MISSIONARY CONVENTION

Which Was Held at Chicago Recently, Described by Rev. D. E. Tobias.

ELOQUENT SPEECHES MADE

Over 4000 Delegates, Including Men Prominent in Business, Social and Political Affairs.

The following account of the great National Missionary Congress, recently held in Chicago, by Rev. D. Emerson Tobias, pastor of the Reformed Churches of this county, will be of great interest to all who are taking an interest in the great Laymen's Missionary movement or who are interested in any kind of Missionary work:

DAYTON, O., May 9, 1910.

THE NEWS-HERALD, Hillsboro, O.

Dear Sirs—In accordance with my promise I am sending a report of the National Missionary Congress which closed at Chicago last Friday. This was undoubtedly the most potential representative gathering of men upon the American continent. The 4,146 delegates gathered at the great Auditorium from May 3-6 is a sight never to be forgotten. They came from every Protestant denomination, from every state and territory and even England, Canada and every mission field. As one speaker said, "No man can be the same after leaving this hall."

All of the sessions, unless otherwise stated, were held in the Auditorium where Dr. Gunsaulus preaches. The hall was artistically decorated. On the stage behind the speakers was this banner with the flags of all nations in profusion, "Unto Him shall the gathering of the nations be." On either side of the stage were the great Chinese Dragon and the White Elephant of India. Above the dragon was a chart defining the characters of a Standard Missionary Church. Above the Elephant was a chart entitled, "Christ's World Program" and was a four-square interpretation of Acts 1:8 Jerusalem, Judea, Samaria, uttermost part of the earth. This chart was made by Col. E. W. Halford, a man dear to every layman who has attended any of the 75 Conventions, and thousands of others who read his words each week in "Men and Missions", and to still other thousands know of him in his official capacity of paymaster of the U. S. Army. He was unable to be present as he was fully recovered from the injury of a broken leg during the Little Rock, Ark., Missionary Convention. This was one of the very few regrets to mar this greatest missionary congress. J. B. Sleman, the rich Washington D. C. banker, whose vision at the 1906 Nashville Student Volunteer Convention, was really the start of the uprising of men for the world's conquest, known world-wide as the Laymen's Missionary Movement was also sick. Telegrams were sent to both men and Friday night a cable was sent to the bereaved royal family of England, our sister nation in carrying the gospel of Jesus to all the world.

Three mottoes that have become world famous were the chief incentives to each delegate: "The Evangelization of the World in This Generation", "This is the Only Generation We Can Reach", "We Can Do It and We Will."

Just a word about the opening. The chairman, Alfred E. Morling, New York City, is a man of sterling worth. He refused to be nominated for mayor of New York on the very ticket that elected Mayor Gaynor. He considered the work of the Laymen's Missionary Movement a better campaign to wage. It is the unselfish devotion of such men as Halford, Warling, Gov. Stubbs, of Kansas, etc., that has called this uprising of men into such national prominence. It is needless to say that as this important congress was opened by Marling at 4 p. m. Tuesday that every man in the hall cheered him. The theme of the congress was well put in the opening hymns, "I Need Thee Every Hour" and "O Zion, Hasten, Thy Mission." Bishop Thornburn, who has spent half a century in India, and has seen that land develop under Victoria and Edward, invoked the divine blessing upon this national congress, which one speaker said was of more power and influence than the one at our national capitol. The music was under the direction of The Association Male Quartette, composed of four young men from the following cities: Des Moines, Minneapolis, New York and Youngstown. They made no charges for their services but by their devotion to the Movement did much to make the Congress a success.

The theme of the Congress, which it seemed to writer was expressed in song, prayer and service as "Unselfishness", was well stated in the two opening addresses. Bishop Anderson, of the Episcopal Church, spoke on "The Will of Christ for the World." Bishop Warren, M. E., followed with "A Wide-World Purpose in the Life of a Christian." The three appeals to men throughout the Congress were, Universality of the Gospel, Unity of Believers and Personal Consecration to Jesus.

The evening session that day was prophecy in a nutshell. No nations have gladdened the heart of the awakening Orient like England, Canada and America. The three speakers were Lord Cecil, England; J. A. Macdonald, editor of the Toronto Globe, a man unreserved in commendation of missions and in praise of America's share of evangelization and J. Campbell White, New York, originator of the Laymen's Missionary Movement.

Wednesday morning was given to the National Missionary Campaign and the afternoon to Sectional Conferences, lawyers, physicians, editors, ministers, S. S. workers, etc.

Ohio had only one speaker on the program and that was the opening address Wednesday evening. Judging by the applause that followed the appeal on "The Church's Need of a World Field" by S. J. Corey, secretary of the Foreign Christian Missionary Society, Cincinnati, the national delegates were well pleased with Ohio's man and work for world wide evangelization.

The general consensus of opinion was that Thursday morning was the best session. "A Survey of the World Field" was given as follows:

- 1 Southern Asia, George Sherwood Eddy, of India.
- 2 Latin America, Dr. Homer C. Stuntz, New York.
- 3 The Far East, Dr. F. G. H. Pott, China. Hon. F. H. Yan, Korea.
- 4 Africa and Near East, Dr. S. M. Zurner, Arabia.

The afternoon session in Thomas Orchestra Hall was fairly startled by the red hot shots from that little man, Gov. Stubbs, who was not too busy to come from Kansas and tell us that the wealth he made in railroad, stocks and bonds was a curse until he assumed the personal support of a missionary. He said he was absolutely prejudiced against foreign missions until he became governor of Kansas and came in contact with the Laymen's Convention at Topeka. He was so happy, so excited, that he acted in a very undignified manner for the governor of a big state like Kansas. "Why, this is the greatest meeting I ever saw." A fellow Kansan who has given $40,000 to missions said, "Such investments makes a man's life worth living." Three cheers for Kansas. They had twenty-five delegates. Oh, for more governors like Stubbs!

The three great needs for evangelization were given Thursday night: Prayer by Bishop Woodcock; Money, A. E. Marling (our jolly, efficient chairman) and Christian Unity, by the prince among men, Robert E. Speer.

Friday afternoon was most important. The Conference by Churches was the keynote in carrying out the national policy to be inaugurated that evening.

The closing session was marred by two things, the sad intelligence of King Edward's death and sickness preventing Dr. Gunsaulus from speaking on "Christ the Universal Savior." The session opened with the adoption of the national missionary policy. When the vote was called the 4,000 arose as one man. It would have gladdened the heart of the awakening Orient to be present that moment and to have seen the motto, "We Can and We Will" so set forth in action.

At the opening of the Congress was a call to Christian Unity. The closing address by Bishop W. F. McDowell, "The Spiritual Equipment of Our World Task", was an appeal to Personal Consecration. The Apollo Musical Club, of Chicago, rendered free of charge and asking no pay for their talent, "The Hallelujah Chorus." Prayer and benediction followed and the first National Missionary Congress was ended.

Who can measure its influence upon the world! Out from Philadelphia in 1716 the notes of freedom were pealed and nations have followed in America's footsteps for Liberty—but England was alienated; out from Washington in 1863 the Emancipation Proclamation gave freedom to the down trodden black and today slavery is a national crime frowned upon by nations—yet the South was alienated. It has remained for Chicago 1910 to bring the climax of freedom and union to all. The National Missionary Campaign has elicited the sympathy and cooperation of England and has united North and South as nothing else has or could. This means freedom not to one people as in '76 or to one class as '63 but to all people of all classes through the common cause, "The Evangelization of the World in This Generation."

D. EMERSON TOBIAS.

JUDGE NEWBY ENDORSED

In Unequivocal Terms by Every Member of the Bar of Highland County.

The following endorsement, which is signed by every member of the bar of Hillsboro and Highland County, regardless of political affiliations, shows how well Judge Newby stands in his home county.

HILLSBORO, O., May 1st, 1910.

The members of the bar of Highland County, Ohio, irrespective of political affiliations, heartily endorse the candidacy of Judge Cyrus Newby, of Hillsboro, Ohio, for nomination as Circuit Judge by the approaching Republican Circuit Judicial Convention at Chillicothe, Ohio, to succeed Judge Thomas Cherrington, who voluntarily retires.

Judge Newby was born and has always lived in Highland county, and we base our endorsement of him on the fact, which we thoroughly know, that he is possessed of sterling qualities of character as a man and citizen, of great learning in the law and that he has proven himself possessed, in a remarkable degree, of the qualities of mind and temperament that make up a splendid judge.

In addition to these qualities Judge Newby has the inestimable benefit of experience coming from more than eighteen years continuous service on the Common Pleas bench of this district.

As Common Pleas Judge, Judge Newby, by his thorough knowledge of the law, his industry in the investigation of cases, his patience in listening to the arguments of all parties interested in the decision of a cause, has won the full confidence and respect of the public, bar and laymen alike, as evidenced by the fact of his four successive nominations and elections, all his nominations being by acclamation.

Judge Newby socially is affable and genial and though ripe in judicial experience and thoroughly trained in the law, is in the prime of life, being but little past fifty years.

For the foregoing reasons, and recognizing the high standing of this court in the past, and as lawyers, interested in the continuance and usefulness, we heartily commend to the bar and people of this Circuit the candidacy of Judge Cyrus Newby for a nomination to a place on the Circuit Court bench in the Fourth Circuit of Ohio.

LaMonda Reappointed.

Judge Watts yesterday reappointed Prof. N. B. LaMonda, of this city, as one of the school examiners of Highland county. Prof. LaMonda has been principal of the Webster school building in this city for several years and is one of the best known educators of the county.

He has been faithful to his trust the past three years, ever keeping upmost in mind the best interests of the schools, and his many friends over the county will be pleased to learn of this deserved recognition.

Automobile Accident.

An automobile belonging to Ervin & Ervin and driven by Lewis Stanley, collided with the mail wagon of Fred Hill, carrier on rural route No. 7, in front of Hayes & Kibler's Grocery Wednesday morning. The buggy was turned over and Mr. Hill thrown out and somewhat injured about the shoulder. One wheel of the buggy was badly smashed.

Mr. Hill had stopped at Hays & Kibler's Grocery and had just got into his buggy and started down street turning into the center of the street. He did not see the machine until it hit him.

Mr. Stanley was going west on Main street and says he did not see the buggy until he was almost on top of it when he immediately threw on the brakes but could not stop the car before he got to the buggy and the collision resulted.

Dwight, the 14 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Dwight Harrison, of Columbus, who are well known here, had a narrow escape from death Monday. He and a young companion were stealing a ride on a freight train at Columbus when young Harrison slipped and fell breaking his leg and but for the heroism of his companion who pulled him from the track at the risk of his own life, would have been crushed under the train. Mr. and Mrs. Harrison, who were at Georgetown, were telephoned and hurried home.

Ellis Pence was a business visitor in Cincinnati yesterday.
