for putting roses on thorns.

FIVE BODIES RECOVERED.

[Athens Message.]

Now that the body of Edward Swett has been recovered, but one body remains to be discovered, that of Lucius Turner, one of the six occupants of the overturned boat, all of whom met death. Searching parties are scouring the river banks for hundreds of yards on both sides and may be discovered at any time.

After the finding of Swett, the question has arisen as to whether Turner was in the boat at the time it was overturned. The men that were in the rescuing boat declare that there were but five persons in the boat. Other people, who were in the houses on Richland avenue and saw the accident, declare that Young was in the boat also, thus making six, Albert and Edward Swett, Mr. and Mrs. Lucius Turner, Carlos Young and Charles Bearls. Whether it was Young or Turner that was in the boat will never be known, but Young has been found and Turner is still missing, thus showing beyond reasonable doubt that both men met their death.
