TEMPERANCE MOVEMENT. We thought last week we had nearly chronicled the end of the temperance movement in McArthur, but further negotiations opened out a misunderstanding between Mr. Shockey and the committee...

On Monday morning after negotiations which did not terminate satisfactorily the ladies went to the saloon for prayer and were ordered out. They took their position on the pavement, and proceeded with singing and prayer. The weather was cold and cheerless, snow falling pretty much the whole day...

At 2 o'clock Judge DuHad way arrived, Court was convened, the Grand Jury received their charge, and retired to their room, overlooking and directly opposite the meeting of the ladies. Rumors of an injunction to be issued by the Court, and counter rumors that all of the lawyers had refused to have anything to do with the case against the ladies were current on the street...

On Tuesday morning the ladies again visited Shockey's and continued their meeting. This time Mayor Payne waited upon them and posted them in such a manner as not to infringe upon Mr. Shockey's right in the sidewalk. After about three hours' service, Mr. Shockey called several of the ladies in and agreed to dispose of all his liquors at a loss of ten per cent. on the whole sale price, the ladies to make the balance of the loss good to him. This proposition, we believe, is accepted by the League.

On the same evening a large and enthusiastic temperance meeting was held at the M. E. Church, and a permanent temperance organization composed entirely of males was organized, forty persons joining. The man who tries the Enquirer's gin mill runs to say some thing sharp and cutting about the RECORD this week. He accuses us of taking the side of the ladies in this temperance movement because it's popular. We haven't heard him accused of taking any side, in this or any other reform. There is not a paper published in Cincinnati or in any of the adjoining counties, but what has had more to say about affairs in McArthur than the Enquirer. He is so mealy mouthed that he is neither man nor mouse, and his position is despised by every person, even the liquor dealers whom he seeks to conciliate.

We hope the ladies will not forget pawnbroker Bowen, and pray that new consignment of gin out of the religious newspaper office.

RAYNOR got mad at the public given the matter and has removed the bay windows from the Court House entirely.

We acknowledge the receipt of several reports of State officers at the hands of Hon. T. M. Bay.

The following is a list of letters remaining in the postoffice at Dundas on the 1st of Feb: John Simpson, Levi Ackley, Vidance Harding, Martin Westfall. S. ISAMINGER, P. M.

BOWEN'S Enquirer gin mill is the only establishment in McArthur that has not given some kind of a pledge to the ladies. Let the religious publisher have the prayers of the united church.

THERE will be a Social Cotillion Party at the Bowen House Hall, in Zaleski, on Friday evening, Feb. 13th, 1874. All are invited to attend. Music will be furnished by Mr. G. M. Wilson and Miss Ainsie Swepston. Tickets $1.50, including supper. Managers—Thos. A. Mellor, J. A. Hall and J. H. Smith.

No man should deprive his wife and family of a good local paper. They do not get out from home to learn the news as does the husband and father, and the paper serves to relieve the otherwise lonely hours of his absence. It is the worst possible economy to deprive the family of a good local paper.

GEN. GROSVENOR, who is Representative from Athens county, and whom all will agree keeps posted on matters which are or come before the House remarked to one of our citizens this week that the ladies' temperance movement had accomplished one thing at least: that before the inauguration of this movement the Adair law was doomed by the present Legislature. It would have either been repealed entirely or killed by unfriendly amendments, but with the consolidation of public sentiment effected by the ladies, the Legislature dare not touch it.

We learn that a determined effort to incorporate the village of Hamden has been inaugurated. We hope the effort may be successful. Situated as it is at the junction of the railroad, where all kinds of people are compelled to lay over, every drunken or unruly loafer that is disposed to do so violates law and decency with impunity while the good name of the village suffers in consequence. While the effort is being made to incorporate the village we hope some change will be made so that the name of the post office and village may be identical.

The enterprising firm of Gilman, Ward & Co. have fitted up their water mill in the southwest end of town with a new turbine wheel which is an example of the wonderful triumphs of mechanical art of late years. The wheel is 26 inches in diameter and 10 inches thick, using 11 cubic inches of water per second. The wheel was constructed by Mr. Gilman, the senior partner of the firm. The mill now makes a superior article of flour with its newly fitted up machinery. The steam mill is to be repaired and refitted and is not running now, but the water mill will be run as long as the present stage of water continues, and the patrons of the mill will be accommodated to anything in that line by Messrs. Darius Gold and Jonathan Brine the gentlemanly and accomplished millers who superintend the mill.

The engines for the Wellston Furnaces—two large double cylinder engines—were contracted last week. They are to be built by the Chillicothe Machine Works, a company noted for superior workmanship.

WORK is still being pushed on the railroad as rapidly as the weather will permit.

In response to a letter from Washington a committee of six of our ladies now hold themselves subject to orders to visit and pray with the Ohio Legislature. We did not learn the names of the committee but understand Mrs. Judge Mayo heads the list. By the way, Mr. Bay sends us word that he thinks it will hardly be necessary for the ladies to carry out their intentions in this respect. We differ from our honorable friend on this point. If the prayers of the ladies at long range have had so salutary an effect on the Legislature as we are led to believe, we would like to see them brought to close quarters. It will do them good.

The Enquirer is afraid the Record will offend some person, in what it says about the temperance movement. We entertain no such fears for the Enquirer. It stands between the ladies and the saloon keepers like that other long-eared animal that stood between two bundles of straw, anxious to get all, but afraid if it nibbled on one side the other would escape.

The ladies' temperance movement is extending all over the country and everywhere meeting with success. In our own county the ladies of Zaleski have organized, and are about ready for a forward movement in solid column. We can only advise the saloon keepers to yield at once, for they are sure to do it in the end.
