

OMAHA BEE "STUNG"

Raps its Own Platform by Severely Criticizing Republican Tariff Plank.

MR. LONGWORTH ON DYNASTY

President's Son-in-Law Declares Eight Years Taft--Then Roosevelt.

Republicans are Incensed at the Remarks Made by Longworth in His Speech on the Succession of Presidency.

The Omaha Bee, published by Victor Rosewater, member of the Republican national committee, and head of the Republican campaign publicity bureau, has made the blunder of criticizing vigorously part of the tariff plank of the Republican platform...

The editorial in Mr. Rosewater's paper goes on the theory that this language is Mr. Bryan's own, the writer failing to notice that the language was really part of the platform on which Mr. Taft is running.

The consequence of this is that Mr. Bryan and his friends have on a broad scale and they think that the smiles at Fairview are likely to spread to all Democrats in the country.

The words complained of in the Bee editorial were these:

"In all tariff legislation the true principle is best maintained by the imposition of such duties as will equalize the difference between the cost of production at home and abroad, together with reasonable profit to American industries."

The Bee went on to puncture this language in the following style: "Nothing prettier in the catch-all has been offered in this campaign. The most hide-bound standard in the country can accept that as satisfactory and the rank and file trader can find delight in it. The declaration means simply nothing. An attempt to legislate along that line simply opens the way to interminable wrangling as to what constitutes a 'reasonable profit,' for hair-splitting on wages on one industry, price of raw materials in another, rates and drawbacks in a third and so on through the list of thousands of articles that are now on the tariff register."

At Bryan's direction, would ever only to halt industrial and commercial progress and keep business unsettled during his term of office."

The Omaha World-Herald shows that a part of the tariff plank of the Republican platform and from Mr. Bryan had this to say when the matter was called to his attention:

"I am very much surprised that Mr. Rosewater should have attempted to misrepresent my position. A good many unfair things have been said by Mr. Rosewater. To accuse me of using the language of the Republican platform is an outrage. He ought to apologize for this injustice and explain to his readers that the language which he criticizes was taken from the Republican platform and not from any speech of mine."

"This is a rich find. It shows how distant the Republican platform looks to a Republican when the Republican has a chance to look at it in a disinterested way. When Mr. Rosewater thought that the language quoted was from a speech of mine he could not have been more wrong. I hope that his opinion of the language will not change when he finds that he was shooting at his own platform instead of mine."

"The amusing blunder of the Omaha Bee suggests a new diversion for the nation. Let the Democrats accuse the Republican platform and from Mr. Taft's speeches and see how the Republican editors will ridicule the language."

REPUBLICANS INCENSED

Longworth's Speech at Rock Island, Ill., Arouses Wrath.

No utterance of the campaign has attracted more attention than the prediction of Congressman Nicholas Longworth, the president's son-in-law, who, in a speech at Rock Island, Ill., declared that after eight years of Taft, it would be Roosevelt in the White House again. This utterance has caused the Republican campaign managers no little excitement. The Republican view of the incident is well set forth by the Chicago Inter Ocean, one of the leading Republican papers in the entire West. The Inter Ocean said:

"The Hon. Nicholas Longworth proposed to 10,000 American citizens in Rock Island on Friday that Mr. Taft should be made president of the United States for the next eight years and Mr. Roosevelt for the eight years following Mr. Taft's second term."

"Mr. Longworth is President Roosevelt's son-in-law, his words are repeated usually as semi-official for the White House. This is the unfortunate feature of his utterance in the present instance."

"The American people are not looking for a bad protector. Even the most ardent admirers of Mr. Roosevelt would not care to make him another President."

"With some eight years of the presidency behind him next March and with eight years of Mr. Taft before him, Mr. Roosevelt, according to his own ideas, would be able to celebrate on March 4, 1925, nearly a quarter of a century of personal rule over this republic."

"Such a program is not one to be commended. It is just now, incredible and it is not one to be commended from the bosom of Mr. Roosevelt's family. Good politics and good taste are both against such utterances."

"The Republican national committee denies it has received this year a dollar from the Standard Oil company or any subsidiary corporations. Having said who is NOT putting up the money, now let them tell us who IS putting it up, under oath. Will they do it?"

The letters from Standard Oil magnates prove that the people do not rule. The party that trusts oil is the party that gives them tariff bounty and has let them defy the law--the party which controls the federal government.

New York city has added 4,100,000 to its population in the last century.

the presidency. That would be sad for the son-in-law but good for the country. The remark of Mr. Longworth shows that long tenures in office for one party makes those in power think they own the government. If for no other reason than to teach the son-in-law and others near the throne that this is a republic, the voters will decide upon a change in November."

TWO "PRACTICAL MEN"

"The Whiteness of the Pot and the Blackness of the Kettles."

From Theodore Roosevelt's letter of Oct. 4, 1904, to Edward H. Harriman.

Now, my dear sir, you and I are practical men, and you are on the ground and know the conditions better than I do. If you think there is any danger of your visit to me causing trouble or if you think there is anything special I should be informed about, or no matter in which I could give you aid, why, of course, give up the visit for the time being, and then a few weeks hence before I write my message, I shall get you to come down to discuss certain government matters not connected with the campaign.

From Edward H. Harriman's confidential statement to Sidney Webster.

About a week before the election in the autumn of 1904, when it looked certain that the state ticket would go Democratic and was doubtful as to Roosevelt himself, he, the president, sent me a request to go to Washington to confer upon the political conditions in New York state. I complied, and he told me he understood the campaign could not be successfully carried out without sufficient money and asked if I could help them in raising the necessary funds as the national committee, under control of Chairman Cortelyou, had utterly failed of obtaining them, and there was a large amount due from them to the New York state committee. We talked over what could be done for Dewey, and finally he agreed that if found necessary he would appoint him as ambassador to Paris.

With full belief that he, the president, would keep his agreement, I came back to New York, sent for Treasurer Bliss, who told me that I was their last hope and that they had exhausted every other resource. In his presence I called upon an intimate friend of Senator Dewey, told him that it was necessary in order to carry New York state that $200,000 should be raised at once, and if he would help I would subscribe $50,000. After a few words over the telephone the gentleman said he would let me know which would be probably in three or four hours, with the result that the whole amount, including my subscription, had been raised.

The checks were given to Treasurer Bliss, who took them to Chairman Cortelyou. If there were any among them of the insurance companies, or any other like organizations, of course Cortelyou must have informed the president. I do not know who the subscribers were, other than the friend of Dewey, who was an individual. This amount enabled the New York state committee to continue its work, with the result that at least 50,000 votes were turned in the city of New York alone, making a difference of 100,000 votes in the general result.

DAWES FOR GUARANTEE

Comptroller of Currency Under McKinley Favored Insurance of Bank Deposits.

Charles G. Dawes was comptroller of the currency under Mr. McKinley. Since 1902 he has been president of the Central Trust company at Chicago. Writing in The Public, Louis E. Post calls attention to the fact that several years ago Mr. Dawes wrote a book entitled "The Banking System of the United States." The following is taken from Mr. Post's article:

"In describing in that book the 'present need of our national banking system,' Mr. Dawes distinctly argues for the insurance idea that Bryan advocated in congress and upon which his campaign is now advancing in the west. Referring to a proposed law, advocated by Bryan in congress, which would have levied a tax upon national banks for the purpose of creating a fund for the insurance of deposits, Mr. Dawes wrote:

"National banking statistics show that a fund of the necessary amount would soon be created by a comparatively small tax upon each national bank."

"* * * It must certainly be admitted that the establishment of such a fund would have a tendency to prevent the mad rushes of small and large depositors during times of panic, for money which they hoard away in safety deposit boxes or other hiding places."

"* * * If the effect of such a law would be to render bank deposits more stable under all conditions, as in our judgment would be the case, no law could be of more value and importance to the debtor, or to the creditor, or to the community at large."

"* * * Besides the great importance of the law, as related to the general prosperity of the country, it is merited as preventing the keen suffering in those localities where bank failures occur, and where the hard earned savings of the community, under our present laws, are often swept away. By such a law, losses are distributed as by insurance, the beneficial effects of which need no argument. To the passage of such a law in proper form, we trust the efforts of congress will be directed."

The Methodist conference continues to denounce Speaker Cannon because he refuses to let proposed laws have a hearing. It is all right as far as it goes to vote against Cannon for his dictation as to what legislation shall or shall not be considered, and it is essential also to vote out the Republican party that makes Cannon's boss-ship possible. Defeat of Cannon is good, but would not remedy the situation unless the Republicans are turned out. If Republicans win, and Cannon is defeated, the same iron rules will be carried out by a Sherman or a Dalzell or some other Republican pupil of Cannon's.

The Republican national committee denies it has received this year a dollar from the Standard Oil company or any subsidiary corporations. Having said who is NOT putting up the money, now let them tell us who IS putting it up, under oath. Will they do it?"

The letters from Standard Oil magnates prove that the people do not rule. The party that trusts oil is the party that gives them tariff bounty and has let them defy the law--the party which controls the federal government.

COULDN'T STAND SHELDON.

Even Lt. Gov. Woodruff, a Trust Character, Said the Present Treasurer of the National Committee, Would Jeopardize the State Ticket.

George R. Sheldon, treasurer of the Republican National committee, whose trust interests are well known, was compelled, under fire, to withdraw from the New York state ticket in the fall of 1902 when he was eager to accept the office of Lieutenant-Governor. His connections with the trusts and especially those owned and dominated by J. Pierpont Morgan and other favored trusts, became such an issue at that time that Governor B. B. Odell fought against his name being placed on the ticket. Odell even went so far as to write Timothy Woodruff that he would not run on the same state ticket with Sheldon. United States Senator Thomas C. Platt was determined to have Sheldon on the ticket and informed the Republican leaders at the state convention at Saratoga that Sheldon's name would remain on the slate. The wires between the convention city and Albany were kept hot and, finally, Governor Odell was compelled to take a train for Saratoga in order to prevent Sheldon's name from appearing on the ticket. Governor Odell went direct to Senator Platt's home in Saratoga and, after a conference which lasted until 2 o'clock in the morning, Platt yielded and Sheldon's name was withdrawn and F. W. Higgins was nominated for the office sought by George R. Sheldon.

When it was announced that Sheldon would not be on the ticket three hundred delegates in front of Platt's house cheered the glad tidings.

Lieut.-Gov. Woodruff, when asked at that time why he objected so strongly to Sheldon, said:

"I have no personal animosity toward Mr. Sheldon. I believe that the objections that have been raised to him are of the gravest sort and that they jeopardize the state ticket."

Gov. Odell had this to say a day before Sheldon's name was taken off the slate:

"I fought against George R. Sheldon because his business connections imperiled the whole ticket."

SHAKING DOWN THE TRUSTS.

Chas. G. Dawes Visits Wall Street and Promises Republican Party Will Be Good.

Under New York date line of Sept. 19 the daily papers of the country publish a dispatch from which the following is taken:

"The visit of Charles G. Dawes, of Chicago (formerly Comptroller of the Currency) had more influence than anything else in arousing Wall street uneasiness. Mr. Dawes came to New York primarily to raise money for the Republican congressional campaign committee, and he gave the people he called upon very clearly to understand that the Republican majority in the house is in danger."

"Wall street has steered itself against the importunities of political canvassers for funds, but Mr. Dawes' visit was unquestionably impressive. The people who saw and heard him were convinced that he really meant what he said when he announced that unless means were taken to arrest the current and change the situation the Democrats would swing into control of the popular branch of congress and probably elect a president. Mr. Dawes did not confine his visit alone to bankers and financiers. He devoted a good share of his attention to leading representatives of the manufacturing interests. He carried away some money, but not nearly as much as he had hoped for."

PROTECTING DEPOSITS IN BANKS.

An Ohio Example of Taft's Position and Oklahoma's Proof of Bryan's Position.

One of the planks of the Denver platform favors guaranteed bank deposits. Mr. Bryan addressed the Ohio legislature in February favoring guaranteed deposits. Former Governor Herrick subsequently addressed the legislature in reply to Mr. Bryan, opposing any such protection for banks and bank depositors.

Mr. Taft, in his speech of acceptance, denounced the plank of the Denver platform, which declares for a national law for banks similar to the Oklahoma law for state banks, thereby coinciding in the views of Mr. Herrick and opposing the views of Mr. Bryan.

Below are two dispatches showing what Mr. Bryan stands for and what Mr. Taft stands for:

Cleveland, O., Aug. 17.--The creditors' committee, charged with an investigation of the affairs of the defunct Farmers and Merchants' bank, the cashier of which, Henry W. Gazell, is under arrest charged with embezzlement, tonight reported that the depositors will be forced to shoulder a loss of $415,000.

The report, made in a meeting of 2,800 depositors, charged the deficit to Gazell, alleging his speculations proved disastrous to the institution.

Guthrie, Okla., May 21.--Within one hour from the time H. H. Smock, Oklahoma banking commission, had taken charge of the International Bank of Colgate he had authority to pay the depositors in full, though the bank's cash and available funds in other banks fell $82,000 short of the total amount of deposits. The commissioner was able to do this under the operation of the new banking law, and this is the first time it has been called into use.

The Republican National committee says it gets no money from the Standard Oil company. Does that concern them, give its money direct to Republican candidates?

New York city has added 4,100,000 to its population in the last century.
