

The News-Herald.

OFFICE IN POST-OFFICE BUILDING

DECEMBER 29, 1892

Miss Estelle McCord, of Columbus, is visiting Miss Lena Ellifrits.

Miss Lena Smith, of New Vienna, is the guest of friends at this place.

Mr. Harry Hoyt, of McKeesport, Pa., is a guest at the residence of Dr. Hoyt.

Miss Birdie Ayres has gone to Chillicothe to spend the holidays with friends.

Mr. Gatch Brown is at Richmond, Ind., on a visit to his brother, Mr. Roy Brown.

Miss Stella Pierson, of Cincinnati, spent Christmas at the home of her uncle, Mr. E. R. Pierson.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Trout and children, of Ironton, Ohio, are visiting Mrs. Trout's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Reece.

All the National banks will be closed next Monday, as New Year's day falls on Sunday, making the next day a legal holiday.

Colonel and Mrs. R. B. Julian, of the Ohio Military Institute at College Hill, are the guests of Mrs. Julian's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Hickie.

The leap year dance at Smith's Hall, which began the holiday festivities, Monday night was largely attended and greatly enjoyed by those present.

Miss Lallah Richards entertained a number of friends very pleasantly on Christmas eve in honor of her sister, Miss Georgians, who was at home from Springfield over Christmas.

The members of the Presbyterian Church at New Petersburg will give an oyster supper on Wednesday night, January 4th. Proceeds to be applied to the benefit of the church. Everybody invited.

As a time for marrying, the Christmas season seems to be the most popular. Probate Judge Kelley last week broke the record by issuing 28 marriage licenses, seven being issued on Saturday and five on Monday.

Postmaster Carson will take charge of the E. & O. S. W. office next Monday. His office force there will consist of Miss Madge Carson, George Swartzel and Dan Murphy, while the two new clerks, Miss Isabel Keech and Clarence Grove, will be employed in the post-office.

County Commissioner Cochran and Infirmary Director Willett will step down and out of official life next Monday and their Republican successors, Messrs. Caldwell and Penn, will begin their terms. Mr. Caldwell's bond, $8,000, was approved by the Commissioners at their meeting Monday. It is signed by Messrs. J. N. Douglas, J. B. Elliott and Allen Caldwell.

The cold weather prevented a good many from attending the lecture given by Hon. Woodson D. Williams, the "silver-tongued dusky Depey," at the Court House Friday night, but a fair sized audience was greatly entertained. There is a prospect of his lectures being made regular features to supersede the "Pop" concerts, which seem to have been abandoned.

The funeral services for Dennis McCabe, mention of whose death last Wednesday was made last week, were held on Friday morning at St. Mary's Catholic Church and were attended by a very large number of his former friends and the friends of the family. The services were conducted by Rev. Father O'Brien, of St. Mary's, and the remains were interred in the Catholic cemetery at this place. The pall bearers were chosen from the members of the Knights of McGinty, an association of the young men of the city, with which the deceased was connected at the time of his flourishing existence two or three years ago and which still keeps up its organization in the spirit if not in the letter. Other members of the order acted as an escort in the last journey of their departed companion.

There has been much said about the "Boston girl," but the Hillsboro, Ohio, girl comes to the front with the following interpretation of "Old Mother Hubbard went to her cupboard, to get her poor dog a bone. But when she got there the cupboard was bare, and the poor old doggie got none."

"The venerable legendary mother De La Hubbard resumed perambulatory progression towards the piece of furniture designated an enclosure, for the procurement of an osicle for the consumption of her sagacious assivorous animal of the canine tribe. Upon her arrival at her destination her mental faculties were overcome with consternation at the discovery of a voidance in the depository, and the living corporal being endowed with motary and sensory powers, was deprived of its means of mastication and the benefit arising from the portion of anatomy styled maxillaries and sub-maxillaries."

We have been prosecuting a vigorous search for the young lady referred to in the above item from the Weeping Water (Neb.) Republican. It is almost certain that she is still in the city, and she is supposed to be attending the Teachers' Institute, but all efforts to capture her have, as yet, been unavailing. Anyone finding her and returning her to the dictionary rack in the public library will be liberally rewarded.

THIRD TIME'S CHARM.

The Water Works Ordinance Has Passed Two Readings.

Council's meeting Friday night was for the purpose of taking further action in the water works and annexation projects and hearing the report of gas expert Green, who was summoned by Council from Columbus to inspect the gas works. The water works ordinance was put on its second reading and passed. It will come up again at the regular meeting next Monday night and will in all probability go through. No action will be taken by the opposition towards securing an injunction until after the ordinance is passed.

The former annexation ordinance was repealed preparatory to the passing of the new one.

The Solicitor made a report on the result of the inspection of the gas works on behalf of the inspector, Mr. Green, and stated that a full written report would be made to Council by that gentleman at the earliest possible time.

Council adjourned until the regular January meeting next Monday night.

Miss Mary Chaney is visiting Miss Grace Glascock at Washington C. H.

Dr. H. W. LeFevre is taking his X-mas vacation visiting friends at Detroit, Mich.

Court was in session for a short time on Monday, but adjourned until next Monday.

Miss Edna Weh, of the public schools, is at her home at Plymouth, O., for the vacation.

Dr. Harry V. Spargur, of Cincinnati, is visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Spargur.

Mrs. J. D. W. Spargur and daughter, Miss Daisy, are visiting relatives at Circleville, O.

Mr. and Mrs. VanBuskirk, of Syracuse, N. Y., are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Chamberlain.

Miss Mary Murray is at home from Ohio Wesleyan University at Delaware until after the holidays.

Mr. Parse Grandstaff and Miss Melissa Ellison were married in the Probate Judge's office last Saturday by Rev. J. H. Shade.

Messrs. Lyman and Norman Beecher are at home for their vacation from Andover, Mass., where they have been at school.

Miss Dolly Patterson, who has been attending school at Oxford, is spending the holidays with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Patterson.

Miss Katie Dawson entertained quite a large company very elegantly at the Dawson home on North High street on Tuesday evening. Dancing was the amusement.

Although Frank Emmerling reports a very large Christmas trade, he has some very fine goods left, suitable for New Year, wedding or birthday presents, at greatly reduced prices.

Mr. Jim Keech, who has been located at Lima, O., for the past few months, looking up the Allen county delinquent taxpayers, is at home for the holidays with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Keech.

The Adams county ministers have signed a paper opposing the custom of holding funeral services on Sunday and requesting that they be not called on to officiate on that day except in cases of absolute necessity.

Mr. Sam Ochs, the well-known proprietor of the South High street meat market, died at his home in this city about six o'clock Monday morning, of a hemorrhage of the lungs. Mr. Ochs had been in poor health for a number of years but his condition did not become serious until the last three weeks.

Among many handsome holiday displays made by our merchants none have attracted more attention than the one at Ruetenik's Empire Meat Market. The meat shop seemingly offers but little field for decorative art, but Ruetenik's store is so attractively and tastefully arranged that it catches the eye of every one.

The G. G. G. Comedy Company in "Love and Law" opened its week's engagement at the Armory Monday night before one of their old time large audiences and were as successful in pleasing their patrons as they have always been in the past. Their success was repeated Tuesday evening and big houses will no doubt greet them during the rest of the week.

Editor Depoy, of the Buckeye, has a longing to succeed U. G. Smith as P. M. at Leesburg. Six other faithful followers of Grover have the same longing and the Buckeye man wants to settle the matter by an election. All the other candidates are opposed to it because they fear the Republicans will turn in and vote purposely for some one who would disgrace the Democratic administration. Greenfield will choose a successor to Jerry Kerr by the way proposed by the Buckeye.

NAVOR'S COURT.

Anna Ward, a heavy weight colored girl, who has once or twice got herself into trouble through her propensity to use profane language at any and all times, got on a tear out on Ripley Hill Friday and made all the atmosphere between the City Hall and the new corporation line blue with her oaths. Mayor Davis made her a nice little X-mas present of $25 and the costs. He suspended the former and sent the fair and heavy Anna to jail until the costs were paid.

Jesse Goins is one of the hardest working, most industrious colored men in Hillsboro, but when he gets a little whiskey on board he loses control of his craft. Last Friday he started out on an anti-Christmas celebration and wound up in the hands of the law on account of his disorderly conduct in two or three stores on Main street. He was fined $25 and costs, but got the fine suspended by settling the costs.

Charles Smith, of New Vienna, came over on Saturday to purchase a larger sized Christmas jag than he could procure in New Vienna. He succeeded in getting a larger one than he had means of transportation for and couldn't get out of town with it. He got $5 and accommodations.

The C. & M. Dissolution.

Mr. C. H. Collins in last week's Gazette had the following card:

There are some errors from inadvertence in the railroad, statement in this week's News Herald. The assessment on stockholders in Cailey suit was more than enough to pay the judgment and costs, so that not only were the amounts almost, but they were entirely realized. There was no compromise with Judge Thompson. His claim was thrown out not only in Common Pleas Court, but on appeal in the Circuit Court, and was taken no further, and he agreed to no compromise, for none was offered him. The decree in the suit of Cailey is a finality and neither Judge Thompson or the Receiver can collect a dollar from the stockholders who were released in that decree. All the stockholders were before the Court. Some were held and others released. The decree is final and a bar, and no one but a creditor has the right under our statute to enforce the statutory liability of stockholders. The paper authorizing Judge Thompson to have the corporation dissolved was not the effect of a compromise, but was agreed to and signed by parties represented by me at my request and with the understanding that if anything was left after paying judgments in Cailey case we were willing Judge Thompson might have it, and not with a view that we were authorizing suits for contribution against Mr. Boardman and many others who were released in the Cailey case. We wanted to get rid of the corporation so that there could be no possibility of any more debts being contracted or any further opportunity for litigation. Supposing the corporation utterly without assets, and expecting the referee to so find, we saw no necessity for a Receiver, who is necessarily only nominally one as there is nothing to receive. Having tried in the Cailey case to have every stockholder assessed and the Court having found those who were liable, I would have no hesitation in defending any stockholder who was released and pleading the bar of the decree in the Cailey case.

C. H. COLLINS.

It is but proper to state that Judge Evans' decree itself contains nothing justifying the collection by Judge Thompson of the money due from stockholders who have not paid the 36% assessment ordered in the Cailey case. It is simply a decree dissolving the C. & M. company and ordering a distribution of the money in the clerk's hands.

Our statements last week were based entirely on the papers and Referee's report in the case and the errors, if any, are chargeable to an incorrect statement of the facts there. It is stated specifically that Judge Thompson's claim against the road having been disallowed, he was about to carry the matter to the Supreme Court when he and certain stockholders, who had paid the assessment, "entered into a compromise of his claim and in consideration that he, J. H. Thompson, agreed to institute and prosecute these proceedings for final dissolution and to pay all costs and expenses that might be incurred in these proceedings and to accept and receive whatever sums he might recover from their co-stockholders under their several contributory rights of action against such stockholders who had not paid the several amounts adjudged against them by the Circuit Court, and also those stockholders who had not been assessed to pay any per cent. on their stock in satisfaction of said judgment in said Circuit Court."

The matter is of but little importance, as it is not thought probable that Judge Thompson can collect any great amount of the unpaid assessments, even if there existed such a compromise and agreement as is mentioned in the report, but there is some curiosity manifested as to whether it did exist or not. The report says it did; Mr. Collins and a number of others who signed the paper claim that it contained no such recognition of Judge Thompson's claim or agreement as to how he was to receive his compensation.

AN EXPERT'S OPINION.

The Gas Works Are Not Being Properly Managed.

Council has at last got a hold on the gas company and something may be expected to drop at the meeting on next Monday night. At the meeting on Dec. 19 a special committee to investigate the light question was appointed. That committee resolved that the best thing to do was to have some one thoroughly competent to inspect the gas works and see if the proper methods were used in manufacturing the gas. Superintendent Green, of the Columbus gas works, an acknowledged expert in his line, was immediately sent for and arrived here last Thursday evening. That evening he visited the electric light works and the next morning made a thorough inspection of the gas works. His formal report of the results of the inspection have not yet been made, but the City Solicitor made a partial report of his findings at the Council meeting Friday evening.

In his report he will find no fault with the electric light works, but the results of his investigation confirm all that has been said in reference to the mismanagement of the gas works, and leave the company not a shadow of excuse for the imposition that has been practiced upon the citizens.

His report, in substance, will be that the capacity of the works is not great enough for the demand upon them; that proper efforts to purify the gas are not made; that good materials are generally used, but so sparingly that the proper results are not attained; that there is a sufficient supply of water for all purposes; that there is an evident lack of knowledge on the part of the operatives as to the proper methods of manufacturing gas, and that the product finally turned out is not fit for use.

It is expected that his report will be received this week so that some action can be taken by Council next Monday night.

BERR BURR.

The Pastor of the Colored Baptist Church, in a Bad Light.

Mayor Davis, on Monday, decided a case which was brought before him last week, and which places Rev. Burr, the pastor of the Colored Baptist Church, in a not very enviable light. The reverend gentleman, since he has assumed his charge here, has boarded at the house of Mrs. Rachel Ash, and the intimacy of the two has previous to this difficulty caused very unfavorable comment.

Last week Mrs. Ash and Mrs. Hattie Elliott, wife of Mal Elliott, got into a difficulty at J. Y. Dean's chickery and as choice a lot of billingsgate as has been displayed in the town for a long time was indulged in. The war of words closed with a somewhat emphatic intimation by Mrs. Elliott that Mrs. Ash's relations with Rev. Burr were not exactly such as should exist between one of the flock and the pastor.

Mrs. Ash felt highly aggrieved that her character should be thus impugned and came up and had a warrant issued for Mrs. Elliott's arrest on the charge of slander. The trial before the Mayor developed some very racy testimony. One of the witnesses, who said he frequently on Sunday mornings took beer and whisky to Mrs. Ash's home, testified to having on one occasion found the couple occupying the same room and that there were evidences that it had been the only room occupied over night.

In the light of such testimony as this the Mayor was inclined to think there was as much truth as slander in Mrs. Elliott's remarks and she was discharged.

MARRIED.

FETTRO—EDINGFIELD—At the Reformed parsonage, Dec. 21, Mr. A. V. Fetro, of Samantha, and Miss Addie Edingfield, of Hillsboro.

FOUCH—REAM—On December 25, 1892, at the residence of William Ream, near Berryville, by Rev. E. L. Knox, Mr. G. H. Fouch and Miss Maggie V. Ream.

BELL—STRABER—At the same time and place, Mr. John W. Bell, of Nebraska, and Miss Annie M. Straber.

OATES—CLEMENTS—On the 22d inst. at the Presbyterian Parsonage, by Rev. W. J. McSurely, Mr. T. P. Oates, of Harper's, Ross county, and Miss Hattie V. Clements, of near Boston, in this county.

They have different ways of looking at us up in Washington C. H. and the way depends a good deal on the mental status of the man.

If he is an intelligent, observing, liberal-minded, truthful man like the Fayette Herald man he will say as did that gentleman last week:

Hillsboro is a high, dry town and they feel the need of a good system of water-works, and they ought to have it, and they will have it, or we mistake the energy and perseverance of our neighbors of that town.

If he is an ignorant, unobserving, narrow-minded prevaricator, as the Register Democrat man evidently is, he would remark as did that gentleman last week:

Greenfield has water works and is booming right along, while Hillsboro, the county seat of Highland county, has comparatively little to keep it going beside the traditional glory of the past and the seat of justice which draws the citizens of the county there two or three times a year to pay taxes or attend court.

"Jap" Marshall has no mental status to speak of and the State Register has expressed no opinion.

Grant's Stock Sale.

John Grant, a youth who has been in jail since the middle of October under indictment for obtaining a signature by false pretenses, pleading guilty before Judge Newby Monday morning and was sent to the Beys' Industrial home until he becomes twenty-one years of age. Grant assumed the name of Harry Brown and sold a cow belonging to a Mrs. Mooney to E. V. Keller, pretending that it belonged to his mother, who wanted him to sell it. Keller, acting as agent for C. E. Brown, gave a check for $20 signed by Mr. Brown in payment.
