Home-Coming.

A Home coming was enjoyed at the beautiful country home of Wm. Kreschbaum, when his children assembled at the old homestead to recall to memory the days of childhood when they used to play about the home, without care and responsibility. The day was one, long to be remembered, Father and Mother Kreschbaum should be very grateful of their children, all are spared as yet and are married except two, Floyd and Chas.

Mother Kreschbaum prepared a dinner which by all present, in the afternoon, Rev. J. L. Baker gave a talk. Prayer was offered and visitors returned to their home except the children, who the following Saturday went to their respective homes.

The names of the children are as follows: Alice Osborne, London O., Mina Nesbit, Zanesville, O., Jennie Smith, Ashville, O., Edwin Kreschbaum, Conway, O., Wm. Kreschbaum, Van Wert, O., Mabel Drum, Ashville, O., Cora Hutton, Zanesville, O., Charles and Floyd, of the home. Many useful presents were given to the parents by the children. May they enjoy many pleasant home-comings in the future.

The children possess a christian spirit which is very encouraging to parents and all, before separating the family all had a group of their pictures taken by Martin, Artist, Logan.

Foot Crushed.

On Saturday evening at the Logan depot, occurred the very unfortunate accident of the train running over the foot of Dan Cage, of Union Furnace. The horrible wound necessitated the removal of the mangled foot at the ankle.

Mr. Cage was waiting at the depot for the departure of his train to Union Furnace, and being engaged in talking, happened to notice the Athens train pulling out, and thinking it was the train to Union Furnace, he ran toward it and made a leap for the step. His hold slipped and he fell with one foot under the wheels.

He is about 35 years old, a son of John Cage.

Daily Journal-Gazette Suspended.

We are sorry indeed to learn of the Journal Gazette Publishing Co. ceasing to publish a daily paper.

Our town people should have more substantially appreciated a daily paper, and supported it in subscription and business patronage. We have pride enough in our town to want to see Logan support a daily paper, even if it was operated by our "vile contemporary."

Gompers Elected.

Norfolk, Va., November 23—Samuel Gompers to-day was unanimously re-elected president of the American Federation of Labor.

Mr. Charles A. Wright was in Columbus Friday and Saturday of last week.

Said Turkey Great to Pumpkin Big: "Long have I been, my friend, King of the barnyard, but my reign must soon come to an end; Thanksgiving Day is near—high-ho!" Said Pumpkin Big, "Yes, that is so."

Said Pumpkin Big to Turkey Great: "The kitchen garden's queen I am, and one more beautiful, I'm sure, was never seen!"

And yet, with you, I'll have to go," Said Turkey Great, "Yes, that is so."

"But still," said Turkey Great, "when cooked, King of the Feast I'll be."

"And in the pie," said Pumpkin Big, "I'll shine my royalty. Our fate might be much worse, you know."

And then they both sighed, "That is so."

APPOINTING THE DAY OF THANKSGIVING

PROCLAMATION FROM THE WHITE HOUSE IS ONE OF THE MOST SERIOUS DUTIES THAT DEVOLVE UPON THE PRESIDENT.

The only piece of really pure literature ever officially issued from the White House is the proclamation appointing a day of thanksgiving. All other papers written by the president are business documents, the phraseology of which is technical; but this annual message to the people is always a painstakingly worded and grateful composition. A fairly illustrative example will be found in Mr. Roosevelt's proclamation setting aside the last Thursday of the present month for the Thanksgiving of 1906.

It is the duty of Mr. Loeb (who runs the machinery of the president's business, arranging all his engagements for him) to call Mr. Roosevelt's attention to the fact that Thanksgiving approaches, and to remind him that a proclamation must be written. Of course, it requires considerable time to do this, and so busy a man as the chief executive of the nation might be excusable if he handed over the task to some subordinate, contenting himself with affixing his signature. But custom demands that the work shall be performed by the president himself.

Accordingly, when the proclamation has to be prepared, the president devotes some time to thinking out a new shape in which to put the more or less stereotyped ideas which are to be expressed, and, as he does so, jots down a few memoranda in pencil on a paper pad. Then, touching a buzz-button, he summons one of the dozen stenographers who are always in attendance, and dictates to him carefully the wording of the document. It is short—not more than 400 or 500 words—but daintily and tersely phrased. This, however, is only a rough draft. It is copied in typewritten by the stenographer, with lines twice the ordinary distance apart, so as to be convenient for corrections and interlineations, and in this shape is handed back to Mr. Roosevelt. He alters it a bit, modifying a sentence here and changing a word there, until it suits him—whereupon a fair copy is made, again submitted for correction, and finally sent over to the department of state.

At the department of state the proclamation is beautifully engrossed on a great sheet of fine parchment by a clerk highly skilled in this kind of penmanship. It is a considerable task, and occupies some days, at the end of which the document is sent back to the white House to receive the president's signature, and is thereupon returned to the department of state and sealed with the great seal of the United States.

This seal, by the way, is a sort of federal fetch. It is the most sacred of all things that belongs to the government; and no print of it is ever allowed to be given away or sold—though, of course, it is attached to all military and naval commissions, and to various other executive documents. It was made by a New York jeweler at a cost of $10,000, and is kept in a beautiful rosewood box at the state department. In order that it may be used for stamping the Thanksgiving proclamation, a printed order to that effect must be signed by Mr. Roosevelt.

The department of state is the permanent depository of executive proclamations. All the Thanksgiving proclamations ever issued by the presidents of the United States are filed away in its archives—back even to 1795, when George Washington set aside the 19th day of February, in that year, as a date on which the people should "thank God for exemption from foreign war and from insurrection." Consequently, the engraved proclamation is retained by the department "for keeps," and it is a copy that is sent by special messenger to the government printing office, to be put into type. Printed copies are given to the newspapers, or to anybody who wants them; but there must be typewritten copies for the governor of each state and territory of the union, and these are made at the White House and mailed from there.

It will thus be seen that the issuing of the annual Thanksgiving proclamation is, from beginning to end, quite an elaborate piece of business. There is no law to compel the president to make it, and Mr. Roosevelt, if he had so chosen, might have omitted it this year or during his administration. Or, if it should seem proper to him next year, he might choose another day—say, the 1st of January—instead of the last Thursday in November. But it is reasonably certain that he will do neither of these things, for custom holds fast in the bonds of usage the chief magistrate of the nation equally with the plainest citizen.

As everybody knows, the celebration of Thanksgiving day dates back to the Puritans. At irregular intervals, after their arrival in this country, they set dates by public announcement for prayer and feasting, in recognition of blessings vouchsafed from on high. Following this example, in the early history of the republic, days of thanksgiving were appointed by the president for special reasons.

But somehow the pious custom fell into abeyance, and for many years there was no national Thanksgiving, until, during the civil war, a woman, Sarah Josepha Hale, who edited a woman's paper, and who had been chiefly instrumental in raising $50,000 to complete the Bunker Hill monument—took up the matter, and persuaded Abraham Lincoln to take an interest in it. Thus it came about that Mr. Lincoln issued a proclamation in 1864, appointing the last day of November of that year as a day of prayer and rejoicing. Since then the custom has held, and there has been an annual Thanksgiving celebration for the entire nation, at the instance of the president.

At the White House, Thanksgiving day is always very quietly spent, without any special celebration—barring the fact that each married member of the official staff, including the policemen who guarded the premises, receives a fine turkey. Nearly 70 fat birds are distributed by Col. Crook, the executive paymaster, who is himself an interesting personage, inasmuch as he has been attached to the White House staff, in various capacities, since Lincoln's time. Mr. Roosevelt usually has several turkeys, which are sent to him as gifts.—Rene Bache, in Brooklyn Eagle.

Miles Standish's Triumph.
Miles Standish, the redoubtable captain of Plymouth, looked complacently at the well roasted turkey, flanked with gravy and cranberry sauce.—If cranberry sauce had indeed been invented.

"Meditable," he said to his venerable housekeeper, "prithce on this Thanksgiving day, do I return thanks for many blessings. It has been a year, has it not, since that young Aiden married the Priscilla woman?"

"A year and several moons," said the housekeeper, as she helped him to some of the dressing.

"I see by the Colonial Thrunderer," continued the stern old warrior, as he balanced a roasted crestaunt on his fork, "that Aiden has applied for a divorce on the ground that she is a common scold. He hasn't been able to speak for himself since they were married."—New York Herald.

Obituary.

Sarah Ellen, daughter of Robert and Elizabeth White, was born near Enterprise, Hocking County, Nov. 18, 1866, died in Lancaster, Ohio, Nov. 19, 1907, aged 41 years and 1 day.

At the age of 15 she became interested in the welfare of her soul, and under the labors of Rev. Stump she was converted and joined the Fairview M. E. Church near Enterprise, in the year of 1881. She was a faithful and devoted Christian, always found at her host of duty, when health permitted. She held her church relations in the M. E. Church until death called her to the Church Triumphant. She leaves to mourn her departure, the father, five brothers, Will, of Carroll, Ohio, John, of Baltimore, Ohio, Allen, of the South, Elmer and Clinton White, of Rockbridge, Ohio; two sisters, Mrs. Emma Beery and Mrs. Effa Nixon, both of Logan, Ohio, besides a host of friends. The mother, one brother, Levi, and one sister, Mrs. Lydia Murphy, having preceded her to the Spirit Realm. She was conscious to the last, and just fifteen minutes before her departure, she expressed her readiness to go, saying, all is well. She bore her afflictions without murmur or complaint. Our loss is her gain, she has gone to reap the reward in Heaven, she so faithfully hoped and worked for, and to be with those who have gone before.

After brief services at the home in Lancaster, Ohio, the sad and sorrowful procession started on its journey to the Fairview M. E. Church near Enterprise, where services were conducted by Rev. J. O. Geiger of the U. B. Church, assisted by Rev. Baker of the M. E. Church, after which the remains were laid beside the mother (who but a couple short weeks had preceded) to rest and to await the resurrection morn.

We miss Thee from our home dear sister,
We miss Thee from thy place,
A shadow o'er our life is cast,
We miss the sunshine of Thy face,
Thy fond and loving care,
Our home is dark without Thee,
We miss Thee everbody.

CARD OF THANKS.

We wish to extend our thanks to kind friends and neighbors for their sympathy and assistance in our sorrow and sad bereavement.

ROBERT WHITE AND FAMILY.

Killed by Cars.

[Murray City News.]

Wednesday afternoon just at quitting time James Bartholemew, employed at number five mine, met with a horrible accident, which resulted in his immediate death. Mr. Bartholemew was starting home and had his dinner bucket on his arm when he undertook to cut a motor trip and then catch the motor and ride out side or to the bottom of the slope. In running ahead of the cars he cut off and which were coming down a steep grade, he somehow caught his foot and fell. In a moment he was ground beneath the wheels of the loaded cars. The unfortunate man leaves a wife and a large family of children. Mrs. Bartholemew and the former widow of Ike Oiler, who was killed and at Blatchford some two or three years since at Consol, will long be remembered. The funeral was conducted at the U. B. church, interment took place at Straitsville.

Zeigler-Kintz.

[Lancaster Democrat.]

Dr. Charles J. T. Zeigler, formerly of this city, but now of Columbus, and Miss Madge Kintz, elder daughter of Mrs. Thomas V. Kintz, of Mulberry street, were quietly married Sunday afternoon at four o'clock in Columbus. The ceremony was performed by Father C. R. Rhode, at the parsonage. Preceding the ceremony a family dinner was served at the home of the bride in this city. The happy couple have taken up their residence in a handsomely furnished home corner of Oak and Young streets, Columbus.

LOCAL AND PERSONAL.

Mrs. Silverthorne is visiting her daughter at Mt. Sterling.

Mrs. J. J. Snider has been visiting several days in Columbus.

Mr. Frank Oldiges, of Nelsonville, spent Sunday evening in Logan.

Rev. and Mrs. Willis spent the latter part of last week in Jackson, Ohio.

Mrs. Whitmer, of Columbus, is the house guest of Mrs. Charles Lutz.

Mr. George Baynam, Marshal of Murray City, was a visitor to Logan, Monday.

Mrs. W. H. Farrell, of Athens, spent last Thursday with Mr. and Mrs. Ed Beck.

Miss Edle Price is visiting friends and relative in Columbus, this week.

Mr. Barney Eastman, of Columbus, spent last Saturday with his parents, in this city.

Col. "Bill" Friesner, of Sugar Grove, and his wife, were visiting in Logan, Saturday.

Mr. Arch Krieg, of Charleston, W. Va., was the guest of his folks in Logan for a few days.

Mrs. George Burberry, jr., spent several days last week with relatives, at Bremen, Ohio.

Misses Besse and Marie Bowman, of Columbus, were guests of their aunt, Mrs. V. P. Heft on Sunday.

Our old friend Infirmiry Director Dan Engle, was in Logan, Thursday afternoon of last week.

Messrs. Will Voris, Levert Sain, Noah Roby and Dick White were visitors to Lancaster, Sunday evening.

Mr. Jacob Bainter, of Rockbridge, was a visitor to Logan last Saturday, and a pleasant caller at this office.

Mrs. Jane Ferguson, of Columbus, spent Sunday with her mother, Mrs. Hannah Price, on Glenview Heights.

Mrs. H. J. Woodworth, of Haydensville, was the guest of her mother, Mrs. Lafe Warner, a few days the last of the week.

Mrs. Clara Bright, of Clintonville, Franklin County, visited her father, Mr. Adam Poling, in Marlon township, last week.

Mrs. F. F. Rempel is visiting at her old home in Malta, prior to she and her husband going back to California for the winter.

Mr. Loren Bort, of Jacksonsville, Ohio, formerly an old-time printer on the Sentinel, was in Logan visiting relatives Saturday.

Judge S. H. Bright delivered a very able address at the M. E. Church Sunday evening on the subject of "Home Missions."

We are glad to chronicle that George Krishbaum, who was so seriously hurt by a horse running away, is able to be out again.

Mr. John Williams, who had been spending the last week with relatives in Logan and vicinity, returned to his home in Columbus, Saturday last.

Mr. and Mrs. Ambrose Kessler and little son, of Nelsonville, spent Sunday in Logan, the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Rhorer, of Glenview Heights.

At the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Reinsettle, Thursday of last week, came a nine pound boy. We wish them good luck, and hope the boy will grow up to be as good a man as his father.

The entire force of 38 Dagoes employed at the Kerlin Brick Plant left Saturday. Dispute in wage or slack work was the cause of their embarkation. Well, socially, the town hasn't lost much.
