

Jim J. Derr Jim J. Derr Jim J. Derr

The Model Store News

OUR AUGUST CARPET SALE

Shall continue one week more at greatly reduced prices—you bought Carpets freely during the past week, but there is still plenty for all. This is stock cleaning time for us, hence these great reductions.

- $1 yard for Body Brussel, was $1.40.
- 85c yard for velvet Carpet, was $1.25.
- 75c yard for best 10 wire Brussel, was $1.
- 65c yard for Tapestry Brussel, was 85c.
- 50c yard for Tapestry Brussel, was 65c.
- 50c yard for best All Wool Ingrain, was 65c.
- 40c yard for best C. C. Ingrain, was 50c.

SUMMER VESTS. REDUCED PRICE.
Twenty down ladies fine Lisle and Mercerized Vests, reduced to only $1.75.
18c, 3 for 50c.

BATH TOWELS. SPECIAL PRICES.
One lot regular 25c full Bleached Turkish Bath Towels, priced special at 15c.
Good Bleached Turkish Bath Towels, not so large and heavy as above, only 10c.

SPECIAL for Monday, August 6th.

About 1000 yards pretty neat figured Lawns, with black and brown printings, fully worth 10c yard; for this day we will sell them at 3c yard.

MUSLIN UNDERWEAR. BARGAIN PRICES.
Night Robes 50c—The material in these garments is worth more than the price.
Drawers 25c—Made of good Muslin, with deep ruffle, others with hem and tucks.

WE CLOSE AT 6 O'CLOCK EXCEPT SATURDAY.

The Great Model Emporium,

Jim J. Derr

IN THE BABYLON BUILDING. WESTMINSTER, MD.

TO THE PUBLIC.
L. A. HALLER, PRACTICAL MACHINIST, Westminister, Md.
Repairing of Engines, Boilers, Steam Pumps, Mill Work, Threshing Machines, Binders, Reapers, Mowers and Agricultural Implements.

FAMILY GROCERIES, CHINA, GLASS AND QUEENWARE, FLOUR, SYRUPS, TEAS, COFFEES, EXTRACTS, CAKES, CRACKERS, AND CANDIES.

THE CARROLL FLOURING MILL, Westminister, Md.
We take COUNTRY PRODUCE in Exchange and pay Cash.

EXCHANGE FLOUR FOR WHEAT with our customers.
W. H. DAVIS, (at the old Morningstar stand.)

JOHN H. SULLIVAN, FIRE INSURANCE, LIFE INSURANCE, ACCIDENT INSURANCE, WINDSTORM INSURANCE, STEAM BOILER INSURANCE.

UP TO DATE FURNITURE, also BUGGIES, CARRIAGES, WAGONS and FARMING IMPLEMENTS.

REPAIRING A SPECIALTY. NEW WORK ONLY BUILT TO ORDER.

NOTICE TO TAX-PAYERS. Having been appointed tax collector of Westminister district, I will be at the store of William T. Wilson, West Main street, Westminister, during the month of August, for the purpose of receiving taxes.

COMMISSIONERS' NOTICE. The County Commissioners of Carroll county will meet at their office, in Westminister, every Monday in July, 1900, for the transaction of business. By order, JOHN E. MASEHIMER, Clerk.

NOTICE.

REMOVAL OF LUMBER AND COAL

OF Lumber, Coal and Supply Company

to their new yards, opposite the yards occupied by Bennett & Co.

OFFICE AND ENTRANCE on Green street,

Opposite the Steam Mills of Roberts, Roop & Co.

Clean -- Sweep -- Sale!

Stouffer & Ensor, NEW WINDSOR, MD.
Commencing July 21, 1900. Will you help us Clean House?

All Summer Goods must be cleaned out and we are offering them at a reduction of 20c on the $1.00.
Men's $3.25 Suits, now $2.45.
Ladies $2.00, $2.75, $3.50, $4.00, $4.50, $5.00, $5.50, $6.00, $6.50, $7.00, $7.50, $8.00, $8.50, $9.00, $9.50, $10.00, $10.50, $11.00, $11.50, $12.00, $12.50, $13.00, $13.50, $14.00, $14.50, $15.00, $15.50, $16.00, $16.50, $17.00, $17.50, $18.00, $18.50, $19.00, $19.50, $20.00, $20.50, $21.00, $21.50, $22.00, $22.50, $23.00, $23.50, $24.00, $24.50, $25.00, $25.50, $26.00, $26.50, $27.00, $27.50, $28.00, $28.50, $29.00, $29.50, $30.00, $30.50, $31.00, $31.50, $32.00, $32.50, $33.00, $33.50, $34.00, $34.50, $35.00, $35.50, $36.00, $36.50, $37.00, $37.50, $38.00, $38.50, $39.00, $39.50, $40.00, $40.50, $41.00, $41.50, $42.00, $42.50, $43.00, $43.50, $44.00, $44.50, $45.00, $45.50, $46.00, $46.50, $47.00, $47.50, $48.00, $48.50, $49.00, $49.50, $50.00, $50.50, $51.00, $51.50, $52.00, $52.50, $53.00, $53.50, $54.00, $54.50, $55.00, $55.50, $56.00, $56.50, $57.00, $57.50, $58.00, $58.50, $59.00, $59.50, $60.00, $60.50, $61.00, $61.50, $62.00, $62.50, $63.00, $63.50, $64.00, $64.50, $65.00, $65.50, $66.00, $66.50, $67.00, $67.50, $68.00, $68.50, $69.00, $69.50, $70.00, $70.50, $71.00, $71.50, $72.00, $72.50, $73.00, $73.50, $74.00, $74.50, $75.00, $75.50, $76.00, $76.50, $77.00, $77.50, $78.00, $78.50, $79.00, $79.50, $80.00, $80.50, $81.00, $81.50, $82.00, $82.50, $83.00, $83.50, $84.00, $84.50, $85.00, $85.50, $86.00, $86.50, $87.00, $87.50, $88.00, $88.50, $89.00, $89.50, $90.00, $90.50, $91.00, $91.50, $92.00, $92.50, $93.00, $93.50, $94.00, $94.50, $95.00, $95.50, $96.00, $96.50, $97.00, $97.50, $98.00, $98.50, $99.00, $99.50, $100.00.

REMOVAL OF MATTHEWS & MYERS to the new store No. 80 E. Main street, recently purchased by them, where they will carry on a WALL PAPER, PAPER HANGING AND WINDOW SHADE BUSINESS.

E. O. GRIMES, Successor to THE PRINCIPAL DEPOT, WESTMINSTER, MD.

WELLY, OABINET, and the well known Wm. Foust's SPRINGFIELD PURE RYE WHISKY, at $2 per gallon.

WELLY, OABINET, and the well known Wm. Foust's SPRINGFIELD PURE RYE WHISKY, at $2 per gallon.

WELLY, OABINET, and the well known Wm. Foust's SPRINGFIELD PURE RYE WHISKY, at $2 per gallon.

WELLY, OABINET, and the well known Wm. Foust's SPRINGFIELD PURE RYE WHISKY, at $2 per gallon.

WELLY, OABINET, and the well known Wm. Foust's SPRINGFIELD PURE RYE WHISKY, at $2 per gallon.

WELLY, OABINET, and the well known Wm. Foust's SPRINGFIELD PURE RYE WHISKY, at $2 per gallon.

WELLY, OABINET, and the well known Wm. Foust's SPRINGFIELD PURE RYE WHISKY, at $2 per gallon.

WELLY, OABINET, and the well known Wm. Foust's SPRINGFIELD PURE RYE WHISKY, at $2 per gallon.

WELLY, OABINET, and the well known Wm. Foust's SPRINGFIELD PURE RYE WHISKY, at $2 per gallon.

WELLY, OABINET, and the well known Wm. Foust's SPRINGFIELD PURE RYE WHISKY, at $2 per gallon.

WELLY, OABINET, and the well known Wm. Foust's SPRINGFIELD PURE RYE WHISKY, at $2 per gallon.

WELLY, OABINET, and the well known Wm. Foust's SPRINGFIELD PURE RYE WHISKY, at $2 per gallon.

Poetry.

LAND OF "PRETTY SOON."

I know a land where the streets are paved with things we want to achieve; It is called with money we want to have saved And the pleasures for which we grieve. The kind words unspoken, the promises broken, And many a covenant broken, And a word of awe, here, in that land somewhere— The Land of "Pretty Soon."

There are unmet needs of possible fame Lying about in the dust, And many a noble and lofty aim Covered with mould and rust. In this place, while it seems so near, Is further away than the moon; Though our purpose is there, yet we never get The Land of "Pretty Soon."

THEM AND NOW. Some Gold Democrats of 1896 and Republicans Who are Now for Bryan, and Their Reasons.

The Republican organs are claiming that McKinley will hold the vote he received in 1896 and has also in the past four years made serious inroads on Bryan's strength. A careful perusal of this article will show in a convincing manner that this is not true.

THEM AND NOW. Some Gold Democrats of 1896 and Republicans Who are Now for Bryan, and Their Reasons.

The Republican organs are claiming that McKinley will hold the vote he received in 1896 and has also in the past four years made serious inroads on Bryan's strength. A careful perusal of this article will show in a convincing manner that this is not true.

THEM AND NOW. Some Gold Democrats of 1896 and Republicans Who are Now for Bryan, and Their Reasons.

The Republican organs are claiming that McKinley will hold the vote he received in 1896 and has also in the past four years made serious inroads on Bryan's strength. A careful perusal of this article will show in a convincing manner that this is not true.

THEM AND NOW. Some Gold Democrats of 1896 and Republicans Who are Now for Bryan, and Their Reasons.

The Republican organs are claiming that McKinley will hold the vote he received in 1896 and has also in the past four years made serious inroads on Bryan's strength. A careful perusal of this article will show in a convincing manner that this is not true.

THEM AND NOW. Some Gold Democrats of 1896 and Republicans Who are Now for Bryan, and Their Reasons.

The Republican organs are claiming that McKinley will hold the vote he received in 1896 and has also in the past four years made serious inroads on Bryan's strength. A careful perusal of this article will show in a convincing manner that this is not true.

THEM AND NOW. Some Gold Democrats of 1896 and Republicans Who are Now for Bryan, and Their Reasons.

The Republican organs are claiming that McKinley will hold the vote he received in 1896 and has also in the past four years made serious inroads on Bryan's strength. A careful perusal of this article will show in a convincing manner that this is not true.

THEM AND NOW. Some Gold Democrats of 1896 and Republicans Who are Now for Bryan, and Their Reasons.

The Republican organs are claiming that McKinley will hold the vote he received in 1896 and has also in the past four years made serious inroads on Bryan's strength. A careful perusal of this article will show in a convincing manner that this is not true.

THEM AND NOW. Some Gold Democrats of 1896 and Republicans Who are Now for Bryan, and Their Reasons.

The Republican organs are claiming that McKinley will hold the vote he received in 1896 and has also in the past four years made serious inroads on Bryan's strength. A careful perusal of this article will show in a convincing manner that this is not true.

THEM AND NOW. Some Gold Democrats of 1896 and Republicans Who are Now for Bryan, and Their Reasons.

The Republican organs are claiming that McKinley will hold the vote he received in 1896 and has also in the past four years made serious inroads on Bryan's strength. A careful perusal of this article will show in a convincing manner that this is not true.

THEM AND NOW. Some Gold Democrats of 1896 and Republicans Who are Now for Bryan, and Their Reasons.

The Republican organs are claiming that McKinley will hold the vote he received in 1896 and has also in the past four years made serious inroads on Bryan's strength. A careful perusal of this article will show in a convincing manner that this is not true.

THEM AND NOW. Some Gold Democrats of 1896 and Republicans Who are Now for Bryan, and Their Reasons.

convention acted very wisely in declaring anti-imperialism to be the paramount issue of the campaign for 1900. The most effective way of rebuking the McKinley administration's attempt to transform this republic into an empire is to vote straight for the Democratic presidential nominee.

Joseph Breiting, chairman of the county gold Democratic organization of Cleveland, Ohio, writes: "I will vote for Bryan the gold Democrat of Ohio. I will call a meeting of the campaign committee of the gold Democrats and try to get things in better shape, but I fear we shall not be able to stop the stamped. To get at the sentiments of the Democrats who opposed the Chicago platform four years ago, I have talked or communicated with about 400 of them, and I am surprised to find that nearly all of them are for Bryan now."

George M. Hillman, lawyer of Mount Holly, N. J.: "I voted for Palmer and Buckner in 1896, but I will vote for Bryan now. Four years ago I did not believe in the free coinage of silver at the ratio of 16 to 1. I am not thoroughly converted to that doctrine yet, but I do not see the dangers resulting from it are as great as those to be feared from imperialism and trusts."

Justice Thomas Moran, of Chicago, who supported Palmer and Buckner in 1896, is now supporting Bryan and Stevenson. He says: "In my opinion, the gold Democrats generally support the Democratic ticket. The fact that the silver plank has been inserted in the platform will not affect the gold Democrats, who favor Bryan and Stevenson."

John W. Hopkins, former mayor of Chicago, and gold Democrat: "I am in line for the National Democratic ticket. I will vote for Bryan. The Rev. Dr. Silas C. Swallow, candidate for president of the United Christian party, says: "If we must choose between the two candidates of the old parties, I must say that I should support the man who clings to principle and adheres to what he believes to be right rather than a man who talks the people never know where to find on any vital issue, and who is against the liquor traffic at one time and for it now; who was for free silver and is now for gold; who was for free trade with Porto Rico, and then for a Porto Rican tariff."

John DeWitt Warner, a Gold Democrat, writing in the New York Journal, gives imperialism first place among the issues: "The issues in this campaign are, I take it, first, imperialism, and second, trusts. In both of these respects the Democratic platform is admirable. The issue of imperialism is one of principles to which our people are gradually getting awakened. Indeed, until lately, we have had so little to do with questions of foreign policy that we have fairly understood our federal constitution, as applied to domestic matters, we have not had cause to consider its application to foreign affairs. The issue of trusts is one of principles to which our people are gradually getting awakened. Indeed, until lately, we have had so little to do with questions of foreign policy that we have fairly understood our federal constitution, as applied to domestic matters, we have not had cause to consider its application to foreign affairs. The issue of trusts is one of principles to which our people are gradually getting awakened. Indeed, until lately, we have had so little to do with questions of foreign policy that we have fairly understood our federal constitution, as applied to domestic matters, we have not had cause to consider its application to foreign affairs."

Charles M. Stedford, a New York lawyer, Democrat and United States marshal under Cleveland: "In 1896 I did not vote for Bryan. I intended to vote for Bryan now. One reason why I did not vote for Bryan in 1896 was that I was a Republican. I am now a Democrat. Since then I have studied him and now I believe he is one of the greatest men America has produced. Imperialism is not silver, it is the issue."

Charles F. Bacon, formerly law partner of ex-Senator Hill: "I shall support Bryan in this campaign, first because of the strong anti-imperialistic plank in the Democratic platform, and second, because of the glaring blunders of McKinley's administration and the character of the clique that controls him."

Edwin F. Walker, secretary of the Young Men's Republican club of Evanston, Ill., says: "As President McKinley has shown that he cannot be depended upon to do his plain duty, I trust he will not be re-elected to a position which will enable him to continue to do honor to imperialism for what might be an honorable exception."

Webster Davis, ex-Assistant Secretary of the Interior under McKinley, thus sums up his conversion: "Life is too short for a man to sacrifice his principles or his love of country to the support of a man who has never had a chance to read or hear a platform that was so intensely American as the platform read here in the Democratic convention. I care not a snap of my finger for party prejudices. I care nothing for office, because I gave up one voluntarily before than any you can give me. And the man or newspaper that makes the statement that I was forced to leave the Administration against my will, absolutely, unqualifiedly and maliciously. I love liberty, I love equality of rights, and I love justice. When the party that belong to has been too cowardly to take a stand for liberty, to resent government by British aristocracy and monarchy, I leave it to the people. McKinley's own district, in the State Bar Association, an ardent and life-long Republican, who was at one time a candidate for Congress in McKinley's own district, in his annual address to the organization of which he is the head, said: "The question I now touch upon is one of the most, if not the most, important questions that this nation has ever been called upon to face from the beginning of this century, the decision of which involves the stability of the republicanism, if not the very life of the republic. The question is, whether we are to continue to support a man who has never had a chance to read or hear a platform that was so intensely American as the platform read here in the Democratic convention. I care not a snap of my finger for party prejudices. I care nothing for office, because I gave up one voluntarily before than any you can give me. And the man or newspaper that makes the statement that I was forced to leave the Administration against my will, absolutely, unqualifiedly and maliciously. I love liberty, I love equality of rights, and I love justice. When the party that belong to has been too cowardly to take a stand for liberty, to resent government by British aristocracy and monarchy, I leave it to the people. McKinley's own district, in the State Bar Association, an ardent and life-long Republican, who was at one time a candidate for Congress in McKinley's own district, in his annual address to the organization of which he is the head, said: "The question I now touch upon is one of the most, if not the most, important questions that this nation has ever been called upon to face from the beginning of this century, the decision of which involves the stability of the republicanism, if not the very life of the republic. The question is, whether we are to continue to support a man who has never had a chance to read or hear a platform that was so intensely American as the platform read here in the Democratic convention. I care not a snap of my finger for party prejudices. I care nothing for office, because I gave up one voluntarily before than any you can give me. And the man or newspaper that makes the statement that I was forced to leave the Administration against my will, absolutely, unqualifiedly and maliciously. I love liberty, I love equality of rights, and I love justice. When the party that belong to has been too cowardly to take a stand for liberty, to resent government by British aristocracy and monarchy, I leave it to the people. McKinley's own district, in the State Bar Association, an ardent and life-long Republican, who was at one time a candidate for Congress in McKinley's own district, in his annual address to the organization of which he is the head, said: "The question I now touch upon is one of the most, if not the most, important questions that this nation has ever been called upon to face from the beginning of this century, the decision of which involves the stability of the republicanism, if not the very life of the republic. The question is, whether we are to continue to support a man who has never had a chance to read or hear a platform that was so intensely American as the platform read here in the Democratic convention. I care not a snap of my finger for party prejudices. I care nothing for office, because I gave up one voluntarily before than any you can give me. And the man or newspaper that makes the statement that I was forced to leave the Administration against my will, absolutely, unqualifiedly and maliciously. I love liberty, I love equality of rights, and I love justice. When the party that belong to has been too cowardly to take a stand for liberty, to resent government by British aristocracy and monarchy, I leave it to the people. McKinley's own district, in the State Bar Association, an ardent and life-long Republican, who was at one time a candidate for Congress in McKinley's own district, in his annual address to the organization of which he is the head, said: "The question I now touch upon is one of the most, if not the most, important questions that this nation has ever been called upon to face from the beginning of this century, the decision of which involves the stability of the republicanism, if not the very life of the republic. The question is, whether we are to continue to support a man who has never had a chance to read or hear a platform that was so intensely American as the platform read here in the Democratic convention. I care not a snap of my finger for party prejudices. I care nothing for office, because I gave up one voluntarily before than any you can give me. And the man or newspaper that makes the statement that I was forced to leave the Administration against my will, absolutely, unqualifiedly and maliciously. I love liberty, I love equality of rights, and I love justice. When the party that belong to has been too cowardly to take a stand for liberty, to resent government by British aristocracy and monarchy, I leave it to the people. McKinley's own district, in the State Bar Association, an ardent and life-long Republican, who was at one time a candidate for Congress in McKinley's own district, in his annual address to the organization of which he is the head, said: "The question I now touch upon is one of the most, if not the most, important questions that this nation has ever been called upon to face from the beginning of this century, the decision of which involves the stability of the republicanism, if not the very life of the republic. The question is, whether we are to continue to support a man who has never had a chance to read or hear a platform that was so intensely American as the platform read here in the Democratic convention. I care not a snap of my finger for party prejudices. I care nothing for office, because I gave up one voluntarily before than any you can give me. And the man or newspaper that makes the statement that I was forced to leave the Administration against my will, absolutely, unqualifiedly and maliciously. I love liberty, I love equality of rights, and I love justice. When the party that belong to has been too cowardly to take a stand for liberty, to resent government by British aristocracy and monarchy, I leave it to the people. McKinley's own district, in the State Bar Association, an ardent and life-long Republican, who was at one time a candidate for Congress in McKinley's own district, in his annual address to the organization of which he is the head, said: "The question I now touch upon is one of the most, if not the most, important questions that this nation has ever been called upon to face from the beginning of this century, the decision of which involves the stability of the republicanism, if not the very life of the republic. The question is, whether we are to continue to support a man who has never had a chance to read or hear a platform that was so intensely American as the platform read here in the Democratic convention. I care not a snap of my finger for party prejudices. I care nothing for office, because I gave up one voluntarily before than any you can give me. And the man or newspaper that makes the statement that I was forced to leave the Administration against my will, absolutely, unqualifiedly and maliciously. I love liberty, I love equality of rights, and I love justice. When the party that belong to has been too cowardly to take a stand for liberty, to resent government by British aristocracy and monarchy, I leave it to the people. McKinley's own district, in the State Bar Association, an ardent and life-long Republican, who was at one time a candidate for Congress in McKinley's own district, in his annual address to the organization of which he is the head, said: "The question I now touch upon is one of the most, if not the most, important questions that this nation has ever been called upon to face from the beginning of this century, the decision of which involves the stability of the republicanism, if not the very life of the republic. The question is, whether we are to continue to support a man who has never had a chance to read or hear a platform that was so intensely American as the platform read here in the Democratic convention. I care not a snap of my finger for party prejudices. I care nothing for office, because I gave up one voluntarily before than any you can give me. And the man or newspaper that makes the statement that I was forced to leave the Administration against my will, absolutely, unqualifiedly and maliciously. I love liberty, I love equality of rights, and I love justice. When the party that belong to has been too cowardly to take a stand for liberty, to resent government by British aristocracy and monarchy, I leave it to the people. McKinley's own district, in the State Bar Association, an ardent and life-long Republican, who was at one time a candidate for Congress in McKinley's own district, in his annual address to the organization of which he is the head, said: "The question I now touch upon is one of the most, if not the most, important questions that this nation has ever been called upon to face from the beginning of this century, the decision of which involves the stability of the republicanism, if not the very life of the republic. The question is, whether we are to continue to support a man who has never had a chance to read or hear a platform that was so intensely American as the platform read here in the Democratic convention. I care not a snap of my finger for party prejudices. I care nothing for office, because I gave up one voluntarily before than any you can give me. And the man or newspaper that makes the statement that I was forced to leave the Administration against my will, absolutely, unqualifiedly and maliciously. I love liberty, I love equality of rights, and I love justice. When the party that belong to has been too cowardly to take a stand for liberty, to resent government by British aristocracy and monarchy, I leave it to the people. McKinley's own district, in the State Bar Association, an ardent and life-long Republican, who was at one time a candidate for Congress in McKinley's own district, in his annual address to the organization of which he is the head, said: "The question I now touch upon is one of the most, if not the most, important questions that this nation has ever been called upon to face from the beginning of this century, the decision of which involves the stability of the republicanism, if not the very life of the republic. The question is, whether we are to continue to support a man who has never had a chance to read or hear a platform that was so intensely American as the platform read here in the Democratic convention. I care not a snap of my finger for party prejudices. I care nothing for office, because I gave up one voluntarily before than any you can give me. And the man or newspaper that makes the statement that I was forced to leave the Administration against my will, absolutely, unqualifiedly and maliciously. I love liberty, I love equality of rights, and I love justice. When the party that belong to has been too cowardly to take a stand for liberty, to resent government by British aristocracy and monarchy, I leave it to the people. McKinley's own district, in the State Bar Association, an ardent and life-long Republican, who was at one time a candidate for Congress in McKinley's own district, in his annual address to the organization of which he is the head, said: "The question I now touch upon is one of the most, if not the most, important questions that this nation has ever been called upon to face from the beginning of this century, the decision of which involves the stability of the republicanism, if not the very life of the republic. The question is, whether we are to continue to support a man who has never had a chance to read or hear a platform that was so intensely American as the platform read here in the Democratic convention. I care not a snap of my finger for party prejudices. I care nothing for office, because I gave up one voluntarily before than any you can give me. And the man or newspaper that makes the statement that I was forced to leave the Administration against my will, absolutely, unqualifiedly and maliciously. I love liberty, I love equality of rights, and I love justice. When the party that belong to has been too cowardly to take a stand for liberty, to resent government by British aristocracy and monarchy, I leave it to the people. McKinley's own district, in the State Bar Association, an ardent and life-long Republican, who was at one time a candidate for Congress in McKinley's own district, in his annual address to the organization of which he is the head, said: "The question I now touch upon is one of the most, if not the most, important questions that this nation has ever been called upon to face from the beginning of this century, the decision of which involves the stability of the republicanism, if not the very life of the republic. The question is, whether we are to continue to support a man who has never had a chance to read or hear a platform that was so intensely American as the platform read here in the Democratic convention. I care not a snap of my finger for party prejudices. I care nothing for office, because I gave up one voluntarily before than any you can give me. And the man or newspaper that makes the statement that I was forced to leave the Administration against my will, absolutely, unqualifiedly and maliciously. I love liberty, I love equality of rights, and I love justice. When the party that belong to has been too cowardly to take a stand for liberty, to resent government by British aristocracy and monarchy, I leave it to the people. McKinley's own district, in the State Bar Association, an ardent and life-long Republican, who was at one time a candidate for Congress in McKinley's own district, in his annual address to the organization of which he is the head, said: "The question I now touch upon is one of the most, if not the most, important questions that this nation has ever been called upon to face from the beginning of this century, the decision of which involves the stability of the republicanism, if not the very life of the republic. The question is, whether we are to continue to support a man who has never had a chance to read or hear a platform that was so intensely American as the platform read here in the Democratic convention. I care not a snap of my finger for party prejudices. I care nothing for office, because I gave up one voluntarily before than any you can give me. And the man or newspaper that makes the statement that I was forced to leave the Administration against my will, absolutely, unqualifiedly and maliciously. I love liberty, I love equality of rights, and I love justice. When the party that belong to has been too cowardly to take a stand for liberty, to resent government by British aristocracy and monarchy, I leave it to the people. McKinley's own district, in the State Bar Association, an ardent and life-long Republican, who was at one time a candidate for Congress in McKinley's own district, in his annual address to the organization of which he is the head, said: "The question I now touch upon is one of the most, if not the most, important questions that this nation has ever been called upon to face from the beginning of this century, the decision of which involves the stability of the republicanism, if not the very life of the republic. The question is, whether we are to continue to support a man who has never had a chance to read or hear a platform that was so intensely American as the platform read here in the Democratic convention. I care not a snap of my finger for party prejudices. I care nothing for office, because I gave up one voluntarily before than any you can give me. And the man or newspaper that makes the statement that I was forced to leave the Administration against my will, absolutely, unqualifiedly and maliciously. I love liberty, I love equality of rights, and I love justice. When the party that belong to has been too cowardly to take a stand for liberty, to resent government by British aristocracy and monarchy, I leave it to the people. McKinley's own district, in the State Bar Association, an ardent and life-long Republican, who was at one time a candidate for Congress in McKinley's own district, in his annual address to the organization of which he is the head, said: "The question I now touch upon is one of the most, if not the most, important questions that this nation has ever been called upon to face from the beginning of this century, the decision of which involves the stability of the republicanism, if not the very life of the republic. The question is, whether we are to continue to support a man who has never had a chance to read or hear a platform that was so intensely American as the platform read here in the Democratic convention. I care not a snap of my finger for party prejudices. I care nothing for office, because I gave up one voluntarily before than any you can give me. And the man or newspaper that makes the statement that I was forced to leave the Administration against my will, absolutely, unqualifiedly and maliciously. I love liberty, I love equality of rights, and I love justice. When the party that belong to has been too cowardly to take a stand for liberty, to resent government by British aristocracy and monarchy, I leave it to the people. McKinley's own district, in the State Bar Association, an ardent and life-long Republican, who was at one time a candidate for Congress in McKinley's own district, in his annual address to the organization of which he is the head, said: "The question I now touch upon is one of the most, if not the most, important questions that this nation has ever been called upon to face from the beginning of this century, the decision of which involves the stability of the republicanism, if not the very life of the republic. The question is, whether we are to continue to support a man who has never had a chance to read or hear a platform that was so intensely American as the platform read here in the Democratic convention. I care not a snap of my finger for party prejudices. I care nothing for office, because I gave up one voluntarily before than any you can give me. And the man or newspaper that makes the statement that I was forced to leave the Administration against my will, absolutely, unqualifiedly and maliciously. I love liberty, I love equality of rights, and I love justice. When the party that belong to has been too cowardly to take a stand for liberty, to resent government by British aristocracy and monarchy, I leave it to the people. McKinley's own district, in the State Bar Association, an ardent and life-long Republican, who was at one time a candidate for Congress in McKinley's own district, in his annual address to the organization of which he is the head, said: "The question I now touch upon is one of the most, if not the most, important questions that this nation has ever been called upon to face from the beginning of this century, the decision of which involves the stability of the republicanism, if not the very life of the republic. The question is, whether we are to continue to support a man who has never had a chance to read or hear a platform that was so intensely American as the platform read here in the Democratic convention. I care not a snap of my finger for party prejudices. I care nothing for office, because I gave up one voluntarily before than any you can give me. And the man or newspaper that makes the statement that I was forced to leave the Administration against my will, absolutely, unqualifiedly and maliciously. I love liberty, I love equality of rights, and I love justice. When the party that belong to has been too cowardly to take a stand for liberty, to resent government by British aristocracy and monarchy, I leave it to the people. McKinley's own district, in the State Bar Association, an ardent and life-long Republican, who was at one time a candidate for Congress in McKinley's own district, in his annual address to the organization of which he is the head, said: "The question I now touch upon is one of the most, if not the most, important questions that this nation has ever been called upon to face from the beginning of this century, the decision of which involves the stability of the republicanism, if not the very life of the republic. The question is, whether we are to continue to support a man who has never had a chance to read or hear a platform that was so intensely American as the platform read here in the Democratic convention. I care not a snap of my finger for party prejudices. I care nothing for office, because I gave up one voluntarily before than any you can give me. And the man or newspaper that makes the statement that I was forced to leave the Administration against my will, absolutely, unqualifiedly and maliciously. I love liberty, I love equality of rights, and I love justice. When the party that belong to has been too cowardly to take a stand for liberty, to resent government by British aristocracy and monarchy, I leave it to the people. McKinley's own district, in the State Bar Association, an ardent and life-long Republican, who was at one time a candidate for Congress in McKinley's own district, in his annual address to the organization of which he is the head, said: "The question I now touch upon is one of the most, if not the most, important questions that this nation has ever been called upon to face from the beginning of this century, the decision of which involves the stability of the republicanism, if not the very life of the republic. The question is, whether we are to continue to support a man who has never had a chance to read or hear a platform that was so intensely American as the platform read here in the Democratic convention. I care not a