Obituary.

Martha Glascock, youngest daughter of Noah and Nancy Glascock, was born in Highland county, Dec. 8, 1842. She united with the M. E. Church in girlhood, and gave her heart to God. She enjoyed to the fullest extent the blessings of a consecrated Christian life, as was evident in her home life and to all who met and knew her.

In 1878 she was married to Andrew W. Dwyer. Five children came to bless that home, Earl, Stanley, Frank, Laura and John, all of whom are living and today mourn the loss of a devoted mother, the husband and father having preceded her to the Heavenly home in February 1905.

Besides her children and grandchild, she leaves two sisters and a large circle of relatives and friends to mourn her loss.

Greatly will she be missed in the home, and the neighborhood has suffered a large loss in her death which occurred on Wednesday evening Sept. 14, 1910.

Many sufferers from nasal catarrh say they get splendid results by using an atomizer. For their benefit we prepare Ely's Liquid Cream Balm. Except that it is liquid it is in all respects like the healing, helpful, pain-alleviating Cream Balm that the public has been familiar with for years. No cocaine nor other dangerous drugs in it. The soothing spray is a remedy that relieves at once. All druggists, 75c, including spraying tube, or mailed by Ely Bros., 56 Warren Street, New York.

New Fashion Features.

"For the fall and winter wardrobe Lady Fashion has put her seal of approval upon the short coat and the scant, plain skirt," says Grace Margaret Gould in Woman's Home Companion for October. "She also favors the one-piece coat dress for autumn wear, and whatever the color of the fabric, she recommends a touch of black in the way of satin cordings or braid.

"She likes the deep sailor collar and she suggests trimming it with either fur or moire braid.

"She says, 'Let the high waistline be the vogue and use shirrings wherever you care to as a trimming.'

"She has nodded her head in favor of the collarless neck, but she kindly says, 'Don't wear it if it is unbecoming.'

"Sleeves are long or short according to the type of gown, but always they are small.

"The peasant waist with the sleeve cut in one with the bodice continues to be fashionable.

"Flat, deep lingerie collars, decidedly quaint looking, will be worn with many of the smartest autumn dresses.

"The most modish evening wraps are of black chiffon over a brilliant color. Royal blue and black in combination are much liked. All the wraps are cut on slender lines.

"Though velvets, brocades and matlases are in favor for evening costumes, yet the transparent fabrics are just as much in style. The veiled effect knows no abating.

"The matching blouse of chiffon or marquisette continues to be the proper waist to wear with the coat and skirt suit."

How Much Will You Pay
