No man ever accomplished much who is always saying, "what's the use."

A bankrupt treasury and a "men only" show on the streets are two of the things on which Mayor Nesbit asks for re-election.

Occasionally we hear a man rejoicing over the failure or misfortune of another. The surest thing we know is that if this man ever goes to the wall he won't get much sympathy.

We gladly and heartily join with the editor of the Liberty Press in his emphatic statement that he knows from personal experience that the people who say that thin people do not suffer with the heat are not only fat but fat liars.

A show for "men only" was run on Main street, opposite the court house, several days last week. We can not understand what Mayor Nesbit was thinking of in allowing such a show. We did not see the show and it may have been perfectly proper. The sign in front of the tent said it was an anatomical museum. A man and a woman were in charge. Only men were allowed to go in. If it was not an indecent exhibition why were women barred? Even if it was a clean show we still think it should not have been allowed on the streets. To advertise it for "men only" was an appeal to the worst in men, an appeal to the degenerate, fuddled, indecent and immoral class. If it was not vulgar those who attended were disappointed. Men who desire education in anatomy will not seek it in a ten cent. street show. A show for men only on the streets of a town with a woman taking tickets is not a good advertisement for a town or a good thing to be open for the boys of the community. We understand that very few men attended the show. For this we are glad. Mayor Nesbit certainly cares nothing for the moral welfare of the community to allow such an exhibition on the streets.

Initiative and Referendum.

Among the many questions that will be discussed at the Constitutional Convention, none will have a more thorough hearing, than the initiative and referendum. The initiative gives to the people the power to pass a law. Upon the petition of a certain per cent. of the voters at the preceding election the proposed law is placed on the ballot. If it secures a majority of the votes cast it becomes a law.

The referendum gives to the people the power to repeal a law passed by the legislature. Any law that is passed by the legislature can be referred to the people for their approval or rejection. To refer it to the people a petition signed by a certain per cent. of the voters at the preceding election is necessary before it can be placed on the ballot.

Several of the states already have the initiative and referendum. In Oregon it is generally conceded to be a success. In Oklahoma there is some doubt about it.

The initiative and referendum give the power directly to the people to make their own laws. While they are big words they simply mean that the people shall have the power to pass laws themselves and repeal laws passed by the legislature if they don't like them.

Already two leagues have been formed in Ohio to influence the election of delegates to the Constitutional Convention. One is for the initiative and referendum and other progressive principles, the other is opposed to these principles, is for what is called a conservative constitution. The former is for all things that give greater power to the people, the latter wants to place as little power directly in the hands of the people as possible.

The conservatives claim that the progressive principles will injure business, keep things in a turmoil, and thus prevent prosperity and contentment among the people.

The claim of the conservatives when boiled down is that the people have not sufficient intelligence to govern themselves; that while they may be able to select representatives to do things for them, that they would do the wrong thing if they did it themselves. We don't see how they could do any worse than some of their representatives.

We believe in the principle, the rule of the majority. We believe that the people are intelligent and have good judgment. Believing these things we therefore favor including the initiative and referendum in the constitution.

Philosophy of A Business Man

BY A HILLSBORO MERCHANT

How easy to see the faults of others, yet how blind to our own.

The world owes a man a living, but he must hustle to collect the debt.

Chance has no place in the laws of nature. Everything shows design and by implication the hands of a designer.

If death ends all what a cruel farce is human life.

Old age may not always bring wisdom, but it dispels many illusions.

When buffeted by the waves of adversity pull the harder.

Death is the natural process in the great scheme of human growth and development. All nature teaches the continuity of life.

The industrious man without acquisitive habits is like a blind horse on an endless chain, always in motion yet never advancing.

To Exhibit Farm Seed Cleaner.

An ingenious apparatus for cleaning small seeds and separating them into light and heavy weight grades will be shown as part of the exhibit to be made at the Hillsboro Fair Sept. 12, 13, 14 and 15 by the College of Agriculture, of the Ohio State University. This separator was invented by a man connected with the United States Department of Agriculture and will prove of considerable interest to fair visitors. Besides this feature, the farm crops department will show corn samples from an ear row test made on the University Farm and a chart showing a variety test made in Mercer county; apparatus to show the rise of water by capillary in soils of different texture, the effect of plowing under a heavy coating of organic matter, and examples of how the country school teacher can make simple appliances for demonstrating these points; apparatus showing effect of soil mulches and the working of a tile drain; a model of a double-tree showing the effect upon the draft of the various length of hitch; colored charts showing the effect of leaf blight and arsenical poisoning on potatoes; and a number of other things of interest.

This exhibit which will occupy a tent, 24 by 45 feet, will be located on the fair ground and will be open to all fair visitors. An instructor will be in attendance to answer questions and explain.

Death of David Selph.

David Selph, aged 75 years, died at his home here Saturday afternoon at 1 o'clock. He had been seriously ill with stomach trouble for four weeks. The funeral services were held at the late residence Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock, conducted by Rev. T. H. Johnson, of the Baptist Church.

Mr. Selph was born near Samantha and had lived all his life in Highland county. He was a retired farmer and had been living in Hillsboro for 30 years. He is survived by his wife and four children, three sons, Bert, Earnest and Charles, and one daughter, Miss Mary, all of whom live in Hillsboro.

The following relatives from a distance were here for the funeral: Elmer Boatright, of London, Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Gibson, of Indianapolis, Ind., and Ami Selph, of Marathon.

Music and Art School.

Miss Mary R. Rice, of Cincinnati, who had a choral class here last spring and also gave a recital at the Opera House, will open a school of music and art in Hillsboro in September.

Miss Rice has had many years of experience and has been successful as a teacher, many of her pupils having been heard at recitals and entertainments and several of them hold solo positions in churches in Cincinnati and Lawrenceburg, Ind.

Miss Rice's knowledge of the science as well as the art of singing makes her an excellent teacher. Her method, based on the pure Italian, gives students the proper idea of vocal construction and the natural manner of tone production. Especial attention is given to ear training, tone placement, articulation and phrasing.

Besides vocal, instruction will be given in violin, piano and elocution. Miss Rice has secured one of the foremost teachers of Cincinnati to take care of her violin students.

A young woman of unusual ability, a graduate of the Schuster School of Elocution, will be the elocution instructor.

It is also proposed to have a kindergarten department in the school and Miss Rice promises for this a young lady, who is a graduate of the Kindergarten Training School, of Cincinnati.

In addition to the regular private lessons, Miss Rice hopes to organize a Ladies' Music Club, which will meet at regular intervals. She also expects to continue with the Choral Club organized last spring.

Miss Rice is an indefatigable worker and expects to have all the pupils she can accommodate.

All applications and inquiries as to terms, fees, etc., should be sent to Miss Rice before Sept. 1, care of the Highland House.

$100 Reward, $100.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known for the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials. Address:

Wedding Anniversary.

Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Williams celebrate the fiftieth anniversary of their wedding on Friday last at their residence on the home farm, known as "The Tip Top Cold Spring Farm," near Marshall. Daniel Williams and Mary E. Hatcher were married on Feb. 26, 1860. On the day of their golden wedding, Feb. 26, 1910, they received many handsome and useful presents and preparations had been made for a family dinner, but on account of the serious illness of Mrs. Williams, it was found necessary to postpone it. In the meantime, on March 5, 1910, was the twenty-fifth anniversary of the marriage of their daughter, Priscilla, to John H. Hiestand and the twentieth anniversary of the marriage of their son, Joseph, to Miss Minnie Brown, and the twenty-fifth anniversary of the marriage of their daughter, Nettie, to John R. Horst was near at hand. It was then decided to celebrate these anniversaries at one time with a family dinner and reunion, and this was accordingly carried out.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. John R. Horst and three children, Anita, Paul and Robert, of Columbus, Mr. and Mrs. John H. Hiestand and daughter, Blanche, of Hillsboro, and grand child, Marjory Evans, Mr. and Mrs. Milton G. Lucas, of Marshall, with their children, Gilbert, Ruth and Dewitt, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph W. Williams and children, Mary and Dana, of New Vienna, Dr. and Mrs. Thos. E. Williams, of Shreveport, La, with their children, Marion Lucile and Mary Virginia, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas C. Fulton, of Lovett, with their children, Elmer and Homer, and Mrs. Joshua S. Williams, of Kokomo, Ind., with her son, Heber. Besides these were Samuel Evans, of Hillsboro, and Mr. and Mrs. S. Weiler and family, neighbors. In all there were six children, fifteen grandchildren and one great grand-child, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Evans.

The tables were set under the trees on the lawn near the house, and were beautifully decorated with flowers. The center piece of the table was a large cake representing the golden anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Williams. Across the top in gold letters were the words "Daniel and Mary" and beneath it, the years, "1860-1910." The icing surrounding the inscriptions was molded into wreaths and ornamented with fifty golden stars. Cakes representing the other participants in the anniversary were on each side of the center. The cakes representing the twenty-fifth anniversaries were iced in white and ornamented with silver designs. At the request of Mr. Williams, a blessing was invoked before beginning the repast, by John H. Hiestand.

Only twice has this family been invaded by death during 50 years. In 1897, Joshua, the second son, died leaving one son, Heber, and his widow now of Kokomo, Ind. It was a great pleasure to all to have them present. The 14 years since his death have not lessened the parents' love for a good son. In 1892 a grand-child, Albert, the son of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Hiestand, was called away. Otherwise the family circle is unbroken.

This reunion will long be remembered, for never again may the whole family be together. The parents are growing old and even the children are well in the prime of life, and many live too far away to be at the old home often.

After the dinner the time was spent in recalling the days when the children were yet at home, and many happy memories were given a new life. At five in the afternoon, the happy party began to disperse, many returning to their homes while others will remain for a short time.

Southern Hospitality.
I had been driving all day in a remote part of southern Georgia and at nightfall stopped at a cabin occupied by one man. He was very cordial and asked me to spend the night with him. When we sat down to supper I was somewhat disturbed to observe that the meal consisted of a single large dish of potatoes. Without apology the man, with a wave of his hand toward the dish, said in a loud, hearty voice: "Stranger, take one!"
He paused a moment and continued in a still louder tone: "Stranger, take two!"
Another pause, and then even louder and more earnestly: "Stranger, take mighty near all of them!"—Woman's Home Companion.

School Examiner.

Judge Watts re-appointed O. A. Tener, of Sinking Springs, a member of the Board of School Examiners last week for a term of three years. Mr. Tener has filled the office for the past six months in a creditable manner, meeting the hearty approbation of the teaching fraternity of the county. Judge Watts is to be commended for his excellent selection.

Fire Saturday Night.

A lighted lamp falling from a sewing machine was the cause of a fire at the home of Mrs. Ada Butler on North High street about 10:30 Saturday night. Mrs. Butler put out the fire before the department arrived. A hole was burned in the floor and the floor frame was scorched.

Mrs. Butler put out the fire by throwing flour on it. In doing this she burned her foot and hand but not seriously.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. W. Spargur, of La Porte, Tex., are guests of their daughter, Mrs. J. W. Watts.

Miss Martha Clark, of Washington, C. H., was the guest of Miss Hazel Worley, Tuesday, accompanying Miss Worley here from the Adam's County Mineral Spring.

Dr. Colley was called to the door of his home early Tuesday morning. When he opened the door he found a very poorly dressed young man standing there. After he had asked and the doctor had told him his name, the boy related his story. He was the son of neighbors and particular friends of Dr. Colley in his old home in England. During the strike of seaman in England he had shipped as a sailor on a boat bound for the United States. After he landed in this country the strike was settled and he lost his position. He had since that time been tramping over the country. By chance he struck Hillsboro and hearing of Dr. Colley hunted him up. He had been away from home six months. After hearing the boy's story, Dr. Colley cabled his parents in England and purchased the boy a ticket to New York. The boy promised to go from there home.
