Our Job Printing plant is complete.
The November term of the Circuit Court will open on Monday.

J. D. Foutz, has the contract to paint the interior of Bethel church, at Warfieldsburg.

And now we must turn our thoughts to Thanksgiving and the pursuit of the turkey.

Quite a large crowd of people attended the feast held at Meadow Branch, Saturday and Sunday.

The concrete work on the new State road from Smallwood to Gammer is being done by Howell Davis.

Today is the opening time to shoot rabbits and partridges, and the season continues until December 25.

The hunting season is in full swing, and men are seen going about the county carrying their guns and some game.

The Bethel Church of God near Woodbine has just been repainted, interior and exterior. J. D. Foutz was the contractor.

The Holy Communion will be administered in St. Mary's Reformed Church, Silver Run, Md., on Sunday, November 12th, at 10.30 a. m., and 7 p. m.

James D. Mitchell will close his studio on November 14, 15 and 16, to attend the Eastman School of Photography in Baltimore, where he hopes to get new ideas for Christmas work.

Mr. Mary E. Mummey, of Reese, Md., exhibited at this office this week a pear that measured 4 inches in diameter and 1 1/2 inches in circumference. A bushel of pears about the same size were picked from the tree.

So eager were our citizens to learn the results of the election Tuesday night and Wednesday morning that hundreds of telephone calls were received at the Advocate office. Invariably the questions were "Who is in the lead?" "How is the county going?" "Have you heard from the city?" The Advocate building was full of enthusiastic Democrats almost all night long.

Last week a forest fire, three miles in length, was raging on the Blue Ridge Mountain between High Rock and Edgemont. The fire was confined to an almost inaccessible portion of the mountain by reason of the rocky formation and was very hard to fight. The deep covering of leaves was additional fuel for the flames. The fire was discovered on Wednesday of last week.

This afternoon Mrs. Mabel Garrison Siemmon, a graduate of Western Maryland College, and one of the best known soprano singers of Baltimore, will give a recital at the Peabody Conservatory of Music, assisted by Bart Wirtz, cellist. Mrs. Siemmon has a beautiful voice, which the citizens of this city had the pleasure of hearing many times, several years ago at the college concerts.

In about a month or a little longer the Lingular Copper Company expects to again start the refining machinery and will then treat about 100 tons of ore daily. While the machinery installed about a year ago was able to produce a good concentrate, yet too much of the copper was lost and allowed to go to the waste heap. With the machinery which is being installed now it is expected that this will be impossible, and that practically every bit of copper in the ore will be secured.

Chief Judge Thomas, of the Circuit Court, for Carroll county on Saturday drew the following jurors to fill vacancies for the November term: John T. Dutterer, in place of Ezra C. McGee, of Uniontown district; Lester S. Patterson, in place of Oliver G. Uhler, of Woolery's district; Frank D. Loebe, in place of Charles C. Weaver, of Manchester district; Amos H. Armacost, in place of Francis L. Hann, of Hampstead district, and Jesse Leatherwood, in place of William D. Burall, of Mt. Airy district.

Rev. Hugh Johnston, of Baltimore, on Sunday preached at the morning and evening service on the occasion of the rededication of the Methodist Episcopal Church, in Liberty. The present place of worship has been twice renovated since it was dedicated to the first congregation in the year 1808, it having formed a portion of the charge extending from Westminster to Liberty under the pastorate of Rev. Phillip Gaich in 1774. Both the parsonage and the church were decided to the church membership in the same year, and since that time they have been in constant service with the addition from time to time of modern improvements. This is claimed to be one of the oldest places of worship of the Methodists in this section of the state. Rev. Solomon Jerman is the present pastor.

The first of November report covering the progress of the construction work on the Western Maryland extension up to October 31 states that 97 per cent of the grading is finished, 97 per cent of the concrete laid, out of 37 bridges 27 are ready for the tracks, while the masonry for the remaining 10 is finished. The amount of steel fabricated is 97 per cent, while the amount erected is 85 per cent of the total. There have been 23 miles of main line and second track laid, exclusive of sidings, and 3,500 men are still employed on the line. In the Big Savage tunnel, the difficulties in boring, which, owing to quicksand, has been the sole reason for not finishing the road by the middle of this month, which was the date stipulated in the contract with the Carter Construction Company, which is building the line, have been stated that 3,300 feet bored. It is stated that the tunnel is now about through the sand deposit, and the remainder of the boring will be through solid rock.

THE RING IS THE THING WITH COAL as well as weddings. Just notice that ring as it leaves the shovel. Only good Coal has a ring to it. For the Coal that is good see Smith & Relfsnyder and get their discount feature.

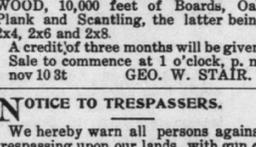

Don't Take Chances. Many dollars are lost in the purchase of so called cheap carriages. Better pay us a fair price for a first class buggy, runabout or phaeton than any money at all for a cheaply built vehicle whose varnish, like charity, covers a multitude of sins.
