THE WOMAN OF CANAAN.

International Sunday School Lesson for April 5, 1898.

[Based Upon Peloubet's Select Notes.] THE LESSON.—Matthew 15:21-28. Read Matthew 15 and 1 Kings 17:1-9. The parallel is Mark 7:24-31. GOLDEN TEXT.—Then came she and worshipped Him, saying, Lord, help me.—Matt. 15:25. TIME.—Early summer, A. D. 29. Several weeks after the last lesson. PLACE.—The first miracle was performed on the borders of the country of Tyre and Sidon, 40 or 50 miles northwest of the Sea of Galilee, 1 Kings 17:23-24 relates two examples of Elijah's help to a woman of this same region. The other miracles of the lesson were performed in the region of Decapolis, on the southeastern shore of the Sea of Galilee (Mark 7:31). EXPLANATORY. I. Jesus Retires from Galilee for a Time.—V. 21. The reason for this seems to have been the increasing opposition of the Jews as described in the previous portion of the chapter, and in the discourse concerning the bread of life which followed the feeding of the 5,000 a short time before this lesson (John 6:60-71). We learn also from John 7:1 that "the Jews sought to kill Him."

II. The Afflicted Daughter.—V. 22. Jesus had gone privately into a house, but He could not be hid, and a Syrian-Phoenician woman in her great anxiety for help had found Him. And she cried: "Have mercy on me." Her daughter's trouble was her own. Her daughter was "grievously vexed with a devil." The torment of this disease may be learned from the description of similar cases. One such, a boy, is described as often falling into the fire and often into the water (Matt. 17:15, 18). The spirit makes him dumb, "and whosoever he taketh him, he tearth him, and he foameth, and gnasheth with his teeth, and pineth away" (Mark 9:17, 18). The Gadarene demoniac was wild and fierce, "crying and cutting himself with stones."

III. The Mother's Victorious Faith.—Vs. 23-28. "But He answered her not a word." He appeared to treat her with neglect and indifference. It seems, by what follows, as if He arose and left the house. Various reasons are given for this silence. (1) To test and deepen the woman's faith. (2) "It seems to us that this was not the reason so much as that He might show His disciples and all succeeding centuries what a dauntless faith this woman had. Not for her sake, but for ours, she was put off for awhile."—A. F. Schaeffer. "His disciples . . . besought Him, saying: Send her away." Cure her and let her go. They intended for her, but partly because it was a trial to them to have her crying after them. "But He answered:" speaking to the disciples, and presenting the difficulty in the way. The mother may have overheard it. "I am not sent but unto the lost sheep of the house of Israel." This was His present work, and, till His death, it was the best means for finally reaching the Gentiles. "Then came she and worshipped Him." By prostrating herself before Him in oriental fashion. "But He answered:" with a comparison probably not unfamiliar to her as expressing the feelings of the Jews toward the Gentiles: "It is not meet (fitting, proper) to take (to take away) the children's bread, and to cast it to dogs?" The "children" are the Jews; the "dogs" are the Gentiles. "There was some reason lying at the base of the designation. The heathens around were, in the mass, exceedingly uncleanly and ferocious, barking too, incessantly at the true God and true godliness."—Morison. She granted the truth of the proverb, but out of its very truth she brings an argument for the granting of her request. "Yet," it is not in spite of, but because of the truth of the proverb, that she argues for help. "The dogs eat of the crumbs which fall from their master's table." So let me have the crumbs, what is left over after you have done all you plan for the Jews. It will not take anything away from them if you help me. "O woman, great is thy faith!" Her faith was great in its love, being for her daughter. It was great in its earnestness. It was great in its foundations, the power and love of the Messiah, and His past good deeds to others. It was great in its humility, conquering self. It was great in overcoming obstacles. "And her daughter was made whole from that very hour." As she found on her return (Mark 7:30); for she acted upon her faith and went home.

IV.—Christ the Healer and Helper of Man.—Vs. 29-31. One example of Christ's work having been given in detail a general picture is presented, massing His works together so that we may see more clearly His character and what He came to do. After no very long stay Jesus went north through the territory of Sidon (Mark 7:31), then eastward through northern Galilee, across the upper Jordan, and down on the east side of the Sea of Galilee, to the part of Decapolis (the ten cities) bordering on that lake (Mark). He was thus still out of Herod's territory. "And great multitudes came unto Him, having with them those that were lame, blind, dumb, maimed, and many others, and cast them down at Jesus' feet; and He healed them. Inasmuch that the multitude wondered, when they saw the dumb to speak, the maimed to be whole, the lame to walk, and the blind to see; and they glorified the God of Israel."

SUGGESTIVE QUESTIONS.

1. About where was the miracle of this lesson performed? 2. What remarkable miracles had been performed in this same locality many centuries before (1 Kings 17:20-23)? 3. What was the prayer of the woman who came to Jesus? 4. What reason would you give as the probable motive for His seeming indifference? 5. How far did He test her faith (v. 26)? 6. What does it mean by "the children's bread" by the Jews? 7. What use did the woman make of this proverb? 8. What does the answer to her prayer show as to what Jesus Himself really believed concerning the proverb? 9. Where did Jesus now go, and what was the character of the miracles He performed? 10. What was the effect on the multitudes that thronged to see and hear

A School Girl's Nerves.

This record is of especial value to parents. It's a message from a loving mother dedicated to the mothers of growing girls. A truthful narrative of the utmost interest and import.

It is important that the nerves are carefully guarded. Mothers who have young daughters of school age should watch their health more carefully than their studies. The proper development of their bodies is of first importance. After the confinement of the school room, plenty of out-door exercise should be taken. It is better that children never learn their a, b, c's, than that by over-study they lose their health. All this is self-evident. Everyone admits it—everyone knows it, but everyone does not know how to build the health up when once broken down, even the best physicians failing at times. The following method of Mrs. Stephen Barnes, whose post office address is Burney, Ind., if rightly applied, may save your daughters.

When her daughter Lucy was at that critical girlhood age of twelve years she grew weak and nervous. "Previously she had been a bright, healthy young girl," says Mrs. Barnes, "She was diligent and progressive in her studies. "It became necessary, however, for her to leave school. "She was overtaxed mentally and physically. "Her nerves were at such a tension that the least noise irritated her. "She had continual twitching in the arms and lower limbs and symptoms of St. Vitus' dance. "Her blood was out of order she was thin and pale, almost lifeless. In three months she lost twenty-three pounds. "We did everything possible for her, and she had the best of medical treatment. "Several skilled physicians attended her, but no benefit was apparent. "A family friend visiting us, told how her daughter had been similarly affected, but cured by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. "We urged us to try the pills, and we finally consented. "We have always rejoiced that we did. "The pills helped Lucy at once, and after taking eight boxes she was entirely cured. "She is now in perfect health, strong, weighs ten pounds more than ever before, and her cheeks are full of color. "Two years of schooling were missed on account of ill health, but now she can gratify her ambition to study and become an educated woman. "The reason that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People were helpful in the above case, is that they are composed of vegetable remedies which act directly on the impure blood, the foundation of disease. As the blood rushes through all parts of the body, the conveyer of good or bad health, it is necessary that it should be pure, rich and red. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills build up the blood by supplying its life giving elements which nourishes the various organs, stimulating them to activity in the performance of their functions and thus drives disease from the system. The pills are in universal demand and sold by all druggists.
