THE STREETS OF WESTMINSTER. A Plan for Their Improvement. The streets of Westminster ought to be improved in a fact recognized by every citizen and every visitor.

The fact has been apparent for some time, and a movement to put the streets in good order did not begin, but the Mayor and Council could not see their way clear to do so.

The money authorized to be spent. Year by year the mud on the streets is getting deeper, and this year of frequent heavy rains they are in a worse condition than ever before.

Again street improvement is being discussed. A large taxpayer and progressive citizen remarked a few days ago that he believed the work could be well done for about $100,000.

These figures are based on the remarks of Mr. Spotswood, of Orange, New Jersey, an experienced road builder, around whose name are said to be the best roads in the country.

Mr. Magruder, a Commissioner of Baltimore county, the manner of building and cost of the roads in his county established in last week's Advocate.

He said the best class of roads could be built for $8,000 a mile, if stone could be obtained in the neighborhood. A good road could be made for $3,000, or even $2,500, especially if the hauling upon it was not very heavy.

Mr. Magruder said that the best roads in the country were made for $1,000 a mile, if stone could be obtained in the neighborhood. A good road could be made for $3,000, or even $2,500, especially if the hauling upon it was not very heavy.
