DON'T TAKE TWO WEEKS OFF AT ONE TIME

But take two or three days at different times during the Summer, get more rest and feel better.

A few days on the salt water will invigorate the system and revive the appetite. The Western Line of Steamers leave Pier 8, Light Street, Baltimore, for the Potomac river, as far as Benedict, every Wednesday and Saturday at 9:30 A. M., and from Pier 2, Light Street, every Sunday and Wednesday at 7 P. M. This makes a delightful trip of about 90 miles on the Chesapeake bay and about 50 miles up the Potomac, one of the broadest and most beautiful streams in Maryland. A glimpse of Southern Maryland can be obtained from the landings as the steamer proceeds up and down the river.

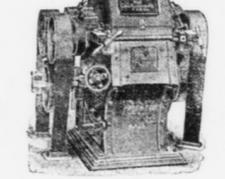

Steamers leave for the Potomac river and Washington, D. C., from Pier 9, at 5 P. M., every Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday. This makes a four-day trip on the salt water, and an opportunity of seeing parts of Virginia as well as the Potomac side of these Maryland counties, Mt. Vernon and the Capital of the country.

From Pier 2, for the Lappahannock river to Fredericksburg, Va., one of the prettiest little cities of the Old Dominion, and of high historic interest. No more delightful trip can be imagined.

All boats have comfortable state rooms, and the meals are just such to satisfy an appetite resulting from breathing the salt air.

At or near all landings there are boarding houses on all routes, where those who desire to remain a week or two to enjoy fishing, fishing and crabbing can obtain board at very moderate rates.

For Catalogues write to HENRY WILLIAMS, Pier 2 Light Street, Baltimore, July 21st.

Maryland Affairs.

Dr. Ferdinand Edhe Chastard, of Baltimore, died at Atlantic City, N. J., on Monday.

Typical fever is reported to prevail in the neighborhood of Woodstock, Howard county.

Hagerstown has about 500 carload shavings, caused by the tree cutting the local works.

Contractors will soon begin to straighten the curves on the R. & O. Railroad between Elliott City and Point of Rocks.

According to the recent census Baltimore has a population of 468,977, making it the sixth largest city in this country.

Dr. F. F. Smith, aged 72 years, the oldest practicing physician of Frederick, died last Sunday. He leaves a wife and four sons.

Great damage was done in Washington County Monday night by a thunder storm. For an hour rain fell in torrents and the wind prostrated everything.

A lay house on the farm of ex Senator George D. Day, at Glenelg, Howard county, was destroyed by lightning August 24, with 50 tons of hay.

The thermometer in Hagerstown Sunday afternoon, August 26, registered from 98 to 102 in the shade and the heat and humidity caused much suffering.

The bodies of William T. and Joshua Levinger, Jr., of Baltimore, drowned in the Susquehanna, last week, were recovered last Sunday after three days search.

Cecil county was visited by several electrical storms Sunday evening. Heavy rains washed the county roads and lightning burned out numerous telegraph wires.

Rev. Dr. Royal H. Pullman, pastor emeritus of the Second Universalist Church, Baltimore, died last Sunday, at his summer home in the Thousand Islands of the Chesapeake.

At Wellersburg, near Mount Savage, Mrs. Elizabeth Cook, after eating a hearty breakfast and going to wash the dishes, Monday, died at 10 o'clock without a struggle. She was 83 years of age.

James Shindler, aged 14 years, of Williamsport, on Saturday last saved his life by leaping from a building which had fallen over the surface of the canal, into which he had fallen, into assistance arrived.

John J. Fallon, a keeper at the Baltimore jail, was attacked twice on Saturday by Wm. Gardner, a negro prisoner, and had to be held in order to subdue him. The negro is known to the jail authorities as a bad man.

James D. Brennan and Max Greenbaum are in Baltimore jail charged with robbing Geo. F. Shok, 196 South Anny street, who they dragged him from a Frederick road car on Sunday morning and snatched $1,000.

On August 1st the wood pile above Cumberland was closed. Since then the water in the Potomac has become so polluted it can be used, and Cumberland proposes to celebrate the event by a jubilee concert.

Nearly every one of the census enumerators of Cumberland, and it is understood of the county also, have received their bank checks for arrears to be made. One book was returned because it did not state whether an infant was married or single.

The dwelling and barn of Robert Phillips, near Mitchellville, Prince Georges county, were both destroyed by lightning August 24. The house and barn were some distance apart and were struck simultaneously by the lightning. Nothing was saved in either building. No person was injured.

Lewis Manshart, of Sellman, Montgomery county, has a farm of 100 acres, from which he cut this year 3,000 bushels of wheat, his largest crop ever, and from an orchard of 4000 trees he sold 8000 bushels of peaches at from 25 cents to 75 cents per bushel, besides hay, vegetables, &c. Good farming does pay.

A negro conspiracy to murder constable Robert Courtney, of Centerville, Queen Anne's county, who is a terror to children, has been discovered. Mr. Courtney had been detailed, by special request of the officers of the colored camp at Wye, to preserve order, and had arrested several negroes for selling liquor and disorderly conduct.

About 3:30 p. m., on August 24, a terrific electrical storm passed over Spring Spring, Montgomery county, and vicinity. Dwellings were struck by lightning and several barns, with this season's crop of corn, were destroyed. A high wind blew down corn and fruit was trampled from the trees. At 9 p. m. another storm occurred, and a large barn, being very heavy, was blown down. In Washington county, about the same time, Emanuel Hicks' barn was struck and burned, together with several bushels of wheat, hay, raising steers, &c.

A Destructive Storm in Lower Pennsylvania.

York, Pa., August 27. The terrific wind and rain storm which swept over Lancaster, York and Adams counties, and crossed Maryland and Dixon's line to spend some of its wrath in Maryland, played havoc in this section last night. The lower townships of York and Adams counties seemed to be the center of the storm's force, and from that section come reports of lightning, hail, and other rain. The live stock was saved, but the crops and a lot of farm machinery, wagons, &c., were consumed by the rain.

In lower Chambers township, near Conowingo, the barn of Thomas Tuck was burned to the ground, with its contents, including the live stock. On the farm of Joseph Waltemyer, near the Stewartstown railroad, a large barn with its contents was consumed. Stray hogs and Wadh Tals, being sold, were scattered all over the place.

The Shaffer cigar factory at Felton, and extensively damaged the interior of the upper portion of the building. The steeple of the Lutheran Church at Shrewsbury was partially wrecked by lightning and a great hole was made in the roof. The three-story brick dwelling on Maple street occupied by Andrew Brecker was struck by lightning. The damage was to the roof, and a shower of splinters and hot coals, and the roof was blown off. The top of the observatory at Highland Park was wrecked by lightning, and there was considerable damage to trees in the park.

The damage to fruit trees in the city and throughout the storm struck section is great. Some fine peach orchards in the lower end were ruined. Owing to the damage to telephone lines it was difficult to get complete reports of the destruction. It is said that nearly a dozen barns were destroyed altogether.

A Forty Years' Fire in Summit Hill Mine.

ALLENTOWN, Pa., Aug. 28. The fire in the mine at Summit Hill, which has been raging furiously the past week, yesterday broke into the Spring Tunnel Colliery, operated by Geo. M. Davies, and all efforts to prevent its spread have so far proved unavailing. On account of the heat and the attendant risk, the force of fire fighters was compelled to leave the mine. All operations at the Spring Tunnel Colliery have ceased, and 200 men and boys have been thrown out of employment indefinitely.

The fire in the Summit Hill mine originated forty years ago, and has since been burning steadily. It is estimated that the Lehigh Coal and Navigation Company, which owns the property, has expended more than a million dollars in an endeavor to extinguish it. The big duplex pump which poured water into the mine broke down a short time ago, and this, it is said, is responsible for the spread of the flames. The fire is now eating its way through the richest veins of coal in the Panther Creek Valley. The suspension of work at the Spring Tunnel Colliery is a terrible blow to the business interest of Allentown and Summit Hill.

The 12 iron furnaces of the Virginia Iron, Coal and Coke Co. in Southwest Virginia have shut down.

News of the Week.

R. G. Dun & Co.'s Review, for August 25, says: Liabilities of failures in three weeks of August were $5,958,334, against $4,075,184 last year.

On last Monday afternoon Sedalia, Missouri, was struck by a high wind storm and much damage resulted, especially from the heavy fall of rain.

The cigar makers who are locked out on strike in twelve New York factories have rejected the terms of settlement offered by the manufacturers.

The steamer Mappina, which arrived at San Francisco Friday of last week, brought over $2,000,000 in specie from Sydney, Australia, consigned to local banks.

William Henry Lawrence, one of the first original negro ministers of the United States, died at Chicago of Bright's disease, aged 69 years. He was noted as a tenor singer.

Going to the general fallowing of the market, the Naumuck Cotton Mills, at Salem, Massachusetts, will shut down for one week beginning August 25. They employ about 1000 hands.

It is said that over 500 acres of first-class tobacco were destroyed by the storm in Lancaster county, Pa., last Saturday, together with a large quantity of corn. The loss is over $300,000.

A hail, rain and wind storm, at Janesville, Wisconsin, on the 24th ultimo, caused a loss of more than $100,000 to standing leaf tobacco. Similar losses are reported near Kenosha, from high water.

There was a terrible storm at Nome, Alaska, on the 7th of August, as a result of which many lives were lost. Over 1200 cottages are said to have been stranded, and 800 bodies have been washed ashore.

The Journeymen Plumbers' Union of Chicago ordered that Henry Younce, who is not in physical condition to stand a trial for alleged complicity in the Gasbell murder has continued his case until he is able to stand trial. The cases of Younce, Whitaker and Davis were also continued.
