John W. Vogel's Big City Minstrels travel in swell private cars—rolling palaces that cost a fortune, and afford comfort and luxury. The minstrels of today do not fly-by-night to escape the tavern keeper; neither do they tour overland by horse-power, as did the "old-timers" for many a year, as has since been revived by references in many tales of fiction and allusion in the rural dramas of the stage. And with all the fame of the cross-road pioneers, they were lucky to take in as much money in a week as Vogel gathers in a day. Indeed, this is an age of huge affairs.
John W. Vogel's Big City Minstrels is said to be a combination of mirth, mimicry and music, absolutely and positively the brightest, most entertaining and farthest advanced minstrel entertainment ever presented for public approval. It is so filled with sparkling fun that you hardly finish one laugh before you are plunged into another. There is a fund of humor that holds one in constant merriment from start to finish. If you wish to enjoy an evening of pure wholesome fun without vulgarity do not fail to attend this entertainment which will be given at Bell's Opera House on August 15 as it will be their only appearance here this season.

THE ROOT OF THE EVIL

Is Pointed Out by An Exasperated Taxpayer.

HILLSBORO, O., Aug. 12, 1907.

EDITOR NEWS-HERALD: It is all very well for council to resolve and re-solve and for the Board of Health to publish notices, but that alone will not abolish unsanitary nuisances. It takes something more than talk. The worst nuisances on the plat are outhouses without vaults. There are many of these within a few feet of their owners' and their owners' neighbors' kitchens. This, if I mistake not, is in violation of an ordinance. If the offense is not prohibited by ordinance it certainly should be. This is not a sweet-smelling subject, but self defense on the part of those who must suffer for the criminal neglect of their neighbors, demands that the subject be called to the attention of the authorities, which, the Lord knows are rarely given to moving with undue haste in such matters. How long are we to plead with no prospect of relief—when officers are being paid to attend to such things? TAXPAYER.
