Sam. Silverman, the pioneer oysterman in Pomero, has a supply of fresh oysters on hand, and is constantly receiving, which he will sell by the can.

Three of the prisoners who recently broke jail in this place have been recaptured and returned to their quarters. Our worthy Sheriff deserves much praise for the energy and tact displayed in the retaking of these "birds." They were caught on Big Sandy, in Virginia. We have not the particulars.

Lovers of good warm biscuit should go at once and procure a supply of J. G. Enos' Baking Soda. It has not the injurious effect of soda, and if the directions are strictly followed, you cannot fail to have a "good baking." We have used it for some time, and there is no household commodity with which we would dispense more reluctantly.

The vote of Salisbury Township.

While most of the townships did nobly at the State election, we think Salisbury carries off the palm, and that Middleport Precinct has fairly won the banner. Last year on Governor, Pomero Precinct thought it accomplished a great triumph when it gave Dennison 4 majority. The Democrats claimed 100. Middleport then out-did itself by rolling up an unexpected majority of 139. It was thought that such a majority could hardly be maintained. But the late election demonstrated that the people of both precincts wanted but a fair and full understanding of the true issues, to bring them on the right side. These issues were fairly and fully presented by the Republicans. And although a great effort was made by their opponents to avoid the real questions in controversy, and by appeals to prejudice, hold their partisans to the ticket, the result proved glorious beyond all anticipation. Pomero Precinct increased its majority from last year to 230 this. While Middleport raised hers from 139 last, to 301 this year, making in the township of Salisbury, a majority of 531! Is not Salisbury, then, entitled to the banner? She gives a majority 116 greater than the majority in the whole county last year. Three cheers for Salisbury Township.

It is a matter of wonder, to many, how little Meigs County came to roll up a majority of more than 1300 for Horton, on the 21 Tuesday of October. Well, there were several causes, all helping to produce the result. In the first place, we had a candidate whose eminent ability was acknowledged by all—whose stern integrity no one questioned—whose character, even the tongue of slander could not harm, and who was known to every voter in the county, and respected by all who knew him.

In the second place, the campaign was carried on by the Republicans on the theory that the people were honest, intelligent, and desired to hear the truth. In this faith, principles were fairly and fully discussed, and the issues between the parties fairly and honestly presented. This did much to win to our side the thinking part of community.

In the third place, our opponents, or those who stumped the county, and the papers they circulated, instead of treating the people as honest and rational men, attempted to win their votes by misrepresentation, and appeals to passions and prejudices which could only exist in the minds of unreasoning partisans. The same stale, old falsehoods which were refuted years ago, and known by every person, of any sense, to be false, were repeated until the people became utterly disgusted. This drove to our side many who would otherwise have voted for the Democratic ticket, as usual. The same slogan will not win them back.

In the fourth place, the Wide-Awakes did a noble work in stirring to enthusiasm the patriotic zeal of the Republicans proper, and causing them to work earnestly and unceasingly. This was doubtless one of the best devised of the political instrumentalities of the campaign. And the result of the enthusiasm thus kindled was a full vote, and the consequence, a triumph. No voters were left at home who could, by any honorable means, be induced to attend.

And in illustration of this feature of the campaign, we wish to relate an incident, and commend it to the Republicans of this and all other counties, and States, to be imitated on the day of the Presidential election:

Our fellow-citizen, Samuel Grant, Esq., one of the oldest settlers of the county, eighty-four years of age, and as true a Republican, and as honest a man as ever served God and loved his country, after depositing his vote in Middleport on the morning of the election, walked to Chester, a distance of eleven miles, for the sole purpose of securing a vote from an old friend whose vote he feared would not otherwise have been polled. This object secured, he walked back, making a journey of 22 miles, securing a vote for the Republican ticket, and arriving at home before the polls closed. Can this be beat in the United States? And can any one wonder that Meigs County rolled up her splendid majority?

POPULATION OF THE SOUTHERN DISTRICT OF OHIO.

Table showing population of various townships in the Southern District of Ohio for 1860. Columns include Township Name, 1850, and 1860.

Proudly in this list stands our own County of Meigs. There are but two counties in the whole list—Montgomery and Franklin—whose increase equals that of Meigs, and even in these, the ratio is insignificant in comparison. Look at the six counties composing this Congressional District: Meigs had in 1850, 17,971 inhabitants, in 1860 she has 26,512, being an absolute increase of 8,541, and a relative gain of 47.5 per cent. Athens had in 1850, 13,215 and in 1860 she has 21,406 being an increase of only 3,191, or 17.3 per cent. Vinton had in 1850, 9,233 and in 1860, 13,656, an increase of 4,423, or 46 per cent. Hancock had in 1850, 14,119, and in 1860, 15,978, being an increase of only 1,859, or 13 per cent. Fairhill had in 1850, 30,264, and in 1860, 30,723, a gain of only 459 in ten years. Perry had in 1850, 20,775 and in 1860, 19,698, being an actual decrease in ten years of 1,077.

We have not time to-day to carry out the contrast further. The table is interesting one to our citizens, and will attract the attention of men of enterprise in other regions. Our growth is the result of our natural advantages alone. We have had none of the stimulus of the public works of the State, or any great Railroad or other improvement. Speculation has not crowded into our limits an unnecessary population. We have fewer drones than any other county in the State. We are emphatically a community of workers.

Men come here to work, and labor, finding its just reward, is building up our towns and improving the county. And in no portion of the State has labor been better rewarded or its acquisition more generally expended in the improvement of the condition of the people than in this county. No colossal fortunes have been made by speculators, but all over the county the improvement of farms, the neat and comfortable dwellings—the increased attention to stock and fruit, as well as the ordinary products of the farm, has more than kept pace with the rapid increase of population during the last ten years. And as the resources of the County become better known—the advantages of Pomero and other towns, as manufacturing centers—the superior market thus afforded for the products of the farm and garden—the productiveness of our soil when judiciously tilled—its adaptation to fruit-growing—and, above all, the remarkable healthiness of the climate, will attract the attention of intelligent and enterprising men, and we have no doubt the next ten years will show a more rapid increase of population, and an increased ratio of improvement and prosperity generally.

To our well-to-do citizens we would say, stay where you are—in no other locality will you be likely to improve your condition—with honest industry and economy almost any man may build up a comfortable home, and surround it with all the necessities of life. Our schools are improving, and society generally is advancing in the direction of a higher culture. And, to cap the climax, we can confirm the prophecy of the future, we need only refer to the Republican majority of the 9th of October to dispel the doubts of all waverers, and gain a full assent to our claim for little Meigs, as being in all respects the "Banner County."

The Steamer Scallow will leave Pomero this (Thursday) afternoon at 4 o'clock for the grand demonstration at Gallipolis to-night. Wide-Awakes and the rest of mankind, including the ladies, are invited to go. Gallipolis promises the grandest exhibition ever got up in this part of the State. The Wide-Awakes from Portsmouth, Ironton and "all along shore" will be there. The fare for the round trip, we believe, is only fifty cents. Let the boat be crowded.

The emigration to Salt River is said to be the largest ever known. It is supposed that that interesting region of country will be greatly improved hereafter. Those who formerly visited west with the expectation of a temporary sojourn only, looking forward to a time when they would return. Consequently, no lasting improvements were ever made. But those who emigrate this year, go for good! None of them ever expect to return.

MARRIED. On the 14th October, 1866, by Elder C. P. Wiggins, Mr. ALEXANDER RUSSELL and Miss LOUISA FARMER, all of Middleport, Ohio. On Saturday evening, September 22, 1866, by Geo. Downing, Esq., Mr. S. J. BOWMAN and Miss ROSANNA REYNOLDS, all of Scioto, Meigs County, O.

Official Abstract of Votes

Large table showing official abstract of votes for various candidates across different townships. Columns include Candidate Name, Party, and Vote Count.

On Thursday night of last week, the store of the "Pomero Coal Company," in Middleport, was entered by burglars, and a large quantity of goods stolen therefrom. A hole was bored through the door, by means of which the operators reached through and turned the key, thereby opening the door and obtaining an easy access. The villains seem to have been experts at the business, and first rate judges of dry goods. They seem to have taken it leisurely, too. All the drawers were opened and the very best goods only were taken. Out of a large assortment of silks the best bolts only were taken, leaving all of an ordinary quality behind. So, too, of broad cloths, and Irish linens. None but the choicest pieces were disturbed. They must have examined thousands of dollars worth of goods in making their selections, and might have carried off many times the amount they did take. But we suppose they belonged to the aristocracy of the profession, and disdained to deal in common stock. We believe no clue has as yet been discovered which fixes even suspicion upon any one.

We have received some fine specimens of apples this season, but the lot presented to us the other day by Hon. S. Titus of Rutland, were decidedly superior to anything we have yet seen in that line. We name the fact that such of our friends as wish to secure a choice specimen of fruit may know where they can see and be satisfied. Mr. Titus is not a nursery man, and we speak without authority, but have no doubt, if any one desires a section from the tree which bore this splendid fruit to graft upon an inferior stock, it could be had for the asking.

We are glad to see so great an improvement in the fruit culture of our county, and have no doubt that in a very few years, Meigs will stand at the very head of the list in fine fruit.

The Wide-Awakes of Middleport had a turnout on Wednesday night to celebrate the recent Republican victories. The weather was not very propitious, but the crowd was large, and all passed off pleasantly. Many of the houses were finely illuminated, and all seemed to enjoy themselves well. The certainty of Lincoln's election seems to have taken possession of all minds, and the feeling which existed before the State elections is subsiding. There will scarcely be a fight any longer. All that remains is to go to the election on the 6th of November, and vote. Let every Republican see to it that he performs this duty, and all will be well.

On the 14th October, 1866, by Elder C. P. Wiggins, Mr. ALEXANDER RUSSELL and Miss LOUISA FARMER, all of Middleport, Ohio.

On Saturday evening, September 22, 1866, by Geo. Downing, Esq., Mr. S. J. BOWMAN and Miss ROSANNA REYNOLDS, all of Scioto, Meigs County, O.

On Tuesday evening, Oct. 16, at the residence of Mr. Jacob Eckhart, by Rev. A. C. Kelly, Mr. THOMAS J. HANCOCK and Miss EMMA JONSON, all of Pomero.
