County Board of Education.

On next Saturday the presidents of the boards of education of the various village and township school districts of Highland county will meet to select a county board of education of five members.

This is an important duty which these men will perform, as on the personnel of the county board largely depends the success or failure of the new school system in Highland county. The members of the county board should be selected without reference to political affiliations. They should be men of education, good judgment, fair and unprejudiced and interested in the public schools.

A great deal of opposition has developed to the new school laws, but we think that a large part of this is due solely to the fact that they make radical changes from the present system which has long been in force. The old system did not meet the needs of the times. A change was necessary.

Will the new law furnish us with a school system that is suitable to present day conditions?

Only a fair trial can answer this question and a fair trial can be given only by selecting for the board men who believe in the new system. Men who are opposed to it or seriously doubt the wisdom of the changes, will unconsciously hamper and retard its development.

It must also be expected that it will be necessary to make changes in the new system. Things which look best theoretically often fail to prove effective when put into use. So if some detail of this system proves impractical do not condemn the entire system, but see how the defect can be remedied and remedy it.

Necessarily the new school system must be largely an experiment and it will require numerous changes before it will fully meet all requirements and the changes needed can only be discovered by giving it a thorough trial.

A good county board of education will mean much to Highland county; will determine the quality and efficiency of our schools. Upon the presidents of the village and township boards a heavy responsibility rests. They should not wait until they meet here Saturday before considering the different candidates but should now be searching the county for the men who will measure up to the requirements needed for membership of the county board. Personal ambitions, personal prejudice and political preferment should have no place in the meeting Saturday.

We plead for a county board composed of men of good education, men who realize the advantages of a good education, men of high character, lofty aims and unselfish purpose. Select such men and assure the children of Highland county that they will receive the best possible training for coping with the problems of life.

A lot of men were born scared and never get over it.

Even if words never fail you, we would advise you to take or send a box of candy occasionally, if not oftener.

We noticed an advertisement the other day for "Ivory Bridge Cards" and it is a good name as there are so many ivory bridge players.

This style of having a slit any place in the skirt is not fair. It should always be in the same place so a man would know where to look for it.

WATCH THE UMBRELLA

MAN SAYS HE CAN TELL WOMAN'S CHARACTER BY IT.

Just as Well, if One Has Propensities She Wishes to Conceal, to Get a Few Pointers From This Article.

The man who sat nearest the window and said he didn't mind the wet weather.

"It gives me a chance to see how people carry their umbrellas," he said. "I have such firm faith in my umbrella deductions that I wouldn't be afraid to choose a wife with them for a guide."

The woman on his left smiled. "I'm glad I'm not out there in the street," she said. "You'd be picking out all the kinks in my disposition along with the rest of them."

"Oh," said the man, "I sized you up a long time ago. You carry your umbrella, when it's furled, just like that woman across the street. You grab it in the middle and go forging ahead with the ends of the handle digging into the unfortunate pedestrians who go before and follow after."

"And what does that signify?" she asked.
 "Alertness, activity, selfishness, and inconsiderateness."

"U-m-m, thank you," said the woman.

"But just look at the third woman in the procession," said the man. "I pity the men folks about her house. I dare say they have to get their own breakfast about six mornings out of seven. I never yet saw a woman who dragged her umbrella along so that you could track her by the trail of its tip who was not dilatory and shiftless."

"That other woman who is hustling along, holding to the top of the umbrella handle like grim death and pointing the tip down and forward in a kind of south-by-southwesterly direction is altogether different. She would set the world on fire if it wasn't waterlogged. I am not sure that I'd want to be married to her, either. She'd be too energetic. She'd push everything before her, and when she took a notion to clean things up a mere man would have nowhere to lay his head. What she is good for is serving on committees."

"That woman in the gray skirt is a year-and-a-day sort of person. She wants to agree with everybody and follows wherever led. Women who carry their umbrellas with the point downward and backward are always unassertive."

"But just look at that girl who spins along, swinging her umbrella around in a circle as if it were a magic wand. I like her. She's jolly and good-natured and gets more pleasure out of life than ten ordinary people."

"But here," he added, "comes the most even tempered woman of the lot. She cuddles her umbrella protectively under her arm as if she doesn't want even it to get hurt in the crowd. That woman is thoughtful and kind."

Coal in Montana.

The presence of coal in the tertiary lake beds of verdant valleys in western Montana has been known locally for many years. Some of these localities have experienced short coal booms, most of which, however, died before the mineral was developed. At the present time, however, systematic mining is being carried on near Missoula.

Coal of the type found in this region has, until recently, been thought worthless, because only such fuel as would coke or stand shipment without slacking was considered of commercial value. In this part of the West where high grade coal is scarce, where the cost of wood has reached $6 or more a cord, and soft coal imported for domestic use sells for about $8 a ton, the demand for cheaper fuel is great and the development of these heretofore unused low grade coals is becoming profitable.—Coal Age.

Planting Trees by Machinery.

A tree-planting tool has been designed by which the hole is dug, the little tree inserted, and the earth packed around the roots in one operation. The implement consists of a bar with a cross-arm at the top and three blades of spring steel at the bottom somewhat on the principle of the post digger, and having a lever near the lower end. The lever is pressed with the foot, the tree inserted, and the tool is then thrust forcibly into the ground.

A lever at the top of the handle is then twisted to open the blades, and the implement is screwed around in the hole until the soil is pulverized. The planter is then withdrawn, leaving the cultivated earth packed around the roots of the plant. Experiments have shown that one man with this tool can plant 50 small trees in 35 minutes.

Medicine of Deer Horns.

A considerable trade in deer, reindeer and wild sheep horns exist in China for use in Chinese medicines, and Hongkong, as the chief center of trade in Chinese medicines in South China, imports a considerable quantity of such goods annually. Wild sheep horns in prime condition bring something like $3.60 to $5.75 gold per ounce. All these horns are ground into powder and mixed with other ingredients to form a sort of pill tonic—"strengthening pills," as the Chinese term them—and are used largely by old people and people in debilitated condition. Some of the large medicine factories in China maintain herds of deer for their horns.
