The orchestra, under the direction of Prof. Shaffer, on the violin, Mr. J. C. Wilkins on the flute, Prof. Louis Dielman on the clarinet, and the Messrs. Shaffer on the piano, rendered a grand concert on Wednesday evening, and were highly appreciated by the guests. She is a charming singer and excellent pianist. She was accompanied by Prof. Shaffer on the violin.

The Mayor and Council have enacted an ordinance requiring the grading and paving of the sidewalks. This is certainly an evidence of progress and it is hoped that property owners will cheerfully comply with the requirements of the ordinance, and thus improve the appearance of the town and convenience of the citizens.

We feel almost constrained to boast of the moral condition of our town, and in support of this we refer to the fact that we have not been so long that yellow-jackets took possession of the building, built a large nest near the corner of the street, and were permitted to still enjoy possession if they had not interfered with persons in pursuit of their legitimate business. It has been known to the town authorities, and two town officials, residing in the neighborhood, have been a furious onslaught, and after a stubborn resistance, the intruders were exterminated. The building might, possibly, have been as there appears to be no use for it as a place of confinement.

Our community has been thoroughly stocked with the filthy sheet of the O. D. A. a number of the strikers, who lost in wages during the strike, some time $40, making a total of $4,000. But with all this sacrifice of the object of the strike, which was to force the Excelsior company to discontinue the use of the "Baltimore" brand, and the only result has been a loss of nearly fifty thousand dollars to the strikers and their friends.

The separation of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wesley Ayres within the period of three weeks, about three weeks ago, is a circumstance which has attracted much attention. Mr. Ayres has had a termination in the district of Columbia, and is now in the hands of the law. His health has been failing ever since the separation. Reliable reports from all the regions of country surrounding Danville, Va., render it certain that the tobacco crop of this year will be greatly below the average crop and also inferior in quality.

New Windsor Items.

The present season has been a very successful one for New Windsor, there being nearly two hundred strangers here at this writing, hence business has increased in a corresponding degree.

Among the improvements in the town may be noted the new cement factory erected by Messrs. Baile & Stoffer, their business having increased so much as to demand this addition. They are giving employment to over a hundred hands, and are therefore a great blessing to the laboring classes. Messrs. Baile & Stoffer have made no boisterous pretensions in regard to the extent of their business, but by comparing figures, they have been very clearly ahead of any factory in the country. They talk very little and do their work well.

Quite an addition has been made to the New Windsor machine shops. Two large buildings have been added, and the management is now under the control of Messrs. Engle, Chas. Myers and Samuel Smith. They give employment to about twenty hands, and Messrs. Engle and Myers are very busy, and under their management their business is greatly increasing. Altogether the business interests of New Windsor are looking up, and the enterprising men mean to improve the town, and enhance the interests of the entire neighborhood.

A St. Louis Senator.

The St. Louis letter to the New York World says—"A suit for $10,000 damages filed Friday drags into notoriety the Hazeltines and Paramores, families of high social standing. The suit is brought by John Amweg, a singer in the Ford Opera Company, performing at Urbig's Cave, the fashionable summer night resort. Amweg's story is that being smitten upon the parquette by Miss Nellie Hazeltine, known at home and abroad as the belle of St. Louis, a Hazeltine name, linked with Samuel J. Tilden's three or four years ago, he entered upon a flirtation. He visited Miss Hazeltine at her aristocratic home, received notes and photographs, and then, by his own story, boasted of the conquest. Early this week Miss Hazeltine and her mother started for White Sulphur Springs. Amweg's story reached the ears of Will Hazeltine, a brother, and Fred Paramore, the manager of the Ford Opera Company, who, in a western manner, the opera singer in an upper chamber, beat him badly with fists, canes and whips, and forced from him an order on his landlady for the notes and pictures, and then turned to the Hazeltine family, and beat him public and ssk-damns indignantly. The young man is out in cards admitting the whipping, but declaring that Amweg's flirtation was not with the belle, but with a pretty servant girl in the family. The Hazeltine family has had the lady the controversy by declaring she never saw Amweg. The opera singer is of a good Philadelphia family, he claims, his father being a lawyer and his brother inspector of bridges on the Pennsylvania road. Paramore is a son of the president of the Texas and St. Louis railroad, and is to receive $100,000 from his father upon his marriage to Miss Hazeltine."
